STILL IN SECRET SESSION.

The Outcome of the Railroad Rate Conference Remains a Matter of Conjecture—Lincoln and the Registration Law—Brevities.

[FROM THE BEE'S LINCOLN BUREAU.]
The Presbyterian synod continued its interesting session yesterday with a marked increase in attendance. The moderator, Rev. F. Johnson, of St. Paul, presided at the sessions with ability.

One of the features of yesterday's proceedings was the report from the two denominational colleges in the state, those at Hastings and Bellevue. The report of Hastings' college was especially flattering and cheering, showing a wide awake and energetic faculty and a constant increase in the attendance and support of the school. The report from Bellevue college, while not showing the rapid advance and progress of the Hastings college, was quite satisfactory and showed increased interest being taken in the institution. At 10 o'clock yesterday Dr. Cooper, of St. Louis, addressed the synod on the question of the relief fund for aged ministers. The address was listened to with the greatest of attention and was eloquent and masterly. In the afternoon the rush of business was to close up matters as nearly as practical prior to final adjournment that takes place Monday morning.

By far the most animated discussion yet held during the session has been upon the temperance resolutions as presented by that committee. The discussion was over the 21st resolution, which reads as follows: "We believe the licensing of saloons by the state not only encourages the crimes committed by the saloons but it opens up the way by which they are enabled to sweep like the tornado over our fair land, filling our almshouses and penitentiaries with their victims."

This resolution was warmly opposed by members of the synod because it was practically a declaration in favor of abolishing the present license system and in favor of better control of saloons. Members of the synod, while stating their desire for total and absolute prohibition, did not believe that the body should go on record as a favor of a free whisky, rather than no license at all. It took several hours to dispose of the question, and the final disposition will not be made until Friday evening of this week.

The Lincoln Chautauque circle holds its second meeting Friday evening of this week with the following programme: "A Lesson in History," Mrs. E. W. Edwards; Reading, "The Norman Conquest," Mrs. C. M. W. Allen; report, "Blood and Water," Mrs. Isaac Johnson; Conversation, "The Homes of Some New England Authors," read by Mrs. H. F. Smith; News items, Mrs. C. M. Parker; Query box, Mr. Aitken.

The coming two evenings present attractions at the Funks opera house no less than "The Lincoln Centennial," "Mary Stuart," and "The South Sea Islands" on Tuesday evening in "Hewiched," Maggie Mitchell Wednesday evening at the same house in "The Artist's Dream."

Chairman Billingsley, of the republican county committee, has prepared a list of appointments for republican meetings in Lancaster county, commencing on the eighth and continuing until election day. The campaign will be short but very vigorous. Lincoln people evidently do not desire to retire from an association of bad players, and Manager Rowe, after securing a franchise in the new western association for Lincoln, ought to be sustained with power to sign a winning club. A meeting will be held on Wednesday evening to take definite steps for or against the coming season.

WEEKLY BUSINESS REVIEW.

A Good Demand for Money Reported By Bankers.

THE SUPPLY OF FUNDS AMPLE.

More Than Usual Activity Shown in the New York Stock Market—Stocks of Grain Gradually Enlarging.

In the Commercial World.
[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE BEE.]—Bankers report a good demand for money, with a tendency to a little closeness as the packing season approaches and colder weather appears. The supply of loanable funds, however, is ample to meet all legitimate requirements, but bankers as a rule are pursuing a very conservative and safe policy, and borrowers are required to place unobscured security for all sums. The stringency in the eastern markets may be accepted as a warning to western bankers and they propose to have their funds well under control should any unforeseen, though not anticipated, disturbing elements be presented in financial affairs. Rather wide margins are required, which in some cases occasioned some grumbling, but borrowers were generally sufficiently anxious to obtain bank favors that they readily complied with all the requirements demanded. Among speculators in grain and provisions the demand for loans was light and smaller than for some time past. Grain receivers were borrowers to a certain extent, and considerable money was followed to the grain sections of the west and northwest. Shippers asked for few favors and generally presented short date paper. Lumber dealers are not asking for many favors, as their trade is comparatively quiet. Manufacturers present very little paper for discount. Wholesale merchants are large borrowers in a few cases in the way of extension of paper, owing to rather slow collections in some sections. Rates of interest are steady and unchanged, though very firm at 6 to 7 per cent. Very little paper is discounted under 7 per cent. Collections are reported good in some quarters. Money continues close in the eastern financial centers, especially in Boston, New York and Philadelphia, and extreme rates of interest are demanded, excepting for loans on gilt-edged securities. Foreign markets show a little more strength, with interest rates a trifle higher. The flow of gold to this country continues, and the specie in governmental banks exhibits a further material decrease. This will probably be of short duration, as it is understood that consignments of bonds to this country have been quite liberal during the past week. The New York stock market showed more than usual activity during the week just closed. Trading in a general way was more active, but the feeling was greatly unsettled and prices ruled with considerable irregularity and averaged decidedly lower. There was more inclination to realize than for several weeks past, and the market was greatly depressed. The bulls were forced to place their property on the market at severe losses, and the bears assisted the weakness by increasing their offerings. The earnings of leading lines cut the figure in the course of prices. For the time being it appeared to be only a question of losses, and all the leading properties shared in the general decline. Toward the close the downward tendency in prices was checked, temporarily at least, and in most cases slight rallies were gained. Wall street operators were liberal traders, especially in round lots. Chicago speculators leaned to the bear side of the market and traded with considerable freedom. Foreign operators sold quite liberally, as the leading scale. The unsettled feeling regarding the affairs of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company has extended to stocks generally and no doubt

A Crank Causes a Run On a Rich Leadville Bank.

LEADVILLE, Colo., Oct. 15.—[Special Telegram to the Bee.]—The city has been in great excitement all day over a big run on the Carbonate bank, one of the largest in the city. Mr. Mitchell, the cashier, was in Denver yesterday and sent up a large amount of money which saved the bank from having to temporarily close its doors. The run was caused by one William Fletcher who by some is supposed to be insane and who is an enemy of the concern. For several days past he has been going among the thousands of miners in camp telling them the bank was insolvent and would close in a few days. The report spread like wildfire and early this morning a turbulent crowd of depositors gathered in a surging mass around the doors and when they were opened the anticipated run began and continued without diminution until 2 o'clock, when there was not a depositor in front of the paying teller's window. The demands came entirely from miners and working men holding certificates of deposit. The management displayed a magnificent courage and when the bank was nearly all of them displayed confidence in the bank by depositing large amounts. The money from this class aggregated a larger amount than was ever before received in a single day. The management displayed a magnificent courage in the day announcing that the bank would remain open until 5 o'clock to meet demands, which had the effect of reassuring many depositors awaiting the closing of the bank. The man who started the false reports about the bank was hoisted upon a tar barrel in the street appropriately inscribed and created in the opinion of the city a great deal of amusement. Fletcher remains here, but he may be roughly used. The bank will open Monday morning stronger, if possible, than on the day of the run. The resources of the bank, according to its statement published October 11, are $1,040,522.05.

THE CROW DIFFICULTY.

Matters Growing Serious and Bloodshed Momentarily Expected.

BILLINGS, Mont., Oct. 15.—[Special Telegram to the Bee.]—The Crows are seemingly preparing for a fight with the Northern warriors well mounted and armed arrived at Crow agency yesterday. Their object in this visit is not known as they are deadly enemies. Their influence for evil is feared. Special Agent Armstrong arrived to-day. The agency is still guarded by troops. An Indian runner, who arrived in the Yellowstone valley to-day, reported that a band of Crow and other Indians were holding a big war dance on the south side of the reservation in Wyoming and were killing rangers' cattle. Armstrong's action is anxiously awaited by settlers in this section. General Howard, now making investigations officially at the Crow agency, says that unless ordered by the agency awaiting the Crows, the Indian insubordinates will be made and bloodshed will follow. Swordbearer, at the head of 300 braves, is camped within gunshot of the agency awaiting the Crows. Swordbearer is gaining strength daily, and much uneasiness is felt by the settlers. The Indians at the agency are sullen and unconformable.

A CRAZY WOMAN'S FREAKS.

She Attempts to Commit Both Murder and Suicide.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Oct. 15.—[Special Telegram to the Bee.]—There was brought before the county court to-day a woman, about forty years of age, who has already served two terms in the asylum and who yesterday attempted to drown herself, and failing in this, tried to kill her thirteen-year old son. The woman's name is Celia Benson, and she resides in Maryville, Nodaway county. She had four children living in this city, the oldest of whom is a boy about eighteen years of age. The children live along the banks of the river near the railroad bridge. Yesterday Mrs. Benson came from Maryville and going directly to the hut, threw herself from the bank into the river. She was rescued by some men and taken to the hut and locked in a room. She is now under the care of Dr. Benson, son of William, one of a pair of twins, thirteen years old, to her and knocking out a pane of glass from the window, told him she wanted to shake hands. She then consented, and grabbing him tightly around the wrist she wrenched his arm trying to pull him into the window and declaring she would kill him. The boy, however, did not bring the other children to his assistance and he was liberated. The woman was sent back to Maryville to-day. She has only been out of the asylum a few months.

The Secret of Vice President Potter's Visits to St. Paul.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 15.—[Special Telegram to the Bee.]—Thomas Potter, vice president of the Northern Pacific, and J. A. Munroe, general freight agent of the same road, were here to-day and held a conference with J. J. Hill, president of the Manitoba, relative to the expected cut of rates by the latter to Montana points. This is Mr. Potter's second visit to St. Paul within two weeks on the same errand. Mr. Potter's errand is to persuade Hill to hold a conference with the Manitoba rates for the territory. The Manitoba rates of $2 per ton for the route to Helena and the whole territory of the Northern Pacific southward is consequently will disturb all its competitors. It is understood that the Manitoba officials agreed to consider the matter further. All the transcontinental lines are interested in the question, but as the Northern Pacific is the nearest to the coast, it is left to Mr. Potter to try and fix things up, the Northern Pacific, of course, lending him all the aid possible. The policy of the Manitoba is to hold a conference with the Northern Pacific, and not otherwise. It has been little known until the present season, for the reason that it had things its own way heretofore, having had no competition for rates adopted on the coast. The consideration of the matter will not be adopted.
