THE RAPID TRANSIT LINE.

It is Being Vigorously Pushed Forward in the Capital City.

A BREACH OF PROMISE SUIT

The Coming State Fair-Funeral of Dr. Max Randall, the Victim of the Havelock Disaster-Salvationists Discharged.

[FROM THE BEE'S LINCOLN BUREAU.] The work of pushing the Rapid Transit street railway goes on apace, and yesterday the track laying on the line had reached the Salt creek bridge on North Fourteenth street, near the fair grounds. This carries the line past the three railway tracks, and extra work will be done from this on in pushing the track laying on to West Lincoln, the road bed being already graded for the ties and rails. At the present rate of progress the company will have three miles of track ready for business by September 1, and the city will have a direct street railway line to the fair grounds and West Lincoln.

FOR TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS. One of the cases that promises to be interesting on trial is a $20,000 damage suit for breach of promise of marriage filed in the district court. The plaintiff is Loretta Eva Kimes, and she brings suit against Charles Marshal Sietz for the above amount, charging in her petition that on the 1st day of July, 1886, the plaintiff, being then unmarried, at the request of the defendant promised to marry him, and the defendant promised at the same time to marry the plaintiff. the marriage to take place on or about December 24, 1886. The plaintiff further recites that she has reveatedly since then asked the defendant to marry her according to promise, but he persistently refuses and awaiting him she has remained single and for his refusal she claims that she has been damaged $20,000 and asks the court for a judgement in that amount.

CASES FILED.

Among the recent cases filed in the district clerk's office for trial at the coming term is the appeal case of Kelly vs. Hoxie for commission on the sale of certain lots that has had a course of litigation in the county court below.

The attorneys for the estate of the late
T. P. Quick have filed an application in the district clerk's office for action on the part of the court. The petition asks for an order to sell real estate to the amount of $30,000, with which to pay off debts allowed against the estate. The proposition of the p erty asked to be sold comprises some valuable lots and parts of lots in the city and some land situated in Lancaster

The appeal case of Frank J. Ramge vs. H. B. Stout has been filed in the district court. This is a claim for $205 for a tailor's bill of Stout's that was created in 1885. In the trial in the county court Ramge obtained judgment against Stout for $120 and costs on the bill, and the for $130 and costs on the bill, and the plaintiff, Ramge, now appeals to the district court to recover the entire amount Frederick Beyschlag, a brewer of Ne-braska City, has sued George Brown, a saloon keeper of Lincoln, for a balance of $532, on a running account dating back to 1885. The account is for beer and is sworn to as just and reasonable.

AN EXPENSIVE JOB.

A good deal has been published about the bringing of a man named Crandall from Massachusetts to Nebraska to answer to the charge of conniving to re-lease a prisoner from the penitentiary named Sutton, while he (Crandall) was employed at the penitentiary. Crandail was in business in Boston and he was not brought out of that state without some trouble, but he was brought here and fined $90 and costs and allowed to depart. The cost of bringing him back and placing the fine on him was $485, and it doesn't look as though it was paying for the state.

THE STATE FAIR. The time has arrived for Lincoln peo-ple to contemplate the fact that the state fair is only a few weeks away when 50,000 people at the least will visit the capital city and be in one sense guests of the city. Lincoln received much direct benefit from the fact that the fair is held in the city and everything possible should be done in the entertainment line. No people should be allowed to sit up nights for lack of lodging room as they have been obliged to do heretofore, and the board of trade can profitably look to these little things and have all arrangement for the great which completes ments for the great exhibit complete.

In the police coart yesterday a lengthy trial was held, in which the city prosecuted Liberman & Berkson for selling goods from their store on O street on Sunday. The defense was that one business man had as much right as another to sell on Sunday, and any law or ordinance that discriminated was of no effect. The judge assessed a fine, however, of $10, and the case was appealed.

The gospel army cases were up in court yesterday and after a conference the cases were dismissed without prejudice and the army discharged. Driving Home the Crackers. Boston Commercial Bulletin: It was an Boston Commercial Bulletin: It was an amusing sight, a few weeks since, to see one of those stiff, upright, imitation English coachmen sitting ombits box in front of a grocery store, whip well poised, reins properly grasped in white gloved hands, gaze directed straight forward between the cars of the well groomed horses.

Anon out comes a clerk from the store with a well filled paper bag, opens the carriage door, places the bag within upon the seat, and recloses the door with a slam.

Scarce had he turned away when the coachman started off his team with a stately trot, nor halted till he arrived at the mansion of a wealthy resident in an aristocratic quarter, before which he halted and solemnly waited.

In a few minutes a maid servant rushed out.
"Why, what is the matter, John?
Where are the ladies?"
"Eh? Hinside, I suppose. Carn't you hopen the door?"

"Open the door! Why, there is no one in the carriage. Where did you drive

"Bless my 'art! no one there! Why, I just drove from the grocery store and 'eard the coach door shut when they got "Got in! Why, they did not get in, and you have given a bag of soda crackors a ride home and left the ladies behind."

Such was the case, and the solemn John went back at a brisker pace, resolving to the solemn and the solemn solemn. solving to trust to eyes rather than ears for the future.

The Sandwich Islands. Interior: About a quarter of a century ago the American board made a mistake of withdrawing its missionaries from the Sandwich Islands, and of leaving a people recently converted from heathen-ism to take care of themselves through churches organized on the Congrega-tional plan of individual independency. Since that time the moral, social and political conditions of the islands have been growing worse and worse. While been growing worse and worse. While the forty-five native churches have continued to exist, and have not proved altogether unfaithful, they have lacked the energy to meet the evils incident to a great influx of foreigners, and to a government controlled by a weak, dissolute and spendthrift king, who has countenanced, if not directed a revival of heathenish dances and other forms of licentiousness and all kinds of official corruption, in order to neutralize official corruption, in order to neutralize the influence of what is known as the missionary party. The result of reckless extravagance of the government has been high taxes, discontent and a threatbeen high taxes, discontent and a threatened revolution. Almost anything likely to turn up would be an improvement upon affairs controlled by King Kalakaua. The change from a quarter of a century ago is certainly a sad one. Our hope is that God may avert a sadder one from a people so simple-minded, energetic and greatly reduced in number, yet faithful to Christ. The American board, we understand, has determined to send

A Woman's Age. A woman, it is said, is no older than she looks. Many women, however, look double their actual age by reason of those functional disorders which wear upon the nerves and vitality, and which, if unchecked, are liable to change the most robust woman to a weak, broken-down invalid. What Chauncey M. Depew Has Been. New York Sun: Mr. Chauncey Mitchell Depew has held more offices than most people know about. He was in the assembly in 1862 and 1863 from the Third district of Westchester county, which James William Husted has monopolized most of the time since. In 1867 he was appointed county clerk of Westchester county to succeed Hiram P. Rowell, who died. In the fall of 1863, after his second term in the assembly, he was elected sec-retary of state. In 1871 he was appointed capitol commissioner, and served on the second board with such men as William A. Rice, General E. A. Merritt and ex-Senator Hamilton Harris. He had been appointed a commissioner of emigration in 1870 with Isaac Bell, Richard O'Gorman and Willy Wallace. In 1877 he was appointed boundary commissioner, to fill the term of Regent Perkins, who died, and in 1830 he was reappointed, with Chancellor Henry R. Pierson and Elias W. Leavenworth. In the meantime he had been made a regent of the university in 1877. A man who has been all these things, the president of a railroad, and a Yale doctor of laws, must tax his memory to recall them all.

Our |Southernmost Possession.

Philadelphia Call: Key West is a peculiar city, and differs very little from a West India town. Half of the population is composed of negroes, not the southern variety, but negroes from the Bahamas, who speak a cockney dialect. Another quarter is composed of whites from the Bahamas, who also speak like cockneys and are generally known as "Conchs." The remaining quarter is composed of Cubans, and the total population if nearly 20,000.

composed of Cubans, and the total population if nearly 20,000.

You naturally ask where are the Americans? In truth the proportion is so small that it cant be counted—perhaps 300, all told. The leaven is too small to stir the lump, and in consequence, Key West is just where it was fifty years ago, with no sanitary laws and with a shiftless way of doing things uttarly disheartening to northern people who happen to stay down there. Of itself Key West is fairly healthy, but the people are stricken with mental paralysis. Surgeon General Hamilton tried to have a quarantine station established there, but the Key Westers opposed it. Had the station been established there would have been no yellow fever.

There was a big procession, in which the states were rep-resented by thirty-eight young women in white Mother Hubbards, mounted on black horses. One hundred wood-choppers marched four abreast, carrying choppers marched four abreast, carrying their axes, and the city fathers rode in a big lumber wagon drawn by twelve voke of red oxen, driven by the goddess of liberty. In the evening there was an exhibition of fireworks, with a war-dance performed by 100 Shosone and Bannock Indians.

TRAVELING SALESMEN. The Men Who are Most Successful on BABY'S

the Road.

Philadelphia Record: "Is the abinity to sell goods on the road an acquired art or a natural gift?" Is a question which is often asked, and the answers which it has received are numerous and varied. One man says: "I believe traveling salesmen are born, not made. If a man be a thoroughbred salesman he can sell anything, no matter whether he be familiar with the goods or not. Here is a case in point: I have in mind a traveling man who ranks among the most successin point: I have in mind a traveling man who ranks among the most successful in this city. I have personal knowledge of three different lines of goods he has handled with equal success. When I first knew him he was on the road for a boot and shoe firm. He had no particular training for the position, but stepped right out on the road with his prices and samples. Notwithstanding his ignorance of the goods he sold and his lack of acquaintance with the details of the busiquaintance with the details of the busi-ness, his success was remarkable, and the orders he sent home were astonishing. After a few years in this line of business at the salary his ability readily commanded, he made a sudden break and started on the road representing a large furniture manufacturer, Before the end of his first trip his success became evident and more than one carload bill was sold. Remarkable as were these two ventures, they were not more so than his latest move. After a few years in the furniture business he made another sudden change and invested his capital in an importing drug house of this city, in which he still retains his interest. From its complicated nature this branch of business presented even more difficulties than either of the other lines which he had represented, but away he went on the road and in came bis orders. To-day, there is not, I be-lieve a more successful salesman on the road in that line and he has a trade which he holds firmly. How he sells goods and secures such a trade I am utterly at a loss to explain, nor will be offer an explanation himself. Nevertheless he sells the goods. I have seen him in his own office try to sell goods to some small chance customer and make a com-plete failure with both goods and prices by his side. Then again I have known him to run over to New York without a sample or price of any kind and come back with a pocket full of orders at more than ruling prices. That man has a than ruling prices. That man has a secret that is worth thousands of dollars to him, although to another man it might perhaps be worthless.

A dry goods merchant said: "You can not tell from a man's appearance whether or not he will make a good salesman. Some of the most unpromis-ing men we have employed have turned out to be the best of traveling men. For instance, some years ago we engaged a man who had previously found employ-ment as a hog-butcher. He was a most uncouth and unattractive character, with little education and apparently small business capacity. We put him on the road very doubtfully, and to our great astonishment he made an excellent sales-He worked up cross-roads trade principally, and sent in some rousing big orders. He was in our employ for many years and did a splendid business. It so happened that he was just suited for the trade he took, and he handled it well, where another man might have made a dismal failure. I find that frequently some of the best salesmen are men of small ability in other directions. Of course, that is not general, as the great majority of traveling men can turn their hands to almost any kind of work, but it does show that the ability to sell goods on the road is a natural gift rather than an ac-ouirement."

quirement. In the misconstruction which seems to have been put upon the inter-state com-merce act by a large number of the railroad companies there has been much loss to traveling men. Upwards of forty lines had granted "week end" tickets, allowing travelers to return home on Saturday nights for half fare, and a large number of transportation companies granted the privilege of carrying bag-gage in excess of the amount allowed to general passengers. The curtailment of these privileges, with the withdrawal of mileage books upon the plea of violation of the inter-state law, has materially increased the cost of traveling.

The Pacific Railroad Frauds. Philadelphia Record: Some interest-ing "finds" have been made by the Pa-cific railroad commission in the course of its investigations in the west. In addition to the list of Kansas Pacific lobbyists and beneficiaries found among the papers of John C. Fremont, the commission has gathered some valuable in formation concerning the financial methods employed in conducting the Pacific railroads. When the commission was in Omaha, Engineer Dey testified that his estimates for the first hundred miles of Udion Pacific railroad west from Omaha were at the rate of $30,000 a mile, and for the next 400 miles at the rate of $25,000 a mile. But the railroad managers insisted that he should estimate the average cost of construction at $50,000 a mile in order that they might strike the government for more subsidy. Upon his re-fusal he was dismissed, and more accommodating engineers estimate the cost at from $42,000 to $45,000 a mile westward from Omaha; further west the estimate was at the rate of $80,000 a mile, and in some instances the cost was corried up to nearly $100,000 a mile. The actual construction of the road cost but two-thirds of the government sub-sidy, and the balance the rascals put in their pockets. They never contributed a dollar to the making of the road, for, as the books of the company show, the nominal capital of $36,000 was never paid in. What with this and other great sums gained through such methods as hypothecations of land grants at $10,000 a mile and $10,000 a mile of income bonds, they pocketed not less than $100,000,000 stolen from the government and the people.

In delightful obliviousness of these facts Mr. Jay Gould suggested, just about the time Engineer Dey's testimony and ofher evidence was presented to the commission, that the government should not exact any of the accrued interest due from the Union Pacific railroad company, but should be content with the payment but should be content with the payment of the principal only. The ground for this suggestion was that the railroad had cost so much for its construction as to be unable to compete with rival roads built at much less expense. It has been seen that the cause of this excessive cost was the deliberate fraud of the railroad manipulators upon the government. Every dollar of this enormously fraudulent ex-pense came out of the public treasury, yet Mr. Gould talks as if it had been paid by the men who so successfully managed is monstrous scheme of plunder.

Unfortunately much of the stock which originally represented nothing but a fraud has gone into the hands of innocent purchasers for a valuable consideration. That, however, affords no reason why the government should not receive full payment of the principal and interest of its debt, provided that the money can be made out of the earnings of the road. Upon this point the report of the commission of investigation will doubt commission of investigation will doubt-less afford much valuable information for the guidance of the next congress. It would be in the highest degree desirable to compet the parties who plundered the government so extensively in the con-struction of this road to make restitution, but most of them are out of reach, and the subject will have to be considered by

MY OLDEST CHILD.

Now six years of age, when an infant six months old, was attacked with a viruleut, malignant skin disease. All ordinary remedies failing, we called our family phy fician, who attempted to care it, but it spread with almost incredible rapidity, until the lower portion of the little fellow's person, from the middle of his back down to his knees, was one solid rash, ugly, painful, blotched and malicious. We had no rest at night, no peace by dao. The physician did not know then, and does not know now, what it was, Finally we were advised to try Cuticura Remedies. Without the knowledge of our physician, I procured a box of Cuticura and a cake of Cuticura Soap. The effect WAS SIMPLY MARVELOUS.

WAS SIMPLY MARVELOUS. WAS SIMPLY MARVELOUS.
Using the two together, first washing him thoroughly with Cuticura Scap, then anointing him with Cuticura. From the first application a change for the better appeared. The doctor said we had no further need for him, and ceased his visits. In three or four weeks a complete cure was wrought, leaving the little reliow's person as white and healthy as though he had never eeen attacked. In my opinion your valuable remedies saved his life, and today he is a strong, healty child, peafectly well, no repitition of the discuss having ever occurred. You are welcome to make use of this you may deem best.

Mexican War Veteran.

The wonderful efficacy of Swift's Specific as a remedy and cure for rheumatism and all blood diseases, has never had a more conspicuous illustration than this case affords. The candid, unsolicited and emphatic testimony given by the venerable gentleman must be accepted as convincing and conclusive. The writer is a prominent citizen of Mississippi. The gentleman to whom Mr. Martin refers, and to whom he is indebted for the advice to which he owes his final relief from years of suffering, is Mr. King, for many years the popular night clerk of the Lawrence House, at Jackson.

House, at Jackson.

"Jackson, Miss., April 29, 1887.

The Swift Sprecific Company, Atlants, Ga.:

Gentlemen—I have been an invalid pensioner for forty years, having contracted pulmonary and other diseases in the Mexican War, but not till the 1st of March, 1873, did I feel any symptoms of rheumatism. On that day I was suddenly stricken with that disease in both hips and ankles. For twenty days I walked on crutches. Then the pain was less violent, but it shifted from joint to joint. For weeks I would be totally disabled, either on one side of my body or the other. The pain never left me a moment for eleven years and seven months—that is from March 1, 1875, when I was first attacked, to October I, 1886, when I was cured. During these eleven years of intense suffering I tried innumerable prescriptions from various physicians, and tried everything suggested by friends, but if I ever received the least benefit from any medicine taken internally or externally. I am not aware of it. Finally, about the first of September, I made arrangement to go to the Hot Springs of Arkansas, having despaired of every other remedy, when I accidentally met an old acquaintance, Mr. King, now of the Lawrence House of this city. He had once been a great sufferer from rheumatism, and, as I supposed, had been cured by a visit to Hot Springs. But when I met him he told me that his visit to the Hot Springs was in vain—he found no relief. On his return from Hot Springs he heard, for the first time, of the S. S. as a remedy for rheumatism. He tried it and six bottles made a complete cure. Several years have passed since, but he has had no return of the disease.

I immediately returned to try it. In September I took four bottles, and by the first of Cotober I was well—as far as the rheumatism was concerned. All pain had disappeared, and I sure NOTENT a twince or printers.

I have no interest in making this statement other than the hope that it may direct some other sufferer to a sure source of relief, and if it has this result I am well rewarded
