In making the tower in the center of the new court house arrangements are being provided for the hanging of four electric lights five feet above the topmos part, so that no shadow may fall to any distance. There are stairs by which whoever is to attend to the lights can reach them without any very dizzy climb. The flag staffs for the building are being put upon the corner turrets.

There is a strong disposition on the part of some business houses, which are fortunate enough to have a frontage on Pearl street and also on Main street, to use the Pearl street side as if it was an alley. patron, came in yesterday fore noon with a bundle.

"Say, George, I want to get some cigars. You can keep this pair of boots for them. They belong to Frank, and when he comes in after them you make him pay for the cigars before you give them up. He played that kind of a trick on me once, and I want to get even. They're his best boots."

George smiled at the prospect of fun, set up the cigars, and concluded he might as well smoke himself, too, on the boots.

The package was laid behind the counter, and there were several more smokes charged up to the boots, as the boys got hold of the joke.

Yesterday afternoon Frank came in. He had heard that his boots were there. He wanted them, Couldn't have them until he paid the charges—$1.60. He wouldn't stand it. Got hot. Swore that George might keep the boots. Wouldn't say anything. George finally opened the bundle to see what manner of boots they were. They proved to be an old pair, long since past the point where they were worth patching even. It began to dawn through George's jolly brain that Frank and his comrade had been working the house, and had got a day's smoking on the strength of a pair of old boots, not worth throwing away. THE MANAWA MOTOR LINE

The Enterprise Assured and To-Day All Arrangements Will Be Made.

NO HOME FOR ERRING WOMEN

The Sale of the Clarinda Branch of the Wabash Not to Take Place To-Day-The Glandered Horse Case -Bits of Bar News.

The Manawa Railway. Yesterday afternoon the Lake Manawa railway company held a meeting at the parlors of the Pacific house. Mr. J. K. Graves, of Dubuque, a well known capitalist, was present, and it was to confer with him, and close arrangements which have been pending, that the meeting was held. As a result the announcement is made that the enterprise is practically assured, and that the contract will be closed at once, and work commence forthwith. The road is to be built by Mr. Graves and Mr. J. J. Brown, of this city. The citizens give them a bonus for building the road, and this bonus has been all pledged with the exception of $500. Today an attempt will be made to secure this amount, and that it will be readily raised there is no shadow of doubt. The citizens cannot afford to let a few dollars stand in the way of the speedy starting up of this enterprise, and with the pledging of this $500 there is nothing to prevent the work going right along. The road is to be a motor one, to run the year around, and will cost nearly $50,000. Mr. Graves yesterday purchased a handsome tract of land on the proposed route of the road, and will by thus becoming interested in the city not only secure for himself a goodly return on his investments, but will prove a valuable addition to the ranks of those who are working for the interests of the city. The citizens have an easy gap to fill this morning between the probability of a line to Manawa and its absolute certainty. The gap will be filled with the $500 before the sun gets noon high.

Erring But Human.

A few days ago Officer Unthank was approached by a Danish girl, who said she was anxious to find some place to work. She was a stranger in the city, and came here from Dakota. The officer asked her why she left there, whether she could not get work there, etc., and the only reason the girl assigned for thus coming here was that she felt that it was this much nearer Denmark. The girl was evidently homesick and worried, and the kind hearted officer took a little pains to find her a home. He secured for her employment in a family on Avenue A. It did not take the lady long to discover that the girl had due cause to feel worried. She is in such a condition of health that will soon unfit her for doing any housework, and with no home and no friends to care for her her condi tion is deplorable. The family with whom she is now stopping cannot keep her, and the girl seems to have no place her, and the girl seems to have no place to go where she can be properly cared for during her illness. An attempt was made to get her taken into the Cottage hospital, but there is no room for her. An appeal was made to the Home of the Friendless, but she could not be taken in there. The county has no poor house now, and so the outlook is rather dark. The case is one which presents an excellent charity, and it is to be hoped that some kindly hearted person may provide some chance for the girl. chance for the girl.

Uncle Sam's Doings.

Judge Love was expected here soon to finish up some business of the term, but yesterday Deputy Clerk Hunter received word from him that instead of coming here he would finish the matters at Des Moines on the 16th of next month, and directed the clerk to report there with the necessary books and papers. It is expected that a decision will be then given in the Wabash cases.

The sale of the Clarinda branch of the Wabash system has been advertised to take place at noon to-day. It is expected that the sale will be postponed for a month.

The Other Side.

The squabble which has led to the prrest of two men, Taylor and Dyer, for selling a glandered horse to Elmer Morehouse, of this city, has several sides to it. The Harrison County News gives the following details of the affair as viewed by the Morehouse side:

The Harrison County News gives the following details of the affair as viewed by the Morehouse side:

On Friday, of last week, one Elmer Morehouse, of Council Bluffs, came to Mondamin, accompanied by the city marshal of Council Bluffs. They had in their possession warrants for two of our citizens, namely John Taylor and William Dyer. They hunted up our city marshal and broke the news gently to him, assuring him that they had no desire to take the above named gentlemen from our midst if they would only put up money emough to satisfy their claim. Our marshal referred them to Constable Watts, who would conduct them to the residences of their victims. This done, they lost no time in trying to effect a settlement with the prisoners, assuring them they very much preferred to settle the marter and let them go, offering at first to take $250 and call it square, but finally reduced the amount to $125, and in lieu of money would take a good note. One of the prisoners, John Taylor, became very much frightened at the prospect of being carried away from home and cast into prison without a friend to assist, and was actually scared into the act of spiving a note for $125, and attempted to have Mr. William Clinkenbeard, his father-in-law, sign with him as security. Mr. Clinkenbeard, however, refused, and sent word to the prisoners to stand trial first, and then if they owed anything he would assist them in paying it. Mr. Clinkenbeard, however, did not understand that the prisoners were to be taken to Council Bluffs to be tried for lack of the necessary funds to settle the matter. The grounds upon which the arrests were made are, as near as could be ascertained, as follows: Some six or seven months ago Taylor and Dyer were down to Council Bluffs in the paying to the other prisoners, traded a horse belonging to the other prisoner, traded a horse belonging to the other prisoner, fraded a horse belonging to the other prisoner, fraded a horse belonging to the other prisoner, and Council Bluffs, and on the grounds that it was giander

The following specimens of oratory were captured as they fell from the lips of an Onawa attorney at a recent session of court: "The heart is locked in the depths of the caverns of the human body; the mind is enshrouded in a bulk of human flesh; the soul has taken its everlasting flight to realms of bliss, but would the witness tell a lie? Gentlemen of the jury: When your feet for the last time tread the sacred place where your bodies now lie entombed, and you reach the gate of that Celestial city, then will you say under your oaths, gentlemen of the jury, that them horses do not belong to the intervenor."

Grand Army Boys.

The committees of the Veteran legion and Grand army posts of this city wish to return their hearty thanks to all the generous citizens who in any manner aided in the entertainment of the 27th inst., and particularly to the ladies of Cottage hospital, and all others who rendered such invaluable services, and gave such lavish supplies of provisions, besides giving time and labor in the entertainment and supper. Also to the Bavarian band for their generous help, and to the Giee clubs, and Miss Nellie Hatcher, for their kind assistance on that avaning. They feel that the disparent evening. They feel that the dinner, supper and ball was a grand success for a most worthy object, and all will re-joice in the solid benefits rendered the Cottage hospital.

ELECTRICITY!

DR. RICHARD'S Electric Bath Rooms and Office

No. 607 Mynster St., Council Bluffs.

One Square North of the P. O. Building.

Treatment and Baths Given by Mrs. Dr. Richards on Tuesday, Thursday & Saturday.

Electricity is a remarkable natural agent which has long been known and utilized as a remedy for disease, and continued experience has enlarged its sphere of usefulness and improved its appliances by which it is employed until its utility and virtue has become second to no other known remedy, in the treatment of certain forms of disease. This agent is employed here in all its most serviceable forms by the aid of large batteries, statte machines, electric cabinet baths, electric water baths, the electric chair and electrodes for treating all parts of the body. We are prepared to do all that can be done with these great remedies, in cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Spinal Irritation, Rectal Diseases, Nervous Diseases in females arrising from Uterine disorders and many other chronic and subacut troubles. It stands at the head of all known remedies or methods cure. A thorough study of it for years and the successful treatment of thousands of cases, after all other remedies had failed, is sufficient evidence of its great worth and perfectly satisfies us with its good effects on the diseased body. In the great hospital and sanitarians of America and Europe, electricity is leading all other methods of treatment. In all leading colleges the professors are teaching electricity as one of the potents remedies and a special chair is appointed in many of them. Many of the ablest physicians of all schools are making a specialty of electricity to the exclusion of almost everything else. This great remedy has often fallen into disrepute by being recommended and used by persons, and physicians, perfectly ignorant of its properties and powers, who would advise and use the wrong current. who would advise and use the wrong current as the right one or depend upon it in diseases for which it is not adopted. We are sure that when the people become educated in the use of electricity for many diseases with which the body is afflicted and find the great good therein, the medicines and patent righted nostrums upon which they now rely will grow old and dusty on the shelves. Electricity is nature's great remedy and to fully understand and skilfully apply it is our effort and aim in life.
