A Young Man's Brilliant Scheme For Avoiding Prosecution - Police Court-Highwaymen at Work General Local News.

A reporter for the Bee ascertained yesterday morning of a clever swindle which was practiced upon Mr. Josselyn, the paymaster of the Union Pacific road, by which the company was defrauded out of $12.25.

The pay day of the switch and brakemen is about the eighth of the month. At that time one of the parties who appeared at Mr. Josselyn's office for his pay was a man who gave the name of Troop. This is the name of a brakeman for Conductor Field, on the Omaha & Republican Valley branch. Mr. Josselyn, it seems, had a means of identifying the party and handed him the warrant, calling for $71.25, the amount of Troop's wages for March. The applicant took the warrant, endorsed it as Troop, presented it to Treasurer Brown and received his money. He then disappeared. A few days later, Troop, the brakeman referred to, came in off the branch and presented himself for payment, giving, as is required, his name and place of occupation. There was one warrant remaining. It had not been called for. Mr. Josselyn reasoned that it belonged to Troop. Upon examination, however, it was found to bear the name of O'Connor. But then the warrant was made. Later examination revealed the fact that Troop's warrant, as above stated and been called for and paid, and that the O'Connor warrant was for a man who had been killed on the branch. Mr. Josselyn went through his Union Pacific records and found that O'Connor's wages had been ordered sent to his mother east. It became necessary then for Troop to have himself identified, and when this was done, he received his warrant and it had cashed. This is one of the first frauds which have been practiced upon Mr. Josselyn, but if there be no means of identifying employees, the wonder is that instead of seventy-five dollars, the amount has not reached into the thousands.

A SAD HISTORY.

An Old Man Who Was Made Crazy by His Wife's Treachery.

Oliver Keeler, a demented old man who lives on the bottoms, has been bothering the police lately with lengthy written reports about his wife. The old fellow spent a deal of time on these reports, and yet they almost imperceptible. From reading them one gathers in a general way that the writer's wife has been kidnapped, and that she is held in captivity by heartless ruffians.

Keeler has quite a history. Years ago, when he was much younger than he is now, he was a respectable laboring man. Certain scheming persons induced him to marry a young girl who, though pretty and prepossessing, had led a fast life. Her husband's friends brought these stories about her character to his notice, but he would not believe them. He grew passionately attached to her, and when one day she deserted him and ran away with a paragon, he was driven, with grief and anger, to go on and she did not return, he became actually insane. The lapse of years had only seemed to make matters worse, and to-day the poor fellow is more of a wreck mentally than he was the day his wife's treachery was disclosed. He imagines all sorts of things about her—that she has been murdered—that she has been kidnapped—that she has been locked up for some time in prison etc. He also imagines that he has been heir to a large fortune. He says that as soon as he comes into possession of this, he will spend it all in solving the mystery of his wife's disappearance.

JUDGE WAKELEY'S OPINION.

Given in an Important Land Case in West Omaha.

Judge Wakeley has rendered an important decision in a suit involving the title to block 8 of West Omaha, valued at about $45,000, in favor of the plain tiff Mrs. Gordon. The land was bought in 1868 by a man named Gamble, through a party named Isaac, the agent of Mr. Seiden. He paid taxes on it until 1885. A question arose as the legality of the description made in the transfer, when it is asserted, Seiden again claimed the land, and disputed with the party. In the meantime, however, Mrs. Gordon, formerly Miss McCague, purchased the land and received such title as Gamble had to give. This suit ensued and has continued up to the present time, Howard B. Smith appearing for Mrs. Gordon, O'Brien & O'Brien for the defendants. Moses O'Brien, of that firm, at the instance of the opposing attorneys, was, during the progress of the trial in October last, put under arrest for contempt of court by alleged disobedience of the orders of the same. Judge Wakeley, however, discharged him with a complimentary explanation that no contempt had been shown.

TWICE IN FIVE MINUTES.

Dick Mulcahey Held-Up by Highwaymen Whom He Drives Away.

Dick Mulcahey, a young man about twenty-three years of age, reported at police headquarters yesterday that he had been held-up twice Wednesday night by highwaymen. In neither instance, however, did the would-be robbers succeed. While going up Ninth street about 11 o'clock Wednesday night, Mulcahey was stopped by a short, heavy-set man who demanded money. Mulcahey replied that he had none and made a motion as if to draw a revolver, when the foot-pad suddenly decamped. Mulcahey then went to Tenth street on Harney and when about opposite Stephenson's a very stable car was stopped by another man.

"Hold on there, and give me your money!" the highwayman demanded. Mulcahey replied that he had no money to give away at that fashion, when the ruffian remarked coolly: "Then I'll rip you open." Before he could get his knife into action, however, Mulcahey drew his revolver and planted it square in the fellow's face. The highwayman made up his mind to leave the neighborhood, turned and ran through the alley. Mulcahey acted bravely, but he made a great mistake in not marching the fellow up to jail.

Hastings. The Mo. Pacific and Northwestern have submitted propositions for bonds which will be voted soon. F. D. Riley, the real estate broker, has great bargains in business lots and acre tracts. Dawes & Foss' Addition a specialty. Rooms 4, 5 and 6 Opera House.

TWO RUNAWAYS.

A Real Estate Man Who Sold Lots Under Difficulties. August Spitzko, a well-known real estate man, is certainly in hard luck. Wednesday afternoon he went out with two ladies who wished to purchase some lots. On the way back one of the ladies put up her parasol. This frightened the horse, and he ran away. All three were thrown out of the buggy. Fortunately, the ladies were not injured, but Mr. Spitzko fell in such a way that the wheels of the vehicle passed over him. He jumped up as quickly as possible and caught the horse. After taking the ladies home, he started down town, when his horse again took fright. This time he ran into a telegraph pole, against which Mr. Spitzko was thrown by the force of the collision. He was picked up and taken to his home, where his injuries were found to be more painful than dangerous. He is unable to move but his physician thinks that with proper care he will soon recover.

One of the ladies, Mrs. Joseph Remick, sustained several painful cuts on the forehead, but was not dangerously hurt.

BOYD'S OPERA HOUSE.

Negotiations in Progress for Its Sale. It was rumored this afternoon that the Boyd opera house property had been sold to E. A. Benson and C. E. Mayne for $250,000. A reporter who traced the rumor down, found it to have a partial foundation of fact. Mr. Boyd said Wednesday that he would take $250,000 for the property, and the two gentlemen offered that amount. Yesterday, however, before the sale could be consummated he concluded to ask $260,000 for the property. He gave his agent, Mr. Souer, a written order authorizing him to sell at that figure if the bargain was made before 3:30 yesterday afternoon. Negotiations at last accounts were still pending.

CRUSHED BY A BANK.

Charles Bergstrom Narrowly Misses Death.

About 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon Charles Bergstrom, a laborer employed in grading a lot, was crushed by the falling of the high banks, near the alley between Fifteenth and Sixteenth, Harney and Howard streets. He was thrown against the hub of a wagon and beside being badly bruised was nearly suffocated. He was removed in the patrol wagon to his home on Twenty-first and Chicago. He will recover.

Takes an Appeal.

Yesterday Edward Larkin took an appeal from the sentence imposed upon him by Judge Stenberg at the conclusion of the jury trial last night. Larkin was arrested at the instance of John Erek, for breaking open the latter's store on Sixteenth street, which Larkin claims to have legally leased. The charge against him was malicious destruction of property. The jury found him guilty, and Judge Stenberg gave him the lightest possible sentence, $2 and one day's imprisonment in jail. While Larkin is firmly of the opinion that he is in the right, he would not mind letting the matter go without further contest, were the sentence of imprisonment omitted. But he cannot stand the one day in jail, and so he appeals to the higher court.

A Card From Ph. Hertzman.

To the Public: I have read a malicious article in the World against my son. This is not only against my son, but against his heart-broken father. I am proud to say to Mr. Hitchcock that my own father at the age of nineteen came to the United States with Lafayette to shed his blood for the people of this country. And to-day he is obliged to read a wicked article written by an inexperienced young man who insults an old father, aged seventy-three, who came to Omaha more than nineteen years ago. I am proud to say to Mr. Hitchcock that I am esteemed and respected by the good class of ladies and gentlemen. His own father always had a kind regard for me. What harm have I ever done to Mr. Hitchcock? PH. HERTZMAN.

An Earlier Mail Delivery.

An important change was on Wednesday introduced in the carrier delivery of mail from the postoffice. Mr. Evers, yesterday, announced that hereafter, for the last afternoon delivery in the business district, the carriers would leave the postoffice at 3:15 o'clock, instead of 4:30, as heretofore, thus enabling business men to receive their mail one hour and thirty-five minutes earlier. Many of them will thus be able to answer a great part of their correspondence the same evening, as also put up orders for the night trains. The deliveries hereafter will be at 7:30 a. m., 9:40 a. m., 11:30 a. m. and 11:30 p. m. and the Washington St. mail and Southwestern mail at 3:15 p. m.

The Annex Offices.

Yesterday morning a force of men was engaged in excavating from beneath the floor of the exposition annex, increasing the depth of that place several feet. In this basement will be located the cells of the city jail, together with police patrol wagon and stables. The same appliances now used by the fire department for the rapid hitching of horses will be introduced for those of the patrol wagon. On the south end of the annex will be the council chamber, which is already being prepared for papering. In the north end will be located the city treasurer, clerk and controller, who will remain in the county building.

Hanna & Co. for many years.

WAYWARD DAMSELS.

How They are Drifting into the Life of Professional Vagrants.

The lawyers in Judge Stenberg's court were treated to a rather pathetic spectacle yesterday morning. Two young girls—one named Kate Collins, aged sixteen years and the other named Jessie Nightengale, aged fifteen—were brought before Judge Stenberg, on a charge of being vagrants. They were poorly clad and not over clean, but despite that they were both pretty.

"Your honor," said Officer Pat Hinchey, who arrested them, "these are two runaway girls, who left their homes a few days ago, and have been running around in bad company. For the last two or three nights they have been sleeping out doors. Last night they slept under the Eleventh street viaduct, and the night before that in a coal shed. I was called upon to arrest them this morning while they were going to work in a restaurant. We didn't go to work. So we are afraid to go back home. Our mothers would kill us."

Judge Stenberg assured the brace of youthful damsels that their parents would probably receive them with open arms. "At any rate," he said, "you'll either go home or go to the reform school." The girls were held until their parents could come and take them home. Both live on the south side.

MARRIED THE WITNESS.

How a Shrewd Young Man Escaped Criminal Prosecution.

A certain criminal case in Judge Stenberg's court did not go to trial yesterday though it had so been placed on the docket. The defendant was Harry Brandeis and the plaintiff was Sam Gardner. The charge was that Brandeis had intimidated a witness who had testified in the county court some weeks before in a case against him. This case was one in which Brandeis, who formerly kept a resort on Sixteenth street, was sued for wages by Gardner. The witness referred to was Daisy Todd and she gave testimony on the stand which would have shown that Brandeis had tried to induce her not to appear against him. This of course was a criminal offense and Gardner had Brandeis arrested. The case was set for trial this afternoon. Of course it rested entirely upon the evidence of the witness Daisy Todd. Just before the case was to be called, Judge Stenberg received word that Mr. Brandeis and Miss Todd had been married. Under the laws of this state a woman cannot testify against her husband, and the prosecution against Brandeis was consequently dropped.

Rail Notes.

A telegram received at the passenger department of the Union Pacific railroad from A. C. Dawes, general passenger agent of the Kansas City, St. Joseph & Council Bluffs road announces that after May 1 the Kansas City trains on that road will depart and arrive every day. Heretofore the Kansas City train left here Saturday night and none arrived here Monday morning.

A New Receiver.

A. B. Charde of Oakland, recently appointed receiver of the land office at Nebraska, is in town. He will enter upon the duties of his new position on Monday next. The penalty exacted from the receiver in this office is $50,000 and the security is required to be double that amount. This is larger than required in any other land office in the state, the lowest amount exacted being $10,000 at the option of the land commissioner. The security, Mr. Charde obtained in his own town, amounting to $127,000, and over this fact, Mr. Charde feels elated.

May Weather.

The following is the forecast of May weather, made by Professor E. J. Couch: "The weather for the first week of May bids fair to be generally dry, with cooler days, 5th to 8th, clearing 9th to higher temperature, with wild storm, and rain areas; on the 10th and 11th; fair weather 12th to 14th; then cloud or rain areas 18th and 19th; clearing 20th. The weather will change the 21st to its highest temperature, and more general rains 22d, 23d and 24th, then clearing, warm and pleasant; then cloud or rain areas 29th and 30th."

An English physician has discovered that there are 131,000 hairs on a man's head. It is unnecessary to add that this computation applies only to unmarried men. The married and unmarried, one and all, use the great household necessity, Kirk's "Juvenile" Toilet Soap.

Plattsmouth Councilmen.

Councilmen Murphy and Gressell, of Plattsmouth, were in town yesterday in charge of General Smith, who showed them around among all the engine houses where they were engaged in a special examination of their fire apparatus. They intend to report upon the advisability of purchasing certain kinds of fire apparatus for their city, now that it has water works of its highest capacity, and more general rains 22d, 23d and 24th, then clearing, warm and pleasant; then cloud or rain areas 29th and 30th."
