The Movements in the Social Circles of Omaha During the Past Week.

Society in Omaha. It is not necessary to record the fact that society in the past week has been exceedingly dull. A few marriages and a fewer private socials, together with departures for summer resorts, complete the list of the movements of Omaha society during the week just passed.

A Pleasant Reception. On last Wednesday evening one of the most agreeable entertainments of the season was given at the residence of J. F. Daley, the well-known contractor on Prospect Hill, in honor of Misses May, Rose, Annie and Ella McAdam, of Chi-cago. These young ladies, with their mother and brother, Vincent, are spending a pleasant vacation here, and this little surprise on the part of the uncle and aunt of the voung ladies, was excellently contrived and most happily carried out. During the afternoon the gathering was swelled by a host of youthful and new acquaintances, who beguiled and new acquaintances, who beguiled the passing hours in childish entertainment and glee. Swinging hammocks, fruit, confections and entertaining games occupied the time and in most of them nearly all the guests of the young visitors took part and patronized. The heartmess with which they entered into the spirit of the occasion, was a source of the spirit of the occasion, was a source of pleasure to many of the parents of the guests who also contributed by their presence to the success of the undertaking. In the evening, the beautiful grounds of the hosts were illuminated and the "old folks" took advantage of the genial and fragrant atmosphere as well as the attention if the hosts to bring the day to most happy close. Among the guests were the following:

Alice Furay, Maggie McShane, Alice
McShane, Mary McShane, Margaret McShane, Ellen McNamara, Aunie McNamara, Lizzie Boddeling, Veronica Dough erty, Rena Roach, Tessie Little, Goldie Murphy, Bianch Murphy, Stella Murphy, Willie Waddell, Tommy McShane, J. H. McShane, Ed. McShane, John Little, Willie Little, Johnie Dougherty and Leonard Dougherty.

Greene-Heelan.

On last Wednesday morning Mr. James Greene, who has resided in this city for a number of years, was married to Miss Delia Heelan, who has also for some time past been most favorably known to a large circle ot acquaintances in this city. The marriage was solemnized in St. Philomena's cathedral, and the occasion drew forth one of the largest gatherings of friends which have ever attended a nuptial mass in that religious edifice. Father McCarty acted as celebrant of the mass, and tied the nuptial knot. The young couple, with the kindest wishes of friends in all parts of the state, as also in this city have commenced married life in a new home expressly prepared for them at 713 South Twenty-fifth street, where, hereafter, they will be at home to their friends. The occasion of their marriage was rembered by many souvenirs from friends, among which may be enumera-ted the following.

DINNA GANG AWA. Braw, brave hearts your deeds are linkin'

To our ain your lives sae leal,
Like the drip o' rain they're sinkin'
Deeper doon until we feel
Ane great flood o' joy surge thro' us,
Strange, yet tender as a tear,
An' it fills and thrills an' to us Floats your images sae dear.

Dinna gang awa, but linger Ever here where graces seem, At the bec'on o' your linger, Oot frae ilka tangled dream, To be troopin' ever comin'.

Till we ken the blessed throng,
An' wi' them your praise we're hummin'. In the melody of song.

Linger, for we love to greet you, Love to hear your voices sweet, Love in sacred prayer to meet you, Round the Saviour's mercy seat. Linver where the bairns are cheery,— Walter an' the wee ane too,— Where they'll join the lads in merry Games o' youth the lang day thro Linger where they'll tread the meadows 'Trailin' perfumes at their feet, Divin' deep into the shadows Where the feathered song clans meet. Linger—linger, dinna leave us, For our hearts sae happy are, Parting thus will sairly grieve us— Dinna gang awa sae far.

Vaquira (Neb.) Enterprise: In the Squaw Peak range, A. T., is a cave which no prospector has the nerve to attempt to explore, on account of it being guarded by a ghost. In the entrance sits a thing that looks like the corpse of an Indian woman. In 1868 a party of whites found the cave filled with Tonto Indians, whom they attacked and murdered. Since then no one has the courage to try to enter the cave because of the thing that sits in the door. Last week George Matthews and his partner, named McCloud, being in the range, concluded to have a look at the Squaw cave, not having any faith in the stories told of it. The cave is situated under the highest butte of the Squaw Peak range. They found it and just took one look at the thing sitting in its mouth. Matthews declares there is not enough money in Maricopa county to pay him to go there again, and his partner, McCloud, has not stopped running since—at least he has not been seen since that time.

CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.

CHICAGO, July 30 .- [Special Telegram to the Bre. |-The pressure of August wheat upon the market carried prices down 1/6 1/c. St. Louis declined a full le, and other home markets were 160%c lower. Cables were steady, and no alteration in prices is mentioned. The general public is lending the market no support whatever, and the bears are aggressive, and as the bulis are apparenty unwilling to stand a serious loss on investments, the speculative values look shaky to disinterested observers. The semi-panie in Wall street is felt also on the produce exchange, though the shipping demand for foreign account prevents a serious shrinkage in values. The seaboard clearances for the first five days of the week aggregate 1,607,000 bushels, against 969,000 bushels for the corresponding period last week, and western point receipts for the week are not materially larger than last week. Statisticians are guessing on an increase of about 1,000,000 bushels in the visible. The market did not seem to have been fully able to digest the load of long wheat that came out yesterday, and the opening this morning was off 1/2%c as compared with yesterday. The phrase "limpness," describes the tone of the market, and the tone did not undergo any decided change for the better up to 1 o'clock, though the break of 1/4c from the opening figures in August was recovered and the first and last quotations were identical. There was a good deal of changing over of August contracts into later months, and the August contracts into later months, and the difference between August and September averaged 1½ @13%c, though at one time it was 2c. Elevator companies are making it an object for holders to keep wheat here, a circumstance which accounts for the shrinkage in the premium. Local stocks are getting down to a lower limit than warehousemen like to see. August opened at 77½c and fluctuated between 67½ @68c, closing at 67½c. September opened at 70½c, sold down to 69½c, and closed at the bottom. October opened at 72½c and closed at 71½c, these prices being the extremes. The volume of trade was above an average. A fair degree prices being the extremes. The volume of trade was above an average. A fair degree of activity in the cash market was reported, and lake engagements for 225,000 busnels were given out to-day.

Corn was stubborn and steady, though prices again slipped back a peg. May, as usual, ruling the strongest in the list of futures and alone closing a fraction higher than yesterday. Trade was rather quiet and the market was destitute of new or sensational features. The crop news was of the same character that has been drirting in all the week. It is contradictory, but in the main going to consirm reports that the crop has sustaited considerable damage in certain sections. August corn opened at 373/c, has sustained considerable damage in certain sections. August corn opened at 37%c, ranged 37%c, 35%c, and closed at 37%c. September opened at 38%c, sold down to 38%c up to 88%c and closed at 38%c(257%c. October opened at 38%c, sold off to 38%c and back to the opening price, closing there. May started in at 38%c, sold down to 41%c and up to 41%c, closing there. There was quite a little rally right at the close, caused by the buying in of shorts by local scalpers.

The oats market was again heavy and depressed by reason of large offerings of more

NEW YORK, July 30 .- | Special Telegram to the BEE. 1-STOCKS.—The market to-day was merely a continuation of what it has been all the week! Stocks came out freely on stop orders and exhausted margins and overwhelmed buyers and further sharp recessions occurred in values. Grangers were sold heavily on the prospective rate war, the result of the opening of the Minnesota & Northwestern, and declined 2@3½ per cent. Reading was also attacked savagely and dropped 2% per cent from the opening prices and touched 48%. The old stand-bys were weaker than the non-dividenders and Chi cago, Burlington & Quincy and Rock Island broke 1 point. After declines of 1@3 points had occurred, the shorts began covering. There was also some new buying, as prices have reached a point where conservative in vestors were induced to take hold moderately, and rallies of 14@2 points were wit nessed, but in many instances did not hold and the market closed weak and feverish with net declines extending from 16314 per cent, the latter being on Manhattan, while Northwestern showed 25, St. Paul 2, Omaha 214. The market opened with the buyers trying to buy about 5c lower than on yesterday. While a few loads may have been sold that much lower, it is to be doubted if the market could be called 5c lower, when the quality of the hogs was taken into consideraquality of the hogs was taken into considera-tion. New York "Commercial Gazette." The following data regarding the term of credit allowed in different countries are derived from reports of United States consuls, published by the government:

It appears that in Germany the oredit system is very widespread, and that the purchasers in settling their accounts are generally much longer than in France and England. Nearly every commercial and manufacturing branch of business has its own particular terms of credit, and there is no uniformity in this re

In England the payment of the price of the goods delivered is required at the end of three months, dating from the day of shipment. In France a four months' acceptance is required to be sent in settlement of the

In Italy but little credit is done, and none without good security being given.
In Spain four-lifths of the transactions are done on a cash basis, while in Portu-gal great liberality is shown and quite a long credit is usually allowed. In Austria it is scarcely possible to do business without allowing a very long credit, which is nearly always one of six months. In Turkey, even objects of prime necessity are sold on credit, and in this country as well as in Russia, the time allowed is in most cases twelve months.

In Canada settlements are made at the end of thirty days, with a discount of 5 per cent. Sometimes a credit of from three to six months is allowed, but in this case there is no discount. In Mexico the large commercial houses willingly give credit of from six to eight months and in the retail trade longer terms are given customers in which settle their accounts. In Costa Rica a credit of from six to twelve month is given in case of merchan-disc imported from Europe, in order that the goods may be easily and quickly dis-posed of. But since this system of credit has often left to losses, it is now being given up. In Cuba the time fixed for payment is generally from four to five months after the delivery of the goods. The consul general of the United States at Rio states that of the greatest draw-backs to commercial intercourse with
