The Seventh Day's Proceedings of the Presbyterian Assembly.

MARRIAGE TO A SISTER-IN-LAW.

It is Declared Proper in Accordance With the Church Tenets-A Mission Meeting-Other Local Matters.

The Presbyterians.

The moderator announced that in accordance with the action of the assembly yesterday he formally declared that section 4, chapter 24 had been amended, striking out the last clause relating to the marriage of a husband with the sister of a deceased wife and that the clause was no longer a part of the Presbyterian

He also formally announced that it had been decided Wednesday, that the ruling elder was not eligible to moderator.

The committee on bills and overtures reported an overture for the exclusion of officers of executive church boards, from membership on the board. This was adopted with an exception in favor of Dr. Lennox Kennedy, of New York.

Overture 35, introduced Wednesday was acted upon, with the recommendation that the general assembly shall have power to regulate and establish boards, provided that no new board shall be established without the consent of the pres-byteries.

Dr. Hays did not think that the merits of the case were entirely covered by that phraseology.
Dr. Pratt moved to lay the whole matter on the table.

Dr. Hays moved his opinion on above as a substitute.

Dr. Stewart held that the overture to the church did not settle the matter.
Dr. Patterson said he could scarcely hope to defeat an overture which came from Cincinnati and was sustained by the committee on bills and overtures. Dr. Hays moved to refer the matter to Dr. Hays moved to the the the next general assembly.

Dr. Marquis said that what Dr. Patterson had said had carried some weight with it. He moved that the matter be withdrawn from consideration.

The report of the special committee on education was read. Mr. S. M. Campbell, by whom it was made, said there was a debt of $15,000, and the number ef applicants was larger than there was any means of accommodating. With regard to the freedmen, an overture had been received referring to the inadvisability of drawing the color-line. The report of the committee favored the appropriation of $80 alike to black and white students engaged in the study for the ministry.

The report was discussed by Drs.
Poore Patterson, Childs and Campbell. The following committee men were suggested for next year: Drs. McCurdy, Hollingwood and Mr. Henry N. Hail, Dr. George B. Barker, Mr. T. J. Sheppard, J. M. Crowell, Marcus A. Brown, Pitkins, and Andrew Bleis. and Andrew Blair.

Women's Missions.

Yesterday morning there was an excellent union meeting of the women's missionary boards, in connection with the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, in the church on Dodge street.

Mrs. Douglas, president of the board of women's missions, presided. Mrs. Pratt, editress of the magazine "Wowan's Work," acted as secretary. There were about two hundred ladies in atten-

The programme comprised a number of hymns, besides an address of welcome Mrs. President and Ladies—My sisters in the great family of our King: It is my pleasure, to-day, to welcome you to Omaha—the little one of all the cities that have been the great family of our King: It is my pleasure, to-day, to welcome you to Omaha—the little one of all the cities that have been honored with your presence. It has been often said that the pleasure of anticipation exceeds the realization. In the present case we know it cannot be true. Ever since the announcement was made, a year ago, that the general assembly would meet in our city, we have been filled with brightest anticipations, not quite free from anxiety as to whether we could make you comfortable. But, to-day, we lose sight of every feeling except that of pleasure, that you are here, that we may look into the faces of those whose names have become household words, whose leaderahip we have followed in the infancy of our missionary work. We have longed to take you by the hand and hear from your lips words of encouragement and helpfulness which come with experience.

It is a new thing for you to come to the sunset land to see the beginning of things. But we welcome you with warm and loving hearts, and over all our crudeness and unfinished state we know you will throw the mantle of charity and sympathy.

No doubt to many of you we seem far, far away. But we are not. We are in the center, and our lines reach unto the ends of the earth, for we have a missionary of our very own in Persia, and to-day I know her heart throbs with joy as she remembers this grand meeting of the assembly in the state which is her foster mother.

From our own midst, though of a sister denomination, a missionary went to India, and after many years of hard toil, she has just returned for a much needed rest, and to-day she sits in our presence.

Another, from another church, has been in Turkey, and she, too, is now home.

A Japanese youth is being educated by the Sabath school, and China has a missionary's sister living in our midst. So you see, we are connected with the whole world by lines atronger than the ocean cable, for they are woven of links of prayer and Christ's ablding love and in behalf of heathen women and girls, whose fette divine means and ways that more may be saved, ere it is too late.

Hospitality varies much from the hearty meals of bread and meat cooked by Sarah, and eaten outside the tent down under the trees, to the feast in the palace, prepared by slaves and servants upon golden dishes. But if given with love—it is in either case acceptable, and so we extend to you, dear friends, a welcome to the best we have. Some of our homes are hardly larger than the tent, yet love dwells therein and to them you are cordially invited, and while you tarry with us, may a bond of friendship be formed which shall ablue forever, and may you leave with us precious, helpful memories which shall strengthen us; and whose influence shall extend to the end of time, when we shall all meet in the Father's home where are many mansions.

shall all meet in the Father's home where are many mansions.

There are so many among us whose words we are impatient to hear and the time so short for all this that it would be the height of presumption for me to take more time, and so, again I bid you welcome, welcome to Omaha.

The other exercises were a response by Mrs. Collyer of Downingtown, Pa., address, "Foreign Missions' Rightful Share," by Mrss Henry, Philahelphia; a Chinese boarding school, Miss M. A. Poor; "Story of a short life, Miss Hammil; an object lesson, Mrs. Chatterjee, of India; and Responsibility, Mrs. Magill.

Yesterday Afternoon. Rev. J. T. Gibson, of Pittsburg, took the floor and explained what was meant by the technicalities referred to by the committee on judiciary with reference to the case of the church of Glenfield with the synod of Pennsylvania. He held that the technicalities were not such as to prevent the assembly from hearing the

Dr. Patterson appeared as one of the counsel of the synod of Pennsylvania. He was in fayor of adopting the report of the committee to drop the complaint. It was not because of technicality. It was one of dangerous precedent to establish

A long discussion ensued and the re-port of the committee was finally adopted. The committee on church erection reported that the gross receipts were $108, 229.87; the number of churches erected was 160. The annual appropriation for this purpose was $20,000, the average amount given to each church being $500. Eight hundred and eighteen churches more than last year contributed to the fund, while 3,156 churches had made no contribution whatever. One hundred and fifty thousand dollars are asked for next

Rev. Dr. Irskine White, secretary of the board, Dr. Lewis and Dr. J. N. Wilson made speeches upon the subject.

A long discussion then ensued regarding the appointment of one man to more than one board. It was finally decided that in accordance with the standing rule of the assembly no party shall be allowed to serve on more than one board of the Last Night's Meeting. Last night there was a small audience at the meeting at the exposition building in the interest of ministerial relief and ministerial education. Dr. Porr presided on the latter subject, Dr. Phrauer, of Sing Sing, and Prof. Craig. of McCor-mick seminary, spoke, while Elder Van-Norden, of New York, spoke upon the former subject.

A MEETING OF WELSHMEN.

Pleasant Gathering of the Welsh

Presbyterians. Owen Ifor, 1141 North Seventeenth street invited a number of Omaha Welshmen and the Welsh members of the Presbyterian assembly to his residence Wednesday evening. Among the clergy present were Rev. R. T. Jones of Philadelphia, Rev. J. D. Cook, of Clinton county, Pa., E. 1. Davis. of Pontiac, Ill., and also Mr. Wm. G. Lewis, of Catasang ua, Pa., one of the most prominent Welshmen in the country. Mr. Lewis was master of ceremonies and made an opening address.

David McKenna, of Slatington, Pa. who was also present, made a brief speech.

Mr. Davies, of Council Bluffs, sang the Welsh national air, "Hen Wlad fy Nhadan."

Several telling speeches were made in Welsh, and Mr. Davies sang "Hen Wlad y Menyg Gwynion."

The meeting concluded by singing "My Native Land," and was voted the most enthusiastic ever held by Welshmen in Omaha.

Suits Against the City. City Attorney Webster continued ten cases against the city in the district court yesterday morning. They are actions begun on the strength of alleged damage to property because of street grading. He said to a reporter: "I find upon looking over the docket some twelve or lifteen cases in which judgment has been entered against the city in cases of this kind, by consent. There are 157 cases altogether against the city and most of them are for alleged damage resulting from changes of grades. In those cases which have been tried, the court here has held that where a man was put to $1,000 expense because of change of street grade, and his prop-erty was benefitted to the extent of $1,500 was entitled to no damages. If the supreme court sustains this opinion nearly all of these cases will fall to the ground. If it should reverse the decision the city will have to pay $100,000

Judge Berka's Grist. In the police court yesterday morning the notorious Pat Clancey was committed to jail in default of a fine of $5 and costs. Pat was disorderly. Paul Boehler, the boy accused of horse stealing, was discharged. Den Green, the blamable boy, was fined $10 and costs. Joe Ross, assault and larceny, had his case continued. Four drunks were discharged and two were fined $5 and costs. L. M. Dormann was fined $5 for disturbing the peace. W. Shepard paid $15 and costs for assault and battery. Five peace disturbers were up, of whom one was discharged and the others fined. Eight cases were continued.

The St. Cloud Closed. The St. Cloud, restaurant, on Douglas street, which has been unquestionably the finest establishment of the character in the city, was closed yesterday morning by the creditors. At the head of the list are Max Meyer & Co., who have a claim for $500. There are about fourteen creditors. The restaurant was taken in charge by the creditors two weeks ago, and they endeavored to run it, but the expense was greater than the income. The restaurant

The Cable Line. Work on the Dodge street cable line is progressing briskly. The asphalt cut-ters have reached Fifteenth street. At Usher & Russel's foundry the full force of molders is employed exclusively on the yokes, which will all be cast there. About ten thousand of these yokes will be needed by the line this year, to cover a mile distance. Mr. Usher states that the full capacity of the foundry will be tested for the rest of the season and all of next winter.

An Excellent Coal Mine Showing. Frank Sparhawk, Esq., of Douglas, Wyo., is in the city with samples of coal from a mine near Douglas in which a number of Chicago and Omaha parties are interested. The coal looks remarkably well. Mr. Sparhawk claims that there are four veins from three to ten inches in thickness and having a sand-stone roof. There is also an abundance of iron and lime on the claims of the company which lie along the route of the Elkhorn railroad.

COMMISSION AND COUNCIL Opinions that the Former is Independent of the Latter.

Mayor Broatch, in conversation with a reporter for the BEE yesterday stated that the police commissioners would hold another meeting before the next regular meeting of the council, though just when he could not venture. The commissioners can be called together in a special session upon the request of two members of the board. The regular meetings will be held on the first Monday in each month. The mayor felt a delicacy in expressing his opinion upon the relations of the council and the new chief of police, on account of being an ex-officio member of the police commission. and also mayor. It placed him, as he expressed it, "between two fires," "There is no desire on the commissioners' part to conflict with the council," continued Mr. Broatch; "the board has but one single object in view—the best interests of the city." Speaking of thecouncil and Chief Seavey this morning, a member of the board said. "The board of police commissioners is not obliged to submit the bond of the chief of police to the council-there is no such provision in the charter. A similar case is that of the assistant city attorney. The chief enters upon his duties after making oath with the city clerk. It was only courtesy on the part of the board to refer the police regulations to the council for its approval as there is no re-quirement to that effect. Of course at first we were all a great deal in the dark on the subject. It is the opinion of City
Attorney Webster and ex-City Attorney Connell that there is no question of the right of the police board to seat or dispose of any officer on the force without aldermanic approval—in fact the councit and the board have nothing in common, notwithstanding the action of the council which to all appearances shows council which to all appearances shows a disposition to assert that it is a more important body than the legislature of Nebraska, which created the board of police commissioners. It is also the opinion of several attorneys that the commission is by no meass compelled to submit police rules and regulations to the council, but can at once put the rules in force by its own action. From what I can gather, public opinion is tending to the side of the police commission and Chief Seavey, and the council can scarcely

We trust the Homeopathic School now in session in this city will do something for the man who had his arms talked off by piano agents. A successful operation would commend the homopathic surgery to the suffering public of Omaha and en-courage a large patronage. Woodbridge Bros. have saved a great many from get ting crippled by their conservative way of doing business. A $600 piano for $250 cash does not require any talk. We trust the code of ethics will recommend Woodbridge Bros. house as a healthful sanitary condition to the city.

try, will lecture principally on the evils of intemperance. There are some per-sons who think it is too bad that such a genius should be imported to this coun-try to talk on such a time-worn subject.
