Growth of the Business of Fancy Cat tle Breeding-The Range Interests-Higher Prices For Cattle Predicted.

Denver Republican: The business of cattle-growing in Colorado during the past year gives rather more favorable romise for the future than pleasure in he past. Prices of beef cattle have ruled lower than they were during the preceding year, and they had got so ow that it hardly seemed as though they could go any lower, while the majority of men were seeking to reduce losses instead of calculating profits. Then there were scores of cattle owners who, led by the previously prevailing high prices, had bought as heavily as possible of young Texans and involved themselves deeply in debt. The latter portion of 1886 and the whole of the past year were periods of liquidation, and now the banks are carrying comparatively little paper, while there nave been no failures among cattleowners. The fact that the business is no longer conducted so largely upon borrowed capital is one of the healthiest igns connected with it.

A NOTICEABLE FEATURE. Next to the low prices for beef cattle the features most noticeable are the reluction of range area and the introducion of large numbers of fine bred breeding stock on the range. The reduction of the range area is due to the settlement in the castern portion of the state of a large number of farmers in a territory which was formerly used solely for cattle ranges. This has compelled some men to practically quit the business and sell off as many of their cattle as possi-ble, simply because they could find no range upon which to place them. The introduction of a large number of fine bred breeding animals into the herds of the state is the natural result of the lessening public range. It is one evidence of the well known fact erty, want 2 small houses and lots not too tar out. Lot 27. Hartman add, is a choice piece of trackage of 18,000 square feet; we can sell or trade this valuable property for other, good va-cant ground. Want 2 lots north of Cuming st., near track, price $20,000. We have a business property on north 16th st 66x77 cor alley on track with 2 story brick block, at $25,000, good property for an investment. Improved and unimproved residence property. A beautiful south front lot in Washington, square add at $2,750, $1,759 cash, is cheap, $3,000; was refused for this lot year ago. We have 2 handsome lots left in Troxell's sub of the beautiful maple grove, lot (30 of Gise's Add, opp, Kountze place, and 2 in Williams' sub of lot 6, we can sell at $1,000 less than lots are selling for in Kountze place; nothing finer in Omaha. that the method of conducting the cattle business in Colorado has changed materially during the past two or three years. The overstocked public ranges have compelled breeders o make arrangements to feed and shelter much of their stock, which in turn has necessarily compelled them to breed a better class of cattle in order to obtain the best possible profits. Texans was good enough and possibly the best cattle for the wide plain ranges, but they are not the best cattle to feed or breed where feeding is necessary. The public range is not by any means en-tirely abandoned, and will not be abandoned for many years to come, but the old ways of doing the business and the old profits obtained while grass was abundant on the public domain are gone forever. DEMAND FOR FINE STOCK. The demand for fine stock has mate-rially affected business in this city, and made Denver the best market in the United States for blooded horned stock.

greater than ast year's. Sales have been made to breeders in Montana, Arizona, and California, and all the other western states and territories, including Kansas and Nebraska on the east, from which direction no trade was expected. Among the milk breeds Jerseys and Holsteins are the only kinds sold and the supply of the latter has not equalled the demand. This breed has met with remarkable favor among the dairymen. There was some doubt not long ago about their adaption to this climate, as their natural home, where they have been bred for centuries, was the low and moist Netherlands, where the grass F^{OR} SALE-Lot 7 block 6 west Cuming $900; In 5 bik 4 LaVeta place, $1,100; lot 12, Rus-tins add to Plainview, $1,100; lot 7 bik 4 Thorn-burg place, $800; lot 4 bik 13 Carthage, $700; two lots in Fowler place, two lots in Burlington place, lot 14 bik 8 Bedicks sub division and three other lots. McCague, Opp. P. O. 132 winter.

A SMALL WINTER LOSS. As a consequence, the loss in Colorado was very small. Unfortunately, in the regions north of this state the losses were heavier than they have been since the beginning of the business. This winter, so far, has been as favorable as could be asked for by cattle owners. Fires have not been destructive to the ranges, so far as known but one having done any damage. On the line of the Missouri Pacific, on the Sandy, about ten miles square have been burned over. During the year the railways have reduced rates on cattle to Chicago about $12 per car, while dur-ing the previous year they were ad-vanced $20 per car. Freight rates are still higher than they were when prices were 75 per cent above present quota-Range cattle owners have suffered se-vere losses during the year from thieves.

Hundreds of cattle have been killed in the eastern portion of the state, due partly, no doubt, to the fact that no considerable detective force has been employed, as formerly, by the Colorado Cattle Growers' association. A few, however, have lately been convicted and sent to the penitentiary through the efforts of the association, which will fur-nish some protection in the future. THE RANGE ASSOCIATION.

The Range association and other or-ganizations, having for one of their ob-jects the taking control of the prices of cattle out of the hands of the Chicago buyers, have apparently not yet accom-plished any good, though it may be too early to expect anything of the kind. For the past three years, the last year more than before, the sales of young steers and she stock for beef have been enormous. This fact, coupled with the enormous losses in the northern region
