Preparations For the Grand Parade To-day-New Grand Encampment Officers-Irish Members of Parliament Coming.

[FROM THE BEE'S LINCOLN BUREAU.] The grand lodge, I. O. O. F., met at 10 a. m. yesterday at Odd Fellow's hall, with all the officers, with one exception, in attendance and between two hundred and fifty and three hundred delegates present. Grand Master Adam Ferguson, of North Platte, presided, with D. A. Cline, Lincoln, secretary. But little was done in the morning hours beyond organizing for work, which promises to fully occupy the coming two days. The grand master's report was presented and showed a very creditable growth of the order during the year past. The statistics in the grand secretary's report show:

In his report the grand master speaks of the consolidation of the lodge at Brownville with the lodge at Auburn. This lodge at Brownville was organized in the year 1857 and held forth for thirty years, furnishing the grand lodge in its time three grand masters.

To-day will be devoted to the grand lodge work and the annual parade that takes place in the afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Cadet band will head this pro-cession, which will form with the following organizations and low line of march set forth below: organizations and follow the

THE GRAND ENCAMPMENT closed its labors Tuesday evening. Their reports show that the camp has been highly prospered the past year and that the number in the state has been largely increased. The following officers of the encampment were elected for the ensuing year: J. S. Hoagland, North Platte, G. P.; L. J. Byers, Lincoln, G. H. P.; C. D. Ayers, Kearney, G. S. W.; J. P. Gage, Fremont, G. J. W.; D. A. Cline, Lincoln, G. S.; S. Mc-Clay, Lincoln, G. T. The newly elected officers were installed just prior to ad-

PROMINENT VISITORS COMING. Hon. John P. Sutton, secretary of the Irish National league in America returned yesterday from an extended trip in the east, including visits to New York, Philadelphia and Boston. Mr. Sutton's trip was in the interest of the league and he pronounces the organization in the east in a very prosperous condition. Mr. Sutton was, while east, much of the time in the company of Messrs. Esmond and O'Connor, the two nationalist members of parliament now on a visit to this country. These gen-tlemen will go to the Pacific coast in November and will be in Lincoln on November 1. The local branch of the league has secured Funke's opera house for that evening, at which time a public meeting and a reception with speaking will be held. As these gentlemen will be in Lincoln two or three days it has been suggested by a number of prominent citizens that a banquet in their honor would be a very proper way to recognize their visit and give all citizens an opportunity to tender their good will and wishes to the eminent Irishmen.

eval, the Fullerton Murderer. George D. Mciklejohn, of Fullerton.

Nance county, was in town yesterday morning after the meeting of the republican state central committee Tuesday night. He said that his county, under the law which he had amended at the last session of the legislature, had placed on record a reward of $1,000 for the conviction of the murderer or murderers of the Percival family in that county three years ago. It will be remembered that in some mysterious manner five people lost their lives and a man named Furneval, who was suspected of the crime, suddenly disappeared. The law before the amendment in question provided for a reward of but $200 in every murder case, no matter how many persons might lose their lives by the deed. As has been stated, five persons lost their lives in this cruel deed, and under the law the maximum of fee of $200 for each victim has been announced and recorded. This law was amended by Senator Meiklejohn with this Nance horror in view. The governor has also issued an additional reward of $1,000 and hopes that local and state authorities will be on the alert to enable the perpetrator of this deed to be brought to justice. The senator justice. The senator says that parties are now closely watching West British America and Alaska for Furneval. Information concerning the crime may be obtained from Rev. G. C. Tanner, Fairbault, Minn., and S. H. Penney, Fullerton, Neb.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL UNION. The Omaha Churches Make a Move

For United Action. A very important as well as a very interesting meeting was held on Tuesday evening at the First Methodist church for the purpose of forming a Methodist Episcopal Union in this city. Quite a goodly number were in attendance, representing the different Methodist churches of Omaha and South Omaha. The meeting was opened by singing "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," after which Rev. Mr. Haynes offered prayer. The presiding elder, Rev. J. W. Phelps, in a short speech stated the object of the meeting and outlined the character of work done by such unions. He urged the necessity for such a union from the fact that the members were scarcely acquainted with each other throughout the different churches, and that by organization it would be very much better for all in that respect. Then again, that by this union a great deal more work could be done than if each worked separately. Such an organization was very much needed because it was very hard for different churches to locate church buildings in the places where they would do the most good. He hoped that soon the Methodist people of this city would go into those parts of the city where there is not much, if any, evangelical work done and do something for that class of people who do not attend church, and day school. Rev. T. M. House said that the churches could do very much more work by being organized. That while individual effort may be directed to good ends yet with organization the same number of individuals could do a great deal more. He thought it was God's plan that in evangelical work there should be organization and concerted action; that together the churches might plan and arrange for the salvation of men; that all Methodists ought to look to the strengthening of all Methodist churches, and that they should not be selfish nor local in their views. If Methodists made one church weak all felt it and all were weak; and if one church was made strong all were strengthened. He hoped that all the churches would work together for one common end, and not try to build up one at the expense of another.

especially get their children into Sun-

A. T. Rector said that there ought to be a great deal of warmth in all Methodist churches; that a great many churches did not do their work as they ought to do it, and that if business men did their work as the churches sometimes do they would soon be closed out. He did not think that there would be and churches closed out here. Rev. T. C. Clendenning said that he was glad that the founders of the church organized a "Methodist Episcopal church." He wanted all the Methodist churches called "Methodist Episcopal churches." He wanted the church to be broad in its feelings and actions. He thought that the churches were entirely too narrow in their thoughts and sympathies; that the South Tenth street Methodist church did not have the feeling for the other Methodist churches in this city that they ought to have; that his people did not know very much about the other Methodist churches and did not care very much for them, and in that respect the other Methodist churches of the city were like their own. He urged the necessity of holding fast to princi-ples and doctrines; that the churches hat were built in the suburbs of the city were only for those living there but that they were our churches as

A constitution was then adopted and the name of the organization was called Omaha Methodist Episcopal union. A. T. Rector was elected president of the union and the following vice presi-dents were elected from the various churches: First Methodist Episcopal, C. F. Breckenridge; Seward Street, Gould P. Deets; South Tenth, J. Phippsroe; Hanscom Park, John Dale; South Omaha, E. M. Richardson; Trinity, L. A. Harmon; Castellar, Joseph Hughes; Omaha Circuit, J. C. Roberts; Danish, Thomas Erickson; Swedish, C. O. Lobeck; German, to be elected. W. L. Wright was elected secretary and A. A. McFadden treas-

About thirty-six names were signed to the constitution, which makes a very fair beginning. The next meeting wil be held in the South Tenth Methodist Episcopal church on the evening of the second Tuesday of November, at 7:30 o'clock, and it is earnestly desired that there be a large attendance on the part of Methodists and their friends.

a part of the gang extended excavating into the alley in the rear of the old site of the Omaha Medical college. This institution, it will be remembered, was moved but a short time ago to the corner of Eleventh and Pacific streets where it now stands. The change was not made, however, until the attention of the people was directed to several irregularities which were discovered in its treatment of the remains of subjects which it secured both while on the table and when being disposed of. That the lot on which the college stood and the alley in the rear of it was made the burial ground of these fragments of mortality was attested by the finding of scores of bones by the workmen who were making the e Some of these bon seen by the BEE the excavation.
