terday morning, and several arrests were made.
Judge Ayresworth will find a large or fifteen cases are to be tried.

There was no game yesterday between The A. O. H. will probably go over to ner-stone of the new church in connection with Creighton college, on the 20th

The warm weather yesterday reminded the citizens that summer was at hand.
Many people visited Lake Manawa and quite a number enjoyed a bath in the lake. Last night the soda fountains and ice cream saloons were taxed to their utmost capacity. The thermometer reached 92 degrees yesterday afternoon.

It is proposed to give Miss Nellie Hatcher a benefit the 23d of this month.
She certainly is entitled to one, both on account of her ability to entertain any audience, and on account of the liberality shown by her in assisting in various entertainments for the public benefit. If such an expression of public favor can be arranged, the house will be crowded.

Four fresh young men yesterday sat at a table in one of the hotel dining rooms at dinner, and after considerable loud talk began to "guy" the girls attending the tables. Some one patted his foot on the floor and it was taken up almost instantly by everybody in the room. It had the desired effect, and the "fresh four" discontinued their disgraceful actions.

Jonathan Jones is now locked up in the county jail awaiting his sentence for murder. Thus far he has been unable to furnish the necessary bail, and it is thought that he will not do so. When convicted on the first trial he was sentenced to fourteen years in the penitentiary, and served out one year of the term before he got a new trial. The experience of being taken across the state will therefore be no new one for him.

Frank Clark hopes to have the Hotel Manawa opened shortly. The lathing is all completed and plastering will now begin as well as the painting. The cooking utensils have all arrived from the east and the furniture is all purchased.
Among those who already are securing rooms are a number of Omaha merchants. The rails for the Manawa motor line are arriving, and in a couple of weeks the line will be running, much to the comfort of those who are unable to have their own conveyances.

About 2 o'clock yesterday morning Officers Unthank and Beswick noticed a man and woman seated on a bench in Baylis park. They quietly stole up behind them, but as the police called sounded just then they were compelled to answer the call from their own voices, much to the discomfort of the couple on the bench, who were only a few feet away.
The city council may be compelled to do as the city fathers of Baltimore did, if this is carried too far. In Baltimore there is an ordinance against kissing in the public parks.

Sermons and Services.

At the Congregational church yesterday morning, the pastor, Rev. G. W.
Crofts, preached a most excellent and practical sermon on "The Ministry of Sorrow." He chose as his text—"Now no chastening for the present seemeth to be joyous."

The sermon abounded in rhetorical beauties, and was closely listened to by a large congregation. He reasoned largely from analogy, showing how in the relation of parent and child the truth of the text was illustrated. No child could understand that it was love that prompted punishment. A father who felt called upon to punish a child, explained that it caused more pain to inflict the punishment than to receive it. "Then let us change places," was the natural reply of the child. Yet, dear children, when reaching manhood's estate could look back and see that punishment had been given in love and for their good. A child could see love manifested only in holidays, in toys, in being given the right to injure. It pleased him, it could not see love in the rod, yet it was there. Love came sometimes clad in coarse garments.
Its commands seemed harsh. The flowery, sunshining path, with the singing of the birds, seemed often to lead to the path of lacrims, and love seemed ought but love in directing the feet away from this tempting path to one dark, thorny and beset with trials. The proof of love could not be complete until after the stony way, the prickling thorns, the clouds and the cold had been left behind, and that better beyond reached which love had seen could never have been reached by the path of flowers and music.

The necessity of this discipline of trial and sorrow was seen in human life. For the earthly parent to indulge the child, to shield him from all trial, to refrain from all correction, would result to the child in injury. Such a pampered, petted idol of the household was unfitted for the stern struggle of life. It made life like the flower in the conservatory, unable to stand the chilly blasts which must sweep about it when the time comes for its being placed in the open garden.

Drawing room accomplishments were not to be dispensed, but a development of character was of infinitely more value.
This must come from trial.

The flowers are beautiful, but there should be a deep striking of the roots, which would keep the life and continue the growth long after the flower had faded and the leaves fallen.

Character got its strength from contest and chastening. Character was the great boon. It was the only thing worth gaining and keeping.

The results of chastening were wonderful. Patience was but one of the fruits, yet were it the only one, it would amply recompense for all the sorrow caused by the chastening which produced it. It was a wonderful virtue. Christ was the wonder of the world in all ages, and largely because he was perfect in patience. Other virtues, precious as gems, were gained by the ministry of sorrow.

It was difficult to realize it, and the fact never would be fully realized until the river was crossed and the gates were thrown ajar. Then looking back upon this earthly career, the purpose of chastening would be seen clear. God loves man, and as a heavenly father, follows out the principle of love, which is seen to a lesser degree in the earthly parent chastening his child—not in anger or for revenge, but for the child's good.

CONFIRMATION SERVICES.
There was a service of an especial interesting character at St. Xavier's Catholic church, yesterday. Bishop Cosgrove was here, and confirmed a class of eighty-seven. The girls dressed in pure white, with wreaths and veils, presented a charming appearance, marching in a body to and from the church, under the charge of the sisters, whose black robes appeared in strange contrast to the procession of white. A large number of boys were also confirmed, and they also marched to and from the church in a body. They were bright colored sashes. Rev. Father Daxache, of Omaha, was here also.

POINTS OF PEITY.
Bishop Cosgrove goes to Honey Creek to-day to bless a new bell there.

Next Sunday being children's day there will be a special service in the Congregational church, in which the children will take part, there will be music, recitations, responsive readings, etc. The ordination of baptism will also be administered to such children as are presented.

The walls of the new Catholic church are going up rapidly. There have been some changes in the plans, by which pillars will be used instead of trusses for the roof. It is decided that they will be stronger and more ornamental. The cost of the church when completed will reach at least $40,000.

There is to be built a new house for the priest. It will be just west of the church and will face Fifth avenue.

Manawa Mineral Water.
The question now arises whether mineral water has been discovered at Hotel Manawa or not.

The facts as learned last night by a Bee representative are that two carpenters have been cured of kidney troubles since they have been at work on the Hotel Manawa, and the only cause of the cure they attribute to the drinking of the water.

Before the foundation for the hotel was begun, Frank Clark, the proprietor, had a drive well sunk. The water had rather a queer taste, but it was thought that the water was not been sunk deep enough. One carpenter who was unable to work at his trade for twelve years was employed to do chores while the foreman of the job was troubled with kidney disease. They are both now able to do as much work as any of the carpenters and called Mr. Clark's attention to it, stating that they believed it was caused by the water they had been drinking.

Mr. Clark, when approached on the subject last night, stated that the facts were just as he had received them, and begged that they be not made public as he intends to-day to send samples of the water east for analysis. But the Bee is not given to keeping things quiet. The above facts are given as received.

Should the water be discovered to contain valuable properties the future success of Hotel Manawa is assured. The beautiful lake and its surroundings and a fine mineral water the capacity of the present hotel will necessarily have to be increased and possibly several others may be erected.

The Coming Races.
The Horseman says of them: Horsemen in search of a profitable campaign through a popular series of associations during the months of June and July, will do well to read the programmes of the Iowa circuit and the Iowa-Dakota summer meetings, with a grand purse total of $20,000. The old Iowa circuit has always enjoyed a high reputation, official judges, prompt payment, honest racing and a courteous and efficient executive have been its distinguishing features. This year the circuit consists of Cedar Rapids, Marshalltown and Council Bluffs. Cedar Rapids comes up fresh and smiling with a new track and gives the opening meeting on June 21, 22, 23 and 24. Marshalltown follows on June 28, 29, 30 and July 1, and Council Bluffs takes July 4, 5, 6 and 7. The programme of the three meetings is identical. The trotters will compete in the 2:48, 2:43, 2:38, 2:33, 2:28, 2:23 and 2:18 classes. The pacers will settle their issues in the 2:35, 2:30 and 2:25 and free-for-all classes. The purses are all $200 each, and the entry list closes for the circuit on June 13. The Iowa circuit, as of yore, will contribute a choice chapter to the sporting annals of the year.

Reported Heartlessness.
A case is reported of a son and his wife neglecting to care for his aged mother, who is dying at his home.
It seems that the mother of a John Johnson, who is above 80 years of age, is in a dying condition at his home on Twenty-second avenue, between Ninth and Tenth streets, and that the family willfully neglect to give the old lady proper care and attention.

A Bee representative yesterday learned of the neighbors that Mrs. Johnson has been slowly dying for the past two days and the Johnson family have gone away and neglected to care for her. They claim that the house, which is located only a few feet from the Wabash stock yards track, is in an unhealthy condition and needs the attention of the health officers.

A row of quite large proportions occurred about 2 o'clock yesterday morning in Barkhausen's saloon, on upper Broadway.

When the police arrived the place was locked up and the crowd still inside of the saloon. As the police could not get in without breaking down the door, they went to the residence of "Squire Barnett," who issued a warrant, after which the police secured Charles Sidersen, who was allowed, finally, to go upon his own recognizance until to-day.

It appears that the entire crowd was drunk and disorderly, and that several fights were had before the police appeared.

Kindness in Its Sweetest Form.
Boston Courier: A young lady belonging to one of the oldest and richest families in Cambridge, who teaches a class composed mostly of shop girls in one of our city Sabbath schools, last Sunday, noticing that one of her scholars looked unusually worn and tired, proposed to her that she take a vacation of a day, offering herself to supply her place at the school. The girl was naturally a little reluctant at first to accept such a sacrifice, but was prevailed upon, and promptly at 8 o'clock the lady reported at the store for duty and remained until its closing at 6. The fact that the store was a confectionery establishment, and that as many candies as the salesgirl could eat were considered lawful perquisites, might be supposed to detract from the nobleness and unselfishness of the sacrifice, but that the position was in fact a very hard and exacting one will appear when it is known that the store was connected with an ice cream saloon, and among the duties of the candy clerk was the washing each day of from 125 to 150 napkins.
