

THE PROFESSOR AND THE COAL.

His Observations of the Riches in the Nebraska Surface. In speaking of surface indications of coal, Prof. Orton said yesterday a Bee reporter: "In general, fair indications of coal would be the presence of coal stains or coal smut, or the waste of coal in the outcrop in the rocks. Fire clay, iron stone and coal-blossom would be the indications mostly to be relied upon. Water pouring through, of course, wash them to some extent and carry the stains again to the surface. These are recognized indications the world over. As to the indications in this vicinity I cannot say that they are at all promising. I made a trip of twenty-five miles southward yesterday and found there a small seam of coal of the order we call limestone veins, with limestone, rock and roof but it is of small promise, not thick enough to be of any value. Yet it might develop into value elsewhere. My judgment here has been based mainly on the rock cores brought to the surface, and at Lincoln, where the state has bored a depth of 2,473 feet, the core of which has been very carefully preserved. I regard that drilling at Lincoln as of great value to the state. We can understand from that thoroughly what underlies Lincoln, and don't need to drill further to find that out. It gives very little promise of coal, as far as that place is concerned. There are but three inches of coal the entire column, and that was found at a depth of 940 feet; there were seams of black slate, however, indicating coal measures elsewhere, probably to the eastward, toward the Iowa coal measures. "The vein in the Her distillery well here is on testimony of three and one-half feet in thickness, and is found at a depth of 650 feet, but the quality of the coal has not yet been determined. There is really fair evidence to support that thickness of coal. I should think that this vein would be worth further testing. It seems to be the most promising that I have seen in Nebraska; but just what its significance may be, I have not yet formed an opinion of. "Further, the professor was disposed to believe that all the coal indications in this section of Nebraska lead directly to the coal measures of Iowa. He is greatly pleased with his visit, and regards Omaha as a perfect model of progress. He had seen no improvements conducted on such a scale anywhere else, and could scarcely understand it. His face is bronzed with his outdoor investigations, and he apparently enjoys nearly his first trip to Nebraska. He goes from here to Minnesota and Dakota before returning to Ohio.

A NEBRASKA MANAGER.

Success of Ariel N. Barney as a Manager and in Gaining Plesh. Ariel N. Barney is in the city. He is now the manager of Thomas W. Keene, the tragedian. Mr. Barney sprung from Nebraska and his success has been most remarkable. He is a graduate of the press, his last writing in this state having been done in Wahoo. He went to Cleveland where he achieved considerable reputation as a journalist, going thence into managerial business. In this line his success has been reckoned not less than that of the most prosperous manager in the country, having advanced by graduation from mere agency to the management of Mr. Keene, one of the foremost actors of the day. He succeeded in booming Minnie Maddern into prominence; he was with Buffalo Bill when the latter started from Omaha with his Wild West and remained with him for a couple of years. Then he took hold of Rosina Vokes and made money with her, and he finally took hold of Keene. As a consequence of his wise methods this celebrated actor is making more money than he ever did, and Barney, too, is filling his wallet, with rapidly. He says that Keene is actively engaged in a grand scheme at the same time imparting a finish and an introduction to his work which did not before characterize it. This Mr. Barney says has been the result of the study of the star gave his characters during the months which have intervened since his convalescence. In appearance Mr. Barney has undergone a wonderful change. Two years ago he did not weigh 135 pounds. To-day he seems to weigh in the neighborhood of 200. He seems also to have grown tall and portly and is in every way an imposing gentleman. His grand ambition is that Mr. Barney must have died himself but so far as he knows this is not the case. Sometime ago he indulged to some extent in ardent beverages, but he has since himself to rum and milk. He has no patent on this prescription, and if they be the fat-increasing medium which has worked so well with Barney, it will be found not difficult to procure. Mr. Keene plays at the Grand opera house, commencing on next Thursday night and playing until Saturday evening, when, after the performance, he will be entertained by the Elks at the Barker hotel.

THE BRIDGE.

Objection Waived and Pottawatomie County Will be Taxed. Yesterday a Bee reporter asked Mr. Frank Murphy, of the Omaha and Council Bluffs Bridge company what was the occasion of the delay of that company in commencing work on this side of the river. "We have been delayed," he said, by the rather strong protest which was made to the work by the Union Pacific and placed before the council. But we have been to see Mr. Potter several times, and he has finally agreed to withdraw the objections of the company to the building on Douglas street. "On what street will your approach be built?" "The matter will now take shape with the option of building either on Douglas or Dodge street, as may be thought best, with the proviso that the work be undertaken within thirty days. We would not like to resist ourselves to one street or Douglas, as it might be desirable to build on Dodge street." "Has Mr. Ford's ordinance restricting you to select either Dodge or Douglas been passed?" "It has not. It is still pending, and has advanced to second reading. It contains the provisions I speak of." "What effect will the remonstrance of the mayor of Council Bluffs, setting an ordinance levying a tax for the construction of the east approach, have on the enterprise?" "None at all. The money will be raised. It is a county tax. The county has a right to tax the construction of an attorney over there has given strong reasons for the levy. The levy is one of six mills, but I do not know what the amount is."

A WILY RUSSIAN.

With a Mania for Spouting Horses and Cattle. Roman Romm is a low-built, low-browed, swarthy Russian. He is an inmate of the city jail. He was arrested yesterday on a warrant sworn out by Mr. John Miller, of the Plankinton bank, Plankinton, Dakota, charging him with being a fugitive from justice. According to Miller's story Romm has been living on a rented farm near Plankinton. He became in need of several hundred dollars in cash for some purpose or other, and he secured the local money from the Plankinton bank, giving them chattel mortgage on a team of horses. He borrowed $100 at 4 per cent interest. Then he proceeded to the house of a farmer whose lands lie adjacent to his, and mortgaged to him for $100 four cows at the same rate of interest. The following night he jumped the country. He came here with the team he had mortgaged to the Plankinton bank, and yesterday morning he delivered up the horses. There is no telling how many more friends this slick Muscovite has victimized. He declares he intended to return to Plankinton and deliver up the horse, and that he left word with a friend to turn over the bovines. Miller says Romm is a finished rascal, and he telegraphed this morning for the sheriff of the county in which Plankinton is situated to come on with requisition papers.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

Two Merry Weddings Wednesday—The Joyous Occasions. On Wednesday evening Miss Hannah Caser, daughter of Thomas Casy, one of Omaha's old and well known citizens, was united in marriage with Andrew J. Fahy, one of the newly appointed members of the police force. The ceremonies were performed at St. Philomena's cathedral, Rev. Father McCarthy officiating. Mr. Harry O'Holleran supported the groom and Miss Gertrude Peterson was bridesmaid. After nuptial mass the happy couple and several carriages of friends proceeded to the Casey hotel on Tenth street where a sumptuous breakfast was served. Thence a miniature bridal trip was made to the home of the bride's parents on Nineteenth street near Vinton. In the evening a reception and ball were given at Cunningham's hall, and a large assembly was present. The bride and groom, giving congratulations to the groom, and many hearty shakes of hands for Tom Casy. The A. O. H. band opened the joyous proceedings with an overture; the orchestra, under the leadership of Herman Rosch, commenced the music that makes the light fantastic toe tip. Just as the quadrille music was at its "all hands round" in came a notable party of guests. They were headed by Councilman Isaacs, followed by his associates in the city legislative branch, Councilmen Bechel, Ford, Mandeville, Lowery, Snyder, Bailey and Counsman, commissioner O'Keefe, Morris, Morrison, the board of education, Patrick Desmond and several well known politicians. Still the dance went merrily on, and to give it zest Councilman Hascall chose one of the prettiest girls in the room and went through the mazy waltz as if he were in sight of the "Blue Danube," and as artistically as he can see the labyrinthine features of a municipal ordinance. Councilman Snyder caught the girl and being introduced to a pretty partner, endeavored to outdo his colleague. This contest of the dance was highly appreciated, but Councilman Hascall came off victorious. Then followed many and appropriate remarks, more economical than the ordinary kind, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low cost short weight alum or phosphate powders. THE COURTS. The coming of the new term brings in the transcripts from the justices of the peace. South Omaha, so far, takes the lead. Judge G. Reuther, who seems to run the blind goddess over there, must be doing a first class business. First comes to the scratch with a transcript of John Connor's case. It is charged that John stole $120 from G. L. Chandler while the latter was sleeping in a South Omaha hotel, and after he went out returned and captured a gold watch valued at $35. The next criminal transcript from the same justice was that against Michael Conroy. He was charged with entering the room of Benjamin Schlotting with intent to rob. The third transcript from Judge Reuther relates to the case of Dennis McCormick, Thomas Burns and John O'Connell, who are accused of stealing $4 from Joseph B. Krasnak, August 4, 1887.

In the case of John F. Riley vs. the Union Trust company of Philadelphia a motion has been filed to quash the proposed service of the summons, because it was not on a managing agent, in this state. This, the legal papers say, is based on the sheriff's return of the summons, and the affidavit of Mahlon S. Stokes. The latter says the company has never had an attorney, managing director or managing agent in this or any other state except Pennsylvania; that Edward L. Perkins on whom service was held in the Riley case, is director and stockholder of the company, but not an active official, and that the only solicitor of the company is D. R. Patterson, of Philadelphia. Hence it is claimed no jurisdiction has been acquired by the company in Nebraska for the service of any papers as those in the present case.

NOONDAY FIRE.

Bad Streets, Good Firemen, Quick Work. Shortly before noon yesterday the fire department was called out by an alarm from box 37. It was soon ascertained that the cause of the alarm came from a one-story cottage on Fourteenth street, a short distance south of Jackson. It was occupied by Lon George. The fire department was promptly on hand and the Chemical engine did the extinguishing work effectively and in short order. It was found that the cause of the conflagration was a broken chimney. Very little damage was done. On the way to the fire the big truck turned Jackson street and there stuck in one of the sewer trenches being dug. It was taken out with difficulty. It seems that in the present condition of street changes the firemen should be notified so that when they rush out for property and life salvation a guide should be given them.

A Military Funeral.

The funeral services over the remains of Sergeant Joubert at Bellevue were of an impressive character. A firing escort and all the competitors were formed in line in front of the tent of Sergeant Joubert. There he had been laid out in full uniform, the coffin covered with the flag and flowers. As the body was brought out, the escort presented arms, others waved the flags and the trumpets sounded. After being placed in a Red Cross ambulance, the march was taken up to the sound of the trumpets. Nearing the end of the range the escort wheeled out of the line and the trumpets sounded. The Red Cross wagon left the range, the trumpets sounded "Taps," or the soldiers farewell. Interment took place at Omaha. Sergeant Joubert was an old fellow. Colonel Henry made a touching and appropriate address over the body of the dead soldier.

That Starvation Case.

Commissioner O'Keefe said to a reporter for the Bee last evening that he was satisfied the woman Ellen Nandels, mentioned yesterday as being in a starving condition and living with her child on a can of lard for three weeks was known to him. "Without proof at hand," the commissioner said, "I think she is the same woman we supported all last winter, and whose child was buried at the county's expense. Her husband is dead, and she owned quite valuable property on Walnut street, on which there was only $70 due." Acting Mayor Bechel being asked if the woman had been reported to him at the affirmative. He said he gave her some financial assistance and she seemed so pleased that she got out of his office before he could give her a note to the county commissioners.

Concordia Officers.

Last Tuesday evening the regular election of the Concordia society was held with the following result: Adolph Meyer, president; Henry Pundt, vice president; Aug. Schaeffer, Secretary; William Sievers, treasurer; Emil Ackerman, librarian; J. F. Lund, standard bearer; Henry Meyer, secretary of assistants to the standard bearer. The occasion was signalized by an informal reception to George Strattman who has just returned from Europe. On the 29th of this month the nineteenth anniversary of the society will be celebrated by a grand ball at Masonic hall, and preparations are now being made for the event by George Strattman, J. F. Lund, J. Meyer, Henry Meyer and T. Sindhoff.

Visiting Councilmen.

Yesterday Councilmen Charles Horn and John Thoroughbred, of Janesville, Wis., had a long talk with the members of the fire and police committee of the council, with respect to the excellence of the Gamewell fire alarm system, which it is now proposed to introduce into that city. The local councilmen and Chief Sailer explained the workings of the system to them, and commended it highly.

Mrs. Lawler Taken to Wichita.

Deposed United States Marshal Allen has returned from Wichita, where he was with Mrs. Josephine Lawler, under arrest for refusing to obey a summons from the United States court. She was wanted as a witness in the case of her murdered husband. She, herself, was originally arrested for the crime, but was tried and acquitted.

THE "THREE LINKS."

Members of the I. O. O. F. Arriving on Every Train. The meeting of the Sovereign Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., in Denver, Colo., on the nineteenth instant, which calls forth members of the order from all parts of the world, is being felt in Omaha. It could not be otherwise as this is really the pivotal point of the United States and the central stopping place for all those wishing direct communication between the various Pacific coast cities. It is a grand I. O. F. city; its first lawyer, surveyor and postmaster, A. D. Jones, who is living and active to-day, being a prominent member of the fraternity. There will be thousands of gentlemen of this order passing through this city during the next few days. The first delegation came from Iowa yesterday and remained until this morning when they took their departure. Among them were: P. G. M., and wife, Burlington; Herman Blocks, P. G. M., and wife, Davenport; William Garrett, grand secretary and grand scribe, and wife, Miss Mollie Garrett, and Mrs. J. C. Garrett, Burlington; W. T. Holmes, P. G. M., Brooklyn; J. Norwood Clark, past grand representative, and wife, Iowa City; William McCoy, P. G. M., and wife, Pleasant; O. K. Butler, P. G. M., and wife, Indiana; J. K. Powers, P. G. M., and wife, Cedar Rapids. When their special car Merin came over the river to-day the Omaha visitors were: John H. Albert, McKinley, past grand guardian, Broth. Greer, P. G. of Winterset, Ia.; B. L. Van Vechten, P. G. of Winterset, Ia.; Tiek and wife, of Keokuk, Ia.; John Bourke, of Keokuk, Ia.; E. K. Ryley, representative from Omaha, who accompanied the Iowa delegation to Denver. The car Merin was fitted up in elegant style and was in charge of T. Zilliner, one of the most faithful porters in the Pullman service, who will have charge of it during its entire trip. The Sidewalk Question.

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 15.—To the Editor of the Bee: It is a fact, as stated in a late issue of the Bee, that "sidewalk" inspection is now commencing. The construction of one mile of twelve feet sidewalk on both sides of Davenport, Ninth and Sixteenth streets, but a good many of the property owners along that thoroughfare don't understand why Davenport street, only just paved—the assessment not yet having been made—should be singled out for a walk of this width when other thoroughfares much more frequented, and which have had the asphalt down for years, are allowed to remain four, six and eight feet wide that are many instances in which a dilapidated condition, less than six months ago many property owners on Davenport street put down new six-foot walks, being assured by the chairman of the board of public works that the width would be ample for years to come. Now these walks are being thrown out and twelve feet substituted, entailing an expense that seems, in view of the width of walks permitted on paved streets much more used for business and pedestrianism, entirely unnecessary. This new walk was ordered, it is presumed by resolution through the city council, introduced by a member from the Third ward, but unless the work thus begun is extended to all paved streets in his jurisdiction the course will not meet the approval of a united constituency. Two Thousand Lost.

T. G. Thomas, of Battle Mountain, Nev., lost a pocketbook containing $3,000 in the Pullman car Celto while coming eastward on the train which reached this city at 7:50 yesterday. The porter, Charles Clements, found it, and restored it to the owner. The latter said "Thank you," and handed the porter a genuine, regulation size silver dollar. The passenger on the car at once christened him "Old Generosity," and said he must be a relative of the German who lost $500 on a certain occasion, which was afterwards found by a newsboy and given to its owner. The finder's reward was "Well, do bust an honest boy and should get some reward, so come in and let's shake dice for de drinks."

Reclaiming An Erring Daughter.

James Crandall and wife, an aged couple, called at the house of ill resort resided over by one Stella Young Wednesday found their wayward daughter, Kitte Crandall. A week ago she left her home and was traced to the Young place. She signified a desire to accompany her parents and discontinue the life she was leading, but was too sick to be removed. She will be reclaimed by her parents immediately upon her recovery.

Found Salt.

Harry B. Morse and S. Earnest Morse, sons of A. D. Morse, of this city, according to information received here, have discovered on property of theirs, a vein of salt, near Brookerville, Kansas. It is said that the vein is 150 feet thick and that the town has gone crazy over the event.
