WEEKLY BUSINESS REVIEW. A Good Demand For Money Throughout the Six Days. Curcago, Nov. 19.—[Special Telegram to the Bee.]—Quite a good demand for money has prevailed throughout the week, but bank ers were well supplied with loanable funds and borrowers experienced little difficulty in obtaining all the accommodations asked for, when able to furnish undoubted security. It was quite evident, in view of the increased activity in business and steadiness in trade circles, that bankers were little inclined to enlarge their discount lines, and in this way gave more encouragement to parties in all branches of trade. Operators in stocks, grain and provisions increased their demands to some extent, but their wants were not pressing and in most cases merely in the way of temporary loans for margins which were called for suddenly before the funds could be obtained from outside parties. Considerable money is being forwarded to the interior for the purpose of purchasing and storing small grains and also for cribbing corn. The wants of the lumber trade are light and requests for favors on behalf of the manufacturing interest are limited. Merchants in the wholesale mercanthe trade still present considerable paper for discount, but it is merely for short dates. Calculations are made that the improved prices for grain and live stock will induce farmers to sell more readily and reduce their indebtedness to interior merchants, who in turn can cancell their accounts here. Collections are not very good, in fact rather slow. Rates of interest are well supported at 6 gor7 per cent on call and 70 s per cent on time loans. Very little paper is accepted under 8 per cent. Some paper was accepted on the street at a siight reduction accepted on the street at a signt reduction on bank rates. Money in eastern cities con-tinues quite close and borrowers experience considerable difficulty in obtaining bank favors. Advices from abroad indicate a more urgent demand for money and the balances of the banks have been drawn upon quite New York exchange was in better supply during the past week, due to the transfer o street railroad property here to eastern capi talists and the demand was fairly active An increased business was reported, with sales between banks at 256-40 cents discount per $1,000 and the market closed steady at 35 0040 cents. Foreign exchange was inclined to quietness during the week just closed. Offer ings were not very large, while the demand was only fair. Shippers' sixty-days docu-mentary bills on London chonged hands at $4.80664.8015. The New York stock marke exhibited considerable activity during the past week and a stronger feeling was de past week and a stronger feeling was de-veloped. Prices for all the leading stocks have advanced materially and the appreciation was moderately well supported to the close. The earnings of the railroads appear to be satisfactorily compared with the returns of one year are and this is regarded as a feature of strength and rather encourages operators to cling to the buying side of the market. traders and western speculators took hold t some extent, yet "home attractions" in the way of grain and provisions attracted their attention more than usual. Foreign traders were inclined to realize to some extent early but purchased again during the latter part of the week. Sales on the New York stock exchange for the week aggregate 2,542,700

Probably no single week during the past two years has presented more activity in produce circles here, attended with beneficial results, than the week just closed. The speculative branch of trade in particular was un usually brisk, and local and outside operators indulged in liberal transactions in grains and provisions, the rate of commission apparently, for the moment, being of seco All surroundings of trade were favorable for an increased business, and changes in prices were sufficiently frequent to induce speculators to enlarge their operations even for small profit. An unusually large number of outside orders were received largely on the buying side of the market early in the week and on the selling side later but indicating a revival of business in specu-lative circles, though attended with consider able conservatism. Wheat, corn and provis ons were the leading articles traded in, with longer deliveries commanding the preference. but other grains and seeds attracted more than the usual attention. The supply of grain is gradually enlarging excepting corn and markets are limited only by the ability of the railroads to furnish cars.

Arrivals of hogs at the western packing points are liberal. The packing season is now in full blast and the stocks of provisions are gradually increasing as is usual at this season of the year. Receivers and shippers have enjoyed an active trade, attended with more satisfactory results. Prices have advanced materially on all leading articles, though the extreme figures reached were not fully supported to the close. Some "realiz-ing" that last week considerably enlarged the offerings and a sudden decline in prices brought some property on the market, which is carried on small margins. The changes in prices, however, were not suffic-iently large to cause heavy losses or to secure liberal profits—in fact it was an old time market where everybody in general made a few transactions "just to make a little While this may have been the views of the miscellaneous speculators, still a number of heavy operators backed their opinions quite heavily and frequently, which added to the activity at times. The result of the week's business has certainly demon-strated the fact that the grain and provision trades of Chicago can be enlarged and greatly revived, and operators feel and anticipate that this is only the forerunner of an active business throughout the winter with pres-pects of laying a good foundation for an unusually heavy trade when navigation opens in the spring.

CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19 .- [Special Telegram to the BEE. |-The wheat market, under various influences, was quite steady and fluctuations were confined to a range of about 14c, an advance being established by the day's trading over last night's closing of Me for May and Me if or December. The opening was at a shade under yesterday's closings at 7514c for December and $1% c for May. The cold wave apparently gavethe first impulse to the market and prices advanced to 75%c for December and 82c for May. Outside buying orders were not sufficient to offset the efforts of the local crowd, who believed that some small profit might be gained by selling, and the price again dropped to 75% @751cc for December and 81% (481% of for May. Then followed fluctuations of about the same width with no other cause apparently than the necessities of the local traders, until shortly after noon, when the low point of 75%e for December and 8134c for May was reached. Then the talk of extreme cold coming had its effect, and as there were some short sellers who seemed to believe it and wanted grain right away, prices shot up very suddenly to 75%c for December and 824 for May, which was the close at the highest figures of the

The speculative market ruled rather easier most of the day, but May corn closed higher than yesterday and within a shade of the highest prices of the day. A weakening fea-ture here was a decided falling off in the demand for eash grain, but little being wanted mand for cash grain, but little being wanted in view of the freight conditions at this sea-son of the year. The speculative market was rather dull and largely of a local character. The wildest fluctuation was in May, the most active future, and that was but 14c. The board of cable quoted spot corn 1/2 lower and all futures lower, but outside news seemed to have very slight effect in the pit. The receipts here were 299 cars—about 60 cars more than was expected—and the estimate is for 295 cars Monday. May corn opened at 48½c, sold down to 48¼c, up to 48¾c and closed at 48½c, sold stated between 41½c444½c and 43½c and closed at 44½c. January opened at 44½c, sold at 44½c and 43½c 44c and closed at 44½c. There was less speculative trading in oats and aside from the sales reported of January outside news seemed to have very slight of-

and aside from the sales reported of January at 26% and 26%, the business passing was all for May delivery. That future opened at 30% (a.30% on the spot, which was the market close. There was a pretty firm finish to the market. November was nominal at 27% on the market close.

and December was quoted at 203ge.

In provisions there was even more excitement than on any of the former days of the week. Under the lead of pork, which was hammered in the most unsparing manner by a couple of credited longs, who were anxious to depress lard for the purpose of covering a line of shorts, the entire trade expensions. hibited unusual nervousness. The move-ment was very irregular. The fluctuations in January pork covered a range of 45c, in in January pork covered a range of 45c, in January lard 15c and in January short ribs 12½c, and at the adjournment of the board the product showed a material decline. Lard, which was well supported, was relatively the strongest article traded in, yet it closed 5ca7½c under last night's figures. In short ribs the duy's decline was 10ca12¾c, and in pork, which was made the pivotal article, the depreciation amounted to 32½ca35c. Trading was active and the pit well crowded with traders and the pit well crowded with traders throughout the session of the board. Jan-uary, which was the favorite future, sold for pork at $13.666/14.05, for lard at $9.6506 7.10, and for short ribs at $6.87\2667.00. Pork and short ribs sold at the highest prices quoted at the opening and had at the opening and again shortly before the noon hour. For January pork stood at the close at $13.65, lard at $7.00 bid, and short ribs at $5.90. The other months traded in closed at $6.97% November and December lard, $13.77% for February pork, $7.07% bid for February lard, $7.00 for February short ribs, $7.07% for March lard, $7.17% for March short ribs, $14.15 for May pork and $7.27% bid for May

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19 .- [Special Telegram to the BEE.]-CATTLE-Trade was about the same as on any other Saturday, perhaps slower on account of the driving snow storm that set in early and continued all forenoon, which more or less interfered with the general market. Regular dressed beef buyers were not in the market, as they had a supply on hand from Kansas City, and there were but few shipping orders. Taking Friday as the close, we may quote prime native steers firm and scarce; medium steers not over plentiful and steady as compared with a week ago; plain and common natives plenty and slow at about last week's prices. Rangers and Texans have advanced 25@30c this week, Native butchers' stock, now that Texans are getting scarce, will make more money from this time on. Stockers are 250c30c higher than a week ago. Beeves, $2.75@3.75; good nominal at $4.25. Stockers and feeders, $1.30; cows, bulls and mixed, $1.75\(\alpha\)2.80. Texas steers, $2.50\(\alpha\)3.25; cows, $2.00\(\alpha\)2.50. West-ern rangers duit; natives and half-breeds, Hogs-There was an old-fashioned boom n this market to-day, values advancing 1566 20c on the best heavy and 50c10c on light. The advance since last Saturday has been 25.a30c on heavy sorts. Sales were made at $5,10665.20 for fancy heavy this morning and $4,85665.00 for fair to good packing sorts, with common $4.60664.70. Light sorts sold as high as $4.80cc1.85 for closely assorted and $1.70cc4.75 for the ordinary run.

OMAHA LIVE STOCK.

Cattle. Thirty-eight cars of cattle were received yesterday, as against twenty-six on Friday. Taken as a whole, the market was very dull. The demand for corn fed steers was light The demand for corn fed steers was light and about six loads were sold at steady prices. One string of eight cars of western cattle was sold for shipment. Aside from that there was nothing done and there was not enough trading to make a market.

Hogs. The receipts of hogs yesterday were eighty-five cars, a loss of four cars as compared with Friday. The market opened active at an advance of 10c. The buyers took all offer-ings readily and as the later trains arrived. the market gained in strength. The market closed with hogs selling fully 15@20c higher than Friday's close. Three loads reached $4.50. There was nothing left unsold.

Sheep. There were no fresh receipts but one bunch of stale sheep was sold.

Mrs. Morse's Luncheon.

A delightful luncheon was given in the dining hall of the Paxton, Thursday, with Mrs. S. P. Morse as the hostess. The affair was given in honor of Miss Robinson, a charming young lady who is spending the winter with Mrs. George W. Ames, at 902 Park avenue. Covers were laid for fortytwo guests. The menu and plate card two guests. The menu and plate card served as a beautiful sovenier for the guests, and the arrangement of flowers were neat and tasty. But few enjoy the reputation possessed by Mrs. Morse as a hostess, and the honors on this occasion were tendered in the most charming style. The affair, though a quiet one, will long be remembered by the participants as a most charming event in the appals of Omaha society. The menu was as

Mrs. Colpetzer's Musicale.

The musicale given at the residence of Mrs. Frank Colpetzer Thursday evening was an elaborate affair. It was under the direction of Mr. B. B. and Madam Young, and given for the benefit of the First Congregational church organ fund. Mrs. Colpetzer's elegant parlors were beautifully decorated with cut owers and potted plants, while the surround ngs were æsthetic and lovely in the extreme The musicale programme was a marvel of excellence and heartily enjoyed by the appreciative auditors. At all times a charming hostess, Mrs. Colpetzer was on this occasion ever on the alert for the comfort, and happiness of her guests and to those who have en-joyed her genuine hospitality it is unneces-sary to say her efforts in this direction were

The musicale given by Miss Neally Ste vens' instrumental class in Meyer's hall last Wednesday evening was one of the most pleasant and classical little affairs ever given in the city. There was a splendid audience of the clite of the city in attendance, and the most lavish applause and encores followed each delightful feature in the evening's eard. The hall was a very bower of cut flowers and plants, and all the surroundings aesthetic in the extreme. The performances upon the plane by Mrs. G. M. Hitchcock, Mrs. A. N. Henshaw, Miss Chara Roeder and Miss Chaire Rustii were all capital indeed. In fact it would be

A Brilliant Affair. The fourth annual ball of the Overland

was held in exposition hall Thursday night It was a pronounced success-in attendance, sociability and enjoyment. The gallant gentlemen in charge were unceasing in their efforts to keep the pleasures of the evening at high pressure and succeeded admirably During the early hours of the evening the at tence was uncomfortably large, but toward midnight the number decreased sufficiently to permit the freedom of a polka without serious collisions. About thirty couples came from Council Bluffs on a special train at 8:45 nd their arrival at the hall was the signa for the grand march, in which 150 couples participated, while at least fifty more viewed the scene from the galleries and side rooms. The scene at this moment was a charming one. The ladies looked their sweetest and smilingly greeted friends and acquaintances whose duties admit of little ball-room recreation. The gentlemen were equally radiant with happiness. It was their night off, and they went in with a determination to run without orders and reach home on schedule time. Flanking the western wall stood a full-size locomotive front with headlight gleaming peacefully on the happy throng. "She is full jeweled." remarked a fireman, as he gazed proudly at "123." "She has Union Pacific cylinders, carries double signals and s running wild. We stop at twenty-eight stations on the run, but we'll make home at 3:30 if the muise tender holds out." The locomotive was a tasty piece of mechanism and was built for the occasion at the Union Pacific shops, under orders from Superintendent Dicken-son, Mr. C. S. Leary superintended the work, assisted by William Leslie, P. Whalen and P. Peterson. The cowcatcher, flag staffs and cylinder heads were decorated in white and blue, and the brass trimmings highly polished. A "diamond" stack surnounted all making a life size representation of the fireman's workshop. On the wall tion of the fireman's workshop. On the wall near by were picks and scoops at rest for the night, flanked with the embroidered banners of the lodge. On the background were the words, wrought in evergreens, "Overland Lodge." On the side galleries the stars and stripes fell in graceful folds over the motto of the order—"Industry, Sobriety, Benevolence," while over the entrance, surrounded by a wreath of evergreens, were the initials B. L. F.

Dancing continued from 9:30 to 3 a. m., there being twenty-eight numbers on the programme. Supper was served in the hall

Among the matrimonial events of the past week may be recorded the marriage of Chas. H. Peels, an Omaha boy, and Miss Anna Feurst, a sister of Mrs. Fred Melcher, who for the past year or two has been a resident of this city. The wedding took place at the residence of the bride's parents, near West Point, and was witnessed by quite an assemblage of relatives and friends. The bride was the recipient of quite an array of substantial testimonials in the way of articles ornamental and useful for the household. On the even-ing of the day of the nuptials the party arrived in Omaha and were given a reception at 1522 North Eighteenth street, the affair seing instigated and supervised by sisters of the groom. The reception lasted until mid-night, and, although the company was limited to relatives and a few invited friends, the occasion was no less enjoyable to particip ants than it must have been pleasing and sat isfactory to those in whose behalf the gath-ering had come together. The young couple who have quite an extended acquaintance in who have quite an extended acquaintance in this city commence the dual journey of life under happy auspices, and will bear with them the good wishes of a host of friends in social circles. They will reside at 1522 North Eighteenth street, and will be at home or and after December 1st.

A CHARMING masquerade party was given Friday night by Miss Amy Barker at her home on Twenty-second and Davenport streets. Mr. Frank Barker, brother of the hostess created quite a sensation, first as an Ameri can Indian, and later as a pink and blu lominoe, with an old woman's face.

WEDNESDAY EVENING a large number of of young friends assembled at the residence of Mr. John E. Bonewitz, in West Side, and passed a very pleasant evening, the gatherng being in honor of the twentieth birthday of his daughter, Miss Maggie. Quite a num ber of invitations had been sent out and as a result the house was filled with merry, fun-loving young people. Some very nice and costly presents were bestowed upon the young lady, who made an admirable hostess on this occasion. At 11 o'clock a very fine lunch was served, after which the a sembled friends were entertained with music and games. Those in attendance were G. L. Mclivane and Miss Robertson, J. E. Hardy and Miss Emma Lyman, A. S. Gantz and Miss Anna Higley, Charles Roberts and Miss Anna Highey, Charles Roberts and Miss Hannah Roberts, George Ritchie and wife, T. W. Smith and wife, C. P. The nearest relatives only were present, and the couple received many beautiful presents among them a Steck plano from the bride's father. The couple left for the east in the evening and will be home after the 26th inst., at their residence

On Georgia avenue.

Yesterday was the sixth anniversary of the birth of little Miss Clara Groshell and the event was appropriately celebrated. A o'clock a number of the little friends of little lady assembled at the residence of her parents on Seward street and extended their congratulations. The little host did the honors in a charming manner and from 2 until ors in a charming manner and from 2 until 5 an enjoyable time was spent by the little folks present, among whom were: Edith, Bessie and Alice Cooley, Norma and Marie Brown, Fannie and Sedona King, Mand and Bessie Wright, Ava Sooy, Autumn O'Neal, Mary Flannagan, Jessie McCune, Grace Holmes, Bertha Morrell, Annie Riddling, Grace Robinson, Emma Peterson, Ollie Cain.

The riner concert this season, of the Apollo club, will be given December 14. The Apollo club, will be given December 14. The fine precision, delicate shading and beauty of tone, attained by this club of twenty-four male voices at their first appearance in the spring has created much interest in their series of concerts to be given this winter. The singing of the club has demonstrated that their director, Mr. Young, can lead them on to a state of excellence. It show borne in mind that the concerts of the will be given to associate members, or those to whom they give tickets, only, and that the number of associate members is limited, and those who wish to attend the concerts should signify to some member of the club their desire to become associate members very soon new, in order to get in before the limit is reached, and in time for the first concert.
