

THE SUNDAY BEE: COUNCIL BLUFFS OFFICE, NO. 12, PEARL STREET. Delivered by carrier in any part of the city at twenty cents per week.

H. W. TILTON, Manager. TELEPHONES: 101. BUSINESS OFFICE, NO. 4. EXPRESS OFFICE, NO. 23.

MINOR MENTION. N. Y. Plumbing Co. New spring goods at Belter's, tailor. The city council meets to-morrow evening.

Woodbine, Iowa, is preparing to have a "descriptive" entertainment. Alderman Keller has generously donated to the Fifth regiment band twenty chairs to be used in their room.

Those who have been complaining the most bitterly about the amount of rain are among the first to complain that there is too much.

Petitions for eleven attachment suits have been begun in the district court against James Nimam, the recent lessee of the Ogden house.

The tendency to make Pearl street an alley for the stores fronting on Main street also, is again appearing. The marshal should help stop the nuisance, if those more interested do not have enough pride in the matter to stop it of their own accord.

Justice Barnett will on Monday decide the motion to dismiss the case against Burdick for selling mortgaged property. One of the important questions involved is concerning the venue. It is claimed that there is no offense for a man, who has given a mortgage on his team, to drive the team beyond the county lines.

The only penalty is that that the man holding the mortgage can foreclose. It is claimed that Burdick drove out of the county innocently, having no intention of disposing of the horses. Afterwards he got into some trouble, and while in another county gave up the team to another party.

It is insisted that there is no evidence that he formed any intent in this county to dispose of the property, and that if he did this in another county, he should be tried in that county, and not in this. The attorneys are splitting some fine hairs trying to settle the case.

The sheriff has concluded the inventory of the furniture of the Ogden house, and will the first of the week take the furniture out of the hotel. He is to retain possession of it until the court orders otherwise.

It is understood that so soon as the litigation is over the furniture and the lease can be got into proper shape, the owner of the building, Mr. Stout, who is a gentleman of means and pluck, will proceed to make improvements and will cause the house to be reopened in a manner which will cause it to be the pride of the city. Others claim that as the lease does not expire until August 1, 1888, he cannot assume control of the building so long as he insists on the payment of the rent up to the expiration of the lease. The feeling is general that the Ogden will be speedily reopened, and that all things will work together for the good of the city, as well as those concerned.

Services and Sermons. The following announcements are made concerning the several churches of the city.

Elkhorn Valley trains will depart at 7:10 a. m. and arrive at 8:30 p. m.

E. C. Gleason has gone to Breckenridge, Colo., on business. Chief Templeton, of the fire department, is home from Sioux City.

Mr. Parks, of St. Louis, an uncle of George Parks, is visiting the city. Postmaster Thomas Bowman left last evening for Janesville, Wis., to attend the races.

A. L. and M. C. Kaego are back from Illinois, where they went to visit their old home. Rev. Dr. Phelps, of the Presbyterian church, is absent from the city, having been called to preach the baccalaureate sermon at the college commencement.

The County Buys a Farm. The county board of supervisors yesterday purchased a good farm for a poor farm. The three members from the east part of the county have been quite anxious to locate the farm near Nixa, while the two others have preferred to have a farm near Council Bluffs. There were many reasons why the farm should be located near here, but the majority of the board was against it, and hence the purchase was made. The farm thus bought is known as the Leonard place, consisting of 160 acres, and the price paid is $23 an acre. Possession cannot be had until next March, unless some arrangement is made with the man who has leased it. The old poor farm was sold by the county for about ten thousand dollars.

Supervisors Underwood and Waite were chosen as a committee to acquire the old channel of the Boyer in Crescent township, and have the old bed of Honey Creek lake and other lands surveyed.

The board after the transaction of some other routine business adjourned.

Take Notice—At the Bankrupt store on Monday gauge shirts will be sold for 14c and lawn ties 30c per dozen.

A Check's Performance. Roland Reed's "Check" will be shown in the opera house next Tuesday evening. Few comedians are so well known and few plays so popular. Mr. Reed has an inexhaustible supply of fun and comicisms. Those who enjoy hearty laughs should be out in full force Tuesday evening.

Shoving the Queer. Last night a man giving his name as Rugger Sittmore, was arrested for passing counterfeit silver dollars on Main street. His method was to enter a store and ask for a 5-cent cigar and lay down a silver dollar. After visiting the candy and cigar store at No. 101 Main street he went into Shepherd's drug store and then to McAttee's grocery. At McAttee's they discovered the money to be counterfeit and John Mulqueen, who is a clerk there, went in search of the man. He found him in Threlkroth Kracht's grocery, corner of Seventh avenue, and held him until the arrival of the police.

On reaching the jail nearly $3 in change was found upon the prisoner besides a couple of counterfeit dollars. He is a native of this city.

The Milling and date, 1886, of the coin are blurred, the rest of the die being well defined. It has an oily feeling, rings well, and is very liable to deceive, although of light weight. He claims he had a $5 bill, and a manufacturer of a street car gave him these dollars in change.

The Jones Case. Judge Carson listened patiently yesterday to lengthy arguments on the motion for a new trial in the case of Jonathan Jones. The case is taken under advisement. Colonel Scott, of Omaha, appeared.

Colonel Scott, of Omaha, appeared yesterday, covering the dry bones of logic and law with redly pleasing, healthy flesh. He is one of the few men that can argue a motion before a court in so interesting a manner as to cause outsiders to wait to hear him through, and yet not weaken his argument by a waste of rhetoric or flourishes.

One of the grounds on which the motion for a new trial is based, is that of newly discovered evidence. Jones' attorneys claim that on account of the mental imbecility of Jones, they were able to get few suggestions and little information from him. They now learn that his father, now dead, was insane for five years before his death, and that a cousin has been insane for ten years. In a new trial, with this evidence before a jury, the claim of insanity might be viewed entirely differently.

Another Warrant For the Pair. The two saloon informers are promised a warm reception when they reach this side of the river, if they ever do come across. The habeas corpus proceedings have not been decided in the Omaha court, but a decision is expected the first part of the week. Both prohibitionists and saloonists here are preparing for the event of their release in Omaha. It seems that the saloon men have planned to have them arrested on a charge to the moment they step upon Iowa soil. There is an information filed in Squire Biggs' court charging the pair with perjury.

On the other hand, the prohibitionists are preparing to keep possession of this precious pair, if they can get hold of them again. They have caused an information to be filed in Justice Barnett's court, charging them with carrying concealed weapons. It is conjectured that the two informers prefer to be in the hands of the prohibitionists, rather than to fall into the hands of the saloon men.

It is a question which of the two will be served first, when the two informers step upon this side of the river again. On the part of the saloonists it is understood that an officer will be in readiness to arrest them the moment they step upon the train at the transfer. The plan of the other party seems to be to have an officer right with them, and the moment they pass the state line, on the train, the warrant from Justice Barnett's court is to be served, and they will be held on that charge at least until they can have an opportunity of giving their evidence in the cases which are set for the 13th.

With a warrant to hold them, they expect that the informers will not be in a condition to be frightened away by the threatened prosecution for perjury.

As another move to hold the men and bring them to this side, or to get them out of the saloon, or to get them in Nebraska, an information has been filed, and a warrant placed in the hands of the sheriff at Omaha, charging them with being fugitives from justice. The contest over these two men seems to be narrowed down to about the moment when the men want to keep them in Nebraska, and prevent their coming to this city, while the prohibitionists are equally anxious to get them out of Nebraska. If they come over here the saloon men are prepared to pinch them, having several charges ready on which to prosecute them. The attorneys for the parties concerned are at present having their contest in the Omaha courts, where the cases have been pending for a week or more. It is said that the saloon men have a large number of charges to bring against them in Omaha, and they propose to keep them there on the gridiron as long as possible. At the same time, if they do succeed, and the men come to this side, then the prosecutions here begin. The saloon men feel pretty well satisfied that the worth of the testimony of these two men is pretty well shattered, and they point with satisfaction to the two witnesses as fugitives from justice.

On the other hand the prohibitionists claim that if the saloon men are so certain that these two men will not be believed in court, they should not be afraid to let them come over here and appear before the judge who has the cases in hand.

A Prohibitionist's Troubles. Another sensation is caused in the war upon the saloons. M. R. Smith, a well to do farmer living near LeMars, has been enthusiastic in the cause of prohibition, and has employed men to visit saloons gather information by buying drinks. Lately he has been personally at work in this county. A number of cases have been brought against saloons in this county. The two Oklahoma justices seem to be having most of the cases, and are reaping a harvest of fees. Fifteen cases were brought against a man named Meggers, of Avoca, who claims to have a temperance billiard hall. Smith was the only witness against him, and swore that he drank beer in his place. Meggers claimed that it was mineral water, and other witnesses testified that they had never seen beer there but couldn't. Attorney Converse appeared as he claimed in behalf of Colonel Daily, the county attorney, and prosecuted the case. Fremont Benjamin was the attorney for the defendant. Meggers was convicted by a jury and fined $100, from which he appealed.

Yesterday Smith came to Avoca, and was at once arrested on the charge of having perjured himself in the trial at Oshtemo, Meggers filing the information. Smith waived examination, and was put under $1,000 bonds. The officers brought him to this city and lodged him in jail. A bond was approved last evening, and as Smith was released from jail Deputy Sheriff O'Neill served another warrant on him for assault and battery and again locked him up. The warrant was issued by an Avoca justice. It being Saturday night the deputy sheriff insisted that he could not take him out to Avoca until Monday, and that in the mean time he would have to remain in jail. It seems like a well laid scheme to give Smith a sneak of the jail into which he is readily pushing others. The treatment of Smith aroused great indignation among the prohibitionists, and they have taken to get bonds arranged for Smith's release.

As a side show of the Smith affair another case has started up. W. H. Shilling of Avoca, in talking to Smith waxed very warm, and perhaps indulged his tongue a little too freely in abusing Smith before a crowd. Smith has commenced a slander suit against Shilling, fixing damages at $10,000.

At 10 o'clock last night Smith was brought up from jail to Smith's law office by Deputy Sheriff O'Neill, with a hack. He was sent after Judge Carson. The prohibitionists present were L. W. Tulleys, Henry DeLong, A. Overton, O. O. St. John, C. H. Smith, H. Kelley. The county attorney, Colonel Daily, Attorney Zink and Sims, and the city reporter completed the company. The bond of Smith was fixed by Judge Carson at $300. This bond was given, signed by Colonel Tulleys and Henry De Long, and Mr. Smith once more breathed the free air.

Another New Church. The contract for the new German Catholic church is to be let to-morrow. The building is to be 47x100 feet, of brick, and of Gothic architecture. The church, while not one of the largest, will be one of the handsomest in the city. The location is on the corner of Pierce and Bluff streets, the ground having a frontage of 135 feet on each street. The property was bought of Capt. L. Kirsch, who sold the society the lots for $1,100 each, and donated one-half lot, there being two and a half lots in the piece. It is expected that the church will be ready for occupancy by Christmas. The ladies of the church have the honor of being the originators of this enterprise, and its success will be due largely to their efforts. A long time ago they began giving socials, and in other ways securing small sums of money, the start seeming to be an almost hopeless one, but yet the faith of the women, with their true devotion, never flagged during all the discouragements. From these little funds of about eight hundred dollars was raised. When Bishop Coe came here to lay the corner stone of the new St. Xavier's church, a separation was made between the two nationalities, and the German Catholic church was organized. Father Wesseling has been called here as pastor. He has been occupying the chair of Greek and literature in the St. Benedict's college in Atchison, Kas. He has been here but little over a month, but rapid progress has been made. The bishop donated $5,000 from the proceeds of the sale of the Catholic property here, provided the members would raise an equal amount for the building. Already there has been secured from seventy-five families of the church $4,000, and there seems no reason why the work cannot be pushed forward to a speedy and successful completion. The German Catholics are quite enthusiastic, and are giving generously, and others will help them gladly in securing this new parish. There is much praise to be given to the ladies, who when others saw no hope of worship would not give up the starting fund.

It is not the first instance in the history of the city, in which the women were the originators of worthy enterprises. Those who know the history of the beautiful St. Paul's church, in which the city takes much pride, need not be told that it had not been for the work of women, their devotion and faith, that elegant house of worship would not now be standing.
