DID SHE INTEND TO DO IT?

A Young Woman's Supposed Saicide by Asphyxiation in a Hotel.

HORRIGAN'S BLOODY BATTLE.

The Desperate Resistance to Arrest Made by a South Omaha Rough and a Detective's Bad Eye in Consequence.

Killed by Gas.

Lizzie Dastal, a nineteen-year-old Bohemian girl, was found dead in her bed at the Goos hotel about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, asphyxiated with gas.

The deceased seems to be without friends. She had been employed at a boarding house at 712 South Fourteenth street as laundry girl for two weeks. Although a capable domestic her ignorance of the English language impaired her usefulness, and on Thursday she was discharged. Nothing was seen of her again until about 2 o'clock Saturday morning when she came to the Goos hotel in company with a young fellow who seemed to be a Bohemian. He explained to the clerk that she was wandering about looking for a room, and as the city was full of strangers she had been unsuccessful in securing accommodations. The ful in securing accommodations. The clerk assigned her room 15 in the third story, and she paid for it. The young fellow who accompanied her left and has not been seen since.

About Saturday noon Lizzie was seen to leave her room, but the time of her return is unknown. Yesterday morning about 9 o'clock the chambermaid attempted to get into the room, but found the door locked. About noon the door was tried with the same result. At 4 o'clock the chambermaid again tried to enter the room, but failing, reported the matter to Peter Goos, the proprietor. The escape of gas was not detected until after Mr. Goos opened the transom and the fumes came pouring out. Seeing the the fumes came pouring out. Seeing the girl stretched out on the bed Mr. Goos had the door immediately opened, hoping to save her life, but upon approaching the bedside the distorted features and the stains of the fatal hemorrhage that covered her face, breast and the nillows the stains of the fatal hemorrhage that covered her face, breast and the pillows showed that help had come too late. The body was cold and she had been dead for probably eighteen hours. The window was down about a foot from the top, but the curtain in front of it had prevented the curtain in front of it had prevented the escape of the poisoned air.

A coroner's jury was summoned, who rendered a verdict of death by asphyxiation and suffocation with gas. Whether she had ignorantly blown out the gas, or deliberately turned it on to commit suicide, can not be determined.

About a check last avening the body

About 9 o'clock last evening the body was taken to the morgue at Drexel & Maul's to await identification.

A Bloody Struggle. Detective Pat Horrigan entered the "White Elephant," a little concert saloon on Tenth street near Howard, about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and his attention was attracted to a rough looking man who carried a valise and overcoat and was drinking with two printers. Shortly after Horrigan's entrance the drinking trio made it convenient to leave the saloon, and started through the alley eastward. Suspecting that the valise and overcoat were plunder, the officer followed at once. The three men walked up to Eleventh street and turning south, went as far as Howard where the suspected man sat down on the walk with his feet in the gutter. Horrigan had

The man made considerable show of indignation, but Horrigan without heeding, seized valise and coat and marched his man off, with the intention of going to the station afoot. Har-rigan turned with his prize into the alley between Harney and Howard and had walked about twenty feet when the prisoner stopped and jerking away de-clared that he would go no further. Hor-rigan at once dropped the value and coat for free action, when the man struck him for free action, when the man struck him a stunning blow in the face followed by another over left eye. The officer and the prisoner were nearly of even match with the favor of strength and desperate energy slightly with the latter. Horrigan fell back under each blow which, though given with the naked fist, came like solid shot and cut and bruised the officer's face shockingly. Recovering himself Horrigan struck back and attempted to draw his pistol. With that the man clinched him and the two rolled to the ground together. The With that the man clinched him and the two rolled to the ground together. The advantage in this part of the fight is unknown but both men suffered the soundest kind of punishment and had their clothing nearly torn from them. Several times florrigan reached for his revolver when some one in the crowd, which gathered, an evident friend of the prisoner, defily took the weapon from the officer's pocket. In some manner, as the struggling men regained their feet. the strongling men regained their feet, the prisoner tore away and rushing through the crowds attempted to escape by a run down the street. Several offi-cers attracted to the scene, however, pressed the chase and as a last resort the fugitive took refuge in a private dwelling at the southwest corner of Eleventh and Howard streets. Dashing into the house he rushed up stairs until he gained the attic, where he hid himself behind some storage. The police, who had by that time arrived in considerable numbers, sur-rounded the house and Officers Whelan and Dempsey made the search within. The culprit was found with little difficulty and was dragged from his hiding place. He fought stubbornly and in the struggle Officer Dempsey fell through the ceiling to the floor below. Thus deserted, Officer Whelan resorted to severe measures and subdued the prisoner with a hearty and bloody clubbing.

Again, in the patrol wagon the man showed his viciousness and was given some more of the locust. Once in the jail he was thrown into a cell and chained to the grated door until pain and loss of blood weakened him into submission. The culprit was found with little difficulty submission.

He gave the name of John Jones but was subsequently identified to be Joe Norton a South Omaha thief who has just served a long term in the county jail for larceny.

The valise and overcoat which Harrigan suspected to be "graft" had indeed been stolen from the Southern Hotel. The detective's injuries will mar his beauty for a few days and cost nim a suit of clothes.

An Amiable Husband.

Albert Fleming, a Bohemian living at 1436 South Thirteenth street, was jailed yesterday for beating his wife in a most inhuman manner. Her face and head were terribly distigured with bruises and wounds from a stick of wood with which he had beaten her. This is the fourth time he has been arrested for this offense.

Arnstein-Sonnenberg.

The Arnstein-Sonnenberg wedding was held at the Jewish synagogue about 6:30 last evening. The groom, Sigmund Arnstein, is a merchant at No. 412 South Tenth street, and the bride, Theresa Sonnenberg, a daughter of Joseph Sonnenberg, No. 523 South Fourteenth street. The ceremony was presided over by Rabbi Benson, the Misses Carrie Miller and Eva Spiegel acted as bridesmaids, and Messrs. Sam Sonnenberg and Sol. Frank as groomsmen. At 7:30 the grand supper and reception were held at Germania hall, and at 10 o'clock the dancing commenced, with Prof. Garmone as prompter. with Prof. Gaynore as prompter. A magnificent lot of presents were received by the newly wedded couple. Nearly 300 guests were present, and the event was in every sense an elegant and enjoyable affair.

METHODIST MINISTERS.

Important Meeting to Be Held in the City This Evening.

The meeting at the First M. E. church announced for this evening, of which notice was made in the telegraph columns of yesterday morning's BEE, at which Bishop J. F. Hurst will be present, will also be addressed by Rev. Dr. Bennett, of Garrett Biblical institute, Evanston, Ill.; Rev. B. St. J. Frye, editor of the Central Christian Advocate, St. Louis, Mo.; Rev. W. P. Stowe, of the Methodist Book Concern, and probably of ers. These gentlemen have been in attendance during the past week, at the North Nebraska conference in session at Fremont.

This meeting is in the nature of a reception to these gentlemen, and for the purpose of acquainting them with Methodism in Omaha, and it is fitting that their preseuce here should call out the attendance of every member and triend of the denomination in the city.

Cohen-Cohn

The marriage of Wolf Cohen and Annie Cohn at the Metropolitan hall last evening, was performed in the now somewhat rare Jewish orthodox manner. The cereemony was at 6:45. Four young men advanced to the middle of the hall bearing vanced to the middle of the hall bearing a canopy, under which was Rabbi Benson and his assistant. The groom next appeared accompanied by A. Bernstein and F. Talmud, and then the bride with Mrs. Bernstein and Mrs. Talmud. Following the bride were four little flower girls, four groomsmen and four bridesmaids. The bride was led around the groom three times, and then took her place by his side, when in the Jewish tongue, the Rabbi pronounced them man and wife. After the ceremony followed the bountiful supper, and then the dance. About 200 guests were present. About 200 guests were present.

If the gentleman whose lips pressed the lady's snowy brow and thus caught a severe cold had but used Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, no doctor's bill would have been necessary.

That Trumpet.

The silver trumpet which was presented to the New York veteran firemen upon the occasion of their recent visit to Omaha, was the gift of Mr. Richard Wilde, whose name was engraved upon the instrument. Owing to an oversight this fact was not mentioned either in the presentation speech or in any of the pa-pers. It is only just to Mr. Wilde that he should receive the credit for the generous and appropriate gift which he caused to be presented to the "vets" as coming from Omaha Fire King, No. 2, of which he is an honored member. He is an old New Yorker, and is acquainted with nearly all the "vets" who were in Omaha on Friday.

Get rid of that tired feeling as quick as possible. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla which gives strength, a good appetite and health.

The Motor "Sneak."

The work on the Motor line on Douglas street continued all day yesterday, and the ties and rails were laid from Fourteenth to Twelfth streets. The greater part of the work, however, remains yet to be done—that of replacing made up his mind and as he approached the stranger he said: "Get up; I want the torn-up pavement.

Brevities.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Martin left yes-terday over the Burlington & Missouri for Los Angeles, Cal., where they will re-side in the future. Mr. Martin has for the past year been connected with T. H. Cotter's printing house in this city.

Julius Hughert, formerly a bar-tender for Henry Gladdis, No. 1509 Douglas street, is lying at the police station dying with consumption, and will be taken to the poor farm to-day. He has been sick about six weeks. He has resided in Omaha about six months, but has no friends or relatives here.

Albert Alexander, a brutal teamster, was arrested yesterday for cruelty to animals. The shameful manner in which he was beating a horse over the head was witnessed by Captain Van Orman, of Sulphur Springs, and he caused the arrest of the cruel Jehu.

Gored to Death By a Mad Bull. ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 11.— | Special Telegram to the BEE. |—Johnnie Perrine, a boy nineteen years of age, living close to Bolckow, a town fourteen miles north of St. Joe, was last evening nearly torn to pieces by a mad bull belonging to his father. The screams of the boy brought his mother and father to their stock yard to find their boy bleeding and nearly torn to pieces, the flesh hanging in long strips from his thigh and body through his clothes. Medical assistance was immediately summoned, but the boy died before midnight.

Powderly's Plans.

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept 11 .- General Master Workman Powderly says that his next an-nual message will advocate government ownership of telegraph and railroad lines and the establishment of the postal saving's bank. A bill will be prepared by him to carry these suggestions into effect and they will be submitted to the general assembly for its approval. Should the assembly approve these measures they will be introduced in congress and backed by the full strength of the Knights of Labor.

An Insult to Nationalists. MITCHELLSTOWN, Sept. 11 .- Contingents of nationalists from all surrounding towns promise to attend the funerals to-morrow. The procession will be an enormous one. The police refuse to allow the cortege to traverse the regular route to the cemetery, which passes the barracks. The nationalists consider this a great indignity, as they will be compalled to go through the Protestant part of town. The procession will be an enormous one.

John Bright Also Declines. London, Sept. 11.—Mr. Bright has replied to the invitation to attend the Philadelphia festival, saying in a very courteous manner that he is unable to accept it but expresses great sympathy with the gathering.

Prominent Whisky Taster Who Makes Prohibition a Business, New York Mail: "Drunk?"

WHISKY TASTINF THAT PAYS.

"Yes, drunk."

"I drunk?"

"Yes. You ought to be drunk clear, clean through by this time."

"Well, you see I am not, don't you?"

"Yes, and that is what surprises me In the hour that I have been with you in this cellar, you have drank not less than fifty glasses of whisky."

"That is just where you are mistaken. In the dim light you didn't notice that I only covered the bottom of my glass with liquor and didn't swallow a taste of that liquor and didn't swallow a taste of that

"The business of a professional whirky "The business of a professional whirky taster is a peculiar one," explained the first speaker to a Mail and Express reporter. "If I were to swallow any liquor I would be no judge of it. I simply smell the livuor and then put a teaspoonful in my mouth to get the exact flavor. I never swallow a drop. I don't suppose in the last gve years I have drank an ounce of any kind of alcoholic or mail interest." liquor. I never eat onions, cheese, or any spiced food. I keep my diet down to the plainest sort of articles and thereby preserve my taste.

"Aren't you ever deceived?" "Never. I regard my taste as infalli-ble. I can tell the difference between a hundred brands blindfolded and never make a mistake. It is much surer than any test in telling cloths or jewels by ex-aming them with the eyes. I give orders sometimes for 1,000 barrels of whisky after tasting one teaspoonful of the sam-ple, and not wasting over five minutes ple, and not wasting over five minutes in the act."

The trouble with whisky tasters is, they often become drunkards, though they know that one drink of liquor spoils their work for hours afterward. Odd, what fools some men are! But I don't find fault. If everyone could be a whisky taster it would probably pay no better than driving a street car."

An Ingenious African King. Cardinal Massala, who was over thirty-five years a missionary in Abyssinia, is publishing his recollections of his event-ful life. He tells the following story of King Menilek of African reknown: "King Menilek knows perfectly well all that is going on and talked about in Europe, and one day, hearing of a new sewing machine, he asked me to get him one. I told him that a poor monk like me knew nothing of such things, and I wondered that the king could think of them, and that I really did not know how to procure what he wanted. But when Menllek takes a notion in his head nothing can change his mind; so, at last to please him, I wrote to a friend, begging him to send me a sewing machine. At last it came, but in pieces; and I cannot tell you what time pieces; and I cannot tell you what time and patience it took to put it together. That done, the king turned to me and told me to teach him to work it. 'You, who know everything,' he said, 'must know how to work this thing!' But I must confess that here I failed. I studied it day after day, but could make nothing out of it, and at last had to give up the aitempt. The king called me a fool, and then told his court dignitaries to unravel the mystery. But they taries to unravel the mystery. But they were not more fortunate than myself. Menilek was furious. 'You are all fools,' he said, 'I'll do it myself.' And so he did. He sat up all night studying the machine, but he did it, and you should have seen his delight when he sat down before us and showed us how it was worked worked.

How He Was Made Better Off. A Scotch tradesman who had amassed, as he believed, £4,000, was surprised by as he believed, £4,000, was surprised by his old clerk with a balance sheet showing his fortune to be £6,000. "It can not be," said the principal; "count again." The clerk did count again, and again declared the balance to be £6,000. The master counted himself, and he also brought out a surplus of £6,000. Time after time he cast up the columns—it was still a 6 and not a 4, that rewarded his labors. So the old merchant, on the strength of his good fortune, modernized his house. his good fortune, modernized his house, and "put money in the purse" of the carpenter, the painter, and the upholsterer. Still, however, he had a lurking doubt of the existence of the extra £2,000, so one winter night he sat down to give the col-ums "one count more." At the close o his task he jumped up as though he had been galvanized, and rushed through the streets in a shower of rain to the house of the clerk. The clerk's head, capped and drowsy, emerged from an attic window at the sound of the knocker to inquire the errand of his midnight vis-itor. "Whose there?" he mumbled, "and what d'ye want?" "It's me, ye scoond-rel!" exclaimed his employer; "ye've added up the year of our lord among the pounds." pounds.

Beware of Scrofula

Scrofula is probably more general than any other disease. It is insidious in character, and manifests itself in running sores, pustular eruptions, boils, swellings, enlarged joints, abscesses, sore eyes, etc. Hood's Sarsaparilla expels all trace of senofula from the blood, leaving it pure, enriched, and healthy.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles Hood's Sarsaparilla, and am cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass. C. A. Arnold, Arnold, Me., had scrofulous sores for seven years, spring and fall. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured him.

Salt Rheum

Is one of the most disagreeable diseases caused by impure blood. It is readily cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier. William Spies, Elyria, O., suffered greatly from erysipelas and salt rheum, caused by handling tobacco. At times his hands would crack open and bleed. He tried various preparations without aid; finally took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and now says: "I am entirely well."

FACE HUMORS

Seven Years of Physical and Mental Suffering Ended by Cuticura.

Cuticura.

A BOUT seven years ago I had a humor break out upon my face; it started in a small blotch and locked like the sting of a bee, then it spread and locked like a ringworm, and became very painful. I at once went to one of the best dectors in the city and he could do me no good. No less than twelve doctors have had a trial at my face and all of them failed. I will not give you a list of their names, but will say that they were from Boston, New York and Maine, also from England, France and Canada. I have been a hotel cook and steward for years. In the summer I cook at watering piaces; that is why I have had an opportunity of being among good doctors. They could not cure my face, and I had given up all hopes of ever being any better. Last June, I went to Mooschead Lake, Maine, to cook for the season. My face was so bad that I did not like to be seen. At the lake I met a gentieman from England. He told me to use your CUTICURA HEMBEITES and they would cure me at once. I did so. The result was in three weeks the sores on my face were healed up. I used it all the season. My face is all well and no scars to be seen. I have recommended it to a number, and in every case it has cured them. It would take a great deal of money to put me back where I was one yoar sago, providing I did not know what your CUTICURA would do. I shall recommend it as long as I live, and shall ever remain, H. STEVENS, East Jackson, Me.

A MOST WONDERFUL SKIN CURE. A MOST WONDERFUL SKIN CURE.

Have just used your CUTICURA REMEDIES on one of my girls, and found it to be just what it is recommended to be. My daughter was all broked out on her head and body, and the hair commenced to come out. Now she is as smooth as ever she was, and she has only taken one box of CUTICURA, one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, and one bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT. I doctored with quite a number of doctors, but to no avail. I am willing to make affidavit to the truth of the statement.

Gentlemen—Having been annoyed with pimples, eruptions and roughness of the skin, from bad condition of my blood, for more than a year, I used a leading preparation of sarsaparilla and other advertised remedies to no effect. Then I consulted a prominent physician, and from his treatment received no benefit. I then concluded to try the S. S. remedy for the blood, and five or six peakages, by a thorough eradication of my trouble and restoring smoothness to my skin, have made me happy, and I cheerfully give you this testimonial for such use and publicity as you wish to make of it.
