A HACK FOR KINDLING-WOOD.

How a Drunken Driver Failed to Ride Over a Bank With Success.

HOW CHAS. PARKER WAS ROBBED.

Over a Bank. Sunday evening about 10:30 o'clock, a hack with a pair of white horses was driven south on Thirteenth street down the hill from Howard, at a rate of speed which attracted the attention of a BEE reporter, and satisfied him that the driver must have been drunk. Three-quarters of an hour later the horses were caught, free from the carriage and without the driver, galloping north on the Eleventh street viaduct. They were sent to Stephenson's barn by the viaduct watchman. It was not known where either the driver or the carriage was until yesterday morning the latter was found smashed to kindling wood at the base of a bank on the southeast corner of Eleventh and Pierce streets. It was then carried off to Meadimber's. The hack was the property of Miss Hattie Knemeyer, who also runs a restaurant on Harney street in the rear of Stephenson's stable. The driver was J. C. Pauley, known as "Reddy" and he lles in a dangerous condition in room 8 in the old city hall building, where he was last night attended by Dr. Galbraith. The outnight attended by Dr. Galbraith. The out-come of his injuries cannot now be deter-mined, but some weeks must clapse before he will be able to leave his room. The hack, after leaving the sight of the BEE reporter on after leaving the sight of the Bize reporter on South Thirteenth street, was driven rapidly to Kessler's hall for a load, where it was noted that the driver was in-toxicated. He did not get a load, however, and in some way rambled off on Tenth street, when he turned the horses' heads west on Pacific. Before they reached Eleventh street the team left the street and entered the open lot of Gottlieb Zimmerman, on the southwest corner of Eleventh and Pacific. They ran south to the alley, where, from the abruptness of the turn, it was apparent that they saw the next step would carry them over a cut of fifteen feet which had been made in the alley. They turned their heads toward the north, and, running obliquely, dashed over the bank and were precipitated to the street below. When they made the leap they were still on Zimmerman's property. The rest has been told, with the exception that one of the horses is badly cut, while the other is comparatively uninjured.

while the other is comparatively uninjured. If the driver had not been in a drunken condition he would never have allowed his horses to leave Pacific street for a private lot, especially as the graders, Stuht & Hamel, had made an approach of easy descent to Eleventh street, where the unfortunate accident would have been avoided.

UNDER FALSE COLORS.

Impersonating a United States Marshal. Ark C. Jenks was arrested in Fremont Sunday by Deputy United States Marshal Showalter, charged with impersonating a United States Marshal. He was brought to this city yesterday, and, being arraigned before Commissioner Anderson, pleaded not guilty, and was remanded to jail in default of $2,500 bail until next Wednesday, when the preliminary hearing will take place. Jenks, it seems, has been wearing a United States badge and representing himself as an officer. It is said that he has made several arrests and always released the parties for a consideration. This was his game, and al-though he has been made the surveillance of the authorities, he was not arrested until sufficient evidence had been accumlated to convict him.

The witnesses in the case of the United States against Johnson, the quasi United States Marshal Johnson, who is charged with perpetrating the "shake-down" on Parker, perpetrating the "shake down" on Parker the man who held up United States Paymas ter Bash, near Fort Fetterman last March, arrived from the northwest yesterday, and the preliminary examination, which was be-run last Thursday was continued in the afternoon. Johnson is defended by Park God-In his testimony Johnson asserted that at the time he assisted Bagnall and Lucas in the capture of Parker, he supposed that the two were United States officers, and he joined them against his will. The robbery of Parker happened near Hascall's ranch, about thirty-five miles from Whitman. The night was dark and stormy, but the three de-cided to push forward with their prisoner despite the unfavorable condition of the weather. Parker was in the buggy with Bagnall, while Lucas and Johnson rode on horseback on either side, armed to the teeth. As the narth antwarked a As the party approached a narrow passage way between two cliffs there were some misgivings as to whether they had not lost the trail, and Johnson says he was sent back to investigate the matter. He claims he rode back about a quarter of a mile and on re-turning was informed that Parker had dashed off in the darkness and escaped. Whether or not Bagnall and Lucas had robbed the highwayman and then let him escape he did not know. If they had, he did not get any of the boodle. ever known. THE WEATHER.

Extreme Cold and Snow in the Northwest.

Omaha, as well as all points throughout the northwest, experienced a decided foretaste of winter yesterday. About noon Sunday matters began to congeal, so to speak, and at sundown the thermometer registered at Fort Custer, Mont., 8 degrees above zero. From this hour the change was rapid and severe, and yesterday morning at 5 o'clock, the thermometer here marked 19 4-10 above zero; at the same hour at Fort Custer it was 10 below, with a foot of snow; at Dead-wood, Dak., 4 below, with a half foot of snow; Valentine Neb., 4 above, with an inch of snow; Chey-enne, Wyo., 6 above; Helena, Mon., 4 above; Bismark, Dak., 8 above; St. Vincent, Minn., 4 above; Moorhead, Minn., 2 above; St. Paul, Minn., 16 above; North Platte, Neb., 10 above; St. Louis, Mo., 36 above; Chicago, Ill., 34 above. Yesterday dawned bright and clear throughout the entire northwest, with a northly wind veering eastward, and graudually moderating. While the cold snap will be felt more or less for forty-eight hours, it will be considerably warmer here to-day. Water round the edges of ponds with a foot of snow; at Dead-to-day. Water round the edges of ponds and small bodies of water, and in the gutters and outstanding vessels froze to a thickness of an inch this morning, and the keen, cut-ting wind made it necessary for pedestrains to don their heaviest wraps. The cold snap will be followed, the indications point, to a period of nild weather.

A Savage, Indeed.

M. P. Savage, of Seventeenth and Pierce streets, observed the Sabbath day and kept t holy, by striking his wife in the eye with his fist. He did this in the morning and the poor defenceless woman bore his brutality in silence. In the afternoon he again assaulted her, this time with a whip, when she broke away and fied. She informed the poand Savage-who is well named lice by the way-was run in. Yesterday he stood up defiantly before the court, but his case was disposed of in double quick time. They Broke Even.

Jesse Milo was the complainant yesterday morning against Luther Coon and his wife, and daughter Myrtle, and Mrs. Mame Lefear, charging them with threatening to kill him, shooting his chickens and raising a disturbance down in their neighborhood in the bottoms. Jesse is a colored man, and he was there with his wife, Aunt Chloe Jenkins, Dandy Savoy, Lucretia Marks and a host of others as witnesses, and what they didn't testify to, wasn't worth a picaynne as evi-dence any way. However, they were evi-dently in the right in this affair, but to be on the safe side and even matters all round the judge touched them up as follows: Luther Coon, $7 and costs; Mrs. Coon, Myrtle and Mame Lefear, $1 and costs, and Mr. Milo $3 and costs.

ZACHARY THOMASEN. The BEE of a few days ago prepared the public for the anticipated death of Zachariah Thomasen, which took place Sunday morning at 1:30 o'clock at the home of his sister. Mrs. Glenn, Kingsville, near Kansas City, Mo. He was attended by Dr. Lee of this city, who was called to the bedside of the dying man, and who returned home Sunday night. Mr. Thomasen left here about a week ago and on the Sunday before last was taken with a chill which was followed by a succession of pains which finally resulted in death.

When Dr. Lee arrived, Mr. Thoma-sen was beyond recovery and his partner in this city, M. A. Upton and another partner in Kansas City, Mr. Mayfield, were telegraphed. Both of these gentlemen responded immediately to the telegram and reached Mr. Thomasen's bedside before he died. Cabletrums ware the telegram and reached Mr. Thomasen's bedside before he died. Cablegrams were sent to his two daughters, who are now trav-eling with a governess in Europe, requesting them to return immediately. The remains of Mr. Thomasen will not be buried until the daughters return. They will be forwarded to Chicago, where they will be placed in a yault, and later buried beside the remains of his wife, who died several years ago. Mr. his wife, who died several years ago. Mr. Thomasen was a Kentuckian and forty-nine years of age. He lived in Missouri for a time, moving thence to Cheyenne, and becoming interested in the cattle business with the Swan Cattle company. Later he moved to Chicago, where he became involved in finan-cial and social misfortunes, when he returned to the west to repair his fortune. He became manager of the Ogallala Land and Cattle company. About two years ago, Mr. Thom-asen moved to this city and invested heavily in real eastate, purchasing and holding at the time of his death some of the best corner lots time of his death some of the best corner lots in the city, one of which, on the southeast corner of Sixteenth and Farnam streets, costing $05,000. It will also be so constructed as to make it a desirable place for public meetings, conventions, balls, drills or tournaments, and will be let for these purposes. In case the national convention is secured for Omaha, this building would furnish the most complete accommodations for the crowd. To insure the certainty of this laudable project, tickets will be sold for $5.00 for one year, which will entitle holders to all the privileges of the gymnasium and the different training departments of the hall for practice and recreation. Merchants and business men who may consider this enterprise a meritorious one should respond with their names to the subscription roll as soon as possible. This can be done roll as soon as possible. This can be done by calling at the office of John S. Prince, Penrose & Hardin's, or the McCague brothers, where the money will be deposited. With any kind of a re-sponse on the part of those who should natur-ally favor a project of this kind, the building will be run right up and ready for occupancy by the holidays.

The Union Pacific Fast Train. It has been stated from time to time that the Union Pacific would positively put on a new fast train between this city and Ogden which would greatly reduce the running time between these two points, and that it would be scheduled on or about November 1. It was learned from Mr. Potter's private secretary, Mr. Orr, yesterday that the fast train has been under contemplation by the officers of the road for some time, and that President Potter is in San Francisco at the present time to com-plete arrangements with the Canadian Pacific officials and arrange the sched-ule. Mr. Orr also stated that at present the Union Pacific lacked equipment for the immediate carrying out of the proj-ect, and that it would be absolutely imect, and that it would be absolutely im-possible to begin running on the 1st of November. New coaches have been or-dered, and there is no doubt that the fast train will be put on as soon as pos-sible. In his opinion this would not be until next spring. The Union Pacific realize the necessity for this extra train, and see fully determined to have it and are fully determined to have it.

Born in a Pullman Sleeper.

Quite an interesting event, especially to the lady passengers on the overland train which arrived yesterday morning, is reported by thetrainmen. Shortlybefore 10 o'clock Sunday night the passengers on board the Pullman sleeper Ormus were aroused by groans proceeding from lower berth No. 7. The porter went to investigate, but failed to discover the cause. Several ladies who had already retired arose and went to the berth which was occupied by a handsome young lady, who gave her name as Mrs. . C. Stillwell, of Bloomington, Ill. The ladies at once discovered that Mrs. Stillwell was about to become a mother, and the porter was despatched through the train in quest of a physician. For-tunately Dr. Marston, of Leadville, Col. was on board and gave the lady his atentions. At 2 o'clock in the morning

Mrs. Stillwell was delivered of a fine male child. Her lady companions rendered every possible assistance, and Mr. Baby was the recipient of such attention as only the fair sex know how to give. The lady's trunk was opened and large amount of fine baby linen was found. At Columbus Mrs. Stillwell was removed to a hotel and her husband telegraphed for. Railroad Notes.

Whitman, and whom Johnson calls his "best girl," who claims that Johnson gave her $600 to help him out of this scrape. This money, she asserts, was part of Johnson's share of the plunder taken from Parker. After hearing the testimony in the case Judge Anderson said that if Johnson had testified to the truth he certainly had been most undeservedly persecuted, but as the judge thought the matter would bear a little closer investigation, and as the district court closer investigation, and as the district court is now in session, he would bind him over in the sum of $500.

Struck on the Grade.

Yesterday at noon the first hitch experienced this season by Stuht & Hamel with their men, who are working on the immense contract of grading South Eleventh for a mile beyond the viaduct, occurred. The contractors reduced the wages for teams to $3 per day, having formerly paid those which worked with the grading ma-chine $3.50 and those who worked at the trap and with shovelers $3 per day. The cause of the reduction is the fact that up to this time the teams have been worked ten hours per day, while at present they cannot work more than nine hours per day. The contractors felt compelled to equal-ize the matter and make the reduction which they think pays the teams for the work they really do. There are now thirty-live teams at work at the new rates.

Fifty Years Married.

Yesterday James Fenwick, a well known and retired violin maker who resides at 1624 Douglas street with his wife, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his marriage. The occasion brought together all his daughters and their husbands, Messrs. A. Virgil, of Iowa City; Oliver Haverly, of Omaha; Al Norris, of Turner, Ill.; A. S. Bids for District Paving Bonds. City Treasurer Rush opened the proposals for the purchase of district paving bonds yetserday at noon. There is evidently a great stringency in the money market as but two bids were made. In this connection it might be well to quote a sentence from a letter of Messrs. Switzler & Co., bankers of Toledo O. They said: "We think the bond market is a little the flattest we ever have seen in our bond experience, shough we trust there will be an improvement soon." The proposals cover $51,500 district paving bonds in sums of $500 each bearing six per cent interest per annum. Of this amount $44,000 will fall due in one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight and nine years from November 1, 1887, a similar amount becoming due each year.
