After Six Years.

Ernest K. Williamson, who six years ago robbed the firm of Albert Moran & Co., of Fall River, Mass., of $40,000 and fled to parts unknown, has at last been captured and passed through this city in the charge of a Pinkerton operative yesterday. Williamson's crime was a peculiarly sensational one from the fact that the senior member of the firm he robbed was his father-in-law-of but two days standing. Williamson was married to Miss Hettie Moran on the evening of June 14, 1881. The next morning Mrs. Williamson went out for a drive with one Mrs. Borst, unattended by any escort. The spirited horse they drove ran away and Mrs. Williamson was instantly killed. That same night Moran & Co., received a package by express containing nearly $40,000 in cash. Mr. Moran placed it in the safe, it being after banking hours, and went to his home of sor-row. Williamson was there, bowed down with grief. Mr. Moran incidently mentioned the fact of the large amount resting in the safe and then went to his room. Notwith-standing that his bride of but a few hours lay cold in death in an adjoining room, Wil-liamson went to the office, opened the safe, stole the money and fiel. Williamson was the confidential man of the firm and had access to the safe and all the private papers of the concern.

When his crime was discovered on the following day it created the most intense ex-citement and the firm was forced to close its citement and the firm was forced to close its doors and go into bankruptcy. The case was placed in the hands of the Pinkertons, but all their efforts to capture the thief were fruit-less. His arrest on the 11th of this month, which was effected near Homer-ville, Gasper county, Neb., was brought about in a peculiar manner. About a year ago an itinerant and nomadic photographon wassed theoret Homeorilla photographer passed through Homerville making pictures to order. Among the rest was that of the one store in the place. When the picture was developed it showed that amongst the loungers and ranchmen in front of the place, was the man Williamson. Of course the photographer knew nothing about him, and after selling what he could de-parted. It had always been his habit to re-serve one of the copies, and no exception was made to the rule in this case.

Was made to the rule in this case. Last Thanksgiving day this photographer was arrested by the Pinkertons in Chicago, on suspicion of having committed a murder in that city, and his room was searched and all of his effects subjected to a careful examination. Among the rest was the Homerville picture. One operative thought he recognized Williamson's photograph and after compar-

Requisi-tion papers were obtained and the arrest was made at Williamson's own ranch on the 11th of the present month. The embezzler made an emphatic denial of his identity, but finally gave in with the re-mark, "Well, I've been in hell long enough." The prisoner was handcuffed and would talk but little. Williamson is a man appar entry thirty-five years of age. The two left for Massachusetts at 10:15 in the morning.

Is worth a column of rhetoric, said an American statesman. It is a fact, es-tablished by the testimony of thousands of people, that Hood's Sarsaparilla does cure scrofula, salt rheum, and other diseases and affections arising from impure state or low condition of the blood. The notes taken by Mr. Potter will be written out in jail and secured an attorney, as also did Kirkendall, Jones & Co. In full, and will give an accurate and valuable report of the proceedings, which will be pub-lished in book form. The papers read in the morning were "Pri-vate Dairy Interests of Nebraska," J. H. Reed, Columbus, and "Advantages of the Creamery over the Private Dairy," by E. F. Howe, Fairmont. Both these papers were discussed in a very interesting manner, Mr. Avery of the Fremont creamery, the pioneer man in the business taking the most promi-nent, yet not the least modest part. He de-clared himself to be, first, last and all the time a creamery man, and yet he did not deny that the private dairies might secure as good a price the ground that the court had no jurisdiction in the matter. Palm's attorney, a member of a firm here, it is stated made little if any objection, having previously, however, se-cured retainer of ten dollars. Palm was remanded 15 the authorities mentioned and on Tuesday last Constable Edgerton, Mr. Coe of Kirkendall, Jones & Co., and accompanied by Mr. Jeffries, an attorney, started for Goth-enburg, Dawson county in this state. It was at that place that it was claimed Palm had accompited his embershows. private dairies might secure as good a price for their butter as could the creameries, as it had been done in places east especially in Pennsylvania, where he knew farmers had for years sold their butter at not less than at that place that it was claimed Palm had committed his embezzlement. They rode to North Platte, whence they doubled back to Gothenburg, which was up in arms to receive the fraud. He was immedi-ately recognized by the citizens whose feel-ings ran warm against him and some of them were so excited that but little would have been required to immedi them to personia as $1 per pound. Yet, there were conditions which should exist before creameries in Ne-braska could be made first-class financial and been required to impell them to personal as sault upon the runaway. There it was learned that he had bought from ouside creditors a large stock of goods for a general store, and manufacturing successes. The Fremont creamery was one of the most complete, and the building perhaps the finest of its kind in the country. For three years it had returned him just about enough to pay his board, while it also enabled him to large stock of goods for a general store, and cut the prices so low that it almost ruined the established dealers in the place. After he had nearly sold out, with a good roll of money in his pocket, and all his bills unpaid, he skipped, and his partner, a man named Lagergren, followed him. But imagine the surning of Edgerton Coe and Laferica when drop a couple of thousand dollars. Since then it has been doing better. When he opened up the creamery he had been promised the milk of 400 new milen cows within a radius of seven miles. But he never had reurprise of Edgerton, Coe and Jeffries when, radius of seven miles. But he never had re-ceived it, although it had been offered him put down in black and white. This experi-ence led him to advise several gentlemen present who were terested in creameries and whose towns were considering the advisability of establishing similar institutions, to be careful before they laid their money out. These he advised to canvass the formers surprise of Edgerton, Coe and Jeffries when, after having been recognized by many of the Gothenburg people, denying that his name was Palm and further that he had ever done business in their town, he stoutly asserted his name was Johnson and that name was found in his bible. It seems that this was a premeditated trick, but it will avail little as two dozen people identified him and testified before Justice Smith as to his wrong doings. Notwithstanding his denials These he advised to canvass the farmers within a radius of twenty miles and see how many cows each of them would milk the foland testified before Justice Smith as to his wrong doings. Notwithstanding his denials he was put under bonds of $2,000, in default of which he was put on an extra train and carried to Plum Creek, where he was put behind the bars. Paim was not defended by an attorney. He claimed that the Omaha lawyer who appeared for him be-fore Judge Anderson in this city got an order from him on Jailer Miller, and that the lat-ter had gotten $101 there belonging to Palm and had refused to accompany him to Daw-son county to defend him. This makes $111 paid to a lawyer for a single appearance in a justice court, when $10 would have been a good fee. lowing season, put down the number and when they were satisfied they could get all the milk they wanted, divide the territory into routes and a route which did not give from fifty to sixty degrees of milk daily ought to be abandoned. If such were done and done regularly, there was no rea-son why a creamery should not pay for its supply within 6 cents of the price by Elgin and return a dividend on the capital invested. It was because creatheries were established without these essentials and the possibility of the necessary supply that, up to the present they have not all been great successes. Hatcher vs Johnson.

A few nights ago Captain Napoleon B. Hatcher punched the head of one Johnson through a pane of glass in one of the windows of the Millard hotel. Mr. Johnson got cut. and suffered ignominious defeat. Such to a member of the well-known Johnson family must be ignominious, because not less than a dozen of its members have written the BEE to protest they are not the particular Johnson who fought, bled and failed to die at the son, who fought, bled and haled to die at the hands of the valiant captain with the Little Corporal's prachamen. This paper had grown weary publishing these denials, and closed down upon a pile which has since been received. It however gives place to one more denial and that is the only one received from the Napoleonic side of the controversy. It comes from Mr. Hatcher himself, and is in effect that when he caused Johnson's head to pain him by shooting it through a pane of glass, he was not intoxicated, save with the intoxication of pleasure he afforded himself in so satisfactorily doing up his Johnsonian autagonist.
