N. B. FALCONER. The Betts Case. OMAHA, July 30.—To the Editor of the BEE.—Law and James Betts run off D. D. Hoxsie's horses on July 27th inst. Mr. Hoxsie had agreed in my presence to trade for a light bay horse provided he had a guarantee from Lew Betts that the horse in every respect was sound.

Lew Betts agreed to meet him at 2 p. m. (same day, 27th inst.) to hitch the bay horse in Mr. Hoxsie's carriage, which he did, and drove west from under Sixteenth street, a street fire or second north of nail works. Said Betts drove the bay horse about 150 feet up the hill; horse staggered; or man ran to rescue the horse; brought him back to camp bleeding at the nose. Mr. Hoxsie in his presence feeble condition knew enough not to accept, looked around for his two horses, they were gone. Lew Betts expressed his surprise and told him he would get a better horse, which he did, from his brother, "Jim" Betts, and put harness on the flea-bitten gray and started Hoxsie home. To-day the gray horse would sell for about $15 or $20. Jim Betts is held for $1,000 and Sam Betts for $1,500. Case will be tried 2nd proximo, 2 p. m., before Judge Becker. The Betts have a previous history in Iowa.

WM. ANDERSON. Proposals For Purchase of First Baptist Church Property. Sealed bids will be received at our office until Friday, August 5, at 5 o'clock p. m., for the purchase of lot 4 block 75 in the city of Omaha, being 66x130 on the corner of Davenport and 15th streets, and now occupied by the First Baptist church. Bids to include the purchase of building thereon.

Eden Discovered. "Paradise Found" by William F. Warren, president of the Boston university, locates the garden of Eden at the North pole. But then Mr. Warren has never seen those elegant residence sites in Brigg's Place, on Harney, Farnam, Douglas, and other streets, which can be bought at a very low price, and which are the property of the C. E. Mayne Real Estate and Trust company agents. Free carriages and gentlemanly salesmen always ready.

Answers to Correspondents. X. X.—The population of South Omaha is about 20,000. The packing houses now being built will employ over 3,000 hands. But the population and price of property must double within a year. MECHANIC.—No, the Motor line to Benson will not use the Keely motor. The road will be in operation within four weeks. The Keely motor won't run. R. G. H.—The C. E. Mayne R. E. & T. Co. are sole agents for South Omaha Syndicate property and have a few choice lots left.

POLICE PARTICLES.

What the Secretary of the Commission Has to Say. Howard B. Smith, member and secretary of the police and fire commission, was met by a reporter of the BEE last evening. It is unnecessary to state that very shortly after the questions of the prevailing temperature were passed something was said about the difficulty between the council and the commission.

"It places us in a very embarrassing position," said Mr. Smith. "We have done everything that we thought was proper to conciliate matters. In my opinion this trouble has arisen from a feeling among certain councilmen against the commission. It is not Seavey nor anti-Seavey, it is councilmen against the commission. To-day, continued Mr. Smith, I met Councilman Ford and he said that there were three new men appointed to the force, who were entirely unfit for the position. I asked him why he did not make his objections before the appointment and the matter would then be considered."

"If the charges against Chief Seavey," asked the reporter, "had been made before his appointment would he have been appointed?"

"Most emphatically no, sir," replied Mr. Smith. "If the charges were proved to be true. You must recollect that Mr. Seavey came to us recommended by some of the oldest and best citizens in the city. There was no objection at his appointment and we used our discretionary powers. It is very strange to me that before a man is appointed nothing is said about him but as soon as he gets an office the whole city is after him. Why do not the people who have charges against applicants for position make their protests against certain appointments they know of before they are made and we will consider them. Our rules so far have not been applied to them before us. We have his recommendations as to character, etc., and where there are no objections what do you expect us to do?"

"How about the nineteen appointees lately made? Did they all appear before the board?"

"Yes, sir, and we examined their physical condition as far as we could very closely, while at the same time having their recommendations. How many applicants were there?"

"Over one hundred, and we selected those who were the best men in our opinion. Do you intend to make any discharges from the old force?"

"We certainly do. In fact the old force is not in existence. We have called upon every man who has been in a policeman's uniform to make an application for appointment and I think they all have done so. We have made no appointments except the chief and his deputy chiefs, Cormac and Green. We consider all the old force subject to appointment under the commission now."

"How about dispensing with the service of some of the old force? Will there be many let go?"

"Will you give the number or the names?"

"I cannot. The names are already in the hands of Chief Seavey. He has been given a police commission to announce them to the policemen on Monday morning at 7 o'clock."

"Are the men to be discharged to suffer their 'exit' for cause?"

"Principally. We have examined the records of every policeman now on duty in the city, and we think we know what we are doing."

"How about increasing the force?"

"What can we do? We are balking over the stop we make. For instance, some $9,000 has been expended from the police funds so far. According to our estimate there will be only $2,000 for the rest of the year which is hardly enough to support the present system of police, not to say anything about the men we intend to have."

"So suburban taxpayers have no 'show' under the present condition of affairs?"

"What is to be done then?"

"Nothing that I can see but to bring it to the courts and we are working that way. In my opinion the citizens are becoming disgusted with this embroglio and want it decided one way or the other."

Good Advice. "That corner sold for $1,500 six years ago. Now it's held at $17,000. If I hadn't been a fool I might be independent now."

Eden and six years hence you will say the same thing about South Omaha corners. Think of the army of men those immense packing houses will employ who must live near their work. That property is the best investment that can possibly be made. Call on C. E. Mayne, sole agent, and secure a lot. You won't regret it."

German Ladies' School Society. On next Wednesday evening there will be a concert and ball at Metz's garden, accompanied by a dramatic entertainment in which a number of talented young people will take part. The drama, which will be produced is "Die Zartlichen Verwandten" by R. Benedix in four acts. The entertainment will be given for the benefit of the German Ladies' School society.

Miss Freeman's Case. For some time a suit of a somewhat novel character has been pending in the district court, which, by the decision of Judge Wakely, has now come to a final termination. The claim was made by John A. Dodge that a conspiracy was entered into between Helen E. Freeman and Lizzie Dodge, the wife of the complainant, for the purpose of swindling him out of his property, and to that end, he was induced to make a deed to Miss Freeman of all his real estate in Omaha, he supposing at the time that the paper he executed was only a mortgage.

Upon the trial, it was denied by Mrs. Dodge, who was subsequently divorced from the complainant, that any conspiracy was ever formed, or that Mr. Dodge had been in any manner imposed upon or wronged, it was also contended by Mrs. Dodge and Miss Freeman that the deed executed to Miss Freeman was made in good faith and for the full and fair value of the real estate conveyed as it was then considered. After a full hearing of the case before Judge Wakely a decision was rendered in favor of Mrs. Dodge and Miss Freeman and the petition of the plaintiff was dismissed at his costs.

THAT PACKING-HOUSE.

A Hitch in the Underwood Negotiations. Underwood & Co., of Chicago, who concluded that they will not locate as packing house men in Omaha. Their reason is that the title to certain portions of the property about to be transferred is not good. Judge Lake, who had charge of the abstract proceedings, corroborates this. He says that through the property about to be transferred there are streets and alleys laid out which belong to the city, and in fact some of the packing house buildings are on this city property. Mr. Underwood telegraphed him that his partner would not accept any transfer longer than the least cloud was on the title.

"Can't this be remedied in some way?" asked a reporter of the BEE. "Only by the city council vacating these streets and alleys and do not think they will do under the new charter which only provides for the widening, extending, etc. of streets, but says nothing about vacating streets."

It is reported, said the reporter, "that a party of ten people is circulating among the residents of Park Wild against the establishment of any packing house near there."

"I have heard so too," said Judge Lake. "Mr. Kuntze is very active in the opposition."

"So you think the Underwood & Co. packing house is off?"

"Yes; and I am sorry for it. I am in favor of having all the big investment money in this city."

J. D. Iler was also seen by the reporter. He was rather wrathful and expressed himself quite forcibly on newspapers in general and reporters in particular. The substance of his remarks was that if any one in the world wanted to do anything they must keep aloof from newspapermen. He forgot that newspapermen in this country were especially selected out for the purpose of finding out just what people do when the "doings" were of public interest. Mr. Iler said that the negotiations between himself and Mr. Underwood had not as yet fallen through. He was arranging matters with the parties.

"How did the newspapers injure you, Mr. Iler? Didn't they always uphold these packing house enterprises?"

"Erastus Wyman has made Staten Island the most beautiful suburb of New York. Erastus Benson has made the town of Benson the most beautiful residence suburb of Omaha. Had their outlandish names anything to do with it?"

Children's shoes from 15c up, and the entire line at similar prices. All shoe wearers are cordially invited to call and examine them on Tuesday and Wednesday, but not a shoe will be sold until Thursday morning.

A Heavy Failure. C. E. Mayne has failed to sell all those beautiful residence lots in Brigg's Place on Harney, Farnam, Douglas, Dodge, Capitol avenue and Davenport streets; has some splendid lots left. They are rather cheap and desirable.

C. E. Mayne has failed to dispose of all the South Omaha Syndicate lands. Only a few choice business and residence lots left, however.

C. E. Mayne has failed to raise the price of acre property in Benson. It is still on the market at original figures and is the only acre property reached by street cars.

What's in a Name? Erastus Wyman has made Staten Island the most beautiful suburb of New York. Erastus Benson has made the town of Benson the most beautiful residence suburb of Omaha. Had their outlandish names anything to do with it?
