works to insert a clause in all future contracts by which the city engineer shall have joint supervision with the chairman of the board in all public works. Judiciary. REPORTS OF COMMITTEES. A large number of reports were made by committees, among which were the following: To authorize the police commission to order twenty-eight telephones for the use of the signal boxes; to make the weight of bread sixteen ounces to the THE CHIEF OF POLICE DISCUSSION. The report of the committee on police, ecommending that the official bond of W. F. Seavey as chief of police be approved, was presented. A motion was made that it be adopted.

Mr. Hascall opposed the motion. He asserted that the police commissioners halbeen "too previous." They had no authority, in his opinion, to act until rules and regulations should be adopted regarding the department under their direction. He quoted passages from the charter, which he claimed supported his position. Mr. Alexander favored the motion. He stated that when the charter bill was signed by the governor it became operative law. No one would question Governor Thayer's power to appoint the commissioners. Nor could anyone question the right of the commission to go ahead and do their duty as the charter prescribes it for them. He read from the charter the section relating to the powers and duties of the board. He said he heard no objection to the appointment of the chief of the fire department. That was all right. He had it from members of the council that had another appointment had been made for chief of police, this opposition would never have arisen, and the appointment would have been winked at. This was purely a personal matter. He waived the floor for the purpose of obtaining the opinion of the city attorney.

Before the city attorney had opportunity to present his opinion, however, Mr. Hascall again had the floor. He claimed that when the qualifications of persons to be appointed had been designated by be appointed had been designated by ordinance, then and not till then could the board exercise its powers. He read from the charter what he deemed supported his position. He asserted that the board ought to act in unison with the departments of the city government. When regulations for their department had been established by ordinance then they might go shead; until then they

Mr. Burnham supported the action of the board in a logical argument. He contended that the sections of the charter upon which the commissioners had acted was mandatory. That which the opponents of their action quoted as premises was entirely advisory. The part which had been read by Mr. Alexander, in support of the action by the commission read port of the action by the commission read in every instance: "The board shall," etc. That which was quoted by Mr. Has-call was attached to a "may." Because the governor would not be controlled by certain influences of the appointment of this commission and because, later, the commission would not be controlled by the same, this opposition had been in cited and members of the council had be-come parties thereto. The governor had appointed gentlemen as commissioners against whom there was no breath of criticism. They had proceeded, under competent legal advice, in the discharge of their duties. They had submitted a set of rules and regulations (for adoption ralks. Granted.

Petitioning for grading of Twenty-first treet from Davenport to Nicholas. From Regan Bros. & Co.—Stating that they are unable to prosecute their paying contracts by reason of the carriage.

Mr. Hascall again obtained the floor and, after a few remarks, presented two ordinances which pertained to the sub-ject under discussion and asked that the rules be suspended that they might be introduced. Upon motion by Mr. Lee the rules were suspended, four councilmen voting yes, one no, and twelve re-maining silent. The ordinances were then introduced. The one relating to the police department provides substantially as follows:

There shall be a chief, two captains, four sergeants and sixty policemen. To receive an appointment for any of these whether he should do work for the board of education. Grades and grading.

Petition of N. J. Smith in relation to the grade of Teuth, between Bancroft and Martha streets. Grades and grading.

By Chency—Ordering the street commissioner to remove the old curbing and guttering material on lots 6, 7 and 8, block 1994. Adopted.

By Kitchen—Instructing the street shall be entitled to a clerk at $75 per

The other ordinance makes it necessary that each member of the police and fire board shall give $1,000 bonds.

It will be noticed that the two years residence is chiefly aimed at Chief Seavey, and that the bond of chief of police is put at $11,000, a somewhat peculiar amount, but explainable when it is remembered that he has already given a bond for $10,000. These ordinances were read a first and a second time, and, upon motion of Mr. Lee, referred to the committee on judici-ary, despite the fact that Mr. Lee is a member of that committee, being asso-ciated with Mr. Hascall and Mr. Burham. The committe stands two to one on the ordinance. The appointment of St. A.D. Balcom b as three years member of the board of public works was confirmed, 13 to 5 of C. E. Mayne as a two year member, 17 to 1; and of Louis Hemrod, for one year, 16 to 2. The official Bond of William Farras, meat inspector, was approved.

SKINNING IT BACK. Messrs. Lowry and Snyder, the major rity of the committee on gas and electric light, presented a report in which they desired to recall the report of a week ago in favor of the Nebraska and Kansas gas and heating company ordinance and offered a substitute ordinance, which favors the company named just as much but discriminates against the present company more. It was referred.

The council was still listening to the reports of committees and had not arrived at the really serious part of the evening's business when the clock pointed to 11:30 p. m. Adjournment was taken until to-niget at 8 o'clock.

THE DAY WE PLAYED BASE BALL Scribes and Pharisaical; Advertising Agents Cross Bats.

The Omaha base ball grounds were the scene of a most exciting contest yesterday afternoon. Nine stony-hearted solicitors of advertisements and money changers from the counting rooms of the newspapers in the city beguiled nme cultivated, polished gentlemen who wield the Faber saber and evolve brilliant and amusing ideas from their observations, into meeting on the diamond yesterday and then waxed the tar out of them.

The score was 25 to 11 when the bloody fray was concluded. The umpire was dead, but that was an expected incident.

The game was particularly noticeable for the frequency and readiness with which the members of the journalistic was a controlled to the controlled to the power of the journalistic was a controlled to the controlled to t nine changed positions.

During the progress of the contest only well water was farnished to the players. This was a preconcerted arrangement with the chief of police. On the return to the city, however, the party stopped at the Columbia brewery of Storz & Her, were played. A palatable lunch and refreshing refreshments were tendered the ball-scarred veterans and duly appre-

General O'Neil. A movement is on foot in this city to raise funds for the purpose of erecting a monument over the grave of General John O'Neil. O, Niel was not a paper warrior whose bravery was at great heat on the eve ot election.

Somebody is Mistaken. During the council meeting last evening Mr. C. E. Squires, of the Asphalt company, made a few remarks in which he said that he wanted the council to decide what authority the board of public works and what authority the city engineer had on paving contracts. There had been a conflict of authority which had caused stoppage of work. Engineer Tillson and Mr. House both thereupon stated that there had been no conflict between them. No Dead-Heads. George Canfield last night received the following telegram from Buffalo Bill, in

Mrs. Langtry's Appearance Last Night at the Boyd.

Mrs. Langtry's appearance at the Boyd, last evening, was made in "A Wife's Peril." The heroine, Lady Ormond, in no senseresembles Galatea, the character in twhich Mrs. Langtry made her initial appearance in this city. There is but one act in the piece, in which the audience has an opportunity to judge of the histrionic powers of the star. That is the third act, when the idiotic "friendship" of a tender, susceptible yet faithful wife has been misunderstood by the friend of her husband, to that degree that he feels at length en-couraged to make an avowal of his wicked passion. The danger of her position be-comes apparent and with the determination of a weak yet loving and lovable woman, Lady Ormond spurns the advances of her admirer, denounces his perfidy and is happily saved from further insult by the supposed arrival of her husband. In this scene Mrs. Langtry threw off the restraint under which she had thus far labored. Her repulses of the advances of her deceitful friend were womanly and forcible, and not the least appreciated because they savored more of natural indignation than they did of melo-dramatic force. For this work the lady was rewarded with a double recall. In the earlier acts the audience saw little of the heroine. When it saw her at all she appeared the innocent, yet fascinated victim of the garish hypocrite whom she later saw unmasked. In the last act, her simulation of intense angush lest her in-discretion should be discovered by her husband, was acceptably done, though, at times, she betrayed a lack of sustained power which detracted from her work. Mrs. Langtry's power lies in her eyes. Her physicial charms do not entrance upon the stage. But with her eyes she can move even an anchorite. Mrs. Langtry's toilets were universally admired, though they failed to inspire the rapture which previous announcements, coupled with the name of Worth, had predicted. The most beautiful of these was a light green brocade velvet en train, with side panels, lengthened to meet the train, of gold encrusted em-broidery, resting on pleated malines of lace flounces woven with threads of gold. It was in this Mrs. Langtry appeared to greatest advantage. .

The audience was so large that not a vacant chair was to be had in the house. POLICE PICKINGS.

Mrs. Jones' Husband and Her Money Appear in Different Scenes. Henry Hall, for obtaining board under false pretenses, is serving out a $25 fine Andrew Mannix and James Marshal, for assault are serving $10 fines each.

Mrs. G. D. Jones was at the central station yesterday and wanted her husband arrested for drawing $115 of her money out of the bank and keeping it. Last night G. D. The Pleasures of Reading. The Pleasures of Reading.

The Standard Review: People strive, and spend and eat the dust of the earth, like the serpent, all that they may "get into society." But no society that they get into will be a quarter so delightful and engaging as one of Mrs. Rawdon Crawley's little suppers, or that astonishing "blow out" which David Copperfield gave at old Creakle's. People pay much money Creakle's. People pay much money also, and are extremely unwell, and are bitten by strange beasts and insects, in their desire to travel. But, with all their their desire to travel. But, with all their yachting, they will never reach Treasure island, nor the country of Zu-Vendis, nor that isle where Lucian takes us, and shows us the souls of the heroes, in purple webs of woven air. To live with these immortal people is better than all society; moreover, it is sadly suspected that, if we do not make their acquaintance in this life, we shall never make it ance in this life, we shall never make it in the next. What says the poet? No doubt we'll have endless procession Of patriarchs, sages and seers, But amid apostolic successions. We shall pine for the Three Musketeers.

Mrs. Cleveland's Photographs. The demand for Mrs. Cleveland's photograph is as active as it was at the time tograph is as active as it was at the time that lady first entered the white house as its mistress. The photographer who persuaded her to give him attings for twenty-five negatives last summer has sold over fifty thousand, and is still printing them at the rate of 200 per day. He thinks that when the full year of sales is up 100,000 of the pictures will be sold. The net profit for the first eight months after the negatives were taken was $7,000—almost as much as the president received. most as much as the president received for a year's service as governor of New York. What portion of this goes to Mrs. Cleveland, if any, the photographer omits to mention, but a man shrewd enough to secure the sittings would not be apt to overlook the matter of caring for most of the profits himself.

Murdered His Grand Children. READING, Pa., May 31,-William Showers, elgar maker, was arrested at Annvi Ve. Lebanon county, at midnight, charged with murdering his two grand children, William and Samuel, aged respectively three and five years. Two weeks ago Showers drove to the mountains with the children in his wagon and returned without them. Nothing has been heard of them since, and as Showers told many conflicting stories regarding their absence, the district attorney last-night ordered his arrest and he was lodged in jall.

LATER—The search resulted in the finding of the bodies of the children in Showers yard. They were nude except night shirts, showing that they had been taken from bed and murdered in cold blood. They had been strangled with ropes, which were found around their necks, and their skull crushed with a club. Showers was engaged to marry Elizabeth Sarge, but her one condition was that the children should first be got rid of by placing them in charge of some other person. Showers has confessed the crime, and threats of lynching are freely made. years. Two weeks ago Showers drove to the Important Railroad Meeting. CHICAGO, May 31.—A most important meeting of managers of northwestern rail-roads was held to-day. On its results hung the question as to whether or no there would be a bitter war. The Chicago, Burlington & be a bitter war. The Chicago, Burlington & Northern has been threatening for some time that on June 1 it would withdraw from the association and cut rates between Chicago, Minneapolis and St. Paul one-half. The Chicago, Milwankee & St. Paul road threatened that it would in turn cut rates to Omaha in the same proportion. This would mean a complete demoralization in both through and local rates throughout the west. The Burlington & Northern, however, withdrew from its position to-day, agreeing with the other lines to keep the present rates in force. The milling-in-transit question will be considered to-morrow.

Suicide of an Aged Couble. NEW YORK, May 31 .- Prof. Charles Sievehorf and wife, aged ninety-one and ninetytwo, committed suicide this afternoon Sievehorf was a professor of chemistry in Heidelburg university, Germany, thirty-five years ago. He has been supporting himself for years past by writing for newspapers and occasionally lecturing. These means failing, they were in destitute circumstances, and the poor house authorities were about to take them to the hospital. It was a most nitiful affair.

An Assassin's Deed.

DAYTON, O., May 31.-Intense excitement was created to-night by the shooting down of Fowler Stoddard by a man named Chubb, who stepped up to him on the street and shot him in the left ear. The assassin claims the shot was accidental, but it is thought he mistook the victim for another man. Sur-geons think Stordard will die. ## Care for the Children Children feel the debility of the changing seasons, even more than adults, and they become cross, peevish, and uncontrollable. The blood should be cleansed and the system invigorated by the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Last Spring my two children were vaccinated. Soon after, they broke all out with run-ning sores, so dreadful I thought I should lose them. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured them completely; and they have been healthy ever since. I do feel that Hood's Barsaparilla saved my children to me." Mus. C. L. Thompson, West Warren, Mass.

Purify the Blood

Hood's Barsaparilla is characterized by three peculiarities : 1st, the combination of remedial agents; 2d, the proportion; 3d, the process of securing the active medicinal qualities. The result is a medicine of unusual strength, effecting cures hitherto unknown. Bend for book containing additional evidence. "Hood's Sarsaparilla tones up my system, purifies my blood, sharpens my appetite, and seems to make me over." J. P. Thompson, Register of Deeds, Lowell, Mass.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." I. BARKINGTON, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

CHICAGO CORSET CO..

SCRATCHED 28 YEARS.

A Scaly, Itching, Skin Disease with Endless Suffering, Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

If I had known of the CUTICURA REMEDIES twenty-eight years ago it would have saved me $1.00 itwo hundred dollars and an immense amount of suffering. My disease (Psoriasis) commenced on my head in a spot not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly all over my body and got under my nails. The scales would drop off of me all the time, and my suffering was endiess, and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease over again. I am a poor man, but feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors and was leprosy, some ring worm, psoriasis, etc. I took . . . Sarsaparilias over one year and a half, but no cure. I want to two or three doctors and no cure. I cannot praise the CUTICURA REMEDIES too much. They have made my skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's . All I used of them was three boxes of CUTICURA, and two cakes of CUTICURA SOAP. If you had been here and said you would cure me for $200.00 you would have had the money. I looked like the picture in your book of Psoriasis (Picture number two "How to Cure Skin Diseases"), but now I am as clear as any person ever was. Through force of habit I rub my hands over my arms and less to scratch once in a while, but to no purpose. I am all well. I scratched twenty-eight years, and it got to be a kind of second nature to me. I thank you a thousand times. Anything more that you want to know write me, or any one who reads this may write to me and I will answer it.
