THE ARMY RIFLE-SHOOTERS.

Competition of the Division of Missouri at Bellevne This Week. This is the last week of the ritle competition of the division of the Missouri at the Bellevue rifle range. The time so far has been taken up with preliminary practice. The programme for the week is an interesting one. The competition proper begins to-day and the day will be devoted to skirmish practice. Wednesday will be taken up with long distance practice. Thursday will be oc-cupied in skirmish practice. Friday will be the great day. The long distance shooting on that day to determine who are entitled to the twelve medals, will be followed by the presentation of the medals by General Terry, who will come here from Chicago for that purpose. A portion of the afternoon will be deted to skirmish runs and other exhibitions of skill with the rifle. B. & M. trains run daily for Bellevue at 8:30 a. m. On Wednesday and Thursday, special trains will leave Bellevue for Omaha at noon, by which time the shooting will be closed. General Manderson and a large party from this city will be in attendance at the closing exercises on Friday.

This is the first time a division contest has ever taken place in the department of the Platte, and it is an event of more than ordinary importane. The fortyeight competitors represent the division of the Missouri, and have been carefully selected from 13,000 men by means of competition shooting. The four depart-ments included in the division of the Missouri are Texas, the Platte, Missouri and Dakota, commanded respectively by Generals Stanley, Crook, Merrit and Ruger. The four departments include seventeen regiments of infantry, with ten companies in each regiment, and six regiments of cavalry of twelve troops each. Under the regula tions each company or troop must send each regiment two commissioned officers each band one man and the general staff twelve. This makes a total of 317 selected men to engage in preliminary practice for the purpose of determining the best marksmen among this number. During practice has been going on at Fort Clark in Texas, Fort Leavenworth, in Kansas, Fort Snelling in Minnesota, and the Bellevue rifle range in Nebraska. This practice has decided the twelve best marksmen for each of the four depart-The forty-four marksmen thus selected are the men who are now en gaged at Bellevue in the contest to determine who are the best twelve rifle shots in the division of the Missouri. This competition is in charge of Lieutenant Philip Reed. These rifle competitions gain more and more in importance with each succeeding year.

Magnanimous Self-Sacrifice. Tom McGregor, known here as a con-

sort of thieves and crooks, but who has recently been working the reform racket, was arrested yesterday for indulging in a pitchedbattle with his wife, formerly the notorious Belie Vandford. McGregor out of two years residence here, has passed eighteen months of it in jail. In order that her liege lord might enjoy his freedom during the gala week, Mrs. Mc-Gregor testified that she was alone to blame, that she had aggressed the quarcel and precipitated the light. She asked that her husband be relieved and that she be assessed a fine. The court was willin' and put it on the lady to the tune

Wants to Shuffle Off.

John Henry Walbum, who by the way was the first man lodged in the new city jail, which institution was called Castle Walbum for a long while thereafter, was arrested yesterday, by Officer Matza in the very act of cutting his throat with a razor. He said that his wife had run away with a handsomer man and he wanted to join the caravan beyond the grave. They lived at Silver Springs. He was locked up, but declared that he would shuffle off at the first opportunity, and to verify this declaration he attempted to butt his brains out against the iron irail-ings of the cell. The man's ev dent determination to commit suicide has caused extra precautions to be taken to prevent it. The man looks as if he had just emerged from a long debauch.

TOOTH AND TALON. A Bull Dog Kills an Eagle After a Hard Battle.

Yesterday Ed. Rothery captured a large eagle at Cut-Off lake. It was brought to the city and placed in a cage. Yesterday evening John Kellett, one of Mr. Rothery's employes, attempted to remove it from one cage to another, the bird escaped and attacked Rothery's bull dog, 'Rete." Then ensued one of the fiercest battles between dog and bird ever seen hereabouts. The bird made for the dog's eyes with his talons; the dog dodged and caught the bird under the left wing; then the bird flew around and grabbed the dog on the loins. While this little difficulty was progressing the bird went for the dog's eyes again, but as he did "Pete" made a sideward movement and captured the bird's neck. In fact he had the whole head of the bird within his mouth in a moment, and the result is that there is a

DIED AT SEA.

Lady.

News of the death of Mrs. Sally Trude, mother of F. W. Trude, a locomotive engineer on the Union Pacific, was received vesterday. For some time she had anticipated a trip to the old country to visit her aged mother, but pending the arrangements word came that the latter had died. Subsequently she decided to visit her sister and ac-companied by her husband, A. S. Trude and family, she sailed from New York on the steamer Servia on the 16th ult. She was in apparent good health, and she bade good-bye to her hosts of friends with a light heart, and looked forward to her visit to her place of birth in the old country with a great deal of satisfaction. She had scarcely lost sight of the land of her adoption, however, before sue was sick. For a person in vigor of youth it is before she was taken vigor of youth it is bad enough to be sick on shipboard, but it was more serious with her, who had reached a ripe old age, and she rapidly grew worse and died after being out upon the ocean three days. She was a lady greatly beloved. Her life had been a useful one and illumed throughout with that purity of character which in in her mature years had made her so dear to all who knew her. The remains were brought back to this country on a return steamer and her funeral takes place in Chicego, the home of her eldest son, to-morrow. Mr. F. W. Trude left for Chicago yesterday.

The Splendor of Dress

and the artificial effects of cosmetics, no matter how deftly applied, can never make beautiful or attractive one who is subject to emaciation, nervous debility, or any form of female weakness. These must be reached by inward application, and not by outward attempts at concealment, and the ladies may take hope from the fact that thousands of their sisters have made themselves more radiant and more beautiful by the use of Dr. Pierce' "Favorite Prescription" than they could ever hope to do by the aid of the appliances or the toilet.

SERIOUS FALL. A Wind-Mill Builder Falls a Distance

of Thirty-Five Feet. Andrew Clark, who is in the employ of Eby, the agricultural dealer, was putting up a wind-mill on the McLaughlin farm in Sarpy county, one mile and a half west of La Platte, on Saturday last.

When thirty-five feet from the ground the gin pole on which he was standing gave way and Clark was thrown to the ground. Fortunately he fell on a pile of soft dirt, which lay near a well just excavated, or his injuries would have un-doubtedly proved fatal. As it was his back was badly hurt and there is a possibility of internal injuries. ## ESCAPES WITH HIS LIFE.

Claus Mathews Runs Down a Little

Claus Mathews was arrested just before noon yesterday for fast driving and running over a little boy, Charlie Thacker, of Center street, near Fifth. Mathews was driving a firey span of horses, attached to a buggy, at a furious speed on Donglas between Thirteenth and Fourteenth street and the running down of the boy was a brutal outrage. The little fellow was carried to the station house and City Physician Ralph dispatched for. rived promptly and on examining the boy found that he was painfully hurt, the small bones of the left foot being fractured and his legs badly lacerated and bruised. Fortunately the little fellow es caped any injury of the body. He was sent to his home in the patrol wagon and Mathews required to give a $300 bond for his appearance on the 18th.

A SORROWFUL DAY.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Day, formerly lived in Detroit, Mich. After a married life of eighteen months they quarreled and separated. This was on the account of Mr. Day's fondness for liquor. Day, after his wife left him, came to Omaha. He got a traveling position here and is doing well. He opened up a correspondence with his wife. He was earnest in his protestations of penitence and lavish with his declarations of love and fidelity. He said the separa-wearing his life tion was wearing his life out, and he beseeched and prayed for her to return. She held out for several weeks against his pathetic imploratives, but finally concluded to forgive and forget. She came here, and for the period of six weeks they got along swimmingly. But in an evil hour Mr. Day again tackled the flowing schooner, went home and raised hades generally. She coaxed and pleaded, but all to no purpose, Day con-tinued to abuse her, and in a short forbearance she again quit him. She then started out in life on her own hook and opened a boarding house on the corner of Sixteenth and Webster streets. She has been properous and has quite a little bank account, besides a litle fortune in diamonds and fine clotchs Sunday night during her absence the re-creant hysband turned up at her house and gaining ingress to her room, proceeded to knock it into chaos. He smashed the furniture and destroyed four silk dresses, a handsome walking suit and wrapper, and a $500 dollar seal skin sacque. These he cut to pieces with a knife. After the most thorough demolition of the lady's chamber and the destruction of her wardrobe, he left the premises with an exultant and defiant whoop. Mrs. Day, handsomely attired in silk and diamonds, appeared before the city attorney yesterday, and swore out a warrant for her malavolent hubby, charging him with housebreaking and the malicious destruction of property.

THE COMMISSION. Some Fire and Police Matters Dis-

The resignation of J. W. Williams, a fireman, was accepted. In the discussion upon this resignation it was determined to adopt hereafter a series of rules, and contemplating resignation should give advance notice of his intentions so that he can be substituted without delay.

A notice from the city clerk to W. S Seavey, notifying him that the city coun-cil had determined that his appointment was null and void, and that no funds were at hand for the payment of his services, was read and placed on file.

John W. Nation's letter asking why his petition for a position on the police force had been rejected was filed. An invitation from the chairman of the general committee of arrangements to the board to participate in the demonstration accepted and the secretary notified to acquaint the proper parties of the action. C. H. Fitch renewed his application for appointment on the police force. Filed. Chief Seavey reported the prostitute fines collected yesterday from noon to sunset to have been $1,400. Adjourned,

The old firemen will meet in uniform on Thurspay, at three o'clock p. m., at Chief Galligan's office, and pro-ceed to the depot to meet their guests, whence they march through the streets together, with Omaha's full complement of apparatus in line. Nothing tries the patience of a man more than to listen to a hacking cough, which he knows could easily be cured with Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup,

AMUSEMENTS.

OPENING OF THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE. Despite the great crowd of strangers in the city, the theaters were only moderately filled last night, the new opera house having the largest attendance. Its managers have no reason to complain of the want of success on their first night "Ruddygore" was performed most effectively by the Broderick opera company, Maurice Hageman, George Broderick, Ida Mulle and Emma M. Baker meriting the applause bestowed upon their efforts. The apparition scene in Ruddygore castle was well played, and in its mechanical effects was com-
