CUPID AMONG TOMBSTONES.

What Three Little Boys Saw In a New Jersey Cometery.

REV. GLAZEBROOK'S ESCAPADE.

He Developes An Illicit Fondaces For a Wealthy Lady Parishioner-Wife and Children Shamed-Some Realistic Testimony.

"We Caught You." New York, Sept. 24.—|Special Tele-tram to the Ber.]—Very damaging testi-mony was given at Durham, Conn., against the Rev. Otis A. Glazebrook, pastor of St. John's church, Elizabeth, N. J., who it is alleged was discovered in flagrante delicto with Miss Foote, a wealthy parishioner, in a cemetery at Durham, in which village both were spending the summer. The investi-ration was conducted by a committee from St. John's church.

Mrs. Brainard, with whom Glazebrook, his ife and daughter and Miss Foote boarded, stined that she had often seen Miss Foote alone with Glazebrook in his room. H. I. Baldwin testified that he saw Miss

Foote lying on the bank of a pond with a man he believed to be Rev. Glazebrook beside

Mrs. Sylvester sald she saw Glazebrook sevbral times wave his hat towards Miss Foote's window as a signal to her to come out. One time they went up a lonely lane together, and when Glazebrook saw the witness he dodged into the bushes. Bradford Hatham, one of the boys who saw what took place in the cemetery, said: "Miss Hooker told Fred Atwell and me that she saw Mr. Glazebrook go into the cemetery. We went to the cemetery and heard Mr. Glaze-brook and Miss Foote talking. We sat down behind a tomostone and saw Mr. Glazebrook and Miss Foote in a questionable position. shouted, and Glazebrook rolled over and ran down the lot, jumping over fences, with-

Fred Atwell told the same story.

The committee went to the cemetery and the boys pointed out the spot where Glazebrook and Miss Foote were and described their positions. Two of the committee assumed the position described while the others went behind the tombstone where the boys were and it was found that they could have seen what they described from their hiding places.

Alonzo Rogers, another boy, who was in the cemetery, testified that Glazebrook's per-son was exposed when he jumped up. Miss Kober testified that she saw Glaze-brook and Miss Foote go into the cemetery on the day mentioned by the boys.

Miss Fannie Parsons said she saw Glaze-trook running up the law without a hat on prook running up the lane without a hat on the afternoon of the escapade.

Miss Nellie Matheson and Miss Hickson aw Miss Foote coming hurriedly from the commetery about the same time. The committee returned to Elizabeth to-night to report on what they learned.

After a prolonged examnation of five days and two nights, in which Sstelle of Omaha and Norton of Hot Springs acted as counsel for the prosecution, and Coad of Rapid City and Wilson of this place were counsel for the defense, the defendant was discharged. From the first the sympathy of the whole country has been with the defendant, as been with the defendant, and every one believes that the prosecution as attempted to cloak her shortcomings by prosecuting an innocent negro. The decision of Justice Wood in discharging the defendant gives universal satisfaction. On being discharged the defendant commenced an action against the allead cattle queen for the sum of $20,000 damages for defamation of sharacter and false imprisonment.

Upon.
SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 24.—[Special Telbgram to the BEE.]—A few of the delegates to the Democratic state convention, which will be held here on Tuesday, arrived to-day. They say that the slate of nominations which has been made by a series of compromises between Cleveland and Hill democrats is as follows: For secretary of state, Frederick Cook, of Rochester; for attorney gen-bral, William A. Poucher, of Oswego; for somptroller, Edward Whimple, of Fulton-ville; for state treasurer, Lawrence J. Fitz-gerald; for state engineer, John Bogert, of New York. Secretary Cook and Treasurer Fitzgerald do not desire a renomination, but Fitzgerald do not desire a renomination, but the party managers say they must take it. They say Cook's name is needed to catch, if possible, the German votes, and Fitzgerald's is needed to catch the Irish vote. Having agreed on a state ticket, the main object of the Hill faction will be to capture the state committee, which at present controls the fed-eral machine. It is doubtful if the governor can overturn the majority against him.

EVANSNILLE, Ind., Sept. 24.—At the close of the blue and gray reunion here yesterday evening letters were read from Governor J. E. Jordon, of Georgia, United States Senator S. M. The two first named were representatives from two sections and were heartly received. They express the same sentiments, commending the purpose of the reunion and tending to obliterate all dissensions growing out of the civil war.

PORTER'S SUCCESSOR. William R. Cox a Candidate For the Position.

Washington, Sept. 24.—[Special Telegram to the BEE.]—It was said at the state department to-day that one of the names which is being considered in connection with the appointment of an assistant secre-tary of state in place of ex-Governor Porter, who recently resigned, is that of Mr. William R. Cox, of North Carolina. Mr. Cox was a representative in the Forty-eighth and Fortyninth congresses, and was a member of the house committee on foreign affairs. He paid a great deal of attention to the consular service, while a member of the committee, and it is believed that his investigations into consular affairs make him particularly fitted for the place lately occupied by Governor Porter. The first assistant secretary of state has entire charge of the consular service, and it is essential assistant secretary of state has entire charge of the consular service, and it is essential that the incumbent of the office should have a thorough knowledge of the duties of the commercial representatives of the United States stationed abroad. Mr. Cox was a member of the committee on civil service reform. In that position he was very active in opposing the various bills which were offered for the repeal of the l'endieton act and was regarded as a firm believer in the theory of civil service reform of the existing brand. It was reported and generally believed that his devotion to his principles in this respect resulted in his defeat for renomination. The president is reported to be anxious to do something for Mr. Cox, and for this reason it is probable that he may be selected for the place. It is denied at the department that the president has offered the assistant secretaryship to Mr. Perry Belmont.

The committee consisted of some of the best people of the place. The fire occurred last October. Money and clothing were sent from all parts of the country. It is said that about $55,000 in cast was sent, besides immense quantities of tood and clothing. It is said that those who had charge of the distribution of these things took the best of them to their own houses and put the sufferers by the fire off with whatever they liked to give them. It is also claimed that the committee loaned much of the money at low rates of interest instead of distributing it.

THREATENED BY DYNAMITE.

A Night Watchman's Discovery Creates Sensation at Oskaloosa. Ia.

FOUND A DEADLY CARTRIDGE.

One of the Leading Firms Ordered to Leave Under Penalty of Being Blown To Pieces-Other lows News.

A Dynamiter's Warning. OSKALOOSA, Ia., Sept. 24 .- This city is inensely excited at the discovery of a large dynamite cartridge at the door of the clothng house of 1. Frankel & Co. The cartridge was wrapped closely in paper, and attached to the wrapper was another paper with the following written upon it:

"Settle up your business and leave in thirty days or you will be blowed to hellyourself, also your fine stock, building and all—before Christmas. Go! Go! Go! To I. Feankel & Bach. Dyno 100 lbs for Oska-

This was discovered by night-watchman Harvey at 2 o'clock in the morning. About three weeks ago a similar cartridge was found in the same place by the same watchman with percussion cap and about two feet of fuse to it. The one found last night contained no cap or fose. The first cartridge was examined and found to contain sufficient tained no cap or fuse. The first cartridge was examined and found to contain sufficient nitro-glycerine to destroy the entire block of buildings. The latest find proves to be of greater force than the first one. Everyone is asking what this means. Very many incline to the opinion that no harm is intended by the persecutors; that it is only done to frighten the people or to compel the employment of more policemen at night. The present force is inexcusably weak and ineffective and the opinion prevails largely in the community that this is only a means resorted to by some unknown person or persons to incite the city authorities to greater activity and efficiency in the apprehension of criminals. I. Frankel & Co. are large clothlers, and the firm consists of 1. Frankel and E. Bach. They have been in this business since 1861, and have done well. In 1873 they went into the banking business and have made that a success. I. Frankel and E. Bach are recognized as conservative but safe and reliable business men, who have grown into the confidence of our entire people, and but few enjoy this confidence to a greater degree. They own their banking house but not their store room adjoining the bank of Richard Parker, a retired farmer. In this threat at their lives and business they have the sincere sympathy of all. What have the sincere sympathy of all. What steps, I any, will be taken by the city authorities to ferret out this apparent diabolism remains to be seen.

BEASLEY'S ARREST! A Romance in Which the Minstrel is Beasley for burglary in Cedar Rapids, Is., has created food for gossip for some residents of Hoboken acquainted with the history of a certain wedding ceremony in which he was a principal. Beasley appeared in Cronhelm's theatre, Hoboken, last May with a minstrel troupe. Miss Frances Koster, an exceedingly pretty girl, seventeen years old, visited the theatre and became acquainted with Beasley. He was thirty-seven years old, good looking, and possessed a captivating manner. He made love to the girl, and at the end of a week proposed marriage and was accepted. At the time the girl's father was on a visit to the Pacific coast. Her mother met Beasley and considered him so captivating that she consented to the marriage. The couple went to live with the girl's mother. A few weeks after the ceremony the girl's father returned home. He did not take to Beasley left, and the next heard of him was his arrest for burglary. A FIELD DAY FOR DIVORCES. Five Chicago Judges Engaged All Day in Separating Couples.

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—[Special Telegram to the BEE.]—This city has to-day, it is asserted, broken the record in divorce cases From morning till evening five judges were at work. Over one hundred cases were disosed of. Over two hundred persons, martyrs to wedlock, wanted their matrimonial existence judicially murdered, and 400 or 500 sympathizing friends were on hand to witness the executions. It was the biggest day's work the divorce mills have had in a long time. Marriage knots were shattered between ill-matched couples with more than the usual celerity of Chicago divorce courts, and for every possible reason. One of the gray-haired judges after court shook his head sadly and said something surely was radically wrong these days. He didn't know what the world was coming to.

A Chicago Judge Allows Her to Go On Her Own Recognizance.
Chicago, Sept. 23.—(Special Telegram to the Bra.)—The general expression of opinion by the public to-day regarding the Lucy Parsons incident is that; the arrest was an OMAHA ONCE MORE A WINNER, unwise proceeding. It would have been bet-ter, it is argued, to stretch an ordinance which is almost a dead letter, than to give Hastings Again Defeated-Topeka Takes Two Games From Denver-

"What have you to say, Madam?" asked

Justice Lyon. When Mrs. Parsons spoke her voice had not the old defiant ring. It did not falter, but there was a tremor in it. "I have lived here 15 years," she said, "and bardly a day has passed but circulars bave been thrust into my hands. I do not know whether I have violated any ordinances or not. I leave that with your honor. I simply ask of you that you will treat me as you would have your wife treated if her nusband were where Tears stood in the eyes of some who heard Tears stood in the eyes of some who heard these words.

"I do not know you," said Justice Lyons, "but I know how solemn is your position, and I respect it. I shall not judge you until I have read the circular and read it thoroughly. You may go, Mrs. Parsons, on your own recognizance."

She made her way to the office of a labor paper and read the comments of the morning papers on her arrest. She had no remarks to make about it, but she evidently liked the increased notoriety the affair has given her. Parsons was called on by a reporter and informed of the disposition made of his wife's case at the Armory. The manifesto writer was thankful for the information, but would vouchsafe no word of comment regarding it. "I have nothing to say," and he resumed his walk in the farther end of the corridor, apart from his fellow prisoners. The boycott put on Parsons on account of his appeal is quite noticeable. The others were chatting together, while he walked alone, and when the reporter asked one of them to call Parsons to get a message about his wife, the request was granted very rejuctantly.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—J. He said that the passengers' baggage would have 'to be 'very thoroughly funigated, as considerable danger would have to be feared from that source.

WEEKLY BUSINESS REVIEW.

More Attention.

INCREASED DEMAND FOR MONEY

Bankers Report Rates of Interest Firmer and Higher-Grain Stocks Small-Western Packing Progressing Favorably.

In the Commercial World.

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—[Special Telegram to the BEE.]—Local financial affairs attracted a little more attention during the past week. Bankers as a rule reported an increased demand for money, and the market showed a ittle tendency to closeness. Yet parties who are in good repute with banks succeeded in obtaining such accommodations as they required. A good supply of loanable funds are in the hands of managers of leading financial institutions, but the approach of the winter packing season, when manufacturers of hog products require some assistance financially, and the constant flow of currency to the country for the movement of grain and live stock to market, leads to considerable conservatism in the disposal of money at their command. Speculators were moderate borrowers and the amount of paper from this source was somewhat enlarged during the week. Shippers of grain and provisions presented very little paper for discount. Merchants in the wholesale trade in-creased their demands and leading houses were readily accommodated. Lumber dealers were moderate borrowers on short date paper. Some outside paper was offered on the market, backed by good collaterals and syort dates were accepted at rates averaging 9 per cent. Rates of interest were firmer and higher, ranging at 660% per cent on call and 6608 per cent for time paper, with very little accepted at less than 7 per cent. Money at accepted at less than 7 per cent. Money at eastern financial centers is extremely close and interest rates are firm at 5.06 per cent. Advices from foreign markets indicated a steadier feeling in that quarter, with a better demand for loans at about previous rates of interest. New York exchange was dull and dragging throughout the week and sales were limited. Offerings were not very large and the demand was moderate. Sales between banks were made at 50@70 cents discount per $10,000, and the market closed quiet at 70 cents discount. Foreign exchange showed a little more steadiness during the past week, though the aggregate business was light. Silippers' sixty days documentary bills on London changed hands at $4.78@4.78½ and closed rather dull at $4.78@4.78½. Offerings were quite large near the close, owing to the increased purchase of stocks at New York.

More life was manifested in the New York stock market during the week just closed. Wall street operators were inclined to trade with considerable freedom, though mainly in the way of accepting small losses or profits. Foreign operators were liberal buyers of some of the leading American securities. Western speculators have traded more freely than for several weeks past and were credited with making fair profits in their operations. The market was considerably unsettled and prices very irregular and averaged lower for leading properties. Sales on the New York stock exchange for the week aggregated 2,19,191 shares. On the Chicago stock exchange during the week, there was more inclination to trade and prices closely followed the New York quotations.

More life was manifested in the leading eastern financial centers is extremely close ing the week, there was more inclination to trade and prices closely followed the New York quotations.

More life was manifested in the leading produce markets, and speculative trading was larger than for several weeks past. Wheat, corn and provisions especially attracted more attention, and on two or three days activity exhibited reminded operators of the exciting times in speculative circles a few years ago. There appeared to be more trading in large quantities; both by local and outside operators, and the impression is gaining ground that arf active speculative movement is about to be inaugurated and trade revived materially.

Stocks of grain are not large, in fact, they have been reduced so they can be easily handled by leading operators, and moderate supplies tend to make speculators on the "short" side quite guarded in their transactions. Quick turns have been the rule in very many cases. Prices exhibited no very marked changes and fluctuations have been conlined within a moderate range. Foreign advices within a moderate range. Foreign advices have shown more steadiness, with higher prices for some articles, but orders from merchants abroad have been limited and in most instances below the views of sellers. Receipts of grain have been moderately free at all western markets and shipments to eastern and foreign markets were quite liberal.

Provisions have shown some weakness in view of the liberal supply of hogs and the decline in corn, but at the same time stocks have been materially reduced by liberal shipments to domestic and foreign markets. Packing in the west is progressing favorably and the decrease for the season is very slight.

A Battle With Smugglers.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 24 .- [Special Telegram to the Bee.j-A posse was sent from the United States Marshal's office to Rio Grande City a few days ago to capture a gang of smugglers who were encamped about fifty miles from Laredo. They found the camp in the brush near the river and the de-mand for surrender was answered by a volley from Winchesters. A battle followed, re-sulting in the death of four of the smugglers and the capture of the camp and a number of horses. The rest of the smugglers ca-
