The Greatest Improvement of the Age

The BEE's man about town called at the stove store of Mr. John Hussie, 2407 Cuming street, looking for something new and he found it in the shape of one of the handsomest and best heating stoves made.

That said Mr. Hussie, is the Acorn Heater. The manufacturers of that stove have been for a long period experimenting on a new principle for warming all the air in a room to the stove to be heated, thus not to rely only on the radiating power of the stove, but to bring the entire atmospheric contents of a room into contact with the heated surface of the stove.

It has resulted in success and the New Acorn Art Parlor for 1887 has the principle in perfect operation. It equalizes the heat in all parts of a room; it increases the heating power of the stove fully fifty per cent. In addition to this great principle of HOT AIR CIRCULATION, there is a PERFECT SYSTEM OF VENTILATION. All the foul air and gases fall to the floor; by means of a siphon hose extending below the base of the stove they are drawn up into the stove and consumed in the fire chamber. Mr. Hussie's remarks should be heard, with the splendid Acorn Heater before you, to show you its true merits. It is truly the ideal of a parlor stove, economical, healthy and of elegant appearance. Go to his store at 2407 Cuming street and see it for yourselves.

A Good Thing. The United States Mercantile Protective association, of New York, have opened an office at the northwest corner of Sixteenth and Furnam streets, under the management of C. A. Scofield.

This association has been in operation over four years, and have now agencies in every state in the union.

Its mode of operation is very complete, being just and honorable to both debtor and creditor.

Their records show that about 80 per cent of old accounts that have been considered worthless, and written off into profit and loss, have been collected through agencies, besides giving members confidential information respecting those people who do not pay.

It differs from all other associations of a similar nature in two respects: First—No commissions are charged for collections, the membership fee alone being the only outlay, and for which bi-monthly records and a bound volume at the end of the year are given each member.

Second—No attorneys are employed. The debtor and creditor are brought together. The money paid directly to the creditor and not to either the company or its agents, thereby saving delays and expenses.

THE WEEK'S BUSINESS.

More Activity Manifest in the Omaha Real Estate Market.

A careful review of the real estate market for the week ending Friday, October 28, develops two very satisfactory facts. First is the increased activity and secondly the excellent prospects for the future.

A large number of brokers were seen yesterday and the universal opinion was that "things were doing better." The sales have been larger and there has been a largely increased number of inquiries from the east. Below is given a table showing the value of warranty deeds filed during the week:

Monday, October 24, $61,643
Tuesday, October 25, 65,030
Wednesday, October 26, 21,703
Thursday, October 27, 53,169
Friday, October 28, 57,751
Saturday, October 29, 42,901

Total, $302,197
