

CHEYENNE, THE COMING CITY

A Free Excursion to the Capital of Wyoming Next Thursday.

Cheyenne is the Coming City of the West and a Chance is Now Offered to See it and Its Boom.

An excursion is announced to Cheyenne, Wyo., on the 25th of this month, Thursday. The train will start from Omaha in the evening, with half fare tickets for round trip at all stations west of Grand Island, good for return in thirty days by way of Denver.

On the day of arrival at Cheyenne, Messrs. Moore & Jones, of that city, will sell at auction, without reserve, to the highest bidder, 300 beautiful lots in "Land Miners' Addition," with only one-fourth cash and the balance in six months, one and two years. Every purchaser of $300 worth of lots in this addition will get his fare.

TO CHEYENNE AND RETURN, FREE; his railroad fare being deducted from the purchase price. In addition all purchasers will receive a ticket which will entitle them to one chance to draw a prize in the shape of a house costing $3,000.

Cheyenne is a beautiful city of some 10,000 inhabitants, and is the capital of Wyoming. It is well supplied with rail road facilities, the Union Pacific which is now building a new depot, the Burlington & Missouri, which is just building in and two other roads, one leading south and the other north. Besides the railroads Cheyenne has other redeeming features, among them the mines twenty miles west of the city which have just been opened. The mineral from these mines is assaying $160 to the ton and the end is not yet. The little city at base of the mountains is on the verge of a genuine boom. Real estate values since January 1st have advanced fully fifty per cent. Those who have had enough time to say that Cheyenne has a great future in store for it, greater in fact than many of its own inhabitants anticipate. The day is not far distant when it will outstrip Denver and an investment made there now will pay big money.

Those desirous further particulars in regard to the excursion can write or call on Pace & Rhoades, auctioneers; Moore & Jones and E. H. Shipman, Kearney, Neb., or Cheyenne, Wyo.; Campbell Bros., 1509 Farnam street, Omaha; or U. S. Ament, Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Take a week's lay off and visit this beautiful city and the mountains.

THE OMAHA FAIR.

Some Interesting Facts Relating to Its Progress.

The official daily programme of the veterans' reunion, which will be held during fair week, has already been published. The daily programme of the fair association will be made public this week. Through the courtesy of Secretary McShane, a Bee reporter was shown yesterday the "copy" of the fair's daily bill-of-fare, and from it was pointed out to him the nicely with which the special events of both the fair association and the veterans' organization have been dovetailed so as not to interfere with each other. There has been, it seems, some anxiety as to how this was to be accomplished; but it has been done, and done well. It is no longer any fear, therefore, that any veterans or veterans who desire to see all which this week of the year will have to offer will be deprived of any opportunity to enter in the full scope of the joint celebration.

Another feature of the fair about which there has been some misunderstanding or misapprehension is the relation of the Omaha Fair and Exposition association to the Douglas county Agricultural society. They are ordinarily entirely separate organizations. This year they are united in the one common purpose which has been mentioned before in the column giving the giving to Omaha, the very best fair and exposition which the people of this section of country have ever had a chance to see. It is true that the coming grand display will be under the auspices of the Omaha Fair and Exposition association, but this will not detract from the county association's interest in the happy issue of the result. The eleven counties—Dundy Cass, Fillmore, Nemaha, Cheyenne, Keith, Hall, Wayne, Buffalo, Howard and Sherman—will appear in a general competition under one roof, and compete only for the premiums offered by the Omaha association, while the Douglas County society will compete not only for those general prizes but among themselves for the prizes offered by the county society.

This gives the home exhibitors, as they may be called, an appreciable advantage of which they may be expected to avail themselves. With a chance of obtaining two prizes on one exhibit, the farmers of the country immediately surrounding may be expected to exhibit their products on a larger scale.

The secretary of the county association has distributed 2,000 premium lists through this county and it behoves the farmers to note them well. For their further information it may be added that the secretary's name is John Baumer and that his office is at No. 1,314 Farnam street in this city.

As regards the general exhibit there are several new points of interest. Among them are the facts that word has already been received that the attendance from Iowa will exceed the both of us, and that visitors that the towns round about Maryville, Mo., will send a strong delegation from their excellent stock growing region; and that there is seemingly no end to the string of applications for exhibition space. The state of Colorado will send a sumptuous display of its agricultural resources, and Dakota will appear in a large exhibit of cereals, minerals, marble, coal, native woods and curiosities indigenous to the territory. The exhibits from all points, of sheep and swine will be choice and comprehensive and the lesser domestic animals will be in unlimited array. One peculiarity—alone contributes thirty varieties of barn-yard competitors.

N. B. FALCONER'S
Special Sale of Black Gros Grain Silk, Black Surah Silks and French Dress Goods.

This will be the most remarkable sale ever made in this city, not only as regards the prices which will be lower than any one ever dreamed of silks being sold at, but in regard to the excellent quality of the goods, being of the manufacture of Anthony Guinet & Co., the most celebrated and most reliable makers of France. During the great dullness in the silk trade during the last twelve months, Guinet had accumulated a large stock, and at last was forced to realize. One of our New York friends closed out our entire stock, and kindly gave us a show. The result is prices Monday we will never again be able to duplicate.

GREEN IS SOLID.

And Nothing But a Cyclone or an Earthquake Will Cause Him to Move.

For some time W. H. Green, the real estate agent at 215 South Thirtieth street, has been laboring under many difficulties on account of the building of the new bank adjoining his office, but he has at last got things in shape and now has one of the coziest and best appointed offices in the city. Mr. Green has made an enviable reputation for himself as a square dealing real estate agent, not being a dealer, but selling exclusively on commission, which has always been able to please both parties to a sale. He makes quite a specialty of selling stocks of goods in addition to handling only desirable city property. Mr. Green is a ruster and when he undertakes to sell something always succeeds. He is constantly adding to his already large list of property and stocks and those who want to buy will find the best and greatest variety of bargains at his office. Those wishing to sell will find him reliable and a hard worker.

Sold for $21,000.

The north half of what is known as the Patterson & Gaylord block on Twenty-fourth avenue between Dodge and Farnam streets will be advanced $100 each. Full commission, no deviation from above. The developments now going on north and west of the city will make this property valuable and very desirable as a particular fine residence portion of Omaha.

Obsequies of C. A. Fried.

The funeral services of C. A. Fried were held yesterday afternoon at Masonic hall. They were largely attended by the friends of the deceased as well as by the different Masonic lodges of which he was a member, a delegation being present from Fremont. The funeral arrangements were under charge of Drexel & Madsen, who conducted the services and pall bearers. Messrs. C. F. Goodman, G. W. Lininger, E. Davis and H. G. Clarke of Capitol Lodge, Omaha, and L. D. Richards of Fremont. An address on the immortality of the soul, interspersed with many allusions to the good traits and Christian virtues of the deceased was delivered over the remains at the hall by Rev. C. W. Savidge. The floral tributes were many and appropriate. A lock and key four feet high was sent from Salt City, a double-headed lock with the figure 33 worked on the breast in violet by members of the thirty-second degree Scottish Rite and an open book, cross and crown, and broken shaft by individual friends. The remains were escorted to Prospect Hill cemetery by the mounted commandery of Knights Templar. Semper Fidelis Lodge of Scottish Rite masons and the Capitol lodge.

THE OPERA HOUSE.

Theatrical Attractions of the Coming Season in the City.

Next Monday evening will signalize the inaugural of the fall and winter theatrical season, which promises to be the most enjoyable and successful within a long series of years. For weeks the staff of Boyd's popular opera house have been assiduously engaged making the necessary preparations, and at last have everything in most commendable readiness.

Among the many improvements noticeable is the removal of the wooden railing around the orchestra and its replacement with handsome bronzed circlets, with rich upholstering and furniture. The alcoves and even the galleries are also handsomely treated, and the ventilation of the whole house most perfect. New rubber matting has been laid on the exit stairways and the vestibule has been garnished and touched up with exceeding taste and attractiveness. The hydraulics connected with the house are complete and in the best of repair, with numerous water plugs and an abundance of hose to reach the most remote corner. In addition to this, so perfect are the precautionary measures
