The President in Atlanta.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 18.-The presidential party did not retire until 2 o'clock this morning, it having been found impossible to get their baggage to their rooms through the crowds, which early this morning could be seen sleeping on the floors and stairways of the hotel.

At 11 this morning President Collins and Vice President Grady, of the exposition, called at the president's rooms and escorted the president, Mrs. Cleveland and Postmaster General Vilas to the capitol, where they were received by Governor Gorwhere they were received by Governor Gor-don. The visiting governors, supreme court of the state, members of the governor's staff, United States officials, municipal authorities and members of the legislature were pre-sented to the city's guests. This ceremony over the visitors, escorted by Senators Brown and Colquitt, and accompanied by the institute graves and many other prove of visiting governors and many other people of distinction, proceeded to the exposition grounds. A national salute was fired as the procession entered the gates and proceeded to the speakers stand. The formalities of welcome to the president began with prayer, after which Vice-President Grady, of the exposition, in a brief but cloquent speech, extended welcome to the president.

extended welcome to the president. The president in reply gave a brief sketch of Atlanta's early history and its rapid growth and terrible destruction during the war of the rebellion. He said: "I have lately seen evidences of the activity and persever-ance of the people of the United States in the creation of prosperous and bustling cities, and in overcoming difficulties which are in-separable from new settlements and the separable from new settlements and the growth of new cities. But it seems to me that an element of heroism is added by the people who view without despair the de-struction of all they have wrought, who begin again to build then waste places, and who, in spite of the greatest discouragements, evince a determination to reach their destiny. In twenty two years a second Atlanta has been built, incomparably larger, more prosperious and fairer than the destroyed Atlanta. Her place as first among the cities of a great state. Her constantly increasing business and her large manufacturing inbusiness and her large manufacturing in-terprise of her people. They may well be proud of the work of their hands. Nor shall the glory of their achievements be left to their sole gratification. All their country-men may congratulate themselves that what has here been done is the result of American courage and American enterprise." After the president concluded there were calls for Governor Gordon, who spoke briefly. The public reception at the fair grounds was a pleasant affair.

An interesting episode in the morning ses-sion was occasioned by the introduction of a recommendation to the effect that the genrecommendation to the effect that the gen-eral secretary be empowered to employ or discharge employes in the general office for cause, subject to the approval of the general executive board. Barry and Bailey con-sidered this another stab at them and an exsidered this another stab at them and an ex-cited debate followed. Litchman said it was no more than fair and just that he be given the power asked. One of the charges brought against him by Bailey and Barry was that he had discharged a man em-ployed by the office without authority. He did so because the employe was a confirmed drunkard and unfit for duty. He also stated that the employes in this office had given out secret circulars and other matter that had most mysteriously leaked out during the past year. The general officers were at the mercy of these fellows. They were retained be-cause Barry and Bailey would not vote to discharge them. The motion to adopt was jost. It was resolved to boycott two Indian-upolis papers—the Journal and Sentinel—for having discharged all employes connected having discharged all employes connected with the Knights of Labor and Typegraphical union and refusing to take them back when

The Family Where the Girl Was Sick Arrested But Subsequently Released-Sale of a Big Packing House.

A Mysterious Death. PONCA, Neb., Oct. 18.-[Special Telegram to the BEE.]-A young lady by the name of Williams died under very mysterious circumstances at the home of one Searls, near Martinsburg, this county, yesterday. She was sick of typhoid fever and waited upon by

Dr. Reatger of that place. Upon coming to see her yesterday morning she was dead and prepared for burial. The doctor noticed blood issuing from the nostrils and became suspicious that all was not right. Her arms were folded over her breast. He unloosed were folded over her breast. He unicosed them and upon further investigation found several bandages around her body up to-ward the arm pits. These bandages were bloody and the doctor found an incision or wound one inch long and quite deep under one of her arms. He concluded she was mur-dered and had the entire family with whom she was stopping, and to whom she was re-lated, arrested. The girl was heir to several thousand dollars and upon her death the the maximum remaining the same; that members in arrears six months be dropped thousand dollars and upon her death the family with whom she was stopping and who were arrested for her murder, would be en-

Holdrege Happenings.

HOLDREGE, Neb., Oct. 17.-[Correspondence of the BEE.]-On Saturday last the remains of Miss Gertie Price were laid to rest it, the cemetery near her home in this county. She is the young lady who was dragged under the cars and had her feet crushed at Gibbon two weeks ago. She was the daughter of Hon. George W. Price of this county, and was a teacher who gave promise of great usefulness. Her death was caused by lockjaw re-sulting from the wound. Mr. William Morrison, an aged farmer

Mr. William Morrison, an aged farmer near Loomis, was found in an insensible con-dition near the railroad which runs through his farm last Friday night. His head was fearfully beaten or crushed, and he died on Sunday morning. The railroad mcr appear to be ignorant of the affair, and it seems pos-sible that the man was murdered. He was a hard working, inoffensive, intelligent man, and owned a section of land. It is possible that the case will be investigated. The re-mains will be interred in the Holdrege ceme-tery to-day. tery to-day.

Lawless Gangs to Be Subdued By a Body of Special Constables-London Gossip-Other Foreign News.

Anarchistic Demonstrations.

LONDON, Oct. 18 .- [New York Herald Cable Special to the BEE.]-The tradesmen of London are preparing to take energetic steps to put a stop to the demonstrations of the lawless gangs now infesting the streets. Business is almost suspended in several important thoroughfares. People are afraid to go about. Shopkeepers, who are paying heavy rents and taxes, insist on their rights to protection. The fact is the police are half afraid to do their duty in consequence of Gladstone's attacks upon them and the cor. responding encouragement of the disorderly classes. Arrangements are being made for the organization of bodies of special constables, the public being thus com-pelled to take measures for the preservation of law in their own hands. The police are nearly worn out with incessant work night and day. Everybody perceives the serious nature of the crisis. If the politicians paralyze the police force Judge Lynch will soon set up his court here, and we shall have serious trouble. Genuine working men have no sympathy with the present agitation, led by desperadoes from the purleus of London. The home secretary is much complained of without reason, having done all he could. After the approach ing meeting of the cabinet more energetic steps will be taken, the government recognizing that its first duty is to preserve law and order. Only 16,000 metropolitan police all told in a population of four and a half millions, if not backed up by public opinion, cannot protect property or life. The government has probably thought it best to err on the side of leniency at first, but it must now use a firm hand or anarchy will obtain the mastery and a storm of indignation will fall suddenly upon the ministry. In the course of the next five days Lord Randolph will deliver three speeches of great importance, in which his entire policy will be disclosed in the present emergency. He will doubtless endeavor to strengthen the hands of the government, in which he is generally expected to resume his former place shortly No one, not excepting Gladstone, draws such immense audiences in places where announced to appear. The reserved seats have already been applied for three or four times over. Both political parties seem equally curious to hear him, his popularity being much greater than Disraeli ever enjoyed till the closing years of his life at New Castle. Saturday he is expected to deliver an address dealing with the entire political situation. This probably will infuse new animation throughout his party. Gladstone will do the same for the liberals at Nottingham. This consequently must rank as the most eventful week of the recess. Chamberlain will also fire a parting shot into his numerous assailants before setting off on the arduous enterprise of settling the fisheries dispute. Many inquiries are made at Marlboro house as to the health of the Princesses Maud and Louise. The answers given ar that the attack of measles is light and all is going well. The prince, kept informed thrice daily, does not think it necessary to break the engagement of long standing. Princess Louise, not in strong health for some time service, produced such profound disgust of the Russian policy that it is even considered doubtful whether the visit of the czar would WAITING FOR THE VERDICT. Gladstone Cordially Greeted.

THE TALK OF A LABOR EDITOR.

The Condemned Men Feeling Highly Elated Over the Enlistment of General Butler in Their Behalf.

Scaffold Building Deferred.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.- |Special Telegram to he BEE.]-Sheriff Matson has not commenced to make any preparations for the execution of the seven condemned anarchists and will not do so until something further is heard from the United States supreme court. The anarchists themselves are feeling more hopeful now than they have been at any time since the decision of the state supreme court was rendered. They were feeling particularly good to-day on account of the advices they had received from their counsel in the case that General Ben Butler had undertaken to join in pressing their case on the attention of the United States supreme court. They have now a formidable array of counsel to take charge of their case. Another dispatch from Washington to-day informed them that Justice Harlan had agreed to meet their counsel Thursday morning in reference to the proposed application for a writ of error. Generals Butler and Pryer will do the talking before him and Captain Black and Mr. Solomon will do the advising. They profess to be satisfied with Justice Harlan and say that he is a pretty square man and they fully anticipate that he will ssue a writ of supersedeas until the whole ase can be argued before the supreme court. The great point they depend on is their allegation that the jury law of the state of Illinois is in direct violation of the constitution of the United States. "I have been notified officially," said

Joseph Buchanan, editor of the Labor En-

puirce, to-day, "that General Butler has con-

Hitherto he has not had the time to look into the matter and study the transcript, but to my certain knowledge he has examined the transcript and has taken the case with the strong expecta-tion of winning. The case is set for a hear-tion of whining. The case is set for a hear-ing Thursday, or possibly Friday, before Justice Harlan, who has Chicago in his dis-trict, you know. Harlan's a pretty square man and I think he will recognize the justice of giving these men a fair trial, no matter what their opinions may be. The defense lawyers will then be Butler, Pryor and Ran-

Solomon deserves great credit for raising the question of the constitutionality of the stat-ute which allows a man a service as juror in a case where he has declared himself to have formed an opinion from newspaper accounts.

SNAKES! A Missouri Woman Gives Birth to Two

Monstrosities. LATHROP, Mo., Oct. 18.-[Special Tele gram to the BEE.]-A week ago yesterday there was born to the wife of Andrew Lettes. a farmer living about fourteen miles south east of this city, two of the most frightful monstrosities ever recorded. About a month ago Mrs. Lettes was out in the garden with her son. Two snakes were noticed fighting and she told her son to kill them. Taking the hoe he mashed both of their heads. Mrs Lettes intently watching him all the time. Yesterday week twins were born to her. The heads of both were flat and resembled a snake, while their tongues are licking out continually. No attempt has been made to clothe the monstrosities and they have been kept in separate boxes. The moment they are put together they commence to fight and lick out their tongues in the most disgusting manner. They are at this time alive and weel, but the family have attempted to keep the facts in the case from the newspapers.

A Blast in a Paint Shop.

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., Oct. 18-The paint department of the B. & M. shops was the scene of an unaccountable explosion late yesterday afternoon. A tank of hot water exploded, blowing out a twenty foot section of the floor above, and a large section of the roof. The windows in the building were all smashed and the varnish room wrecked. There were a number of workmen in the building at the time, but none of them, for-tunately, were hurt. The concussion was sufficient to shake the entire building. Nebraska Odd Fellows.

A Mother's Sad Mistake.

Sr. JOSETH, Mo., Oct. 18.- [Special Teles gram to the Brg.1-A mother's mistake in administering medicine last night, will result in the death of the youngest child of Alderman J. B. Regan, of South Sixteenth street. Two prescriptions were left at the house by the family physician-one bromide of potassium for a baby and the other carbolic acid for an older child. During the night the bottles became interchanged and the mother administered a teasponful of the carbolic acid in place of the bromide to the younger child. It was only a few moments before the mistake was discovered and the physician was called. The mother, nearly frantic with grief, saw her her child within a half hour turn nearly black and suffering untold agony. All kinds of remedies were given and the child was for a while relieved, but recovery will be impossible.
