November 7 is now fixed upon as the finte for opening the wagon part of the Union Pacific bridge.

Elder J. Lamburt will preach at Saints church this evening at 7:45 o'clock. Public cordially invited. An Omaha laundry firm has leased the two story store at 330 Broadway for three years, and take possession in a few days.

There will he a meeting of the White Shield or Social Purity society at the parlors of the Baptist church Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The policemen's ball will be given at the Masonic hall on Thanksgiving night. No pains will be spared to make it one of the greatest social events of Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to Manquito Gregolis and Aumiziata Sodini, both of Omaha, and to Daniel Franklin and Jennie Lee, both of this city.

A six-year-old daughter of Charley Bloomer, on upper Broadway, fell into a cistern yesterday morning, but was fortunately seen and rescued without sustaining much injury.

That portion of Fifth avenue between Fourth street and Main street is being prepared for paving. That avenue will probably be paved east of Pearl street the next season. It ought to be, for it is one of the most important streets in

J. H. Keatley has commenced divorce proceedings to secure a legal separation from his wife, Mrs. M. J. Keatley, to whom he was married in Blair county, Pennsylvania, in 1860. In his petition he claims that in 1873 she deserted him and moved into another state. Miss Sarah W. Hoagland died yesterday morning from ulceration of the stomach, at the residence of her brother, F. E. Hoagland, 510 South Tenth street. The deceased was born in Union county, New Jersey, and was fifty-nine years of age. The funeral will take place at 10 p clock this morning from her late resi-

The proposed plan of the Y. M. C. A. to establish a well equipped gymnasium and fit up bath rooms is meeting with much encouragement. Over fifty names have already been secured, and the secretary, Harry Curtis, expects to have the desired two hundred in about two weeks. Another month will probably see everything in running order.

S. E. Maxon is circulating a petition among the property owners on Harrison street to have that thoroughfare paved this fall, else the heavy fall rains will wash out the present work so as to entail extra and unnecessary expense if the work is left until spring for completion. This work was ordered done by the common council, along with a lot of other paving, but lack of funds has prevented the completion of the work vented the completion of the work.

This action is taken as an economic measure as well as one of convenience to those most interested.

A number of ladies had a wierd Hallowe'en party last evening at the house No 717 First avenue, out of which Mr. and Mrs, Josselyn just moved yesterday. having taken a residence across the street. The parlors thus vacant were filled last night by a merry gathering of maidens fair, who tripped the light fantastic to the music given by a lonesome violinist-the only masculine permitted within the sacred precincts. The usual Hallowe'en superstitions were sprortively entered into by the Overton's mission was crowded Sun-day night. It is planned to keep up the meetings every night this week also. The church, formerly occupied by the United Brethren, has been purchased, and is being moved to the lot now occupied by the mission. This will give in-creased room, and will be ready for oc-pancy by a week from now. It is the intention to maintain these meetings as undenominational in their character, and an effort will be made to get the several pastors of the city to conduct services there from time to time.

The city council meets this evening for the special purpose of opening bids for grading Broadway to the river. There were some bids received on this work some time ago, but they were rejected, as two of the three bid were un-accompanied by bonds, and so the whole of them were rejected, and a readvertisement had, the new bids to be in by noon to-day. There are two separate bids asked for, one for the grading east of Twenty-fifth street, the other for the grading west of that. If the bids are reasonable the council will doubtless let the work to-night.

Hallow'en has for years been an anniversary of mischief-making for the boys of this city especially. Few cities have suffered more from the pranks of this event than has Council Bluffs. The sport has been carried so far that it ceased to be sport and became an utter recklessness and entire disregard for the property or rights of individuals. Gates and signs have become common property, and, not content with carrying these off, the boys, some of a rather large growth, have gone so far as to destroy property, tip over out buildings and cause, in some cases, serious damage. Last night there were extra policemen put on duty in order to prevent, if possible, this riotous observance of

THE NEWS IN THE BLUFFS.

A New Term of Court With Judge Loofbourow Presiding.

CONFIDENT ANTI-PROHIB.

What It Costs to Run the City-An Expensive Spark From a Locomotive-Sneak Thieves Indulge In Burglary.

Opening of Court. The November term of the district court opens to-day, Judge Loofbourow presiding. The bar docket contains 754 cases, and makes quite a portly volume. Of this number there are thirty-seven criminal cases; 303 equity cases, and 416 law. The liquor prosecutions cause the number of cases to be swelled greatly, there being about a hundred of these. There is the usual number of divorces,

The following are the grand jurors drawn: W. B. Ried, Kane; O. H. Lucas, Lewis; Wm. Schoening, Washington; Zenas Brown, Neola; Henry Rishton, York; Hugh Pritchard, Knox; J. R. McRae, Garner; W. S. Thorp, Carson; K. Walker, Belknap; John Kemer, Minden; S. R. McElhiney, Boomer; A. B. Smith, Boomer.

The petit jurors are: J. G. Wilson, Kane; M. W. Clark, Kane; B. T. Con-nor, Kane; F. S. Halliday, Kane; J. C. nor, Kane; F. S. Halliday, Kane; J. C. Medlar, Kane; L. Sweringen, Kane; Geo. Not Frightened By Fines. "What about it now?" was the query fired by a BEE reporter at one of the most prominent of those engaged in fighting the prohibition law.

"It's all right. The soloons won't be closed in Council Bluffs. Those who stick right to it, and who carry their cases to the supreme court will be all right. I never was more confident in my life about anything. I'm no lawyer, but I know what the best lawyers in this state think about it, and I've been getting thoroughly posted. I wouldn't be taking the chances I am if I wasn't just as sure of coming out ail right as I am of being alive.

"You don't have much hope this side of the United States supreme court, do you? "Well, no, not very much, but I tell you when the cases are reached there you will see what I'm telling you is so. It looks to reason. A democratic president is not going to put anybody but a court stands four against four on this question, and what will the new man do? Here is republican Kansas and republican Iowa, both prohibition, now do you think he will go ahead and help prohibition? Not by a long sight. He will be against it, first, last and all the time. When these cases come up you will find them kicked over the fence in a hurry. There is no doubt but that the law is unconstitutional in some respects, and the supreme court will decide so-you

"But isn't it a little dangerous monkeying with the buzz saw while you are waiting for the supreme court to throw the belt off, and stop the machinery?"

"Dangerous? How so? Suppose they fine a fellow. What then? He surely has got some right to appeal, and have his case reviewed by some higher court? He can't be kept from asking the United States supreme court from considering the matter can he? That's all there is to it. If I wasn't so sure as to what the supreme court will do, I might think it ngerous, but I'm dead certain the law will be knocked endways. It isn't reasonable, and the supreme court, with democrats holding the club, ain't going to make it a pet. No, I'm sure she's all right. I don't get it from the lawyers who are here, but I've got it from other good authority, and I know what I'm talking about."

One thousand head of one, two and three-year-old steers for sale. Will give credit to reliable parties. Enquire of A. J. Greenamayer, 623 Mynster st., telephone 121.

Wadsworth, Etnyre & Co., 236 Main street, make reliable abstracts of property in Pottawattamie county.

The Police Round Up. Fines were assessed quite rapidly in the police court yesterday morning. Frank Mercer, W. A. Brown and Theodore Brown all pleaded guilty of being drunk and disturbing the peace, and were taxed $9.60 each. For want of the wherewithal to liquidate the claims of the law, they were returned to jail. William Ellis was charged $8.10 for a simple drunk. J. Drummond was fined $17.70 for carrying concealed weapons and disturbing the peace. The cases of John King, J. McGraw and Frank McBride for larceny from a building in the night time were not ready, but will come up to-day. The articles stolen were overcoats, which were taken from Neumayer's hotel and from Bell Clover's place. J. W. and E. L. Squire lend money. D"Let Her Go Gallagher," "Little Boss." Best five cent cigar in the city.

Pants! Pants!! Just received, a large new stock of pants goods, on which special bargains are now offered, at present reduced prices. Pants made to order can be had as cheap as ready made. Reiter, the Tailor, No. 310 Broadway.

Crooks at Work Again. Burglars were busy in the city Sunday night. They entered three stores on West Broadway, but did not make a very large haul. At E. M. Hubbard's they obtained a few eigars. Henry Delong does not miss anything, but Mr. Rusch is out about $75 or $80. Entrance was obtained by breaking out glass.

Their work indicates them to be more of the sneak thief than of the professional burglar. It is a noticeable fact that there are more burglaries in the city during the full moon than at any other time. Why it is saisyet to be exother time. Why it is so is yet to be ex-plained. In this case the light-fingered gentry left no clue to their identity.

The Clock Exhibition.

There will be on exhibition for four days at 330 Broadway near Beehtle's hotel, commencing to-morrow afternoon, one of the greatest mechanical clocks ever put on exhibition in this country. The clock occupies a space of 200 cubic feet, has 265 wheels, 122 moving figures. and pendulum. The New York World of July 29, 1886, says:

brought from This clock was Germany in December of last year and is the greatest invention of the present day. Among the things which it represents are the four generations, seven heathen gods, twelve signs of the Zodiac, twelve apostles, four seasons, moon, globe, stars, etc. It must be seen to be appreciated. It is probably the nearest approach to perpetual motion that has ever been achieved. Admission only 10 cents.

Broke a Leg.

Harry, son of George A. Keeline, met with a painful accident Sunday. As he was riding a Broncho on upper Broadway, the animal slipped on the wet paving and fell across the rider's leg, breaking the large bone just above the ankle. Dr. Lacey was called to reduce the fracture and put the young man in a fair way of recovery. He will let horses alone for the next few weeks and try crutches for a change.

It Is Surprising!!
But a fact. You can get an elegant up-holstered rocker, spring seat and ends for nothing, 105 Main St.

A Costly Jpark. About $3,000 worth of property belonging to Matthias Blumenstein, near the Northwestern roundhouse, went up in smoke Sunday evening. A passing engine is supposed to have started the fire, which was first discovered in a hay stack. A barn, granary and carriage house were destroyed. The fire depart-ment was early on hand, but was unable to do much on account of scarcity of water. The property was insured in the London, Liverpool and Globe for $2,500. E. H. Sheafe loans money on chatte

F. P. Ryerson, of Spencer, Ia., was at the Kiel house yesterday. Judge Reed, of the supreme court, spent Sunday at home in this city. George Whitehead and T. P. Williams, of Oakland, Ia., were here yesterday. J. A. Frazier, of Silver City, spent Sunday night in the city, returning home yesterday. Hon. John T. Cain, representative from Utah, stopped at his cousin's, E. Huntington, as he passed through the city yesterday. Rev. Mr. Rees, of the Broadway Methodist church, left yesterday for Shenandoah, to attend the district conference, which will be in session until Wednesday night. Mrs. Adams left for her home in Michigan yesterday morning, after a visit of several weeks with her son, H J. Adams, of the Wells, Fargo express company in this city.

Mrs. Conrad Geise was reported yes-terday as somewhat better, although her condition is still serious. Another operation was performed Sunday, re-lieving her at least temporarily.

Mr. D. Holst is arranging to take his family to California to spend the winter. He expects to start with them next week, but will return to look after the Kiel hotel, leaving the family there until spring.

P. J. and August Boysen have re-turned from their father's funeral at Clinton. The deceased had been a resident of this state for eighteen years, the last three of which were spent with his.

sons in this city.
William H. Ohlemacher, manager of the Council Bluffs handle factory, will go to Missouri this week to purchase timber for the manufacture of handles. The supply has just been exhausted and the works will be compelled to lie idle until the new stock arrives.

Rev. Mr. DeLong and wife have rekev. Mr. DeLong and wife make re-turned from Shenandoah, where he has been supplying the pulpit for two Sun-days past. They will remain with friends here for a time, being now the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Harkness.

FIVE REMARKABLE MEN.

How the Case of the Anarchists Was Presented to the Supreme Court. Washington correspondent Philadelphia Record: Five remarkable looking men were the counsel for the anarchists as they stood waiting for Justice Harlan on Friday morning before the closed door of the supreme court consul-tation room, down in the basement of the capitol. There was, first of all.General Ben Butler, of Massachusetts, a little balder, a little blinder and a good deal fatter than usual. He looked bet-ter than he has for a long time although ter than he has for a long time aithough he does get grayer and puffier every year. Friday morning he looked as though he had just stepped off the America's deck with the breath of the sea still in his nostrils. His bad eye winked as though the salt spray was flying in it, and he kept his mouth shut tight as a set-off. Butler looks in figure and attitude very much like Beecher. and attitude very much like Beecher, and with all his good clothes and his boutonnieres can never hope to look ele-gant. Hon. John Randolph Tucker is a very fine looking man, and on Friday he looked particularly well. His thick silky, velvety hair had been freshly trimmed, his ruddy face newty shaven, and he were a new suit and his double glasses, and could not well have been improved upon. General Roger A. Pryor looks like John Wilkes Booth. He must have a hundred wrinkles in his clean shaven face -his thoughts have seemingly been registered there instead of in his brain.

His long, black hair and his big lower lip, with his piercing, sparkling eyes. give his face an ecric look, something like Mr. Edward Hyde's. Black and Solomon, the Chicago counsel, are as striking in appearance as their more distinguished associates. Black, who is a brother of the commissioner of pensions, looks very much like him except that he is a little taller-a large, wellformed, good-looking man with gray hair. Solomon, is a little, lithe, pockmarked, beardless Jew, with the thick, black hair and the curved, prominent nose of his race. Before them stood a meek, little side-whiskered court messenger, keeping the door. Behind them stood a score of newspaper men and lawyers. Just at the moment when everybody had shifted from one foot to the other for the tenth time the big, broad, loose-jointed form of Kentucky's representative in the supreme court of the United States filed up the vista down the corridor. As he came nearer the waiting little crowd saw that he had on his old clothes, and his big, white necktie and flaving collar about his big red neck, as usual, with a big_umbrella under his left arm and a new cane under his right. "Good morning, gentlemen," he said, in his hollow bass, nodding his great head right and left. "Shall I let them in, sir," said the small doorkeeper, looking up to him with marked deference. "Certainly, certainly; walk in, gentlemen," said Justice Harlan, as he strode before them into the quaint little room with its curi ous alcoves, taking off his hat as he crossed the threshold, and so giving full view of his splendid head, which, alas. grows balder and balder. He did not ake off his overcoat, however, as he felt the need of official robes, I suppose and at any rate knew that the proceedings would be very brief. He sat down at the head of the consultation table, in vited the counsel to sit down at its sides which all did except Solomon, who, with true Chicago modesty, stood up in the rear and drew a page or two of legal cap from his pocket. Then he said: "Gentlemen, I have a memorandum here which I want to read," and he read the statement sending the application to the full bench. Of course, there was nothing for counsel to do but to go upstairs to the supreme court-room, get out their printed briefs, which they had ready, and wait until the court would meet, at noon. Then Pryor, whose elocution and gesticulation are on the Lawrence Barrett order, presented the ap plication for a writ of error in an argument which the court cut down just about one-half by pertinent questions, much to Pryor's inward disappointment. A very little of such oratory as his goes a long way with our present supreme court. Business is business with it, and the fewer frills the better. An ordinary sore throat should not be neglected, as it may develop a serious and dangerous character, use Dr. J. H. McLean's Tar Wine Lung Balm. 25
