

THE DAILY BEE.

PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION: Daily (Morning Edition) including Sunday...

ADVERTISING: All communications relating to news and editorial matter should be addressed to the Editor of the Bee.

BUSINESS LETTERS: All business communications should be addressed to THE BEE PUBLISHING COMPANY.

THE BEE PUBLISHING COMPANY, PROPRIETORS.

E. ROSEWATER, EDITOR.

SWORN STATEMENT OF CIRCULATION.

Table with 2 columns: Date and Circulation. Rows for Saturday, Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and Average.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 30th day of April, 1887.

Geo. H. Tschuck, Notary Public.

Geo. H. Tschuck, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is secretary of the Bee Publishing Company...

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 15th day of April, A. D., 1887.

Geo. H. Tschuck, Notary Public.

GENERAL SHERIDAN quietly sits down on General Rosser, and the latter will continue to squirm.

The hotel proprietors will soon petition the inter-state commission asking that passes be granted to all politicians as heretofore.

The passionate poet, Swinburne, has hurled an ode of one hundred lines at Gladstone.

Richard A. Proctor, the scientist, insists that there are sea serpents, and says the stories regarding them ought not to be ridiculed.

One of the Chicago bootleggers has coughed up $1,000 in currency, saying it belonged to Cook county.

An Indian from the Omaha reservation, Ta-wa-hae-sin-ga, recently called on Governor Thayer.

Dr. Edward Knox, of Fentress county Tenn., on Monday day, was killed by a four-year-old son for some boyish indiscretion.

Hoffman, the Nebraska train wrecker who is confined in jail at Nebraska City awaiting execution, has called for a Bible.

Gath, in the Cincinnati Enquirer, comes to the rescue of the James boys, and excuses them for all their crimes.

If the organ of the state printing thieves, known as the Bookers' Own, had given the republican candidate for mayor in Lincoln as much attention as it has given Mr. Brobach, perhaps it could have elected a republican, instead of the democrat who now fills that office.

A New York ex-almirant, supposed to have been a poor man, dropped dead on the street on Monday, struck with heart disease, and the coroner found on his body $35,000 worth of railroad bonds, concealed in a belt worn between his outer and his undershirt.

A Missouri paper alleges that Colonel A. C. Dawes, of the Kansas City, St. Joseph & Council Bluffs road, has been tendered the position of general manager of the Oregon Railway and Navigation company.

A Missouri paper alleges that Colonel A. C. Dawes, of the Kansas City, St. Joseph & Council Bluffs road, has been tendered the position of general manager of the Oregon Railway and Navigation company.

FINANCIERS will understand what is meant by the reduction in the discount rate of the bank of England to 3 per cent. It indicates an abundant present supply of money in the London market and a conviction in the minds of the managers of the great banking institution that there will be enough to meet all probable emergencies in the near future.

Two per cent is the minimum rate of the Bank of England, and is the best evidence of a money plethora. That circumstance is not unfavorable to the country. In a political direction the significance of the reduction is that the leading financiers of Great Britain are not apprehensive of any serious conflicts in Europe in the near future. It is in all respects a reassuring sign.

Willing to Compromise.

We some time ago noted the fact that Congressman Springer of Illinois had expressed himself in favor of a compromise between the hostile factions of the democracy on the tariff, in order to effect a reduction of the revenues which men of all parties concede to be necessary.

The Kentucky congressman is quite sanguine regarding a reduction. He has no doubt that the next congress will reduce revenues, though he does not expect the passage of such a bill as the revenue reform bill would like to have.

There could be no better indication than this of the position that will be taken in the next congress by the revenue reform democrats, who will more completely than ever be in the control of Mr. Carlisle, since Mr. Morrison will not be permitted to divide influence.

With $40,000 a year income from existing hydrants, the company can well afford to reduce the price for additional hydrants to $25 a year.

The week has developed no events of interest on the continent of Europe, nothing having occurred from which even a plausible conjecture of future disturbances could be drawn.

The French fleet is shortly to engage in a series of grand manœuvres, the most important which have been undertaken since the war.

English women have done much to rescue the queen's jubilee celebration from merited reproach for lack of public interest.

The queen of Sweden, who has been staying in Amsterdam for some time, where she underwent a critical operation, is convalescent.

King Milan of Servia makes skittling a hobby. He was recently presented by the prince of Montenegro with a carved set of balls and men manufactured of extremely hard wood.

Queen Olga, of Greece, is fond of swimming, and a pond lined with white marble is to be constructed in the grounds of the royal palace at Athens so that the queen can disport herself with her attendants like Diana and her maids.

King William, of Germany, has sent a beautiful diamond bracelet as a wedding present to a Jewish maid whom he has to see at a window opposite his hotel at Gastein, and who is soon to be married.

There is an end to weariness in life! To all this ceaseless and tumultuous strife! That, from the very cradle to the grave, Appals the hearts of 'em the strong and brave!

There is an end to this anxiety That haunts us hour by hour and will not flee! Or are we made to mourn through day and night, To walk in shade and never in the light?

There is an end to losses and to pain! And will there come a time when naught Will follow all our unremitting toil, And when no foe shall cause us to recoil?

There is an end to this dull, dreary mode Of life! Or must our feet still press the road leading through these dangerous and dark days, Where scarce an eye discerns one shining mark?

Nay, do not look for perfect peace and rest! A life of noble content is the best! And charity will win a brighter crown Than we could gain by casting burdens down.

The Pioneer does not think that all the Omaha Bee says is gospel, but on the main line it is correct. It is a newspaper that cannot be equaled in Nebraska.

The Scotch universities have been approached by the musicians of Scotland with reference to the granting of degrees in music.

The splendor of the attack of Rosser on General Sheridan should have been permitted to pass without attention.

The zigzag route which the Chicago & North-western is building to Omaha, is an improvement on the old oxbow by-way of Blair, but it is by no means what Omaha should and must have.

One thousand houses erected in Omaha for renting, during the present and next years, would be a profitable investment.

Other Lands Than Ours.

The London Times having followed up the Parnell forgery by denouncing Dillon as a liar, that journal has occupied rather more attention in England during the past week than any other subject.

The week has developed no events of interest on the continent of Europe, nothing having occurred from which even a plausible conjecture of future disturbances could be drawn.

The French fleet is shortly to engage in a series of grand manœuvres, the most important which have been undertaken since the war.

English women have done much to rescue the queen's jubilee celebration from merited reproach for lack of public interest.

The queen of Sweden, who has been staying in Amsterdam for some time, where she underwent a critical operation, is convalescent.

King Milan of Servia makes skittling a hobby. He was recently presented by the prince of Montenegro with a carved set of balls and men manufactured of extremely hard wood.

Queen Olga, of Greece, is fond of swimming, and a pond lined with white marble is to be constructed in the grounds of the royal palace at Athens so that the queen can disport herself with her attendants like Diana and her maids.

King William, of Germany, has sent a beautiful diamond bracelet as a wedding present to a Jewish maid whom he has to see at a window opposite his hotel at Gastein, and who is soon to be married.

There is an end to weariness in life! To all this ceaseless and tumultuous strife! That, from the very cradle to the grave, Appals the hearts of 'em the strong and brave!

There is an end to this anxiety That haunts us hour by hour and will not flee! Or are we made to mourn through day and night, To walk in shade and never in the light?

There is an end to losses and to pain! And will there come a time when naught Will follow all our unremitting toil, And when no foe shall cause us to recoil?

There is an end to this dull, dreary mode Of life! Or must our feet still press the road leading through these dangerous and dark days, Where scarce an eye discerns one shining mark?

Nay, do not look for perfect peace and rest! A life of noble content is the best! And charity will win a brighter crown Than we could gain by casting burdens down.

The Pioneer does not think that all the Omaha Bee says is gospel, but on the main line it is correct. It is a newspaper that cannot be equaled in Nebraska.

The Scotch universities have been approached by the musicians of Scotland with reference to the granting of degrees in music.

The splendor of the attack of Rosser on General Sheridan should have been permitted to pass without attention.

The zigzag route which the Chicago & North-western is building to Omaha, is an improvement on the old oxbow by-way of Blair, but it is by no means what Omaha should and must have.

One thousand houses erected in Omaha for renting, during the present and next years, would be a profitable investment.

The week has developed no events of interest on the continent of Europe, nothing having occurred from which even a plausible conjecture of future disturbances could be drawn.

The French fleet is shortly to engage in a series of grand manœuvres, the most important which have been undertaken since the war.

English Women.

English women have done much to rescue the queen's jubilee celebration from merited reproach for lack of public interest.

The queen of Sweden, who has been staying in Amsterdam for some time, where she underwent a critical operation, is convalescent.

King Milan of Servia makes skittling a hobby. He was recently presented by the prince of Montenegro with a carved set of balls and men manufactured of extremely hard wood.

Queen Olga, of Greece, is fond of swimming, and a pond lined with white marble is to be constructed in the grounds of the royal palace at Athens so that the queen can disport herself with her attendants like Diana and her maids.

King William, of Germany, has sent a beautiful diamond bracelet as a wedding present to a Jewish maid whom he has to see at a window opposite his hotel at Gastein, and who is soon to be married.

There is an end to weariness in life! To all this ceaseless and tumultuous strife! That, from the very cradle to the grave, Appals the hearts of 'em the strong and brave!

There is an end to this anxiety That haunts us hour by hour and will not flee! Or are we made to mourn through day and night, To walk in shade and never in the light?

There is an end to losses and to pain! And will there come a time when naught Will follow all our unremitting toil, And when no foe shall cause us to recoil?

There is an end to this dull, dreary mode Of life! Or must our feet still press the road leading through these dangerous and dark days, Where scarce an eye discerns one shining mark?

Nay, do not look for perfect peace and rest! A life of noble content is the best! And charity will win a brighter crown Than we could gain by casting burdens down.

The Pioneer does not think that all the Omaha Bee says is gospel, but on the main line it is correct. It is a newspaper that cannot be equaled in Nebraska.

The Scotch universities have been approached by the musicians of Scotland with reference to the granting of degrees in music.

The splendor of the attack of Rosser on General Sheridan should have been permitted to pass without attention.

The zigzag route which the Chicago & North-western is building to Omaha, is an improvement on the old oxbow by-way of Blair, but it is by no means what Omaha should and must have.

One thousand houses erected in Omaha for renting, during the present and next years, would be a profitable investment.

The week has developed no events of interest on the continent of Europe, nothing having occurred from which even a plausible conjecture of future disturbances could be drawn.

The French fleet is shortly to engage in a series of grand manœuvres, the most important which have been undertaken since the war.

English women have done much to rescue the queen's jubilee celebration from merited reproach for lack of public interest.

The queen of Sweden, who has been staying in Amsterdam for some time, where she underwent a critical operation, is convalescent.

King Milan of Servia makes skittling a hobby. He was recently presented by the prince of Montenegro with a carved set of balls and men manufactured of extremely hard wood.

Queen Olga, of Greece, is fond of swimming, and a pond lined with white marble is to be constructed in the grounds of the royal palace at Athens so that the queen can disport herself with her attendants like Diana and her maids.

King William, of Germany, has sent a beautiful diamond bracelet as a wedding present to a Jewish maid whom he has to see at a window opposite his hotel at Gastein, and who is soon to be married.

There is an end to weariness in life! To all this ceaseless and tumultuous strife! That, from the very cradle to the grave, Appals the hearts of 'em the strong and brave!

There is an end to this anxiety That haunts us hour by hour and will not flee! Or are we made to mourn through day and night, To walk in shade and never in the light?

There is an end to losses and to pain! And will there come a time when naught Will follow all our unremitting toil, And when no foe shall cause us to recoil?

There is an end to weariness in life!

To all this ceaseless and tumultuous strife! That, from the very cradle to the grave, Appals the hearts of 'em the strong and brave!

There is an end to this anxiety That haunts us hour by hour and will not flee! Or are we made to mourn through day and night, To walk in shade and never in the light?

There is an end to losses and to pain! And will there come a time when naught Will follow all our unremitting toil, And when no foe shall cause us to recoil?

There is an end to this dull, dreary mode Of life! Or must our feet still press the road leading through these dangerous and dark days, Where scarce an eye discerns one shining mark?

Nay, do not look for perfect peace and rest! A life of noble content is the best! And charity will win a brighter crown Than we could gain by casting burdens down.

The Pioneer does not think that all the Omaha Bee says is gospel, but on the main line it is correct. It is a newspaper that cannot be equaled in Nebraska.

The Scotch universities have been approached by the musicians of Scotland with reference to the granting of degrees in music.

The splendor of the attack of Rosser on General Sheridan should have been permitted to pass without attention.

The zigzag route which the Chicago & North-western is building to Omaha, is an improvement on the old oxbow by-way of Blair, but it is by no means what Omaha should and must have.

One thousand houses erected in Omaha for renting, during the present and next years, would be a profitable investment.

The week has developed no events of interest on the continent of Europe, nothing having occurred from which even a plausible conjecture of future disturbances could be drawn.

The French fleet is shortly to engage in a series of grand manœuvres, the most important which have been undertaken since the war.

English women have done much to rescue the queen's jubilee celebration from merited reproach for lack of public interest.

The queen of Sweden, who has been staying in Amsterdam for some time, where she underwent a critical operation, is convalescent.

King Milan of Servia makes skittling a hobby. He was recently presented by the prince of Montenegro with a carved set of balls and men manufactured of extremely hard wood.

Queen Olga, of Greece, is fond of swimming, and a pond lined with white marble is to be constructed in the grounds of the royal palace at Athens so that the queen can disport herself with her attendants like Diana and her maids.

King William, of Germany, has sent a beautiful diamond bracelet as a wedding present to a Jewish maid whom he has to see at a window opposite his hotel at Gastein, and who is soon to be married.

There is an end to weariness in life! To all this ceaseless and tumultuous strife! That, from the very cradle to the grave, Appals the hearts of 'em the strong and brave!

There is an end to this anxiety That haunts us hour by hour and will not flee! Or are we made to mourn through day and night, To walk in shade and never in the light?

There is an end to losses and to pain! And will there come a time when naught Will follow all our unremitting toil, And when no foe shall cause us to recoil?

There is an end to this dull, dreary mode Of life! Or must our feet still press the road leading through these dangerous and dark days, Where scarce an eye discerns one shining mark?

Nay, do not look for perfect peace and rest! A life of noble content is the best! And charity will win a brighter crown Than we could gain by casting burdens down.

The Pioneer does not think that all the Omaha Bee says is gospel, but on the main line it is correct. It is a newspaper that cannot be equaled in Nebraska.

There is an end to losses and to pain!

And will there come a time when naught Will follow all our unremitting toil, And when no foe shall cause us to recoil?

There is an end to this dull, dreary mode Of life! Or must our feet still press the road leading through these dangerous and dark days, Where scarce an eye discerns one shining mark?

Nay, do not look for perfect peace and rest! A life of noble content is the best! And charity will win a brighter crown Than we could gain by casting burdens down.

The Pioneer does not think that all the Omaha Bee says is gospel, but on the main line it is correct. It is a newspaper that cannot be equaled in Nebraska.

The Scotch universities have been approached by the musicians of Scotland with reference to the granting of degrees in music.

The splendor of the attack of Rosser on General Sheridan should have been permitted to pass without attention.

The zigzag route which the Chicago & North-western is building to Omaha, is an improvement on the old oxbow by-way of Blair, but it is by no means what Omaha should and must have.

One thousand houses erected in Omaha for renting, during the present and next years, would be a profitable investment.

The week has developed no events of interest on the continent of Europe, nothing having occurred from which even a plausible conjecture of future disturbances could be drawn.

The French fleet is shortly to engage in a series of grand manœuvres, the most important which have been undertaken since the war.

English women have done much to rescue the queen's jubilee celebration from merited reproach for lack of public interest.

The queen of Sweden, who has been staying in Amsterdam for some time, where she underwent a critical operation, is convalescent.

King Milan of Servia makes skittling a hobby. He was recently presented by the prince of Montenegro with a carved set of balls and men manufactured of extremely hard wood.

Queen Olga, of Greece, is fond of swimming, and a pond lined with white marble is to be constructed in the grounds of the royal palace at Athens so that the queen can disport herself with her attendants like Diana and her maids.

King William, of Germany, has sent a beautiful diamond bracelet as a wedding present to a Jewish maid whom he has to see at a window opposite his hotel at Gastein, and who is soon to be married.

There is an end to weariness in life! To all this ceaseless and tumultuous strife! That, from the very cradle to the grave, Appals the hearts of 'em the strong and brave!

There is an end to this anxiety That haunts us hour by hour and will not flee! Or are we made to mourn through day and night, To walk in shade and never in the light?

There is an end to losses and to pain! And will there come a time when naught Will follow all our unremitting toil, And when no foe shall cause us to recoil?

There is an end to this dull, dreary mode Of life! Or must our feet still press the road leading through these dangerous and dark days, Where scarce an eye discerns one shining mark?

Nay, do not look for perfect peace and rest! A life of noble content is the best! And charity will win a brighter crown Than we could gain by casting burdens down.

The Pioneer does not think that all the Omaha Bee says is gospel, but on the main line it is correct. It is a newspaper that cannot be equaled in Nebraska.

The Scotch universities have been approached by the musicians of Scotland with reference to the granting of degrees in music.

The splendor of the attack of Rosser on General Sheridan should have been permitted to pass without attention.

The zigzag route which the Chicago & North-western is building to Omaha, is an improvement on the old oxbow by-way of Blair, but it is by no means what Omaha should and must have.

There is an end to this dull, dreary mode

Of life! Or must our feet still press the road leading through these dangerous and dark days, Where scarce an eye discerns one shining mark?

Nay, do not look for perfect peace and rest! A life of noble content is the best! And charity will win a brighter crown Than we could gain by casting burdens down.

The Pioneer does not think that all the Omaha Bee says is gospel, but on the main line it is correct. It is a newspaper that cannot be equaled in Nebraska.

The Scotch universities have been approached by the musicians of Scotland with reference to the granting of degrees in music.

The splendor of the attack of Rosser on General Sheridan should have been permitted to pass without attention.

The zigzag route which the Chicago & North-western is building to Omaha, is an improvement on the old oxbow by-way of Blair, but it is by no means what Omaha should and must have.

One thousand houses erected in Omaha for renting, during the present and next years, would be a profitable investment.

The week has developed no events of interest on the continent of Europe, nothing having occurred from which even a plausible conjecture of future disturbances could be drawn.

The French fleet is shortly to engage in a series of grand manœuvres, the most important which have been undertaken since the war.

English women have done much to rescue the queen's jubilee celebration from merited reproach for lack of public interest.

The queen of Sweden, who has been staying in Amsterdam for some time, where she underwent a critical operation, is convalescent.

King Milan of Servia makes skittling a hobby. He was recently presented by the prince of Montenegro with a carved set of balls and men manufactured of extremely hard wood.

Queen Olga, of Greece, is fond of swimming, and a pond lined with white marble is to be constructed in the grounds of the royal palace at Athens so that the queen can disport herself with her attendants like Diana and her maids.

King William, of Germany, has sent a beautiful diamond bracelet as a wedding present to a Jewish maid whom he has to see at a window opposite his hotel at Gastein, and who is soon to be married.

There is an end to weariness in life! To all this ceaseless and tumultuous strife! That, from the very cradle to the grave, Appals the hearts of 'em the strong and brave!

There is an end to this anxiety That haunts us hour by hour and will not flee! Or are we made to mourn through day and night, To walk in shade and never in the light?

There is an end to losses and to pain! And will there come a time when naught Will follow all our unremitting toil, And when no foe shall cause us to recoil?

There is an end to this dull, dreary mode Of life! Or must our feet still press the road leading through these dangerous and dark days, Where scarce an eye discerns one shining mark?

Nay, do not look for perfect peace and rest! A life of noble content is the best! And charity will win a brighter crown Than we could gain by casting burdens down.

The Pioneer does not think that all the Omaha Bee says is gospel, but on the main line it is correct. It is a newspaper that cannot be equaled in Nebraska.

The Scotch universities have been approached by the musicians of Scotland with reference to the granting of degrees in music.

The splendor of the attack of Rosser on General Sheridan should have been permitted to pass without attention.

The zigzag route which the Chicago & North-western is building to Omaha, is an improvement on the old oxbow by-way of Blair, but it is by no means what Omaha should and must have.

STATE AND TERRITORY.

Nebraska Jottings. Holdrege is pulling for a creamery and waterworks.

Plans for a five story opera house are being prepared at Beatrice. The building will be 65x138, and will have a seating capacity of 1,500.

A reward of $100 will be given for the return of J. N. Dykeman to Clark station. The long haul prevents him from tugging up and claiming the reward.

A mad dog scare in Rock Creek precinct, Otoe county, has produced a deluge of lead. Twenty-five curs have been hushed. The people are considerably excited and armed with pistols, clubs and rocks.

The Seward cannery factory will be ready for business in a few weeks. The machinery is being put in place. The company expects to put up 600,000 cans of corn this season and 600 barrels of pickles.

Jack McGiarty, of Republican City, took a burning match into the boiler of a gasoline barrel. He lives to whisper the afterglow, with a score of blisters and a hairless head to emphasize the point.

The threat of the Fremont Tribune to turn the trade of the city to Lincoln does not appear to satisfy the voracious appetite of the Democrat. Here is a specimen squel for more.

Something very much like white slavery is practiced in Nova Scotia, where pauper boys and girls are farmed out to the highest bidder. The farmer purchases the right to the child's labor till it becomes of age, and then he can sell his interest in the contract to any one who will buy it.

The week has developed no events of interest on the continent of Europe, nothing having occurred from which even a plausible conjecture of future disturbances could be drawn.

The French fleet is shortly to engage in a series of grand manœuvres, the most important which have been undertaken since the war.

English women have done much to rescue the queen's jubilee celebration from merited reproach for lack of public interest.

The queen of Sweden, who has been staying in Amsterdam for some time, where she underwent a critical operation, is convalescent.

King Milan of Servia makes skittling a hobby. He was recently presented by the prince of Montenegro with a carved set of balls and men manufactured of extremely hard wood.

THE UNION PACIFIC.

The fact that the Union Pacific railroad has at its head the grandson of one president of the United States, and the grandson of another is pressed as an urgent claim on the government's special deference to that railroad.

It is well to give this compliment to the honest management of the Union Pacific by the adverb "now," for there was a time when its management was little else than fraud, bribery and robbery.

It is well to give this compliment to the honest management of the Union Pacific by the adverb "now," for there was a time when its management was little else than fraud, bribery and robbery.