CHICAGO PRODUCE MARRET.

Cmcago, May 2,-|Special Telegram to the BEE. |- The deliveries of wheat on May contracts were large to-day, the clique houses and carriers identified with these firms getting a large proportion of the property. Kershaw & Co. did not deliver a pound of wheat during the forenoon and they took in a very heavy line. Rosenfeld got more than 1,000,000 bushels, part of which was delivered this afternoon and a lot more taken in. Irwin, Green & Co. had about as much going as they had coming. George C. Walker & Co. got considerable and so did Bensley Bros. Armour & Co. delivered a biz jag, most of which is understood to have found its way back to the starting point, arrangements having been centered into Saturday, it is understood, for the carrying of property through May on a basis of 23c. A good deal more wheat than the crowd had expected landed with the clique houses, and so far as the open record goes the greater portion of it stayed there. That the vast bulk of property will eventually go to the regular carriers is the popular impression, arrangements to that end having been made during the closing days of last week by a great many people. 23se for the month being the price at which most of the "switching over" was done. Fo-day the difference widened to 24c straight, and the pressure of May at that discount was sufficient to weigh down the whole list of futures, though the market was very firm and %@36e higher for the first hour, on the and 36034e higher for the first hour, on the belief that the clique had taken and paid for wheat in store here. That the clique has taken and paid for a portion of the wheat, and that it has paid regular carriers and others for carrying a lot more, is generally accepted as being an approximately truthful statement of the actual situation, the total cost for the month being somewhere in the neighborhood of $300,000. The clique houses were moderate buyers of June, and as pretty nearly everybody on the floor has wheat in greater or less quantities sold to them for June delivery, it is assumed that their margin June delivery, it is assumed that their margin interest in that option is a heavy one and that the principals are strong enough to protect themselves, however much they might have found themselves embarrassed in the carrying out of their plans, with regard to May by the tying up of the local money market by strong parties whose interests were hostile to those of the manipulators. The opening trades in May were at $134c, which was the top. June opened at $334c and $334c was the top. July sold as high as $354c. June and May worked off 34c and closed at 1 o'clock, the same as on Saturday, July only dropping $4c. Neither fune delivery, it is assumed that their margin off $4c$ and closed at 1 o'clock, the same as on Saturday, July only dropping $4c$. Neither the visible supply decreased, nor the weekly export figures cut much of a figure. Corn held up well and the speculative business passing, was fairly liberal in the aggregate. A smaller decrease in the visible than was expected (a little over half a million) caused a temporary weakness, but in the main the undertone was one of firmness and the near-by months closed a small fraction near-by months closed a small fraction higher than on Saturday. Deliveries on ma-turing May contracts were quite light and this, together with the strength shown in the this, together with the strength shown in the eastern and foreign markets, caused the longs to feel very comfortable in their position. The change in sentiment was so marked that the premium on June and July narrowed $c, changes to the former being at 1%c difference, and to latter at 3%c. Instead of everybody wanting to get rid of their May Corn—Some demandexisted. Seller June opened at 39%c, or $c$ above last week's closing price, sold immediately at 39%(238%c together, then improved to 39%(238%c together, and was 'quoted at 39%c at 1 o'clock, May rested at 37%(237%c, July at 40%(24c), and August at 42%c. Oats were moderately active and firmer, the leading future closing $c$%(4c nigher than Saturday. In provisions 16.@4c nigher than Saturday. In provisions the market week opened with an easier feel-ing, under the influence mainly of large de-liveries of short ribs and lard on May conliveries of short ribs and lard on May contracts. The general trade was bearishly inclined, and for the articles named the day's prices averaged materially lower than on Saturday. In lard the actual decline shown in the 1 o'clock closing was 736c, and in short ribs 15c. Pork was strongly held, of course, by the manipulators, and for cash, May and June the prices was marked up 50c, or to $23,50. In lard and short ribs, trading was quite active, though barren of special feature. A large number of May trades in both were changed over to June. The premium paid in lard being 10@1214c and in short ribs 1234 @15c. The carrying charges for the latter months were $34@10c in lard and 10c in short ribs.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Wheat was stronger. May sold at Si@ 81½c, closing at 81½c; June sold from 83½c to 83½c@83½c on the split, closing at 83½c; July sold at 83½c@83½c, closing at 83½c. Corn was tirmer. May sold at 37½c; June sold at 39½cc on the split to 39½c; June sold at 39½cc on the split to 39½c; June sold at 39½cc. Oats were active and irmer. Pork was quoted at $23.50 for May and June, with no trading. Lard was advanced 2½cc. AFTERNOON SESSION.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

CHICAGO, May 2 .- | Special Telegram to the BEE.]-CATTLE-Trade was slow and prices 15@20c lower than on Friday on the ordinary run of fat cattle. There were about twelve loads of Texans among the arrivals, but the bulls were the only lot sold and they made $2.55. Native butchers' stock was more plentiful than last week. There was literally nothing doing in stockers and feeders. FINANCIAL

NEW YORK, May 2.- [Special Telegram to the BEE. |-STOCKS.-The stock market was very narrow to-day, only 73,000 shares being traded in up to noon. One reason was the holiday in London and the consequent loss of arbitrage business. The market was, on the whole, weak, although a few of the specialties, like Fort Worth & Denver and Rock Island, made fractional gains. New England was again quite active, but the pressure was all on the selling side. It ropped from 57% at the opening to 56%. Union Pacific was also heavily sold by the bears, who succeeded in breaking it down I per cent. The rest of the list was generally ower than on Saturday. A good many bear points were out on Western Union. One point, which it was alleged came from the best of sources, was that the stock would be let down to about 50, around which figure another bull deal in it would be started. It was claimed that no one was buying stocks except professional traders, and that on all rallies the bull cliques sold all that the market would take. Cammack stated that he felt very bearish and believed that almost anything could be sold for a profit. There was nothing of significance in the dealing in stocks after noon, and very little change in prices occurred. Some of the fancy stocks broke off a fraction, but there was no sensational drop. Altogether the market closed ragged and weak at the lowest prices of the tay. The total sales were about 140,000

The Week.

Monday, May 2. The cattle market was somewhat unsteady last week. The week opened with an advance of 10c which was followed by a decline of 5@10c on Wednesday and another decline of 10c on Thursday. A portion of the loss was regained on Friday when there was an advance of 10c. The week closed with cattle selling at about the prices quoted be-low. At the beginning of the past week hogs were selling at from $5,25.30. The market continued about steady at those prices until on Wednesday when a decline of 10@ 15c was experienced. On Thursday there was a still further decline of 10@20c which prices prevailed until the end of the week.

The receipts of cattle to-day were liberal for the first day of the week. The market was fairly active at prices about steady with Saturday. Hogs.

The hog market opened slow on account of he busers not all receiving their orders early. In the afternoon there was more life in the market and everything was sold at
