Delivered by carrier in any part of the city at twenty cents per week. Manager, H. W. TILLEY. TELEPHONE: BUSINESS OFFICE, No. 43. STREET EDITOR, No. 25.

MINOR MENTION. N. Y. Plumbing Co. Reiter, tailor. Fall goods cheap.

The home of H. M. Simpson, baggage master at the transfer, was gladdened Tuesday by the advent of a son.

A large force of men are at work at the transfer on the track leading to the new Union Pacific freight depot.

The guests of the Creston House were served with a splendid Thanksgiving dinner by their host Max Mohn, and it was duly enjoyed by a large number.

Yesterday morning there was a general hunting up of last winter's sleds by the boys in the city, but Old Sol, smiled, and the sleds were put back in the wood shed.

Evidently the proclamation of Thanksgiving and the request to close houses of business was not interpreted to apply to the saloons of the city, for they were open from noon until midnight yesterday.

Justice Schurz helped two couples to celebrate their Thanksgiving by performing the marriage ceremony for them. They were John Shaw of Fremont county and Jennie Clayton of this city, and Frederick M. Wheeler and Mary E. Harmon, both of this city.

The new Union Pacific round house at the transfer is nearly completed. With the exception of paving the pits, the brick work is all done, and as soon as the workmen get through sanding the roof that will also be finished.

The death angel entered the home of Mrs. E. J. Nimmacher, and took their only child, Emily, a babe of seven months of age. The disease was membranous croup and the little one was ill only a few hours.

They are among strangers. But surely those who have suffered a like bereavement will extend a hearty sympathy. The funeral will occur at 10 o'clock this morning from the residence 236 Vine street.

The performers of "The Musketeers" were collectively and individually scored by the Omaha World, and whether they manifested too much timidity or not they did not hesitate to give the editor of this sheet an expression of their opinion of him.

In the elopement scene in the last act when just about to depart, the lovers were surprised by Louise, the duce rushing in. They begged her not to reveal their secret and she agreed not to on one condition only—"Speak, name it!" they cried. She replied: "That you help me thrash the editor of the World." They all grasped hands and raising one hand to heaven sang: "Vive the sweetest of professions, the name of a singer!" The audience applauded until the singers returned to the stage and bowed.

Money to loan. Cooper & Judson. To-morrow will see the full completion of the electric light towers, painting, straightening and all. The dynamo that is to run the tower lights is now being used on the 12 o'clock lights, as the armature of the regular dynamo was burned out the other night, owing to a broken wire making a short circuit within the machine. The damage will amount to nearly $600. A new armature has been ordered and it is expected here in time to have the tower lights running by the first of next month. The new engine is on the road and is expected daily. The new order of things will make a great change in the illumination of the city. It means an increase of over fifty thousand candle power, and it is not to be hidden under a bushel, but placed over one hundred and fifty feet from terra firma.

E. H. Sheafe loans money on chattel security of every description. Private consulting rooms. All business strictly confidential. Office 500 Broadway, corner Main street, up-stairs.

Arrested in Time. Chief Mullen yesterday arrested a man by the name of Woodburn, who was indulging in a "wild west" performance at the Tremont house. Woodburn was arrested last Christmas for shooting a man through the arm, but managed to get clear. His trouble yesterday was with the same man, and but for his timely arrest there would probably have been more bloodshed, as he was armed with a revolver and billy, which he seemed anxious to use. It is exceedingly improbable that he will have an opportunity to indulge his warlike propensities until after the holidays. Such realistic demonstrations of the wild and woolly west are not appreciated in this city.

The Pierce street garden was opened Wednesday evening by a large party given by Jacob Howarth, the proprietor. The premises have been put in first class shape, the rooms and halls being newly painted and gasolined. It will be let to responsible persons for parties or dances. Mr. Howarth invites his friends to call and see him.

An Interpreter Wanted. Will some one who understands language please interpret what was meant by the mayor's order to the gambling houses to close? Does closing mean doors open day and night and games of chance running whenever enough men gather for that purpose? What matters it if those who play are professional gamblers? This claim is made, with the addition that no innocent parties are fleeced. It is rather a bold statement, is it not? What is the official order contemplated it is well that the people should know it. Will some one rise and explain?

For best quality coal and wood, call on Glenson, 25 Pearl street.

Under the Palms. Rehearsals upon this beautiful operetta have commenced. It will be rendered by the singers of St. Paul's church, assisted by the best outside talent to be secured. The work will be rendered within the next two or three weeks. As a musical production it is one of the smoothest and most original that has appeared of late. It will be as good an entertainment and, no doubt, be finely rendered.

GOBBLER DAY IN THE BLUFFS

Thanksgiving Generally and Appropriately Observed.

SERVICES IN THE CHURCHES.

"The Musketeers" to Be Repeated at the Matinee To-Morrow—Electric Light Towers About Completed—Minor Mentions.

They All Gave Thanks. The day of our national thanksgiving was very generally observed.

Religious services were held at the Broadway Methodist and St. Paul's Episcopal churches. At the former the congregations of the Baptist, Presbyterian, Congregational and Methodist churches united.

A beautiful song service was rendered by the quartette choir from the Congregational church, constituted by Mrs. Wadsworth, Mrs. Ward, Prof. McElroy and Mr. Wescott. The solo and quartet, "Nearer My God to Thee," and the duet, "I Know That My Redeemer Lives," were especially fine.

The Rev. W. H. W. Rees read the proclamation of the president and governor. He then introduced Dr. Phelps, of the Presbyterian church, who delivered the sermon, selecting for a text the words, "Praise ye the Lord."

"I am not here to preach or to listen merely," said the speaker. "We have gathered here to praise God; to respond to the feelings of our hearts; to give thanks for the mercies we have received during the past year. American citizens all over the world will remember this day and join with us in its devotion. I wonder if those who have gone to heaven from American homes will not add to their aspirations of praise to Him who liveth forever and ever a tribute of special thanksgiving that their loved ones left on earth have been so blessed."

This day has been set apart for thanksgiving and praise to God, and not for the exaltation of our government, its institutions and people to the heavens. This would prostitute the day and debase its honor from its intended meaning. We may with joy think and speak of our lofty mountains, hills and plains; our buried treasures, our gold, silver, petroleum, etc. We may speak of our magnificent stretch of coast with its beautiful bays and harbors for the protection of our immense commerce; of our grand lake system and our magnificent waterways. We may speak of the intelligence, refinement and culture of our people; of that wonderful intercommunication by telephone, telegraph, etc., which binds all our people into one body, which reaches across oceans and seas, and writes the purpose and design of life and law upon the hearts of all men.

We can be but one people—one country. Look at our physical union. The Mississippi belts the continent, and our hills and valleys stretch away to the east and west to hail the rising day and bathe in the effluence of his departing glory. Our position gives us a political unity and thus it must always remain. We may be glad of our free institutions; of our religious interests; our skill and our industries. We may speak of our government and glory in the advantages it affords us, its children, and we may be thankful, from the bottom of our hearts, and beneath this spirit in speech and song that anarchy cannot despoil or rob us of our heritage. In this day of outcry against our government we may well speak in honor of a government which can defend itself against the attacks and invasions of a foreign foe. The influence of our acts upon the people across the water is wonderful in favor of universal liberty, and the protection of our people in the exercise of their rights and privileges vested in their citizenship.

"But in all these things is not our strength nor the elements of our prosperity," he (the speaker) referred to nations which have acquired prominence and become the rulers of the earth and have passed away. "They forgot God and died. Our national danger lies in the same direction."

The Pacific home always sets a good table, and this is one reason of its popularity with the traveling public. But yesterday the tables were fairly groined themselves. Their tables fairly groined with good things, and two or three gentlemen from where "the sweet breathed kine roam o'er the flow'ry mead," who undertook to eat clear through the bill of fare also groined before they finished it. The BEE force and all employees of the office were invited to dinner. The following was the menu:

Blue Points Scotch Broth, Chicken Gumbo Black Bass, Claret Sauce "Potato Parisienne"

Olives Celery Lettuce Ribs of Beef, Horse Radish Sauce Stuffed Turkey with Oyster Sauce

Boiled Tongue, Ham Shrimp Salad Roast Goose with Apple Sauce Mallard Duck with Jelly Game Pie

THE CHINESE WILL COME.

There will be an entertainment at the First Baptist church to-morrow afternoon and evening that will be both amusing and instructive. It will be given by Chinese students, and it is the intention to give a correct idea of Chinese customs, religion and styles of dress, to correct many erroneous impressions regarding their people and country, and to assist in the great missionary work that is now doing so much good in that idol-ridden country. The following is the $60,000 Worth of Paving. The gang of loafers who have put in much valuable time for the past few weeks watching the pavers will now have to find a new attraction to help them while away the hours. The last of the paving was finished yesterday and the work will now rest until spring. The idea occurred to Judge James yesterday that as the work was about finished there should be some distinguishing feature to celebrate the occasion. He borrowed a dinner pail from one of the workmen and covered a block with it. The "silver plated" block was duly laid and the men passed on. The attention of the inspector was finally called to it and he admired it to the satisfaction of all, but decided that "although it was very valuable, the specifications did not call for any such material, and he should be compelled to reject it."

The work just completed has cost the city about $60,000, but it is money well expended, for the paving is strictly first-class. City Engineer Tostevin pronounces the work on Washington avenue as well done as any he ever saw. Park avenue is the only one included in the contract that was not paved and that will be done as soon as the weather will permit in the spring. Proposals for next years paving are already advertised for and it is hoped that the standard will not fall below that of the season just closed.

J. W. and E. L. Squire lend money.

D. and D. Entertainment. There was a very interesting entertainment at the deaf and dumb institute last evening, and several of our citizens accepted the invitation of Superintendent Rothert to be present. The programme was rendered by the students and was as follows:

At Uncle Sam's Work. The new postoffice building has been inclosed and heating apparatus put in, so that the work began some time ago may be continued during the coming winter. Just now the plumbing work is being done. No material progress can be made until this portion of the work is finished. When this is done contractors for the other portions of the work will put on forces of men. This they are now prepared to do. From all present indications it is safe to predict that no unnecessary delays will be allowed to interfere with an early completion—a result most earnestly hoped for.
