Not long since, I was told that there was a desk in my office which contained a great many papers, and I was told that, some night, if I could spare the time, it would be well to look into the desk, and see what it pendent upon his existence. The poor man should insure to protect his estate. Ready money immediately after death is the one contained. Well, I worked at morning until nearly one 3 o'clock and found it full of applications for rebates, corrections of over-charges and a number of claims of several kinds and of these many were over a year old and to them no attention had been paid. Now that is not the way to run a railroad. No wonder the people have turned against the Union Pacific and speak unfavorably of it. These claims should have been settled in one way or another, long ago, and we are now indeavoring to push them to the settlement. When Mr. Potter, who is a thorough-going business man heard of this state of affairs, he was displeased and ordered an immediate settlement.

"Again you may have heard that certain parts of the country west of us, through which the road runs, has been boomed while other localities have had nothing for them. You can understand why the people in the latter sections became offended. There are stretches of country on the line which require irrigation, and it was hoped by the settlers that the road would join in inducing the government to afford the required relief. But the road didn't do it. You don't blame the settlers for being offended do you! They knew as well as we know, or perhaps very nearly as well as we know now, that the sections along the line which were boomed were those in which some of the late officials were directly interested, and those sections in which nothing was done were left to the thrift and energy of the settler to reclaim from a desers."

PRUYN'S FAILURE.

The Well-Known Real Estate Man Succumbs to Financial Pressure. The failure of L. P. Pruyn, the well-known real estate and carriage dealer, was announced yesterday. His liabilities amount, it is claimed, to about $41,000. To secure this he gave a real estate mortgage for $7,000 due in estate as follows: To Elmer N. Parkland, es-timated at $5,000; to Frank Colpetzer, George Smith, Isabella McDonald, Ida D. Wells and William S. Robinson, aggregating $12,550. On his carriage repository on Izard near Twenty-fourth street together with his stock, rests a chattle mortgage to Churchill Park amounting to $8,885.65. Mr. Pruyn, for some time has been one the most active real-estate and business me in this city, investigating largely in land an houses, and more latterly turning his atter houses, and more latterly turning his atten-tion to carriages, his stock of which was probably never excelled in this city. He was one of the inspiring movers of the Omaha sleigh and carriage factory which was recently established in South Omaha, and to which he gave the benefit of his energy and enterprise. His enterprise has been the means of enabling a number of neonle to secure modest houses on easy terms people to secure modest noneson easy terms, and his failure will be largely regretted by them. Late vesterday afternoon a complaint was entered at the police court by Miles and Thompson charging Mr. Pruyn and William S. Robinson, his bookkeeper, with unlaw-fully securing $625 worth of collateral de-posited with them to secure notes. The hear-ing of the complaint was fixed for Thursday, the 17th and Mr. Prnyn states that at that time the whole affair will be satisfactorily extime the whole affair will be satisfactorily explained.

AN EMBEZZLER CAPTURED.

Officer Ormsby Arrests a Fugitive From Justice.

Gus Connala, a fugitive from justice, was captured yesterday by Officer Tom Ormsby in a house at the foot of Harney street. Connala is wanted for embezziement at Terre Haute, Ind., where he sold a car load of apples entrusted to his charge, pocketed the money and fied from the city. He was tracked first to Indianapolis, and then to Louisville, Ky. At the latter place the po-lice discovered his hiding place, and, while they were coming up the stairs to capture him, he let himself down with a rope from a third-story window and escaped. After this all trace of him was lost, and a photograph and description was sent to all the principle and description was sent to all the principle cities. Ormsby caught sight of Connala one day on the street and recognized him at once, having carefully studied his photograph and description. At first Connala denied that he was the party wanted, but, seeing it was all up with him, he finally confessed. He is be-ing held in custody at the central police station antil orders are received from the of ficers at Terre Haute.

Delinquent Taxes. The county treasurer is very busy now-a days selling the real estate forfeited by the non payment of taxes. The amount of real estate thus to be disposed of amounts to nearly $35,000. Some of it is very valuable. One lot was sold to an eastern investor yes-terday morning for $2,500. The same state of affairs exists in the city treasurer's office.

One Year Ago Yesterday.

One year ago yesterday, the most tempestuous winter storms experienced by Omaha in late years, broke upon the city. The snow was piled in drifts, street cars were stopped, railroad tracks blockaded and railroad tracks blockaded and winter set in with a hold which was not re-laxed until late in the spring. There was lit-tle danger of snow in the sunshine of this morning.
