THE SPECULATIVE MARKETS

Wheat and Corn Both Bring Lower Prices in Chicago.

THE FORMER CEREAL VERY DULL

But the Latter Traded in Extensively By the "Country"-A Sharp Break in Oats - Provisions Stronger.

CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.

CHICAGO, July 22,-[Special Telegram to the BRE. |-Wheat and corn worked off 1/4@ Sc. and for different reasons. For the first named cereal several large selling orders came on the market early, and as it lacked strong support values eased off. When the pressure of speculative offerings was resloved the market reacted, but toward the close the tone changed again to weakness, and the final range was within 1/c of the inside figures of the day. The opening prices were %c off and these proved to be the outside. August began at 70%c, declined steadily to 70c, rallied to 70%c and sold off to 70%c, where it rested. September opened at 72%c, second to 71%c, reacted to 72%@72%c, and losed at 7236c. October opened at 74c, deelined to 73%c, went back to 73%c, and rested et 73%c. December ranged 77@76%c, and closed at 76%c, an average net decline for the day of 34c. The operations in the pit were on a rather restricted scale and the market had no genuine support from any quarter. Cables reflected the dullness in the foreign markets, but it is noticed that wheat is selling here and at other American markets 3@5c below Liverpool and London quotations. It would appear from this that the drag is on this side the water. There has been a decided let down in the foreign demand, but nevertheless continental and English buyers are nibbling at American stores all the time. They are continually taking a little, but are not anxious bidders for property.

Corn was less active than vesterday, but Corn was less active than yesterday, but on the whole business was of a satisfactory volume. The leading local operators having made their scalps were seemingly resting today, but the country continued to take a lively interest in the proceedings. Buying and selling orders were received from the country in about equal numbers and apparently for about equal numbers and apparently sentiment seemed to be bearish to some extent, values settled. Cash and August corn were in especial request and until late in the day showed relatively the greatest strength. The initial trades in August were at 37½c, an advance to 37½c was scored, and then the market suffered a decline to 37½c, and a subsequent decline to 37½c, which was the bottom and closing. September opened at 38c, sold up to 38½c, off to 37½c, up again to 37½c/gSc, and down once more to 37½c, closing at 37½c/gSc, and down once more to 37½c, closing at 37½c/gSc, and down once more to 37½c, closing at 37½c/gSc, and down once more to 37½c, closing at 37½c/gSc, and down once more to 37½c, closing at 37½c/gSc, and down once more to 37½c. Late futures dragged heavily all through the session, and failed to develop backbone at any stage. A good shipping trade was reported and charters by lake for 805,000 bushels are reported since yesterday. Other markets were inactive and featureless. on the whole business was of a satisfactory yesterday. Other markets were inactive and featureless.

There was quite a sharp break in near fu-tures of oats to-day, and for eash property, the weakness resulting mainly from the large offerings and the larger estimated receipts for to-morrow. Trading was quite liberal in the speculative market and the closing prices were at the bottom, seller the month being nominally ic lower. Most of the trading was in August and September, which closed at a in August and September, which closed at a decline of %@%c, with October and May %c off.

In the provision pit a stronger feeling held control. Short ribs, which were in active demand to fill short contracts, recovered sharply from their late weakness, and by the firmness which they exhibited led the entire market to improve its tone. Traders acted as if they believed the situation unfavorable to the short interest and that a talling off in the late unexpected receipts of hogs would be followed by better prices for the product. be followed by better prices for the product. Hogs to day were in moderate supply and higher. In short ribs, the day's advance, based on yesterday's closings, amounted to 30c, the range for August delivery being from $7.77\(\frac{1}{2}\) at the opening up to $7.92\(\frac{1}{2}\) at the close. September short ribs were 10\(\frac{1}{2}\)12\(\frac{1}{2}\)c ever August, and October about the same as August. Lard averaged 2\(\frac{1}{2}\)c higher, with a fair business in changing over August to September at a premium of 10\(\frac{1}{2}\)12\(\frac{1}{2}\)c, and to October at 17\(\frac{1}{2}\)6\(\frac{1}{2}\)2\(\frac{1}{2}\). August sold at $6.52\(\frac{1}{2}\)4\(\frac{1}{2}\)6.57\(\frac{1}{2}\), and closed at $6.57\(\frac{1}{2}\).

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

CHICAGO, July 23.-[Special Telegram to the BEE. |-CATTLE-There was a change to-day in the wearisome iteration of both buyers and sellers of "Juli and lower" to that of a "brisk trade with an advance of about 10c on the ordinary run of fat cattle." FINANCIAL

NEW YORK, July 22 .- | Special Telegram to the BEE. J-STOCKS-There was little of interest in stock circles. The market opened quiet and easy, with little disposition to trade except for a small sum. Professionals who loaded up yesterday endeavored to secure their profits, but found the market too limited to stand a selling pressure of even a fair magnitude, and their efforts resulted in a decline of 1/21/2 per cent, the weakest stocks being New England, Reading, and Louisville & Nashville. The only feature to the trade was the buying in of 5,000 shares of Lake Shore for Cammack. Despite the buying of these properties, they did not hold up and followed the majority of the list. London opened buoyant, but it was only temporary, and before the close weakness set in. The Baltimore & Ohio deal continues to haunt many traders, and they cannot get over talking about it. Rumors of fresh negotiations with strong parties were circulated, but the Baltimore & Ohio deal has ceased to go se a factor in the market, and should never G have been one, as only a few unimportant roads were to be benefitted by its consummatrunk lines would be effected is nonsensical Mr. Ives has sued Mr. Garrett for $200,000 cash and $1,500,000 of Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton stock deposited as margin on the deal. The suit, while affording food for the gossips, has no bearing on the market. The market remained heavy, with no improve-ment in the trade until the close, when the last sales were the reverse of yesterday, and at the inside figures of the day, with net decitues of 1/6% per cent. Speculation in the west-continues dull, and Chicago houses are doing next to nothing. The total sales were 120,094 shares, against 157,570 shares yester-

The receipts of hogs were liberal for Friday. The market opened a little slow at about yesterday's close. There were no hogs to speak of sold at yesterday's closing prices and the sales that were reported were made earlier in the day, on a higher market, so that while this morning's sales looked lower, they were in reality no lower than vesterday's close. A little later in the morning the market firmed upand was active, the acvices from the east being more favorable. The bulk were sold out before mid-day. The market closed 5@10c lower than it opened. There were six loads of late arrivals left unsold.
