AMUSEMENTS. MINNIE MADDERN.

The brilliant young actress, Minnie Maddern, opens a two nights' engagement at Boyd's opera house this evening, appearing in a few play entitled, "Rebecca, or a Matter of Business." Tomorrow night she will present the popular play, "Caprice," for the benefit of Manager Boyd. All great celebrities and people of prominence are marked with some eccentricity or peculiarity which never fails to fall into the hands of the imitator. The latest craze (or wrinkle) is accredited to the great ingenue, Miss Maddern, who has been universally characterized for her natural plainness, modesty and simplicity. Until recently her business manager, Mr. Fred Miller while crossing the company on Miller, while crossing the company on the Pacific coast, quetly sat in the front row and discovered the twitter. The young ladies everywhere Miss Maddern has appeared have tackled to it, and the settees of many parlors in high life are wanting new springs. The Maddern twitter will be an unavoidable embellishment to every well-regulated, newly married couple. It is one of the cutest and cleverest trifling hits seen in a long ime, and a credit to any young lady wh even succeeds in giving an acceptable imitation of Minnie Maddern's twitter in the third act of "Caprice."

MAYOR BROATCH'S INAUGURAL

The First Mayor of the Metropolitan City Outlines His Policy.

NAMING THE CITY'S OFFICIALS.

Webster Confirmed-H. J. Davis Appointed Assistant Attorney-Meaney Retired-The New Board of Public Works.

The Council.

The first active meeting of the new city council was held last evening with all of the members present. The large audience room of the new council chamber was crowded with spectators long before the meeting. Inside the railing that is designed to protect the outsiders from the municipal fathers, were gathered the councilmen and ex-councilmen. Mayor Broatch, the city attorney, city engineer, city marshal. Chairman House of the board of public works and Mike Meaney were conspicuous. Ex-Mayor Boyd was in attendance.
At 8:20 o'clock President Bechel called the council to order and, after roll call announced a message from the mayor. MAYOR BROATCH'S INAUGURAL. Mayor Broatch, who occupied a chair at the city engineer's desk, stepped forward and read his message to the coun cil, as follows:

To the Honorable, the City Council of the Gentlemen—In this, my first message to your honorable body, the few suggestions which I have to offer will be made from a purely business standpoint. In entering upon my duties and taking up the mantle which my predecessor has laid aside, I re-alize the difficulties which I have to encounter as the chief executive officer of a rapidly growing and prosperous city, and appreciate the fact that, great as they have been in the past, they must necessarily be greater in the future. I pray that my administration of the trust reposed in me, may be such as to entitle me, at its close, to the commendation of all good citizens. I am human, and being human I am not infallable. I may make mistakes and making them invite criticism. mistakes, and making them invite criticism. this is one of the penalties of office. I pro-pose to execute the laws and your wishes as expressed in your ordinances, in as spirit of conservatism and justice. Some of the ordinances have not been properly enforced, and in some respects no attempt has been made at even a decent compliance. If these ordinances are unjust and discriminating, I ask you to repeal them; if however, they are proper, it is plainly my duty to see that they are observed. The re-sponsibility is a divided one; it rests equally upon you.

From the first time in the history of our state, the machinery of a metropolitan city i to be put in motion, and a grave responsibil ity rests upon you as the representatives of the people, and upon me, the chief executive of this city. It shall be my earnest endeavor to faithfully consider the interests of the city, and to aid you in maintaining good government, PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS. Public improvement should not be allowed to lay, but should be carried forward with caution, within lawful limits, and in such a manner as to secure permanency and satis faction. Under the provisions of the nev charter, the power is now given to the mayor and council to require water, gas and sewer connections to be made from the street mains to the inside of the curb line, in all paying districts, before the work of paying is done therein. This is an important addition to the powers of the mayor and council, and one that should be both carefully considered and exercised before entering upon any work of paving. It is not only a serious distigurement, but a permanent injury to our pavements to have them cut into and torn up for water, sewer and gas con-nections immediately after being laid, as nections immediately after being laid, as has been the constant practice in this city for the past three years. This injury to pavements and annoyance to travel can be largely if not entirely obviated by first con-sidering the points at which curb line con-nections should be made and then requiring them to be so made before laying down the pavement. Another change in the manner of ordering public improvement which should be observed is that ordering an appraisment of the damages, if any, which may result from grading before entering upon such work. Hereafter, before any street is or-dered graded, appraisers should be ap-pointed, and the damages resulting from such grading should be determined. such grading should be determined.

SEWERAGE.

The work of sewerare, which so vitally affects the health and comfort of our citizens, should receive the most careful consideration, and in prosecuting this work it should be constantly kept in mind that we are building for a city soon to reach several hundred thousand inhabitants.

All mains and pipe lines should be constructed of sufficient size to answer for the future as well as for the present time.

As the city is now metropolitan in charac ter, as well as in name, the sidewalks in the business and central portion of the city snould hereafter be required to be constructed of permanent material, and should be uniform in width and elevation so as to be in keeping with our pavements and other improvements.

Improvements.

AVOID OVERLAPS.

In making contracts for public improvements, in providing funds for the maintainence of the police and fire departments, and for the payment of the officials of other departments of the city government, care should be taken that when this council ccases to exist there shall be no overlap. I have but to call your attention to the fact that our bondsmen are responsible with us, for any expenditure exceeding lawful limit

We are about to organize a metropolitan We are about to organize a metropolitan police. The present force numbers but thirty-six men, a force, no matter how well disposed, entirely inadequate to afford the protection our city requires. Kansas City, with an estimated population of 140,000 inhabitants has at present 107 men, and it is about to add thirty more to its police force. We should have at least, a force of seventy-five men, which can be added to as the necessity arises. As the city has extended its sity arises. As the city has extended its limits, embracing twenty-four square miles, there should be several police stations where an adequate force can be kept to maintain order and preserve peace.

The audience listened to the reading of the message with marked attention and accepted it in silence. After the hearing of a number of petitions, the

CONFIRMING THE CITY ATTORNEY was brought up by Mr. Hascall, who moved that the mayor's appointment of John L. Webster be confirmed. Mr. Lee said that the matter had been referred to the committee on judiciary at the last meeting, and as that committee had not been appointed at that time, he move that the appointment be now referred to that committee. Mr. Hascall claimed that the matter had only been laid over for one week and was now properly be-fore the council. Mr. Lee's motion to refer was lost. The question then recurred upon the confirmation of Mr Webster. This was carried, Lee, Lowry Kitchen and Bechel voting in the nega tive. The result of the vote started a ence, which was promptly checked by

By Bailey—Whereas, The present United States postoffice building is totally inadequate for the uses intended; and Whereas, The site for said building is so narrow and contracted, and the grounds ad-jacent so occupied, as to be so high priced that it is impracticable to add thereto by pur-chase, therefore it is impossible to enlarge the present building so as to render it ade-quate for the uses intended for this great and growing city; and opinions that the city of Omaha has a legal right to sell Jefferson Square. Therefore
