

PICKED UP ABOUT THE CITY.

Assertions and Speculations as Regards the Omaha and Council Bluffs Bridge.

ITS APPROACH STILL IN DOUBT.

Disagreeing Contractors Bring Their Troubles into Court—Marriages of Omahans in Other Places—A Highway Assault.

The Bridge Affair Again.

Frank Murphy told a Bee reporter yesterday that a meeting of the Omaha and Council Bluffs Bridge company had been held and it had been shown, as already mentioned in these columns that Vice President Potter had removed his objection to the building of the approaches on Douglas street.

"Will you then build on Douglas street?" asked the reporter.

"I cannot state on what street we will build."

"A few days ago there was a corps of engineers running a line on lower Farnam street, were they working for you?"

"Oh, yes, we've been running lines on Farnam, Douglas and Dodge streets."

"Does not the ordinance proposed restrict you to Douglas and Farnam street?"

"No, we were not restricted to those streets. The matter will in all probability come up at the meeting of the council, to-morrow night."

The ordinance referred to was introduced by Mr. Ford, and was drawn up by Judge Lake, in the interest of the Omaha and Council Bluffs Bridge company, and it is known, especially insisted upon the selection of either Douglas or Farnam street on which the approach should be built. It further required that work on the approaches be completed inside of two months after the passage of the ordinance.

"I don't think it is intended at all to build this bridge, by the people now named in connection with it," said a railroad man yesterday. "They may make pretenses enough to secure other people to take their bonds, but it is almost certain that Frank Murphy, Joe Millard and Guy Barton are not going to build it with their money. Suppose they do just as the ordinance requires, if that should pass to-morrow night, it would be the middle of December before they would be compelled to strike a pick, and you well know how much work in the earth they could do at that time of the year."

DISTRICT COURT DOINGS.

A Big Day's Business Transacted by the Judges.

The jury in the case of Camp versus Swift, which has been on trial for two days, returned a verdict of five cents in favor of the plaintiff. The defendant, who is one of Omaha's oldest citizens, thinks he will be able to pay the judgment.

The case of the state against Thomas McGrover for assault with intent to wound, is on trial before Judge Groff. The defendant is accused of stabbing an old man named Erick Harsing, on Tenth street, September 10, 1886. The wounded man was in St. Joseph's hospital for several weeks, and at one time it was feared his injuries would prove fatal. The police give McGrover a very bad character.

Judge Wakeley heard the action of Leonard H. Case against J. B. Ayer yesterday afternoon at 10 o'clock for the recovery of $4,000 on account.

Hans S. Nelson filed a petition yesterday against Julia F. Easton and others, for the foreclosure of a mechanic's lien.

The J. T. Benson company filed an action yesterday afternoon against William Coburn, sheriff, for the return of the possession of certain goods in replevin, and also $3,000 damages.

CASES COMPLETED.

Nathan Bailey commenced an action yesterday morning against Mary E. Overlander on a promissory note for $140.25, and alleging that she is a non-resident.

Another attachment case was that of Frank Victor, Thomas Achilles, Carl Victor and John Achilles of New York against Bernhard Wolf, Abraham Wolf and Joseph Sugarman. The claim is for merchandise advanced and delivered, the amount being $193.54. It is alleged the defendants are non residents of Douglas county.

Joseph W. Padlock has commenced suit against William Kolbe, in a transaction growing out of an agreement to sell 220 lambs at $3.25 each, which is alleged was not fulfilled, and a claim for $308 is made.

A BIG CASE.

Jeremiah Ryan, a well-known contractor, has commenced an action against Edward Walsh. This is a partnership trouble, and the parties have the contract at present for the erection of the new county hospital at a cost of $75,000. The plaintiff alleges that since he entered into partnership with Mr. Walsh, March 14, 1887, the latter has been financially irresponsible. A further allegation is that Ryan was to have entire control of the financial part of the business; also that Walsh, disregarding his agreement, has made large collections which he failed to account for to the plaintiff; the plaintiff also says he is responsible for the fulfillment of several important contracts, payment of employes, for material, etc., and if Walsh is not restrained from acting as he is doing the plaintiff will be ruined in his business.

Judge Wakeley granted an order returnable for a hearing Monday, October 10, at 10 a. m., restraining the defendant from making any collections or interfering in any way with the financial part of the business. As several of the wealthiest men in the city are interested in this partnership as sureties, and the firm has the building of the new county hospital, these court proceedings have created no little sensation.

JOHN A. FREYHAN'S CASE.

Yesterday morning it was thought that an end would be put to the celebrated John A. Freyhan case, which has been dragging through the courts for some months past. Some time ago a judgment was rendered in the district court against Freyhan and in favor of the Anderson Nelson distillers, and a decree was issued out of the county court in favor of Lewis A. Groff, Carroll S. Montgomery, as against Freyhan, and also in favor of the Omaha National bank. The stock, comprising cigars, liquors, cigars and fixtures, was levied upon. The goods were subject to a chattel mortgage. For a time they were out of sight. Finally it was thought they were discovered at 623 North Sixteenth street, where a saloon was being run by one Sam M. McFraith. The stock found there was levied upon and the sheriff fixed to-day for the sale, the claim being $6,388.15, with $61.81 costs with interest. But the sale did not take place. The goods were replevied by Margaret Antshuler, a sister of Mr. Freyhan, who, it is stated, claims to be the surety of her brother to Westheimer & Co., of St. Joe, Mo. This case is thus made more involved than ever.

Omahans Meted.

Clement Chase, editor of the Excelsior of this city, was married yesterday morning in Santa Ana, Cal., to Miss Lulu Edwards, a young lady with whom he has been acquainted several years. The ceremony was witnessed by a number of the friends and relatives of the bride, together with the father of the groom, C. S. Chase, Miss Fannie Butterfield, Mrs. James M. Woolworth, Miss Bessie Hall, and Mr. Paul Horbach who was groomsmen. The bride's train was by way of San Francisco, Salt Lake and Denver, and terminated in Omaha about November 1.

TILSON-ABBOTT.

Mr. George W. Tilson, city engineer of Omaha, was married yesterday to Mary E. Abbott, in Lancaster, New Hampshire. Mr. and Mrs. Tilson will arrive in Omaha about the middle of this month and take up their residence at 605 Twenty-eighth street.

FITCH-SELLIVAN.

W. H. Fitch, who for nearly seven years has been connected with the Bee, was married in Lincoln on October 1 to Miss Anna Sullivan. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John Davescher of this city, and took place in St. Theresa's church, Lincoln. The bride is a native of Cincinnati and a very accomplished woman. She is young and beautiful, a linguist, a great literary in French, Latin and German, besides being an eloquent and of wonderful natural force and attainment.

Mr. and Mrs. Fitch will be at home at 315 Grand street after October 10.

POLICE COURT BUSINESS.

Yesterday morning Judge Berka disposed of the following: J. E. Kelley, D. Delehow, W. Woodruff, G. A. Gustus—all vagrants by continuing the first two cases and discharging the rest. Nellie Warner and Mrs. Clark, for walking the streets, were dismissed. John Meyers, Dr. Castro, Patsy Bolivar, all drunks, discharged. Cyrus Houser said he had been drunk for a week, and no one in the room had the least doubt of the claim. He was fined $3 and costs and went to jail a couple of days to sober up. C. Olsen, drunk, discharged. A. Blinquist, drunk, $5 and costs. Tom Crosby, drunk, continued until October 8, at 10 a. m. Pat Rockbud, who claimed to be the "Rocky Mountain Skipper," drunk, took eight days in jail; James Beifield gave himself up because he had the "snakes," and was sent to jail for eight days. John McIntyre, drunk, ten days, first five on bread and water.

Frank Black, a German tailor, for assault and battery, had a jail sentence given him, but Dr. Ralph thought he was too bad a condition to go there, so he was sent to the hospital to recover.

Thomas Williams, colored, who stole a horse at Rock Island, Ill., some time ago, and fled the state, was sent back yesterday afternoon. Upon the warrant being read to him, he said he was willing to go back without a requisition. Perhaps the formality of the document deterred him, thinking it was useless to hold out against a whole state.

Street Blockaded.

Black & McCann, excavating contractors, who are at work on the corner of Farnam and Seventeenth streets, are very wrothy against the board of public works. They claim that they have been hauling the dirt taken from the place named above, where they have been working, to Twentieth street; furthermore, that the latter street was fenced in by the board of public works, so that no travel can be had on it. Black & McCann claim that this blockade is entirely unnecessary, and that no satisfaction can be obtained from the board of public works, although the damage to them is very great. Mr. Black says the members of the board will have to stand a lawsuit if they do not open the street at once, for he has thirteen teams and twenty-five men lying idle in consequence.

Too Much Delay at the Postoffice.

OMAHA, Oct. 4.—To the Editor of the Bee: I have had the misfortune to be one of the many who have their mail addressed, care general delivery, Omaha, and for the past week have had to take my turn behind a number ranging from twenty to thirty men—a loss of at least twenty minutes twice a day. Is it not a shame in a city like Omaha, that a better system is not instituted? I would humbly suggest that some of those men occupying chairs at the stamp and register letter window, be made to do duty and allow the very patient, and hard working young woman at the general delivery, a few moments rest. It is cruel and inhuman to say the least. Notice in other cities a chair is provided for this important clerk too. A TRAVELER.

Looks Like Business.

William A. Stiles, president of the Van Derpoel Electric manufacturing company, Chicago, was in the city yesterday in consultation with Dr. Mercer regarding the equipment of the motor line. He took a trip over the streets upon which tracks have already been laid, and pronounced the work so far done as being first-class. The nature and result of Mr. Stiles' visit to Dr. Mercer could not be ascertained. The only answer to reportorial queries was, "We are in business, and you will see cars running by and by in Omaha before the snow flies this year."

Omaha Medical College.

Yesterday the seventh annual meeting of the Omaha Medical college took place at Twelfth and Pacific streets. At this year's commencement the future opens out in a most satisfactory manner. During the year past there were seven graduates, and a much larger number is expected to become full fledged doctors in the present year. Many improvements have been recently made in the college. The laboratory has been greatly changed for the better, and many other notable additions made. The annual address was delivered by Professor Gibbs.

Assaulted on the Highway.

Tuesday a man named Snyder, who is employed by John Stave, the milkman on the military road, was seriously assaulted at the corner of Lowe and Mercer avenues. At the place named he brushed against a buggy containing a well-known builder of this city and a man named Moran. The wheel of the vehicle was somewhat damaged. Then both parties in the buggy jumped out and gave Snyder a terrible beating using bricks and sticks in the assault. Snyder was reported in a precarious condition yesterday.

Coming to Omaha.

Mr. Eaton, a lawyer from Oshkosh, Wis., has been in the city since Saturday and has been looking over every object of interest in a critical way. His intention is to come here and practice law. He says he has traveled over the country to a considerable extent and he has found no city west of Chicago that is giving such evidences of genuine prosperity. He is amazed, he says, at the amount of substantial building now under way, as well as the private residences that are being built.

Direct From Cork.

Pat Desmond had a party of friends at the depot yesterday to welcome a barrel of genuine Irish whiskey from Cork, which is the first of the kind ever imported to this city. A singular coincidence was that the package arrived on the meeting day of the democratic convention.

Sold by the Sheriff.

The property of the West Davenport Furniture company was sold by the sheriff yesterday at the premises formerly occupied on Fourteenth street.

COUNTY DEMOCRATS.

Delegates Chosen to the Judicial Convention.

The democratic county convention for the purpose of electing delegates to the state convention, met at the city hall yesterday afternoon. Outside of the delegates, there was a slim attendance. In the absence of the chairman of the central committee, the convention was called to order by Louis Heimrod. James G. Megenath was chosen temporary chairman and W. H. Stansious secretary.

Messrs. Ford, Anderson, Montgomery, Goodrich and Desmond were appointed by the chair to act as committee on credentials. The committee reported favorably on all the credentials presented. It was discovered that three precincts—Florence, Union and Jefferson—were unrepresented. It was decided that in the absence of any one delegate, the remainder of the delegation were to cast his vote.

Mr. Montgomery moved that nominations be made to the state judicial convention of the Third district. Carried. It was also moved and carried that in making such nominations each ward and precinct in Omaha were to choose two delegates each, and the delegates were to be one each. The following delegates were chosen:
