HURRYING COERCION. A Strange Turn of Affairs in the Commons. LONDON, June 9.-This afternoon in the commons W. H. Smith, government leader, gave notice that to-morrow he would move that the committee name a period at which they would report the Irish crimes act amendment bill to the house. Morley pro-tested against so short a notice. Smith said the government was unable until to-day to inally decide on what course to pursue. The terms of his notice would be on paper to-night. He refused to name the period he would ask the committee to fix for reporting the bill. Smith's motion proposes that the crimes bill be reported by the 17th inst. The Parnellites will oppose the motion by every means in their power, alleging that it is unprecedented. The unionists approve the mo-

After the rejection of several amendments to clause four and the application of the cloture rule, Balfour moved that the section cloture rule. Balfour moved that the section providing for the removal of venue to London be remitted from the bill. [Parnellite cheers.] He admitted that there were strong objections to this section and said as long as the ends of the government would be attained they would not show themselves obstinate to the means by which the ends should be reached. Sir William Vernon Harcourt declared that the government would be unable to face the condemnation which the adoption of the section would bring upon them. The to face the condemnation which the adoption of the section would bring upon them. The present proposal was a decent sham. Smith arose to speak amid Parnell cries of "cloture," "cloture," Before he finished his first sentence, Healy moved that the question be put. Healy motion was agreed to amid loud cheers and laughter. Balfour's motion was then carried without division. Smith then gave notice that at 10 p.m. Friday, the 17th inst., he would move the chairman forthwith to put the question on any motion, amendment or proposal relating to the clause under discussion, and on each of the remaining clauses of the bill. Replying to a question by Sir Willthe bill. Replying to a question by Sir Will-iam Vernon Harcourt, Smith said it was not proposed that these mo-tions should be carried by a particular majority like the rules of urgency. Balfour announced the provision for the commission that judges be included in the second bill, which would be introduced immediately, embodying the new proposals of the government |loud laughter and ironical cheers|, probable to-morrow or on Monday. The Parnellites will raise a debate on evictions in Ireland.

Manchester's Mayor Dead.

MANCHESTER, June 9.—[New York Herald Cable-Special to the BEE. |- Mathew Curtis, mayor of Manchester, who received the prince and princess of Wales during the recent visit to the open exhibition, died to-night in his eightieth year. He was a very wealthy man, the head of the great cotton spinning machinists firm of Curtis Sons, whose machines are working all over the world. He owed his start in life and subsequent prosperity to an American gentleman, J. C. Dyer, who brought over from America when Curtis was a young man a beautiful mechanical contrivance for making the wire cards attached to cotton carding machines, and established a large manufactory for making these and other cotton machinery. He took Curtis into his employment, promoted him, and when Dyer had made a fortune sided Curtis to succeed to his business, which later grew to an enormous extent.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

The Repudiation By Southern States of Interest on Bonds.

NEW YORK, June 9 .- Ex-Judge Andrews of this city, received by telegraph one or the most important decisions that has been given for many years in the matter of the repudiation by the southern states of the interest of state bonds. The decision involves interests of a vast amount. Judge Bond, of the United States circuit Bond, of the United States circuit court of Raleigh, N. C., decided the case of the special tax bondbolders in their favor. North Carolina issued bonds in 1809 and has not paid interest for many years. The payment of bonds to the amount of $10,000,000 issued by the provision in the act of issuance, which ordered the levy of a special tax on all real and personal property of the state to one-eighth of one per cent. The object of the snit was to compel the state to levy this tax to pay overdue coupons, which amount to nearly 100 per compel the state to levy this tax to pay overdue coupons, which amount to nearly 100 per cent. of the total issue of the special tax bonds. The difficulty in all previous suits has been that the state itself has been a necessary party, and the courts held that the state could not be sued by citizens of other states. The plaintiff in this case, however, was a citizen of North Carolina. Now, for the first time, the tederal courts held the state amendable to be sued by its own citizens where the federal question is tts own citizens where the federal question is presented by the clashing laws impairing the obligation of contracts. The decision holds the acts passed by North Carolina to stop the collection of taxes to pay this interest null and void and agents of the state must proceed to collect the taxes and pay the interest. interest. A special session of the legislature will probably be called on the situation.

Some time ago, if will be remembered, Marshal Field, of Omaha, one of the stockholders in the water works company, brought suit to enjoin the same from issuing new stock or removing the plant to Florence, on the ground that these moves were calculated to defraud him of his rights in the premises. Yesterday the water works company filed their answer. They admit that it is their intention to build a new plant at Florence, and refer to the report made to the directors last November, that the company was obliged to add to the capacity for supplying water and to the settling capacity. Much additional pipe was required and the pressure would have to be increased to force the water to the high places. To make the needed improvements would require an outley of $225,000. A copy of this reoutlay of $785,000. A copy of this report, it is claimed, was sent to Mr. Field, and at a meeting of the stockholders held January 1, 1897, at which all the stock of

The answer sets forth that since the new management has taken hold there has been $175,000 expended in improvements to the system, and vouchers and receipts are submitted for the money. One hunired thousand dollars of this amount was raised on short time loans, and the answer states that it will have to be taken up out of the proceeds of the sale of the preferred stock. The claim is made that inasmuch as Mr. Field voted for and agreed to both the improvements and the issue and sale of the stock he cannot now be allowed to come into court and ob-

AMBREMENTS

The Natad Queen Finds Place in the Popular Heart. The threatening skies and muddy streets of last evening did not prevent the assembling of a full house at the fourth presentation of the "Naiad Queen" at the opera house last night. To many, the performance was entirely new. To others it was the second and third presentation of the piece, while not a few could be found who had witnessed the piece every night of its production here. In evidences of appreciation the gathering was as demonstrative as it was large ing was as demonstrative as it was large and intelligent. Almost everything was rapturously applauded, and though en-cores were demanded, the management refused to accede in every instance save when the audience would not be deprived of a repetition of the grand trio between the Misses Merkel and Mr. Treynor of Council Bluffs. That piece was repeated, to the exceeding pleasure of the audience. It is undoubtedly one of the prettiest trios ever written, and it must be said that it is most admirably rendered by these three sweetly blending voices from over the river. Miss Edith Davis makes a pretty Zaneta, the Gypsy queen and sings her part of the duet with LaKondo with ease and sweetness. Rose Brady's Vivanna was pleasantly enacted and her solo "Merry Zingara" nicely rendered. Grace Burk made a pleasing looking widow, Madame Goodheart, and sang her simple solo with feeling. Daisy Maus was very attractive of Neta Lea. Maus was very attractive of Neta Lea, child with a tender heart. Sam'l R. Miller as Lesparto, king of the Dryads, has an excellent presence. His armor is gorgeousness realized. He is kingly and knightly in his bearings, and his leadership of the Dryads is the perfection of military bearing and dignity. The remarkable evolutions of the Dryads is to be credited to him, and last night the waves of applause which greeted their work must have been indeed most gratufying to him. Mr. Miller is a young man but he has been thirteen years with this but he has been thirteen years with this entertainment. A very pretty little act was that of the little orphan, Arthur Lee, which was performed by George Meegs, seemingly about six years of age. The little girl who sang with the boatman also acquitted herself most entertaingly. Miss Steinhauser was last night remembered by a beautiful floral offering. To-night the opera will be repeated. It ought to have a full house. It will also be rendered on Saturday afternoon and evening. It would be to the credit of Omaha if the piece could draw a full house, for a couple of nights next week.

This beautiful island, now famous as one of the most attractive summer resorts on the Eastern coast lies in Passamaquoidy bay, of the coast of Maine, between the mainland and Grand Mana.

It has a shore frontage of thirty-five miles, deeply indented by numerous bays, chasms and inlets, while the interior abounds in lofty and densely wooded hills that offer rare charms to the lovers of the picturesque. thresque.

The cliffs that overhang the sea for many miles are truly grand. The view of these mighty and awe-inspiring rocks, towering straight up out of the sea, will alone repay the visitor for the journey there.

The Hotels, to be Opened July I, are the finest to be found east of Boston. They are beautifully furnished and appointed throughout, and in both exterior and interior have an air of homelike comfort and refinement seldom to be found. There are some forty miles of roads on the island, and the drives are varied and interesting. The stables are well equipped with well-trained saddle and driving horses. The boating and fishing are excellent, and canoes with indian guides, are always at hand. HOW TO GET TO CAMPOBELLO,
