EIGHT HUNDRED LIVES LOST.

Pilgrims From Calcutta Drowned in the Bay of Bengal.

CYCLONES LASTING FIVE DAYS.

Two Men Mortally Wounded By a Deputy Sheriff at Cheyenne-Fatal Wreck on the Omaha Road-Other Casualties.

Mourning in Calcutta, SAN FRANCISCO, July 25,-The Pacific mail steamer City of Rio De Janeiro arrived last night bringing Hong Kong advices of July 1, and Yokohama news to July 9. By the loss of the steamer Sir John Lawrence in the bay of Bengal 800 lives were lost, mainly pilgrims of the best families of Bengal. From the 21st to the 26th of May a cyclone raged in the bay of Bengal with disastrous results to snipping, and attended with great loss of life. The passengers on the boat Sir John Lawrence numbered 750, the officers and crew numbered lifty. The passengers were mainly women going on a pilgrimage to the famous temple of Jaqanath at l'uri. There is scarcely a native family in Calcutta which does not bemoan the loss of the relative by a disaster. Two Men Shot by Mistake.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 25.-[Special Telegram to the BEE.]-By the criminal carelessness of Wallace Link and E. Baker, members of a sheriff's posse searching for the escaped Laramie City prisoners, two men named Charles Cooley and Daniel Bullion were shot this morning and so severely wounded that they will probably die. The shooting occurred near Chugwater station on the line of the Cheyenne & Northern railroad, fifty miles north of this city. Cooley and Bullion belonged to a large party of graders working on the railroad near Chug station. They were idle this morning and were passing the time gathering specimens of acate on the bluffs about a mile from the line of the road. Link about a mile from the line of the road. Link and Baker who were walking from Chugwater saw the men stooping down and trying to conceal themselves and concluded that they were the two prisoners for whom they were searching. They rode towards them calling on them to halt and surrender. The men naturally alarmed turned and ran, when the deputies opened fire on them with rifles hitting both. Without waiting to see the results of their shot they rode quickly into Chugwater and called for aid to go up and arrest the men. A party of railroaders returned with them and then discovering the fatal mistake, Link and party of railroaders returned with them and then discovering the fatal mistake, Link and Baker rode off, saying they would go to Chugwater and give themselves up to the authorities. The wounded men were brought to Cheyenne and taken to the hospital. Bullion was found to be shot in the back, the ball passing almost through his body and lodging in the abdomen. Cooley's thigh was broken by a ball, the bone being shattered from joint to joint. Bullion's wound is pronounced fatal, while the chances of Cooley's recovery are small. Up to the present time Link and Baker have not surrendered.

Fatal Wreck on the Omaha Road. MILWAUKEE, July 25.-The Evening Wisconsin's special from Hudson, Wis., says: The south bound passenger train on the North Wisconsin division of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railroadran into a switch at Cumberland station. Engineer John Donahoe, of Hudson, and Fireman Webster, of Altoona, were killed and the baggage master injured. The engine express and baggage cars were wrecked. A freight train had been side-tracked to await the passage of the passager train and the the passage of the passenger train and the treight hands failed to close the switch.

Some of Harvey's Frauds. WILKESARRE, Pa., July 25 .- | Special Tele gram to the BEE. |-There is every reason to believe that the Oscar J. Harvey frauds on the government have extended further and in other directions than has yet appeared. From developments which came to light in this section it is probable that he has done something in the fraudulent pension line. Acting as attorney, he not long ago procured pension for Mrs. Elizabeth Bronson of Wyoming, a small village near here. The pension obtained amounted to $1,723.78, and a few days ago a draft for this amount was made out by General W. H. H. Davis, pension agent at Philadelphia, and forwarded by Harvey's directions to an address in this city, and was delivered to Miss E. Harvey, a sister of Oscar's, living at $647 Union street, to which place the letter was addressed. Yesterday Colonel Birdseye, of Scranton, receive fa telegram from Pension Commissioner Black instructing him to stop the payment of the draft. He came to this city and succeeded in tracing the draft which had passed out of Miss Harvey's hands and in getting possession of it before it was presented for payment. He was seen by a correspondent to-day but declined to say in whose hands he had found the draft. He did not know on what information General Black had issued the order to stop the payment, but supposed pension obtained amounted to $1,723.78, and what information General Black had issued the order to stop the payment, but supposed that some evidence of fraud had been dis-covered. The matter will be thoroughly in-vestigated during the coming week and it is not unlikely that disclosures will be made showing Harvey to be a bigger fraud than at first supposed.

THE POPE'S MISSION. He Endeavors to Reconcile People and Governments.

to Cardinal Rampella on June 15, when the latter assumed the pontifical secretary of state. In this letter the pope explains fully the principles which he has followed in the government of the church. He declares that he took upon himself the mission to reconcile the people and the governments of civilized states. Referring first to Italy, the pope developes the ideas expounded in the ized states. Referring first to Italy, the pope developes the ideas expounded in the concistory allocution of May 25, when he laid down as the basis of pacineation Italy's acknowledgment of the holy see. He reiterates his claims to territorial sovereignty as an indispensable condition of settlement, all other schemes, he says, being unworthy of consideration. Adverting next to Austria, the pope says the piety of the emperor and the devotion of the imperial family to the holy see have rendered the mutual relations the best possible. France, the elder daughter of the church, was menaced by serious evils. The pope trusted that those evils would be dispelled through the observance of the letter and spirit of the acts solemnly concluded with the church. Turning to Spain, the pope says the first need is union of Catholies in defence of their religion, in devotion to the holy see and in reciprocal charity, so that Spain may not be misguided by personal aims. Regarding Prussia the pontiff says it is necessary to continue the work of religious peacemaking to its full achievement, Greatthings have been done, the well disposed ining of the emperor and the good intentions of his ministers permit his holiness to cherish the hope that his efforts to ameliorate the condition of the church will not prove barren. The solicitude felt by the vatician for Prussia extends equally to the other states of Germany, and these states are happly seeking the friendliest relations with the vatician. The pope concluded with a reference to the fostering of missions leading back to the church her separated people.

Discussing the Crimes Bill. LONDON, July 25.-In the house of commons this evening Mortey asked what had happened to explain the proclamation of parts of Ireland since the government had assured the nouse that the law was as well obeyed in some parts of Ireland as in any parts of Great Britain. Balfour replied that he had no reason to change his opinion that parts of Ireland were as quiet as parts of England. What the government had done was not to apply the whole of the crimes act to Ireland generally, but only the subsections dealing with rioting, unlawful assemb-lies and the obstruction of policy.

Sexton asked whether the executive before

Sexton asked whether the executive before issuing proclamations distinguished counties where it was necessary to prevent crime from those where it was necessary to punish crime. Balfour said in every case in which a county had been specially proclaimed the proclamation had been issued because the government believed in the actual existence of crime or intimidation. The House then went into a committee of the land bill. Upon taking up the first clause, extending to leasers the benefits of the act of 1881, Parnell proposed an amendment. The bill as it stood gave an option to the tenant or landlord to make application to the court to fix the rent. Parnell urged that the court to fix the rent. Parnell urged that the tenant alone should have the right to apply, the period of such application being limited to three years, Balfour accepting the amendment with a limit of two years, Parnell proposed to extend the operation of the clause to all leaves event those in per-

British Grain Trade Review. LONDON, July 25 .- The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the British grain trade, says: The continued drought is rapidly maturing wheat. Part of the southern crop is already cut. If the dry weather holds the wheat crop will be harvested and thrown on the market and prices will dethrown on the market and prices will decicine to zero. On the other hand, if rain sets in grain will have a chance of being converted into pigs feed. This will result in a spurt of trade, but there is wheat enough in the world to again bring values even below the present level. The English wheat grower stands irretrievably ruined, whether his wheat goes straight to market or the rats. Trade is sick unto death. Sales of English wheat during the past week were 24,199 quarters at 39s 3d, against 27,295 quarters at 31s 3d during the corresponding week last year. Trade in foreign wheat is on the smallest possible scale. Values are in buyers' favor. At Liverpool prices are down 1d per cental. There were four arrivals of wheat cargoes and two sales. Four cargoes were withdrawn and three remain. At to-day's market there was no inquiry for wheat. Flour was a fraction cheaper. Outs were firm. Corn, beans and linseed were were firm. Corn, beaus and linseed were unchanged.

TRAFFIC ENTIRELY SUSPENDED.

Roads Turned into Rivers and Big Bridges Swept Away by the Mighty Waters-A Modern Noah and His Ark.

The Windows of Heaven Opened. Boston, July 25 .- | Special Telegram to the BEE. j-The sensation of the day is the great storm of the last forty-eight hours. At Great Barrington, in this state, torrents of rain fell Saturday. A cloud burst at North Hillsdale, twelve miles distant, and the water divided on the Housatonic mountain range half going down the Harlem road doing great damage. Bridges were washed away below Chatham. Traffic was suspended and passenger trains stopped. Acres of grain were destroyed. At Great Barrington Frank Drum, of Claryville, was drowned yesterday. The water in Lake Pleasant is two feet higher than ever before. There was a rise in the Connecticut river of ten feet in one hour and twenty minutes. No trains have passed here since morning. A washout is reported on the Fitchburg road north of Irving, 100 feet long and twenty feet deep. All carriage roads in this vicinity are badly damaged and many bridges carried away. The only news received from the mill river valley to-night s that C. E. Thayer's grist mill dam and Orton's dam have given way. Reports from Berkshire county are meager. The freshet has just swept away the iron railroad bridge at Irving, which will cause still further delay in traffic. A later dispatch from Great Barrington says the heaviest damage by the storm was in the valleys of the Green and Black Grocery rivers, the major portion of the flood passing down the latter river, causing greater destruction on the New York side. Hillsdale was the first victim of the overflow. Bridge after bridge was cast from its foundations with a force that crashed staunch timbers and left them dancing and piunging in the eddies until cast upon the shore. The iron works of ballory's at this point became a target. The foundry of Concern on the west side of the Black Grocery river, however, withstood the shock and managed to hold together, yet its foundations were badly damaged, as was also a large amount of valuable machinery and stock. Half a dozen employes who worked bravely to save part of the contents had a narrow escape with their lives, they being submerged almost to their necks at one time. Big bridges spanned the stream at this point in front of the foundry, and after vigorously withstanding the force arrayed against it, began to crumble at its eastern end, where the water surged over and cut under the massive stone work. The abutment was completely wiped out and the sixty-foot bridge, which was worth some $40,000, also went. Twenty-three bridges at least have been destroved, and the total loss is estimated at over $500,000. There is a strange old man living on Bear lake in New Brunswick, three days journey through the woods from Vanceborough, Me, who claimsto have been told by a spirit that there is shortly to be a second great flood in which he is to play the part of Noah. He has prepared himself an ark which is moored to his little log cabin and is ready to start on a sixty days sail at a moment's notice. The name of the prospective Noah is John Hobson, and in his early days he lived at Amity, Me. The Indians about Bear lake call him Sagonita, which filterally translated means "cracked on the big canoe." As eight inches of rain has fallen during the past forty-eight hours, his neighbors are treating the old man well.

Dover, N. H., July 25.—All rivers in damage by the storm was in the valleys of tne Green and Black Grocery rivers, the part of the state are higher now than ever be-fore known in summer. The freshet in Lam-prey river, at Newmarket, this morning. carried away a large part of the the dam of the Newmarket Cotton mills; also the foundation of No. 1 Picker mills, The engines and derrick employed in constructing the new dam were swept away.
The loss cannot be estimated at present.

CANAJOHARIE, N. Y., July 25.—The heaviest rainstorm for the time of duration in years visited the Mohawk Valley to-day, Growing grain was washed down and roadways were washed out. Store cellars are flooded and creeks are greatly swofien.

GREENFIELD, Mass., July 25.—Never before in its history has Millers Falls experienced such damage by water as was occasioned by Sunday's freshets. Between that town and Erving, a distance of six miles, are town and Erving, a distance of six miles, are twenty-five washouts and eleven landslides by actual count. During Sunday's violent rain, torrents of water came rushing down the mountain just east of the Fitchburg depot, gullying it badly. In a short time the depot flat was buried under three feet of water. Just east of the passenger station is the freight house. This the water totally undermined, tearing chasms sixty feet with and twalve feet deep passenger station is the freight house. This the water totally undermined, tearing chasms sixty feet wide and twelve feet deep through the gravelly soil. Passing undermeath the sidetracks it dropped freight and coal cars into the chasm end up. The torrent rushed down the steep incline to the river, 200 feet, tearing a gorge twenty feet deep and lifty feet wide, undermining coal sheds and shade trees in its passage. A pine meadow to the highway bridge at Northfield farms is washed away and the highway bridge between Miller's Falls and Erving are all gone and travel by team is impossible, on which account the transfer of passengers cannot be made. A prominent railroad man said this afternoon that if the railroad man said this afternoon that if the railroad puts on its entire force of workmen it will take fully two weeks before the road is anywhere near repaired. Of the twenty-live washouts mentioned above any one is large enough to engulf a train, and it is a wonder that no fatalities have resulted. There is a general blockade of traffic both sides of Erving, Most of the damage on the railroad and highway was caused by the swelling of small mountain streams, which rushed from the hill-sides and made raying torrants. Altorether tain streams, which rushed from the hill-sides and made raging torrents. Altogether these are the worst washouts that Franklin county has experienced in many years.

WASHINGTON, July 25 .- The white house presented an animated scene this afternoon on the occasion of the reception of the delegation from Missouri to Invite the president to visit St. Louis during the state fair in October next. The delegation, headed by Mayor Francis, numbered nearly a hundred persons, representing nearly all interests of the city of St. Louis, as well as the principal sections of the state. Several ladies also accompanied the party. The president received them in the library, Mayor Francis made the presenta-tions, and when all had heen received be addressed the president, inviting himself and his wife to visit St. Louis. The invitation was very urgent, Mayor Francis going on to say that it emanated from the people and not from any organization, civil or military, political or religious. In response the president said: "At the In response the president said: "At the time you did me the honor, with so many of your fellow citizens, to invite me to your city, I felt it was an invitation which should not be declined. It was not at all necessary to convince me of your good faith and sincerity that so many of your good people should come here at this inopportune season to bring this invitation, and yet you don't know how much it has pleased me to see you all. Interesting Inter-State Decisions,

WASHINGTON, July 25 .- The inter-state ommerce commission delivered an opinion this afternoon in four of the cases recently brought before it. The cases entitled Louis Larrison against the Grand Trunk Railway company, and the Michigan Central Railway company against the Grand Trunk Railway company were heard together, Larrison claims that the road would not sell him a thousand mile ticket at the same price paid by commercial travelers, and the Michigan Central company complains that the Grand Central company complains that the Grand Trunk company was selling to commercial travelers at lower rates than to the public generally. The opinion says in part: Common carriers may con-tinue the Issuance of mileage passenger tickets, the charges for which must be reasonable and just and free from unjust discrimination or unreasonable pref-erence. Persons belonging to the class known as commercial travelers are not privknown as commercial travelers are not privknown as confinercial travelers are not privileged to ride over railroads at lower rates than are paid by other persons. The refusal of the Chicago & Grand Trunk railway company to sell to complainant, Larrison, a thousand mile ticket for $20, the price for which said company was selling such tickets to commercial travellers and the neglect to publish rates et which the defendant was of-fering to sell fulleage tickets, were alike in conflict with the act to regulate commerce, The case of the St. Louis grocers against the Missouri Pacific embodies the complaint that while commutation tickets are sold at a rate which would not amount to more than rate which would not amount to more than $15 for 1,000 miles, thousand-mile tickets, upon which commercial travelers travel, are not sold for less than $25. The commission is also asked to order and direct that discrimination be made in favor of the commercial traveler. The commission does not regard the fact that commutation tickets are put on sale at a given rate to be one that entitles the purchaser of a mileage ticket to the complain of unjust discrimination if charged a higher of unjust discrimination if charged a higher rate. The commission finds nothing in the testimony submitted going to show that a charge of $25 for a thousand-mile ticket is unreasonable. In respect to an order in favor of commercial travelers, the opinion says the entire policy and spirit of the law are against it, and when mileage tickets, as distinguished from trip tickets, are issued, they should be sold to all impartially and on the same terms.

VERY IGNORANT. Central Pacific Officials Who Keep No.

Records. SAN FRANCISCO, July 25 .- The Pacific investigating committee be; an its sessions today. E. H. Miller, secretary of the Southern Pacific, was examined at great length. No record of all the railways consolidated with the Central Pacific was kept, but a number of consolidations were enumerated as having taken place. The conditions under which these were made were not developed in Miller's testimony. In reply to questions as to contracts given for the construction of the road, it was elicited that Charles Crocker, now director of the road, took one of the first and largest contracts on the Central Pacific. His contracts were missing and could not be found. The executive committee of the road kept to record of its proceedings to witness' knowledge.

This afternoon, in looking over the books, the following figures were found representing subsidies paid the Pacific Mail company: September, 1871, to March, 1886, by the Union Pacific, $1,194,000; Central Pacific, $2,030,000; Southern Pacific, beginning in 1883, $356,000.

A TALK WITH TOMMY HURST.

An English Pug Gives His Opinion of Fights and Fighters.

HIS OWN DEEDS IN THE RING.

What He Says of Heavy Weights From the Other Side-Results of Yesterday's Games on the Diamond.

Facts From a Feather Weight. A representative of the BEE had a talk with Tommy Hurst, the English light weight yesterday and gleaned quite a bit of information from him touching fights and fighters that will be of interest to the devotees of the squared circle. First, of Tommy himself, who is no chump with his bunch of fives by any manner of means, having made for himself a record both on Brittania's soil and that of the home of the brave and the land of the free. He was born in London, England, September 10, 1859. Much of his youthful days was spent as a "nubber" in the stables at Epsom Donns, where he came in contact with all manner of sporting characters, and was finally taken in charge by Joe Fowler, one of England's best men in his palmy days. He made a circuit of the provinces with his cicerone, Charlie Mitchell and George Young, and upon ret urning to London, at 19 years of age, was matched to fight Tommy Hawkins, considered then the handlest man on the island. The fight took place at Stepnaney Green, Midland road, in the fall of '78, and lasted through fifty-two rattling good rounds in two hours and fifty-two minutes, and was declared a draw, the £50 being divided. His next experience was in a nine stone four competition at Mile-end Gate, London, for a purse of £10 under the management of Tom Slamons, proprietor to-day of old Bill Richardson's place, the Bine Anchor, Church street shortage. There were eight good 'unsentered in the competition, but flurst collared the £10. This enlarged his head considerably, and he crossed the drink in 1882, landing in New York on the 15th of June. He went immediately to Owen Geoogahan's on the Bowery, where he hung out for a kins, considered then the handlest man landing in New York on the 15th of June. He went immediately to Owen Geoogahan's on the Bowery, where he hung out for a month in a vain endeavor to get on a go with any one of Gothams fight weights, but failing changed his quarters and placed himself under Harry Hill's benign influence down on Houston street. Here he sparred nightly with George Young, who had preceeded him over the point, and displayed so many of the points of a good, plucky fighter, that he attracted the attention of that chef of the knucks, Patsy Sheppard, who went to work and matched him in short order against Jimmy Morehouse, who was claiming the championship with the clang of cymbols and flourish of trumpets. After a long delay the mill finally came off at the gymuasium, Neeland street, Boston, Morehouse being knocked out after the most artistic style in the sixth round. In this fight Hurst displayed the most excellent pugilistic qualities, and theaeafter was unpoperful to get on a go in his class unless at jeopardizing odds. He then went to Philadelphia, filled an engagement with Johnny Clarke that netted him here, and the fall of '86 found him in Cincinnati, Here, through Harry Weldon, the well-known sporting editor of the Enquirer, he met Patsy O'Leary and consented to back him in a fight of a finish with Tommy Warren, with whom Tommy Miller, of this city, is now essaying to get on a light, The match was made for $1,000 a side. Queensbury rules, and took place in November at Maliourg station, forty-three units back of Louisville. O'Leary, who outfought Warren, and who, imagining the fight was his on a ciaim of foul by the referee, left the ring, and to his astonishthe fight was his on a claim of foul by the referee, left the ring, and to his astonishment and terrible disappointment had the hight decided against him. Hurst here lost $2,300, and it had a tendancy for a while to make him fight shy of the 1'. R. However, he says he is ready to match O'Leary to-day for any amount against Warren, or Tommy Miller either, as he considers him the best feather weight in the world.

Hurst has had a much more extensive ex-perience as a trainer than lighter, and his recountals of his experience are very inter-esting. He trained Jim Goode and esquired him in his fight with home. He esting. He trained Jim Goode and esquired him in his fight with Denny Harrington, eleven stone men, fight a draw on account of police interference; trained Ton Summonds for his great light with Bill Goode, of London; 12 stone men fight a draw; also "Punch" Callow for his light with Jem Carney, the middle weight, who is to fight Jack McAuliffe in this country in October. The Callow-Carney fight lasted two hours and five minutes, when the 'cold shivers' came over Callow and the fight was made a draw.

the fight was made a draw,
Hurst saw Jem Smith, the English cham-pion heavy weight who is matched to fight Jake Kilrain, the so-called champion of America, in his light with Greenfield, near Paris, France. "What do you think of Smith, anyway, Tommy!" queried the reporter.

"My idea of Jem is that he can best any heavy weight in this 'ere country or any other, barrin' Sullivan. He is at 'ome in 'er ring if ever a man was. Fine lookin' feller, weil I should smile. Clean cut as a cameo, stands right straight upon his lers, with fine stands right straight upon his less, with line play, easy and quick as a cat and a tremendous 'itter. Greenfield was a holy monkey for 'im, and hadn't Jem Mace been intimidated by the Birming'um roughs, he would have 'ad the fight clean as a whistle. Mace was afraid to give a decision agin Greenfield on the ground."

"What do I think of Jem Carney? Why "What do I think of Jem Carney? Why 'ee'il beat McAuliffe easy, an' 'ee'il do it, too it 'ee ever coomes back, which I doubt mightily. Enyone who beats Carney must right, an' hight wonderful good, too, I tell you. Jem is now runnin' a little shanty saloon on Livery street, Birming'um, almost opposite Greenfield's place, an' makin' money, too, I'll warrant after his return from this 'ere country. No sir, 'ee'll never coom back.'

money, too, I'll warrant after his return from this 'ere country. No sir, 'ce'll never coom back."

"Charlie Mitchell, well he's next to Smith for England, sare, and although Jack Burke is my brother-in-lawe should he an' Charlie be matched now for a hight to a finishe I'de have to back Charlie, thats all, See, I play my money to win, every time."

Khifton, the 'Si tonner, is a bellows, he's no good, and has never whipped any one since 'Tip Napper brought him out. But Toff Wall, watch lim if he over comes over. He's bested eyery man he has ever gone up against and can whip Jack Dempsey, I believe, every day in the week. He is the most scientific man of the age, and every bit as marvellous a lighter as Dempsey, only stronger and a better (wo-'anded litter."

"I think Tommy Warrentoo much for Miller, but considerin' Miller's confidence in 'imself he ought to make some sort o' show even against Warren. However, they'll never meet, as Warren is only after the stuff without running the risk of losing his reputation."

Hurst leaves this afternoon for Chicago to be in at the Glover-Bradburn hight, which 18 to-come off Thursday.
