

SHE DIED IN DISHONOR.

Mollie Slater Falls a Victim to Unholy Love.

ABANDONED BY FRIENDS.

The Escapade of an Alleged Forger—Talk of a Rise in Coal—A Host of Other Items of Interest.

Mollie Slater. Yesterday morning the remains of Mollie Slater were removed from the sporting house of Minnie Fairchild to Burket's undertaking rooms on North Sixteenth street.

Three weeks ago, she sought admission to the house in which she died. She was received by the landlady because the girl's youth and pitiable lot made an impression upon the proprietor whose name she had already mentioned.

The girl's story was that she had met a handsome traveling man named Williamson, with whom she soon became acquainted. He professed to admire the ravishing girl, and long dark hair and sought for her company.

Monday night when Dr. Stone saw the girl was about to die, he notified the sister of the fact and she, it is stated, received the information without the slightest emotion.

Who Mollie Slater's betrayer is not known. He went under an assumed name, and when she sought to find him by giving at the Paxton the name he had assumed, the management of that house claimed that at the time mentioned no such party had occupied the room the number of which was given.

A MAN OF MANY NAMES.

He is Jacob Peterson and is Also a Man of Note.

There is a man in this city who is variously known as Jacob, Peter W. and Rasmus P. Peterson. How many more names he has been known under can not be ascertained.

Ex-Justice Weiss has several souvenirs. Two of these are notes, one for $110 and the other for $100. One is signed George W. Barker, an old friend of Peterson's, who once resided next door to him in Clinton, Ia.

A Rise in Coal.

One of Omaha's leading coal men returned yesterday from the east where he had been making arrangements for coal for the ensuing winter.

Lachrymose Morrissey.

Thomas Lee and Charles Rouse were walking down Tenth street Monday evening and, arriving at one of the new buildings near Howard, they were halted by Jim Morrissey, who was totting a heavy plank across the sidewalk.

Mr. Lee down. As they stood before Judge Berka this morning Lee looked as if he just had an introduction to Sullivan. Morrissey didn't deny having hit him, and was promptly fined $15 and costs.

Burglars at Work.

Yesterday morning Thomas Kelly who conducts restaurant in connection with the saloon of Thomas Foley, No. 314 South Thirteenth street found that the establishment had been visited by burglars sometime last night.

A Sure Thing Man Gets Left.

John A. King, who runs the saloon on Douglas street opposite the Turf Exchange, had a "sure thing" in the Whitaker-Ashinger bicycle race of Sunday last, and gave Robert Ehmann, Whitaker's backer in the race $400 to lay for him on his man.

Soaked His Whole Wardrobe.

William Adams, who is evidently a traveling salesman for some well known clothing firm in this city, the identity of which was too much for reportorial ingenuity to establish, soaked his sample case, containing seven overcoats and a number of other garments at the Omaha National Loan office on Douglas street Monday.

Sick on the Cars.

The 10 o'clock train that arrived from Denver on the B. & M. Monday morning had a man on board who had been taken sick on the train. He got on at Beatrice and soon afterwards showed symptoms of illness, which became violent as the train moved toward Omaha.

Fight and Scarcity of Officers.

Monday night there was a lively scrimmage in Rasmussen's saloon, on Seventh and Leavenworth streets, between a crowd of Swedes. They adjourned to the walk and continued the fight until a number of bruises were awarded many of the fighters.

Is It Spooks?

Henry and Steve Nugent and their sister, half-brothers and sister of Billy Nugent, the young man who was killed by Kelly a few weeks ago, live alone in a little house on the corner of 9th and Davenport streets.

Information Wanted.

Of the whereabouts, if living, or of the death of the following children of Patrick Casserty: Margaret, Catherine, John, Michael, Sarah and Peter. Patrick Casserty was born in Ireland, Boyle, Roscommon county and after living in America, died at Boyle at or about 1879.

THE COURTS.

What Was Done Before the Judges Yesterday.

S. D. Lyster, brought up from Holdrege Monday evening by Deputy United States Marshal Allen, charged with passing counterfeit money, was arraigned before Judge Dandy yesterday morning, and pleading not guilty, was remanded to jail, the court not fixing bail.

Samuel A. Keen has brought suit against the county commissioners to prevent them from refunding or issuing to other parties the $200,000 bonds offered for sale some time ago and bought by N. W. Harris.

Ten New Dandy Cops.

Mayor W. J. Broach, H. B. Smith and George L. Gilbert, of the board of police commissioners, were in session at the city council chambers examining the list of applicants for places on the police force. The board expects to be in session until about Friday, as there is the enormous number of one-hundred and seventy-five names to be gone over, characters to be investigated and capabilities as to fitness for membership of the force to be established, and successful candidates to be decided upon.

By pertinacious inquiry the BEE ascertained that there are to be ten new men added to the force. About twenty men to fill the places of old ones to be given the grand fry. However, if the levy will admit of it, there may be a few more than ten new members appointed, as the commission are exceedingly anxious to see the force materially increased and strengthened, but haven't much hope that they will be enabled to accomplish anything further than the appointment of the number over of the force. The old members are on the tenterhooks, and are traversing their boots very gingerly, in momentary expectation of hearing the dull, sickening thud of their own heads striking into the basket under the keen stroke of the guillotine. There are a number of burlesques on the force whose decapitation will be hailed with extreme satisfaction by all; those who are anxious to see the interests of the people guarded by good, square, honest, competent men, and not ignorant and inefficient apologetics for such, utterly unable to distinguish between right and wrong.

The Painters.

The painters' union held a regular meeting Monday evening which was more largely attended than any previous meeting for several weeks. The late strike is virtually over and matters are not so blue with the union men as they thought they might be. Many of them have gone to work, some on their own account and others for their employers. The union men have left but the non-union men form the largest number of emigrants. For this season there are more painters employed than for a similar time during any previous year.

Notes of the Army.

Yesterday morning, Colonel Henry, inspector of the rifle practice of this department, accompanied by Lieutenant Greene and Lieutenant McKeever, of Fort Laramie, and Lieutenant Corcoran, of Camp Pilot Butte, went to the Bellevue range to make arrangements for the holding of the departmental rifle competition which is to begin at that place on August 1. Captain E. C. Russell, of the infantry, who is to have charge of the camp on the range was also present.

A New Charter.

After considerable delay, the members of the Pressmen's Stereotypers' and Electrotypers' union, of this city, have at length received their charter from the International. They are jubilant over the matter, because at one time in consequence of certain irregularities it was thought that a longer time would elapse before the desired authority would arrive.

J. M. Donnell, F. A. I. A., Architect.

A serious and probably fatal accident occurred yesterday morning at the Sheely building now being erected at the corner of Fifteenth and Howard streets. One of the brick layers fell into the basement from the wall where he was working having one or two ribs broken and receiving internal injuries. He was attended to by Dr. Hanchett.

The Omaha Fair.

Secretary McKean of the Omaha Fair Association sends out several men to day to advertise the undertaking throughout the state and mention Iowa. The intention is to advertise the affair as thoroughly as possible, because the features which have been secured for it warrant the announcement made by the management that it is the most successful fair ever held in Nebraska.

A Cheap Hide.

Kearney post No. 48, of Weeping Water, has engaged three cars to take its members and their families to the national encampment at St. Louis, September 27. The trip will be via Chicago and the round fare will be only $3.50, cheaper than remaining at home.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO. 101 Wall-st., N. Y.

Antioch Sonnet, possibly from Italy, was arrested yesterday morning by Officer Brady for peddling water melons without a license, which seems to be an old racket of Sonnet's.

Carpenters.

To-night the carpenters' union will hold a meeting in their hall, 1316 Douglas street. They desire a full attendance of members.

Old Times.

Officer Piermont Monday was surprised to receive a most handsomely written postal card from one of the survivors of his old company in the Forty-sixth Illinois, with a request for the officer's photograph.
