MERITORIOUS MANHATTAN.

The Beautiful Addition in the Southwestern Part of the City.

The Best Residence Portion of Omaha-Street Railways and Building Associations Enhance the Value of Manhattan.

It is now settled beyond a doubt that the choicest residence portion of the city will be in the southwestern portion, located a short distance from Hanscom park. This part of the city will, as soon as the street railways are running cars, enjoy a boom for residences such as has not occurred in any part of the city for years. The ground, as a general thing, lies beautiful, and the view afforded is grand. Several building associations are helping to build up this part of the city, and the well known addition, Manknown addition, Manjoys the distinction hattan, enjoys having one building association that will build a dozen or more houses at once; and the prospects are good for another. The electric railway passes within about a quarter of a mile of Manhattan, probably be extended through it at an early day.

The sole agency for this beautiful addition has been placed in the hands of the Nedd Real Estate Exchange, and it is proposed to sell the remaining few lots at such low prices that it will be only a matter of a week or so until all the lots are sold. You will be able, the coming week, to secure a lot in Manhattan from Mr. Nedd for $250 to $500, with about ten per cent cash and the balance on very easy payments. Surely if you wanta home cheap you will not delay in securing one of these lots. If you don't you will have to go four miles from the postoflice and pay more for them than is asked for Manhattan lots. The price of lots in Manhattan can be better appreciated when it is known that adjoining property holders are selling at from two to four times this amount. Free carriages will be run from the office of Nedd's Real Estate Exchange, 1406 Farnam street, at any time purchasers desire to see the property. You can rest assured it will bear investigation.

London, (Special). A slight earth-quake shock was felt at Barcelona this morning, and a very severe shock will be felt by all who fail to take advantage of the liberal discounts offered by the South Omaha Land company, through their sole agents, the C. E. Mayne Real Estate & Trust company. Syndicate lots are still in the market at original prices. 20 per cent advance June 1.

This is Choice.

Fine new residence, 8 large rooms, hall, bathroom, pantry, closets, cellar, fur-nace, cistern, plumbing and gas fitting throughout, everything modern, conven-ient and first-class, very large lot, south-east front, desirable locality and very cheap. W. H. CRARY, Real Estate & Loans, 1515 Farnam St.

She is Welcome.

Queen Kapiolana and suite are expected to arrive in Omaha early in June, and will spend several days looking into Mayne's great bargains in residence lots in South Omaha, Briggs Place and Benson. It is said her majesty has expressed a strong desire to make the city of Ben-son her permanent home. In case she does, leading citizens of Benson say they will change the name of their beautiful park to "Hawiian Park" in honor of the royal lady.

Special Notice Merchants, manufacturers and others desiring to offer Special Premiums to be competed for at the next fair, to be held Sept. 5th to 10th inclusive, will have the same advertised, without charge, in the new Premium List of the Omaha Fair and Exposition association, by notifying the secretary not later than Monday next, May 30, at noon.

Balance to Corners!

Considerable merriment was created at the Salvation Army ball last night, when, for one of the figures in the 'lan-cers' the master of ceremonies called cers" the master of ceremonies called "Balance ten dollars a month." It is but justice to the worthy M. C., to say that he was not intoxicated. He had just bought an elegant lot in Benson on the Motor line for $500, one-tenth cash, balance as above quoted. We might add that there are a number of choice Benson lots left at from $250 to $500.

Some Interesting Facts.

Next Wednesday evening there will convene in this city the general synod of of the the Evangelical Luthern church in the U. S. A. This will be a national convention made up of representatives from district synods. These delegates coming from different sections of our country will be a fair representation of the English speaking Lutherans in the United States. There are three other general Lutheran bodies in our country. These divisions are caused in part by sectional ines, doctrinal differences and variety of languages. The latter is probably the greatest difficulty in the way of American Lutheran church union. It is a difficulty by no means overestimated, since in this country there are eight different languages spoken in the Lutheran pulpit. The Lutheran church is the oldest and the largest Protestant denomination in the world, numbering probably fifty million souls. Its birthday was October 31st, 1517, the day on which Luther nailed his ninety-five theses on the Wittenberg church door, denouncing the sale and indulgences, and setting forth Christ's obedience and death as the only ground of pardon. Those who accepted the teachings of Luther as an exposition of the pure and simple gospel, were called Lutherans in derision. The name of contempt invented by enemies is now secepted by those who bear it as a name of honor. The dochnial basis of the church is the Augsburg confession. This embodies the faith of the church, and is received and acknowledged by all Lutherans throughout the world, regardless of language or national distinctions. confession was prepared by Melanchthan under the direction of Luther, and intended as a statement or declaration to Emperor Charles V, showing wherein the reformers differed from the Romish church. The subjects of the teachings of the church do not, in general, differ from those of other churches, though the form of statement is moulded by the Lutheran interpretation of the Bible and believed to be faithfully set forth in the Lutheran standards, which aim to conform to a literal pretation of the word of God, The church holds to two sacraments, namely Baptism and the Lord's Supper. cerning baptism it teaches that it is ne cessary to salvation as a means of offered Concerning the Lord's Supper it rejects what is so often unjustly charged against it in the way of consubstantiation and transubstantiation. It is plainly taught that though there is no commingling of substance there is a union between the bread and the wine and the body and the blood of Christ, but that this sacramental union is incomprehensible and therefore not to be understood by us. The government of the church varies with the different countries in which it is found. The form of government is largely congregational. Each individual church governs itself, and each pastor is free to come or go as he chooses. In the Scan-dinavian countries there are superintend ents, called bishops, who, however, claim no rights that are not common to all ministers. In the greater part of Germany the government is exercised by a consistory, a body composed of clerical and lay representatives, and appointed by the reigning sovereign. In this country the government is by congregations and synods. The church council, generally composed of trustees, elders and deacons, with the pastor as chairman, has direct control and oversight of the individual congregation, and its power is positive and binding. The district synod is composed of ministers and lay delegates representing a given portion of the church, and transacts all business pertaining to the congregations represented. In worship there exists some diversity, for the Lutheran church lays down no iron rule to which all must conform. The preaching of the word, the regular administrations of the sacraments and congregational singing are indispensable parts of divine worship.

The Lutheran chuach, very generally, uses a moderate liturgical service, believing that thus the whole congregation may best unite in the worship. They also follow the time honored customs of cate-chisation and confirmation of the young. According to one of their standard au thorities, the following statistical sketch LUTHERAN CHURCH IN AMERICA may be relied upon as correct: Henry Melchior Muhlenberg, is regarded as the founder of the Lutheran church in America. He arrived here in 1743. The first Lutherans arrived here from Holland in 1621; they came, however, with-out a minister. The first members who brought with them their shepherd, came from Sweden in 1638, and settled where the city of Wilmington, Del., now stands. Six years after the landing of Muhlenberg, the first synod was organized in Philadelphia. Constant accession to the church from Europe increased its mem-bership so rapidly that in 1820 there were 170 ministers, and 35,000 communicants. In this year (1820), in response to the felt need of a closer union among the different synods extending over a territory so vast as that of the United States the general synod was formed, in which almost the entire Lutheran element of the country was represented. C Since that time three other general bodies, from various causes, have devel-oped from the general synod. The growth of the church in the United States as represented in these four general bodies has been remarkable. According to the Lutheran Year book there are: Ministers, 4,104; churches, 7.692; communicants, 949,993. Their educational institutions in the United States are: 23 theological seminaries; 23 colleges; 33 academies; 10 ladies eminaries; 52 orphan's homes and asylums-These statistics give a partial insight into
