

PREPARED TO AID THE POOR.

Messing of the County and "Bureau" Forces for Charity.

THE COMMISSIONERS' MOVE.

Her and the Whisky Trust—Half-Mile of Street Cars Delayed—A Broken Hydrant—A Fire Bug Turned Over.

Charity.
Yesterday Augustus Pratt and Jesse Lacey, both well known in this city were assigned to a room in the basement of the county building as the representatives of the Omaha Associated Bureau of Charities, which will be remembered was organized a few weeks ago. The room opens off that in which County Agent Mahoney distributes his supplies to the needy poor who are the wards of the county.

Mr. Pratt was asked by a Bee reporter what he proposed to do in his new situation, and frankly admitted that he did not know. They had but just opened office and it would require several days in which to really find out what they would be expected to do under the constitution of their association. The latter, he claimed, was not intended to distribute money, fuel or provisions, but to act as a bureau for the needy poor, and for who were receiving assistance from church and benevolent societies and thus prevent people from getting relief elsewhere.

THE COUNTY'S WORK.
County Agent Mahoney told the Bee reporter that the object of the bureau was an excellent one because it is intended to prevent imposition upon the public as well as private means of assistance. He instanced a case which, if the bureau had been in operation, never would have occurred. It was that of a family on Leavenworth street which had first been aided by benevolent people, and which later collected a goodly sum by begging on the streets. Mr. Pratt said he would remain in the office, perhaps, about a month, and that Mr. Lacey was really the paid officer of the bureau, and would be known as the assistant secretary.

Mr. Lacey was afterwards seen and requested to be not asked for information as to what he was going to do in his new situation. He was not asked for information as to what he was going to do in his new situation. He was not asked for information as to what he was going to do in his new situation.

COMMISSIONERS ON CHARITIES.
"We" (the board of charities), said Commissioner O'Keefe, yesterday to a Bee reporter, and the statement was verified by Commissioner Mount, "after the opening of the new year, shall organize several committees, one will be on the hospital and jail, another on roads and bridges, and a third on charity. We can say for these committees because then the board will consist of five men. Three of these could be well employed in checking up the treasurer's accounts at the proper time; the others could put in their time examining into the worthiness of the applicants for relief during the winter from the county. If we had such committees now we should not have the attempts to defraud the county, as are often made but not successful."

A Dangerous Accident.
The hydrant on the northwest corner of Douglas and Thirteenth streets was broken several nights ago by being run into by a runaway team. The fact was not discovered until the engines responded to the alarm of fire at that corner on last Monday night, although the fact of the break was known to some of the merchants in the neighborhood. Chief Galligan's anger was very forcibly expressed when he learned of the carelessness. A new hydrant was substituted yesterday.

District Court.
Saml. Lambert filed an action in divorce against his wife, Addie, yesterday. He sets forth in his complaint that he married her at Emporia, Kan., on the 29th of March, 1884, and a year later she deserted him and has remained apart from him ever since.

County Court.
A reporter for the Bee had a short talk with Judge McCulloch yesterday, in which the latter stated in response to questions that he thought the work of his court should be divided. He was now nearly always engaged in civil cases and compelled to attend to matters of probate almost on the side. This fact has been well attested in past months because it is pretty well known that the pressure of civil cases has compelled the judge to devote the greater part of his time hearing them. The opinion is now pretty generally entertained that the county court should attend only to matters of probate because the county has grown to that degree that this business alone independent of civil cases, would suffice to keep a judge busy.

On the Point of Death.
William Morrison, a well known job printer of this city, having been at one time the lessee of the Post-Telegraph Printing company's material on Fourteenth street near Dodge street, and later in business for himself on Douglas between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets, is lying at the point of death at the home of his father-in-law, Amendus Goetschmann, the city weigher, on South Thirteenth near Williams street. He has been ill almost constantly for three years, having in that time tried a number of remedies and a still greater number of remedies. His latest venture was with a female "faith cure" doctor, who he claimed was operating with success upon him. But he was laboring under a delusion. It is not thought that he can survive many days. He is a young man and many friends will regret his early death.

The County's New Deal.
"The new board of county commissioners will be organized one week from to-day," said Commissioner Mount yesterday to the Bee man.
"Yes," chimed in Mr. O'Keefe, "and we'll have a table here at the meetings for the reporters, too."
"When will the board meetings be held?"
"On Wednesdays and Saturdays."

The opening of the new Guild house of St. John's Episcopal church, corner Twenty-sixth and Franklin streets, will occur this evening with a concert. The program promises a rare musical treat. weeks of consideration, has concluded that a satisfactory alteration could not be made. As a consequence, Mr. Sheely has lost two weeks of the finest weather for finishing purposes, which would have been worth more than three months of weather of the present kind. The building will now be finished for offices and opened in the spring.

PUBLIC WORKS.

The Conditions on Which the City Will Be Lowered.

Chairman Halcombe yesterday hung on one of the walls of the board of public works the report of the committee to whom was referred the proposition of T. F. Brennan, relative to the lowering of the east wall of the new city hall. The committee consisted of George C. Whitlock, superintendent of buildings; S. A. D. Halcombe, chairman board of public works, and George W. Tillson, city engineer. They recommended to the council that the said wall commencing at a point twenty-six feet from alley wall, be lowered to a depth of sub-basement wall, and the concrete to be laid on a level with the top of the wall. The brick and masonry building. The front and intersecting walls to be stepped up one and one-half inches to one foot; the concrete base to be the same width and thickness, and the same material as the balance of said sub-structure.

The Weather.

The Blizzard Ended in the West and Struck the East.

Once more the signal indicating the approach of milder weather floats from the government buildings, and those who faced the infantile blizzard of Tuesday feel correspondingly at ease. Inquiry at the signal office revealed the fact that the storm had its birth in Manitoba, and on Christmas day was howling through Montana, Dakota and the western territories. It struck Omaha with a velocity of thirty-two miles per hour on Monday, and was followed by a fall in temperature that registered 14.5 degrees below zero on Tuesday night. Bismarck and Fort Buford fared worse, as the temperature at these points fell 23 degrees below, but so far no casualties have been reported. The wires of the signal corps worked satisfactorily throughout, with the exception of Deadwood, Dak., and Valentine, Neb., from neither of which points reports have been received.

The railroads did not suffer so much as might have been expected, the B. & M. requiring only one freight train snowed under on the Schuyler branch, and all passenger trains on time along the main line. The Union Pacific was equally fortunate, the greatest delay noted being that of the east bound flyer, which reached this city from Ogden three hours late. The flyer going west left Omaha fifteen minutes late, and by midnight was once more behind time, and after that, picked up and is now running on time. There were no stops caused by the storm, but the wind and snow prevented the trains making schedule time. Yesterday reports from Ogden and all along the line were that the weather is clear, cold and calm, with everything on time.

The blizzard, however, is working its way eastward, striking Chicago at 6 a. m. yesterday morning, and delaying trains arriving at Council Bluffs, which in turn delayed the starting of the Union Pacific flyer forty minutes. At Buffalo the thermometer registered 38 degrees above, but the officer in charge of the signal station predicts a surprise party for the citizens this morning.

To the W. C. T. U.
TREUMEN, Neb., Dec. 26.—To the women of Nebraska and especially the members of the W. C. T. U. there is to be held in Washington, D. C., early in March, a convention of women to celebrate the fortieth anniversary of woman's work. An urgent request comes from the general officers of the National W. C. T. U. that we should be well represented at that meeting, as a state and locally. It is especially for the purpose of appearing in the hotels and boarding houses. This will probably be the largest meeting of representative women ever held in Omaha, and we sincerely hope a large number from this state will attend. Yours for the advancement of women.
JENNIE P. HOLMES.
Pres. Nebraska W. C. T. U.

Another Delay.
Detective Moyrihan, who has returned from Minneapolis where he accompanied Dr. Dinsmore for the purpose of appearing in the trial of Hartigan charged with embezzlement, says the hearing of the case will not now take place until the month of next month.
