No city in the state can boast of a furniture house that will begin to equal the establishment of C. A. Beebe & Co., this city. They have just received a stock of furniture for the fall trade that in point of size and quality is equalled by no furniture house in Iowa, and by very few in the entire west. Such an establishment is a credit to the city, and its proprietors should receive the substantial encouragement their enterprise entitles them to.

BAD MARKSMEN.

This Made It Unnecessary For the Coroner to Hold an Inquest.

The city was unusually quiet yesterday, but considerable excitement was caused about 1:30 o'clock by the report of a couple of pistol shots upon Fourth

A telephone call to police station sent Chief Mullen and Charlie Nicholson, the driver of the patrol wagon, to the stables of N. E. Seaman, the veterinary surgeon, on Fourth street.

The chief went direct to the stables, while Nicholson turned into the alley south of Harkness Brothers' store. Upon reaching the rear of Phillips' shoe store, Nicholson met a man with a revolver in his hand. He was trying to get the trigger up when Nicholson took it away from him and placed him under arrest. The chief arrested Henry Hall, whom he found in the stable, and both of the men were locked up, charged with assault to kill.

It appears that "Hank," as Hall is gen-It appears that "Hank," as Hall is generally known, is employed about the Seaman stables and that two weeks ago yesterday, his assailant, D. E. Blackburn, a harness maker by trade, called at the stables and tried to pick a row with him. He called Hall the vilest name possible, and a row would then have occurred had not Seaman driven Blackburn away. Hall was very much worked up about Blackburn, and it seemed to greatly annoy the old man, as he is a man who never allows another to ride over him.

sent him out of the barn. Hall then went to the rear of the barn, as did Seaman. In a few minutes Hall was up front and the first those about the place knew, a shot was heard. Which man fired first it seems undecided, but at any rate Hall had taken his revolver from his cot, and when the revolvers were examined Hall's was found to be of the "bull-dog" pattern, 44-calibre, with two cartridges missing, while Blackburn's was a common 32-calibre revolver, and one ball gone.

Several believe that only two shots were fired, while others think there were three. "Doc" Seaman believes he fired one of the shots out of Hall's revolver a few days ago at a rat. At any rate neither of the duelists were injured, except that Blackburn's face is somewhat bruised where he fell against a door.

Henry Hall is about fifty-five years of age, and is an old stage driver. He will be remembered as the gray-haired conductor also as a driver on the street ductor also as a driver on the street cars while George Marshall was superintendent. That he is not the most amiable man in the city many of the patrons of the street cars can testify.

Blackburn is about thirty-three years of age and is said to have an old grudge against Hall.

Predicting Delays. It is believed by some of the citizens who have been watching the action of the city council in regard to the street lighting problem, that it will be the policy of that body to defer any definite action so long as possible, and allow the gas company to go on lighting the streets under its old contract. This will excite much indignation if attempted, for the citizens want the matter settled in some way promptly so as to cut down the expenses or provide better light for the money. This city has suffered so long from exhor-bitant prices for gas that now an oppor-tunity is presented for the better, it can-not be embraced too soon to suit them. The gas company is a powerful organization, however, and its managers are shrewd. Those interested in the company can hardly be blamed for hanging on to their bonanza so long as possible, but the council, made up as it is of staunch business men, will hardly be fooled into prolonging a contract so ob-noxious by any delays or pretenses. The figures are in and it will not take long to lecide what the city ought to do. It seems that no more conferences are needed. The will of the people has been quite thoroughly expressed by the petition, asking the council to enter into some contract for using electric lights on the principal business and residence streets.

"Ye Are the Salt."

The Presbyterian church was crowded to its utmost yesterday morning. In several of the churches of the city there were no services, which accounted in part for the increased audience, but there were other reasons, one being the special interest awakened by the presence of the Knights of Pythias, and another being the fact that the popularity of the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Phelps, is rapidly increasing. His sermons are wonderful in some respects, and there is a growing interest taken in them.

Yesterday was the anniversary of the Uniform Rank Knights of Pythias. The law of the order is that the members must appear in uniform on the recurrence of this day. This year, as it fell upon Sun-day, no public parade was deemed appro-priate, and in its stead it was decided to attend church in a body. There were about thirty who marched into church, and took front seats. Dr. Phelps, in opening his sermon, explained the situation briefly, and stated that he had not been requested to deliver an address especially for the Knights, and in accordance with the arrangements and fitness of things, he would present some thoughts which he deemed not only of importance to the knights, but to all within hearing.

He chose as his text the words, "Ye are the salt of the earth." He pictured the scene of the delivery of the wonderful sermon on the mount, and showed how the whole of that remarkable discourse centered about the words of his text. The words were not uttered as a compliment, but as imposing a responsibility, not only those of his own household, but the whole earth. The influences which went from each man's life should ever be of this healthy, helpful kind. The speaker entered into a full, interesting, instructive showing of the wonderful uses of salt in the world. In the first place he dwelt upon its abundance. The figures he presented were startling to those not familiar with the subject. Salt was found everywhere, in every drop of blood, in every beadlof perspiration. In all strata of the earth salt was found. Then he dwelt upon the variety of uses to which it could be put. He illustrated its silent workings, its wasting of itself away even to secure the purposes for which it was intended. From all these points he drew healthy lessons as to man's responsibilihealthy lessons as to man's responsibili-ties, and the manner in which each should labor to make the world happier and better. As usual, he pictured most vividly the scenes in family life, and some historical events, illustrative of how man could silently, quietly but power-fully wield power for the bettering of others, and uplifting of the world.

The indisputable fact that Swift's Specific is the best blood purifier in the world, is one of these immovable Gibraltar rock facts of which we have spoken, and every day's experience roots this conviction deeper and deeper in public opinion. Every class of our people in America and in Europe, every trade, calling and profession, including the medical profession, have borne voluntary testimony to the remarkable virtues of S. 8. 5. and its infallible efficacy in curing all diseases of the blood. These testimonials are on file by the thousands, and open to the inspection of all. Now come, unsolicited, two distinguished members of the theatrical profession, who gratefully testify to the wonderful curative qualities of the Specific in their individual cases. Their testimonials are herewith submitted to the public without further comment—let them speak for themselves. Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Ga.:

Gentlemen—Having been annoyed with pimples, eruptions and roughness of the skin, from bad condition of my blood, for more than a year, I used a leading preparation of sarsaparilia and other advertised remedies to no effect. Then I consulted a prominent physician, and from his treatment received no benefit. I then concluded to try the S.S. remedy for the blood, and five or six packages, by a thorough eradication of my trouble and restoring smoothness to my skin, have made me happy, and I cheerfully give you this testimonial for such use and publicity as you wish to make of it.
