C. E. Yancey and W. J. Jameson to-day assume charge of the Bechtele hotel, and supper this evening will be the first meal served by them. They are both well known gentlemen, Mr. Yancey is thoroughly experienced in hotel business, and Mr. Jameson, so long a conductor on the road, has friends without number. The Bechtele is one of the best fitted hotels in the west and under their management it will jump into a front place. The Excursion To-Morrow.

To-morrow the largest excursion of the season will go from Council Bluffs and Omaha, and intermediate points to Herndon, Ia., where they will be met by a large excursion from Des Moines, and Marion, and Cedar Rapids, and all Centering at Herndon, will swell the crowd to fully one thousand people. The train will go over the Chicago, Milwau-kee & St. Paul railway and will leave the transfer at 9:15 a. m., and will leave the local depot at 9:30 a. m., and returning will leave Herndon in the evening Inte enough that all the excursionists may have en opportunity to see the little city lighted with natural gas. The coaches will be gas. The coaches will be left on the track at Herndon, during the day, so that the ladies and all gentlemen who desire may remain in the cars and engage in games and such pastimes as they may desire. There will be an auction sale of lots, and lots will be sold without reserve, for a small cash payment, and the balance on time. Thus there will be an opportunity for everybody to buy a lot where they can own their own natural gas for lighting and heating purposes, and if their experience is anything like that of those who have been there and already invested, they may in a short time realize a large profit; and whether anyone desires to make an investment or not the time will be well spent, as everybody will have an opportunity to see the natural gas utilized in all its various forms. Only one fare for the round trip. Harry Inman, from this city, will be the auctioneer.

A Crooked Mortgage. On the 20th of last July J. L. Forman, a clothier on West Broadway, sold some goods to E. Nichols and in payment received an $80 mortgage on sixty-two head of cattle. About a month after-ward he discovered that he had been beaten, and put the matter in the hands of the police. For the past month Captain O'Brien has been working on the case, and finally found his man at Corning where he arrested him. It seems that Nichols' career in Corning was not altogether straight, and he was looked upon there as a confidence man. An effort is being made to settle the matter, and in the meantime Nichols is enjoying the hospitality of Deputy Sheriff O'Neil at the county jail.

A Boy's Find.

Isaac Bennett, a twelve-year-old boy, is under arrest charged with the theft of about $76 from the fruit and confectionery stare of George Miller, on Main street. The boy claims he found it on the street and gave it to his father, but as Bennett, sr. did not advestise it, and at first denied having it, the general impression is that both are liable to being suspected, at least.

BEE. THE NEWS IN THE BLUFFS.

Mr. E. Irons Dies Suddenly In the Night Without Warning.

A FARMER ROBBED IN A HACK. Boy In Trouble For Not Returning Found Purse-Saloons Again in Court-Crooked Mortgage.

Death Without Warning. The announcement came with shocking surprise to this community yesterday morning that Mr. Edward Irons was dead. He was about the streets the day before as usual, attending to his business as usual, in apparent good health, and when he went home at the close of business there was not the least indication that there was any approaching sickness, much less death. When the hour came for the family to retire he conducted prayers, as was his custom, and about 10 o'clock went to bed. About fifteen minutes later his wife heard him making a peculiar noise and she tried to arouse him but found him unconscious. She summoned help and a physician, but in almost as brief time as it takes to tell the details he breathed his last. He had evidently no intimation that he was nearing the end, for he had not complained in the least of any illness or out any apparent warning.

Mr. Irons was born in England, and was in his forty-sixth year. He had resided here a score of years, and was well known in business and social circles. For some time he was engaged in the mills here, but the dust affected his lungs, and for this reason he made a change, by which his health might be bettered. With the exception of this lung trouble he seemed to be unusually robust and hearty, and few who looked upon him imagined that in any respect he had ailments. It is supposed that a clot of blood stopped the heart's action, clot of blood stopped the heart thus causing the sudden death.

Mr. Irons has lately become the secretary and treasurer of the new Council Bluffs Lumber company, and was just getting its business in shape to be increased and enlarged in all the directions which would suggest themselves to a man of his known enterprise and ability.

In the Baptist church of this city he was one of the strongest members. He was known as "Deacon Irons," from the length of time he had occupied that position. He was also superintendent of the Sunday-school, a position in which he was greatly esteemed, both by officers and scholars. He will be greatly missed, for he had bravely borne his part in the many struggles and varied experiences which have attended the building up of the church.

He leaves a wife and one son, Ernest, a lad of about twelve years. The fun-eral will meet at the house at 2 o'clock, and the services at the church will be at 2:30 o'clock. The Sabbath school scholars are particularly invited to be present, this being most befitting in view of the relationship he bore to Downing Drink Shops.

Yesterday afternoon Judge Deemer heard a number of saloon cases, in which applications were made for permanent injunctions. The change in the public feeling was strikingly manifest, for there were very few who attended the hearing out of curiosity, and these few yawned, and seemed to be more concerned in having some warm corner in which to sit, rather than to pay any special attention to the matter in hand. The proceedings were dreary of any sensational features, and the calling of the docket at the opening of term was an exciting episode in comparison. In some of the cases there were continuances, in others, motions taken under advisement. The case against Jacob Apel was heard. The two informers, Hardy and Alexan-der, who were employed some time ago at $3 a day and expenses to get evidence against the saloons were on the stand. They testified about as in other cases, but the examination was not so long nor so spicy as when they first appeared in public. There was a slight ripple when Mayor Groneweg was called as a witness for the prosecution. The mayor could not swear whether there was a bar room in the rear of Apel's grocery store or not. He had not been in the place for some time, he could not remember exactly when. He did not know what the general reputation of the place was in this respect. He believed that some time ago Mr. Apel used to pay the city a license, but that was for selling drinks not prohib ited by law. He did not know whether Apel had obeyed this ordinance or not. Another witness for the prosecution was Max Mohn, the owner of the Creston house. He was also in ignorance of the two informers, who had bought liquors there.

This was a sample case. The evidence was such as has been heard in numerous other cases before, with only a change in the way of bringing in witnesses from the anti-prohibition side, in the hope of getting them to give some facts which would strengthen the fight against the

Too Cold to Escape.

Judge Aylesworth occasionally sentences a vag for thirty days, and then kindly gives him permission to look around the city until a certain hour, say 2 o'clock. As a general rule the vag is so well pleased with the scenery that he wishes to see more of it and fails to return, but the judge found one Monday morning who "wasn't built that way." Instead of taking advantage of the offered avenue of escape, he stuck close to the stove in the city jail, thereby insuring for himself comfortable quarters for quarters for a month to come. That vag knows a "snap" when he sees it, and don't propose to let it slip through his fingers if he can help it. If the present cool weather continues there are many of his ilk who will do like- BIGGER BARGAINS THAN EVER

Money to loan. Cooper & Judson.

The Old Story. S. M. Hunter, a farmer from Shenandoah, came to this city Monday evening and proceeded to take in the town under the pilotage of Mead Weicoff, one of Welch's express drivers. He claims that between 11 and 12 o'clock Weicoff was joined by two others on lower Broadway, and three knocked him down and robbed him of about $40 and a gold ring that he wore. He soon found a sympathetic "peeler" to whom he showed a bleeding face and the signs of a scuffle in the street, and as a result Mr. Weicoff beheld the sunrise from behind the bars. The other two have not been arrested. The case was placed in the hands of Colonel Dailey, and as soon as the rush in the district court is over Weicoff will be tried for highway

Before the Bar.

Judge Aylesworth had an increase of business at the police court yesterday morning. Fred Green and William Criss, two youthful Africans, were the first victims. They were charged with stealing paving blocks, and as they were evidently indifferent to the rights of ownership they were fined $10 and costs, in default of which they were committed to jail. John Arnds, an Avoca farmer, was taxed $7.60 for becoming too enthusiastic. Herman Bullock was discharged, the judge remarking that he could get even with him the next time, as he would surely be in again before long. The cases of Mead Weicoff for highway robbery and Arthur Bennett for larceny were not ready and will probably be heard this morning.

Another use of the storage battery may be mentioned. The Saratoga Gas and Electric Li6ht company (American system) have put in 410 cells of electric accumulator battery for lighting Haw-thorne springs and stores. The arc dynamo is used in the day time to charge the cells located where the lamps are in use, and thus the capacity of the plant is very largely increased. This storage plant was also fitted up by the Isolated Accumulator company, and yet another specimen of their work may be seen in the lighting of the yacht Susquehanna in this harbor.

"Yes, sir,he is as mad as a March hare," said one gentleman to another, as they were standing on Broadway yesterday afternoon.

ical Science.

The object of this remark had just passed up the street, and ever on the alert for news, the reporter followed him. He was a middle aged man, well dressed, and apparently a gentleman of the well to do class. In his hand he held a memorandum book, and as he scanned the signs as he passed them he muttered to himself, "Four Hundred and One! Four Hundred and One! Four Hundred and One. Yes, that's the number wife said; Four Hundred and One, Broadway." And as he came opposite to Harkness Bro's store, the look of anxiety passed from his face and he broke into a laugh. As he passed through the door he said to himself, "I may be stark mad—crazy as a loon, but I am not crazy enough to pay double prices for inferior goods, when I can get the best of Harkness Bros., for less money.
