CHARITIES AND CORRECTIONS.

Preparing For the Coming Assembly in This City-Public Works, Police News and Other Local Matters.

The Coroner's Scalp.

Yesterday morning C. B. Western found a dead man lying in Hanscom park near the southwest corner of the enclosure. Coroner Drexel was notified, drove out and brought in the remains. They were those of a man about thirty-years of age. He had a full face, a blonde mustache and regular features. He would weigh about one hundred and sixty-five pounds. He wore a wine-colored suit of clothes, with a dotted shirt, low shoes and red striped stockings. In searching the dead man's pockets the coroner found a pocket book, an Apache scalp and a letter addressed to himself. In the pocket book were a number cards of sporting houses in California with tresses of fair maidens which he had doubtless taken as a proof of conquests and two certificates of promotion as corporal in company F, Seventh United States cavalry, and I troop in the First cavalry, dated respectively August 18, 1874 and 1876. There was also a discharge from the Third regular infantry dated May 21, 1870, and made ou in the name of William G. Wallace. The scalp was an excellent specimen, the lock being about fourteen inches in length and the flesh plate nearly two inches in diameter. The hair is as black as ebony, and the freshness of the skin is conclusive that it was but recently taken from some luckless aborigine. The letter bore the following inscription: CORONER, Douglas County, Omaha, Neb.

The envelope was stamped, the intent being to have it go through the post-office. The coroner, however, received the letter without the assistance of the mails. On being opened the letter read as follows:

OMAHA, August 17.—To the Coroner: It is needless to hold an inquest over my body, as I die by my own hand by taking morphine. I do not want to be buried. I give my body to the Medical Institute of Omaha for the benefit of science, and I do wish they would take my body and dissect It, for I know I have a curious brain. My name is John W. Wallace. I have no friends or relation that cares for me, so I give my body for the benefit of science.

I will ask the coroner to please deliver the letter you will find on my body to its address and oblige my last request on earth.

On the reverse of the last page the following was penciled in a fair hand like lowing was penciled in a fair hand like that on the other pages:

Please give this pocketbook to Miss Lulu. She is an inmate of French Emma, 107 North Twelfth street, Omaha.

In accordance with the wish of the deceased the coroner will turn the former's remains over to the medical college.

LULU.

This young lady, who doubtless occupied a considerable part of the last thoughts of the suicide, was found at the place indicated. She is possessed of considerable beauty, and when told of Walson's death, gave expression to considerate. lace's death, gave expression to considerable surprise, and tears glistened for an instant in her eyes, yet she had known the dead man but about two weeks. During that time, or at least up to last Tuesday evening, he had been, for the time mentioned, at the house night and day. He had a fair share of money and spent it sparingly in enjoyment of all kinds. Going to the road house a few nights ago. their buggy was overturned and both of them were injured. Wallace was a car-penter, though had not worked at his trade for three months back. He claimed to have a sister in Kansas and said that he was going to see her. Lulu saw Wallace Thursday shortly before dinner, and then bade him good bye. The next knowledge she had of him was that of his suicide, which was imported to her by the BEE reporter.

The following is the letter addressed to Lulu that was found in the suicide's

OMAHA, August 12.—Lulu—My Dear Darling Girl: Oh, how I hate to leave you, but then I must. O, God; for Lulu I love you better than my life. God bless you, my sweet one. I can see you all the time. Oh, God, my heart is broke, so I have to die, for to live without you is impossible; but thank God, I can meet you in heaven, for I am going straight to heaven and I hope to meet you there.

PUBLIC WORKS. Some of the Features of Progress Now Being Made.

Thompson & Delaney, contractors for the Twentieth street sewer, recommenced work yesterday after a cessation of a couple of days. The resumption was caused by the writing of a letter to them by the chairman of the board of public works, in which the condition of accurate compliance with the orders of the inspector was insisted upon. The con-tractors signified their willingness to be governed by the direction of the in-spector and accordingly work was this spector and accordingly work was this morning commenced as above intimated.

All the old asphalt gutters in the Douglas street crossings are being taken out and replaced with others of Sioux Falls granite, upon a layer of sand which rests upon a foundation of concrete. The work, it seems, is being well done and will save almost continual repairs.

The limit of the notice to North Six.

The limit of the notice to North Six teenth street property owners to lay their sidewalks, before the fair, will be reached on Monday, the 29th instant, If the walks are not put down by that time, the sidewalk inspector will order them to be laid, whereupon Kent, the street inspect-or, will proceed to lay the cross walks in connection with the same.

NORTH SIXTEENTH STREET. Parlin, Orendorff & Martin to Build a Six Story Warehouse There. The increased transfers during the past week is the best of evidence that business in realty is again improving. A large number of sales were made, among them lots 12 and 13, in block 6, in Pad-dock Place were sold by Messrs. Tuttle & Allison for Mr. John R. Hamilton for the This property, which faces on Sixteenth street, was purchased by Messrs.

Parlin, Orendorf & Martin, of this city, who intend at an early day to erect thereon a six story agricultural implement warehouse. This will add another to the many business blocks now in course of erection in that vicinity. The trackage facilities, as well as one of the best business streets in the as one of the best business streets in the city, offer extra inducements for houses of this kind. The lots in Paddock Place are going rapidly, and as there are only a few desirable lots left Messrs. Tuttle & Allison will have no trouble in disposing of them. They are sole agents for Paddock Place and are thereby enabled to offer these lots at bargains.

To-morrow, the clothing salesmen of this city will give a picuic at Ruser's park on the Missouri Pacific. Trains will leave for the grounds, from the depot on Webster and Fifteenth street at 11 o'clock, returning about 9 o'clock at night. The musical Union band and orchestra will be in attendance and the band will lead a procession of the members of the union, on their way to take the morning train. The committee in charge propose to make the picnic one of

The bricklayers union will give their annual picnic on to-morrow at Fort Calhoun, at which a large attendance is already assured. Preparations for the event have been in progress for several weeks past and the feeling is entertained that it will be the most successful affair yet gotten up by this well-known union.

The Omaha Leidekrranz will hold its

H. Ralstom; transportation, F. J. Fairbrass, William Keene and Harry Gilmore; printing, Mark Suitor, J. W. Inlow and Arthur Blakely. This excursion promises to be a leading social event of the season.

Railroad Notes.

The Pullman car Bohemia came in vesterday after having done service tive weeks in Wyoming as the traveling hotel of Governor Thomas J. Moonlight and associate territorial officials. These gentlemen were journeying through the territory equalizing taxes.

The largest engine ever brought west of the Missouri river is now at the Union Pacific shops. It is a ten-wheel consolidated engine with a 20x24 stroke. Its weight is 100 tons, and its destination is Butte, Montana, being the first arrival of a consignment of four similar "Jumbos."
This locomotive was built by the Grant locomotive works, and A. B. Whidden, of that company, is in this city with his big engine.

The following from the Railway Reports refers to the first white child born n Nebraska, and to-day the largest man doing "punching" business on the rail-ways in the world. He tips the scales at ways in the world. He tips the scales at 300 pounds:

F. H. Micklewait, of the Missouri Pacific, was robbed last week at Weeping Water, while asleep in the day coach. He lost a valuable gold watch and $10 in money. Fred says the thief must have crawled up the aisle past the engineer to rob him, and that he would have given a fifty to have awakened and found him there. He said, "I would have rolled right off on to him, and then it would have been good-bye thief."

Hit The Wrong Man. C. W. Baldwin is a plasterer, and has been working for James Anderson, the contractor on Locust street. Yesterday morning Baldwin and Anderson had some words, and Baldwin was laid off. In accordance with the rules of the union the discharged man demanded his pay for a quarter of a day's work, but was met, as he claims, with a shower of vile and abusive language. He met him again in the afternoon on Saunders street He met him and dunned him again with the same re-sult. Baldwin then went up to the building with the intention of inducing the men to go out. He was met at the door by Anderson, who with a horse-whip in hand, declared he could not enter. After some wrangling, the contractor struck Baldwin, and Baldwin jumped in and did the contractor up in horrible shape. Baldwin was arrested charged with assault and battery.

Round-Up of Tramps. At an early hour yesterday Captain Green and Policemen Pulaski, Hayward and Bloom made a round-up of tramps with the patrol wagon, and landed quite a number in the city jail. In Bummer's Grove, near the B. & M. round house, they discovered a rustic lodge, built with poles, leaves and grass. Its occupants were two white female tramps, who were living there with two negro vagabonds. The negroes had gone out on a foraging expedition. The women were cooking breakfast over a brick fireplace. They were well supplied with green corn, potatoes, bread, and other vegetables. They objected to being arrested, one of them claiming to be married to one of the negroes, and exhibited a certificate to that effect. She was recognized as one of the lowest women in Omaha. They were given a ride to the station house in the patrol wagon, together with Prof. Nicholson's Return. Prof. H. H. Nicholson, of the Nebraska state university, arrived from New York yesterday. He has been attending a meeting of the American Association of Sciences and did some good work in giving this state a proper representation. As Prof. Nicholson is in charge of the chemical department of the university he was critically questioned on matters in that line pertaining to Nebraska. The professor gave an ex-tempore talk on the matter in question which is said to have changed some of the ideas of eastern wiseacres. In conversation with a representative of the BEE Prof. Nicholson said that he had made a casual examination of the salt spaings at Lincoln and felt satisfied that with proper working 1,000 barrels of salt could be produced from those springs per day.

Robbed and Kicked Into the Street. Charles Smith, a backman, and James Herman, a weiner-wurst peddler, both characters well known to the police were arrested yesterday, charged with having robbed J. J. Given, of Dodge City, Ia., of $75 in cash and a $75 gold watch Wednesday night. Given had been drinking and being taken sick got been drinking and being taken sick got into Smith's hack and asked to be driven to the Cantield house. Then they drove him a circuit route about the city, and finally kicked him into the street
