

THE DAILY BEE.

COUNCIL BLUFFS OFFICE, NO. 12, PEARL STREET.

Delivered by carrier in any part of the city at twenty cents per week.

H. W. TILTON, Manager.

Telephone: News Office, No. 43. Night Editor, No. 25.

MINOR MENTION.

N. Y. Plumbing Co. New spring goods at Reiter's, tailor.

Joe Bacharach has leased the Kirsch building for his clothing business.

The firemen leave to-day for Sioux City. They sent their steamer up last night.

Robert Gross and Henry Bussey were arrested last night for peddling without a license.

The Milwaukee has put on a train between Council Bluffs and Manilla to connect with the Sioux City train.

The city council met last night in regular session. The entire session was occupied with the allowance of bills.

Jacob Dalstrom and Charles Hill were fined yesterday for being drunk. Mat Nagle was given an extra fine for disturbing the peace.

Thirty Atlantic firemen with their band are expected to arrive to-day for the Sioux City. Their steamer reached here last evening.

Having bought a stock of wall paper below market price, I am prepared to sell them very low. Call and be made happy. H. H. Jones, 122 Broadway.

The man Neal, who was arrested for horse stealing, was yesterday bound over by Justice Wilson, of Logan, in the sum of $1,000, to await the action of the grand jury.

Those desiring to attend the exercises at the institution for the deaf and dumb this morning will find carriages at the corner of Bayless park, near Odell Bros. & Co.'s office.

The new boat house at Lake Manawa needs to be painted and adorned with the customary decorations. Some improvements will doubtless be made at an early date.

Complaints are coming into the marshal's office because the cows are being allowed the freedom of the southern part of the city. Those who have yards and foliage want the bovines bounded.

A motion is to be made for a new trial in the case of Jonathan Jones, who has been convicted for the third time. His attorneys are quite confident that they will get a new trial. Jones has not yet furnished bail, and remains in the county jail.

Last evening's incoming passenger train on the Chicago & Northwestern had on board a man who, at Missouri Valley, was a victim of the "busted" check game to the tune of $5. He says it is the second time he has been victimized in the same way.

The contractors, Wightman & Miller, have been awarded the sewer work, expected to begin this month, but have been waiting for material. They expect to get a large quantity of pipe this week, and as soon as it arrives they will put on a large force.

Seventh street is to be opened from Tenth to Sixteenth as a through street. The street is to be improved, and the expectation is that it will be the favorite route for carriages, it being direct and convenient.

Coram McAllister came over the river yesterday morning from a high license state to a prohibition state and while in an intoxicated state was landed in the city jail by Chief Millen yesterday afternoon, after being in the millinery and muchly dilapidated state. She claimed Capitol avenue, Omaha, as her residence.

The work on the new planning mill, each door and blind factor is proceeding rapidly. There was a little delay on the start, for lack of brick, but now the walls are rapidly rising. The joists on the second story will be laid to-day, and the entire brick work will be done inside of two weeks.

Harrison county is agitated over the question of changing the county seat from Logan to Magnolia. The board of supervisors is in session at Logan and before it a petition of 2,800 names, asking that the proposition be submitted. It is generally conceded that if it is submitted it will be voted down.

Sheriff Keel is in doubt as to what he should do with certain search warrants issued in his hands, he is waiting for the opinion of the county attorney, Colonel Daily, before serving them. That official is examining the law carefully, and will give his opinion to-day so that the sheriff may know how to act.

E. E. Wautland, of the Pacific land department, and John H. McAlvin, town lot agent of that company, were here yesterday. They bought twenty lots in Manawa park and entered into a contract for building four houses there. This shows what the future of Council Bluffs is.

Mrs. H. H. Benton died yesterday morning of cancer. She was sixty-four years of age and leaves three children, H. U. Benton, E. H. Benton, and Mrs. William Underwood. Her husband died last February. The funeral services will be held in Lewis township at the Benton homestead at 9 o'clock this afternoon, and the remains will be laid away in Fenwick's cemetery.

It is currently reported that a new set of informers and nosers are going the rounds, gathering evidence that there are saloons in Council Bluffs. The prohibitionists do not intend to have their plans frustrated by the appearance of the two men now in jail in Omaha, and will doubtless soon be in court with a new batch of affidavits.

Attorney Sims yesterday went to Omaha to attend the examination of the two witnesses who are arrested there for bribery. A demurrer to the information was filed and this was taken under advisement. It is expected that it will be decided to-day. Mr. Sims is quite confident that the two men will be freed, and will be here on the 15th to testify against the saloons.

The Presbyterians are considering the question of completing their church building. It seems that a society of such financial strength, and having so fine a start, should not hesitate in going right ahead. When completed the church building will be one of the finest in the state. It will not cost a great sum to build the addition, and the appearance and accommodation of the building will be greatly bettered.

The work has not commenced on the Citizens' club rooms. The contracts have been let, and the delay seems to be with the contractors. They were to have begun work last week, and it is now expected that they will commence to-day. The members are anxious for the work to proceed, as delays are annoying. The rooms, when completed, will be the handsomest of any in the west, and will be richly furnished.

For the state firemen's tournament at Sioux City the Sioux City & Pacific railroad will sell excursion tickets June 6 to 10 inclusive, good for return until June 11, at one fare for round trip. Firemen in uniform traveling in a body, 1 cent per mile each way. Firemen's paraphernalia free. Train leaves union depot at 7 p. m., and arrives in Sioux City at 10:40 p. m., making connection with all Iowa lines. Full particulars on tickets at city office, No. 431 Broadway, and at depot.

MANAWA'S MINERAL WATER

Strong Indications That There is a Valuable Find There.

SENTENCING OF PRISONERS.

A House of Unhappy Children—Punishing a Man For His Meanness While Drunk—The City Council.

Is It Mineral Water?

The announcement of the probability of mineral water at Manawa has caused no little comment. The suspicion, a natural one, that the supposed discovery is simply an advertising dodge, is unfounded. Whether there is mineral water there or not, is still an open question, but the indications are strongly in favor of the find being genuine.

The talk has not been started for advertising purposes, but is made in good faith. The effect of the water on those who have been drinking it, is peculiarly true, the changed appearance of the drinkers and other dishes used, caused attention to be drawn to the peculiar properties of the water. Some of the water has been sent away for analysis, and much will depend upon this report. If the water proves to be a helpful, healthy material, it will add much to the attractiveness of this resort.

If not, Manawa will continue to grow in favor anyway, because it has many other advantages, of sufficient variety and number to cause crowds to flock thither throughout the season. Mr. Clark was somewhat surprised yesterday morning to read in the Bee about the discovery of the supposed mineral water, as he wished to keep it quiet until he had an analysis made of the water. All the morning he was besieged by persons anxious to know the particulars, so he concluded to have others investigate the facts the same as he learned them accidentally on Sunday while talking to a couple of the workmen on Hotel Manawa.

A party of gentlemen went to the lake and there learned the facts from those who have drunk the water continually, and they have been employed there. A. W. Carpenter a carpenter, came to this city less than three weeks ago; he had diabetes and kidney troubles of long standing; he went to work on the new hotel unable to do a day's work, but as he was a stranger in a strange city was compelled to do something; he went to work; could get no other water to drink but that "infernal nasty water" from the drive well, as he called it. He is now able to do as much hard work and lifting as the next one, after having been under the care of the most efficient doctors in Kansas for twelve years past.

D. Starnod, foreman of the carpenters employed on the hotel, stated that he had spent over $100 doctoring for kidney troubles, but without effect. When he went to work on the new hotel he was unable to do anything but oversee the daily and now claims to be able to do a day's work as the next man, and, like Mr. Carpenter, is entirely well, all from no other cause than drinking the water at the hotel.

E. W. Colman, another carpenter, told a similar story, and stated that he is now entirely well. Superintendent Wright took Professor Christy, of Vermont, to the hotel during his recent visit to this city, and the professor pronounced the well water to contain at least from 15 to 20 per cent of iron. But at the time Mr. Wright thought nothing of this, and did not repeat it until yesterday.

All of the workmen complained of the queer taste the water had, but as they could get no other, used it, and in consequence none of them have put in a sick day since they have worked on the building. Mr. Clark believes the water to contain a large amount of iron. It certainly discolors everything it comes in contact with, and it has water cooler arranged so that the water will not come in contact with the ice and set it in front of the Pacific house for the use of the public while the samples are being analyzed.

He Ought to Swear Off. A painter, named Jennings, seems to have the misfortune of getting very mean whisky, or else the whisky brings out his innate meanness. On several occasions of late he has been complained of for his actions while drunk. He appeared one night at the residence of Walter Amy, and pounded at the door until Mr. Amy came to ask him what his trouble was. Jennings replied in his drunken way by a mumble and a muttering, and reached for his hip pocket, as if to draw a gun. Amy slammed the door in his face, and Jennings went with which to defend himself, and the fellow went across the street and sat there watching for a season, and threatening revenge for the fancied insult. After a little he returned and entered an entrance through the window. Mr. Amy slipped out of another door and sent for a policeman. The fellow had sneaked off by the time the officer arrived. The next day Mr. Amy called Jennings a "big shot," saying he was too drunk to realize what he was doing.

The other night he went into a saloon on Main street and called for a glass of beer. The bartender objected to paying him, and when told to do so was so angry and went out threatening. Two friends of the saloon man were standing outside the door and he told them to move on as he was going to "get even" with the saloon man and the bartender, and he would witness. He watched and waited for the man to shut up and when he started for home Jennings went for him. Officer Dyer was on hand and arrested Jennings before he could get his desired revenge. Yesterday Jennings was fined $50 and costs. Not being able to pay he went to jail for fifteen days.

Another instance of Jennings' meanness occurred in this city. He is said to have lately gone into a candy store where a woman was tending. Jennings acted very bold, telling the frightened woman how handsome she was and otherwise making a fool of himself. It is hoped that the fine will have a healthy effect on him.

Not Cruel Neglect. It now appears that the mother of John R. Johnson, who was spoken of in these columns yesterday as being neglected by both him and his wife while the old lady was in a dying condition, is not so mistreated as the neighbors reported. It is claimed the story was got up by the gossip of the neighborhood from some unscrupulous reason. The boy at the time in the Bee was received from several sources, one being from a near neighbor, who is now appears in the light of a friend to the Johnson family, and has for some time past. He is said to be in rather straitened circumstances and are all doing their best to earn money with which to complete the payments on their property, and as the old lady is about eighty years of age and so feeble that she cannot even feed herself, Mrs. Johnson has hired a nurse so she could attend to her washing.

Unhappy Children. A sad story of destitution and unhappiness is reported as being near the corner of Eleventh street and Avenue G. There are six children in the house, and the father is at work in Omaha. The mother is dead, and the children are left in charge of an aunt. They are said to be sadly neglected physically and morally. Yesterday another woman, who has established a reputation in police circles for her rows with her husband and her brazen living with another man, went to the house and raised a row with the children. She is said to have hit one of the children, a girl of eleven years, using a club, and inflicting a severe wound on her head. The police are to investigate and take some steps by which the children will be properly cared for.

An Exercise in Sentences. In the district court yesterday Judge Carson passed sentence on several of those convicted at his term of the court. John Somers, who burglarized Mr. Clausen's house in Loveland, was sent to the penitentiary for three years.

Ed Adams, found guilty of horse stealing, was sentenced to six months in the penitentiary. His sentence was made lighter than usual on account of some extenuating circumstances, and on recommendation of the county attorney.

George Canton, who was guilty of larceny from the residence of Mr. Wyman in Keg Creek, was let off with thirty days in the county jail.

John Donahue, for assault, was fined $100.

The County Board. The board of supervisors of this county met yesterday in regular session. Their first and chief work will be the equalization of taxes, and this occupied their attention yesterday.

For Sale. Two drug stores in central Nebraska. Good thriving towns. Will invoice from $1,500 to $2,500. Apply to HARLE, HAAS & CO., Council Bluffs, Iowa.

We are prepared to bid on Hazlwood in competition with any jobber in the country in any class of work. COLE & COLE, 41 Main street.

Personal Paragraphs. F. R. Davis has returned from the west. W. A. Highsmith left last evening for Davenport to attend the grand lodge of Masons.

Charles Gregory, T. B. Baldwin and William Seales left yesterday for St. Louis to attend the races there.

J. C. Abbott, of Wilton, and Elijah Baker, of Muscatine, both stock men, were at the Pacific yesterday.

Mrs. F. M. Carball and daughter, Gracie, go to Galesburg, Ill., this evening to visit their mother and sister.

Mrs. J. W. Johnson and Mrs. Brinton have gone to Davenport to attend the grand lodge of the Eastern Star.

Mrs. A. P. Wright left for Moberly, Mo., on Sunday. Her husband will follow as soon as Hotel Manawa is completed, he being the superintendent of the same.

W. B. Temple, of Atlantic, secretary of the State Firemen's association, was here yesterday on route for the Sioux City tournament. Mr. Temple, besides being an old fireman, is also a member of the city council of Atlantic.

Mr. Ninan, of the Ogden house, has gone to Chicago, and it is understood that he will not return. His successor is not named yet, but the business of the hotel will continue as of old until some further change is announced.

Drs. Hanchett & Smith, office No. 12, Pearl st., residence 120 Fourth st. Telephone No. 10.

Married "Two" Much. An interesting divorce suit has been begun in the district court involving the charge of bigamy. The plaintiff is Mrs. Emilie Stuber, who states that she was married to the defendant, Frederick Stuber, March 8, 1886. She has since learned that on the 17th of November, 1884, he was married to Katherine Youngles, in Mercer county, Ohio, and that this wife was still living at the time of his second marriage. It is also claimed that he has a child by the first marriage. Mrs. Stuber No. 1 is said to be now a resident of Benton, Ind. The plaintiff in this suit claims that Stuber has now deserted her and she wants the court to restore to her her maiden name and matrimonial freedom.

J. W. & E. L. Squire make beautiful abstracts of titles, and deserve the success they are enjoying.

Expecting Bridge News. It is expected that Secretary Endicott will be in Washington to-day, and the attorney for the Broadway wagon bridge has been instructed to get a decision, if possible, and to telegraph the same at once.

A Curious Coincidence. Detroit Free Press: He was an exile, poor fellow, and glad to meet a man who knew of the parts from whence he hailed.

"Yes, sir," he said, "I lived in New York myself for four years."

"And then you went to Milwaukee?"

"Yes, sir; that is what I signed out." "Strange to say, it was that city I struck myself after leaving New York. Fine town, Milwaukee."

"Yes, I was quite sorry to leave there, but business was long carried me to—"

"Denver."

"Yes, sir, you're right, Denver. Now, there's a booming city—regular stem-winder. Ever been to Denver?"

"Yes, sired. Denver is a pretty slick sort of a place. Didn't stay there long, eh?"

"Just a few days, long enough to become quite in love with the city. I went to Kansas after leaving there."

"Yes, that's right; you were just twelve hours ahead of me there."

"Well, seems to me, stranger, you have traveled pretty much over the same ground. Curious coincidence, ain't it?"

"Yes, it's a trifle funny mate, but the best of the joke has to follow. We now go to New York. After all, New York is the only place worth living in. Any objections to exchange cards? There's mine."

It reads: JACK HIPPS, DISTRICT CLERK, New York.

"This is my warrant for your arrest. Embarrassment, that's it. Curious coincidence, ain't it?"

A Curious Race of Dwarfs. Fall Mail Gazette: Professor Marapata has made a remarkable anthropological discovery in the valley of Ribus, in the Eastern Pyrenees. It is that district he found numerous groups of persons who are named by the other inhabitants "Nanos" (the Dwarfs), and who never attained to a greater height than four feet. They are well built in body, have exceedingly small hands and feet, and are broad in the hips and shoulders. All have red hair. Their cheek bones are prominent, their chins are square and large. The eyes have the slant tendency of the Chinese. The men are beardless, or have at the most only a few soft hairs on the chin. The face is full, the skin pale and loose; it looks as if it had no muscles beneath it. The men and women are so like each other that only their dress betrays their sex. Many of them have swollen necks, goat-like, but this is possibly to be attributed to the use of the pipe.

The Nanos are constantly objects of the taunt and ridicule of the other inhabitants of the valley. They live as a separate people, untrading only among themselves, so that the race is preserved unique. Their intelligence is very low. They have no schooling, no means of bettering their existence, no one cumber himself about them, and they lead a miserable existence. "Many of those whom I questioned," says Professor Marapata, "could not even tell me where they lived. They had no conception of arithmetic. They were amiable in their manners, and seemed quite willing to learn something."

Krupp's New Monster. Iron Age: Of Krupp's new monster gun, which will eclipse the much-talked-of British 18-ton gun, we find the following particulars given: Its length is 16 m., or 52 feet; its weight about 143,000 kg., or 139 tons; and its caliber 40 cm., or 15.7 inches. The projectiles to be used with it are of two kinds—one a steel shell, 1.12 m. (3 feet 9 inches long) and weighing 740 kg. (1,630 pounds), and the other 1.60 m. (5 feet 3 inches) long and weighing 1,040 kg. (2,314 pounds), equal to the weight of a barrel of a 12 cm. gun. The service charge consists of 985 kg. (1,069 pounds) of prismatic Dunwalde powder. With this charge the lighter shell will have an initial velocity of 735 m. (2,411 feet), the heavier shell one of 640 m. (2,099 feet) per second. Attention might be drawn to the fact that, when rifled guns were first introduced, the highest initial velocity attained was only 300 m. (984 feet). The lighter shell will penetrate a wrought-iron plate 1-1/2 m. (45 inches) thick, or two plates of the respective thicknesses of 0.55 m. (11.65 inches) and 0.838 m. (33 inches) placed a short distance from the muzzle of the gun. In the case of the heavier projectile, the figures are 1,207 m. (47.52 inches), 0.62 m. (24.82 inches), and 0.89 m. (34.94 inches), respectively. As far back as 1668, the artillery of the day was unable to penetrate as many millimeters of armor as it now can contemplate; its penetrative power has consequently increased tenfold, and Krupp will be able to pierce an armor plate three times as thick as the bore of his new gun.
