A TRAVELER'S TALE.

What An Explorer Saw in Three

Years. San Francisco Chronicle: A tall.sunburnt man, polished and of good address, and wearing a rough suit of Scotch tweed, sat in an easy chair in his room in the Baldwin hotel yesterday afternoon, and modestly though briefly recited to a Chronicle reporter a story of travel and adventure in which he was the leading figure and which the experionces of but few men have equaled.

An intimate friend of Henry M. Stanley, Paul du Chaillu, Colonel Chaille Long and other well known travelers and explorers, Frank Vincent, jr., of New York, though not as widely known to fame, has contributed much interesting and important data to scientific societies within the United States and abroad, and is at present either an honorary or active member of them all. During the past eleven years he has traveled 265,000 miles, and has written half a dozen books of his adventures and discoveries in out-of-the-way parts of the world.

Mr. Vincent arrived in San Francisco

Thursday night, from Mazatlan, by the steamship Grenada. In May, 1885, he left New York alone on an exploring expedition. Proceeding to Panama, he went down the west coast of South America, through the Straits of Magellan, up the east and north coasts of South America to Acapulco, thence to the West Indies, to Cuba, and from there to New York, where he remained about one month. He then returned to Central America, and after visiting hitherto unexplored portions of that country, came back to this country and is now on his way home to New York, after having traveled 75,000 miles in three years. Mr. Vincent intends to publish his experiences during the last hree years in both book and magazine form, and for that reason was yesterday somewhat unwilling to give a detailed description of his travels for publication at present. As he expressed it, he was not desirous of "giving away the cream from his milk." He consented to skim off a small quantity, however, for inest countries under the sun, he said the edification of readers of the Chronicle. Speaking about the Argentine Republic, which he regards as one of the that last year he made a trip into the interior, 1,800 miles north of Buenos Ayres, to a waterfall, larger in some respects than Niagara falls and fifty feet higher, although there is not the same tremendous volume of water. The falls are situated in the midst of a vir-gin forest, hundreds of miles from any habitation, and have only been visited by three white men. The journey was made with the greatest difficulty, a pas-sige-way having to be cut for miles through fine, interwoven underbrush many feet high by the soldiers, who had been sent with Mr. Vincent as an es-cort by the Argentine Republic. In addition to such obstacles there existed the danger arising from Indians who make warfare with poisoned arrows and from ferocious tigers and venomous

In Ecuador he ascended an active volcano, 16,000 feet high, and, after being occupied all day in making the ascent of the mountain, camped on the summit, and in the morning ate breakfast in the

Mr. Vincentsaid that the people of the United States generally have no idea of the magnitude of the South American continent. Brazil alone is larger than the United States, and quite unknown as far as knowledge of the interior is concerned. The city of Rio Janeiro he considered the most beautiful in the world not executive Constants. world, not excepting Constantinople, but the streets are always in a most dissurrounding the city, which could easily be leveled, prevent healthful breeze from reaching it. Yellow fever, conse quently, creates most frightful mortality among the inhabitants, although the Portugese are singularly free from it, but suffer greatly from smallpox. Negroes, on the other hand, are never attacked by smallpox, but the loss among them from yellow fever is very great. While Brazil offers many ad vantages to white persons, yet that part of the country situated near the tropics is fatal to them in point of health. One great difficulty to be met with is the lack of facilities for traveling. As soon as the traveler leaves the cities he finds absolutely no roads other than those used by horsemen. There are no inns or hotels throughout the interior, and unless provisions are taken along. the prospect for starving is very favorable, foreigners receiving but little ac-commodation from Indians, who are the chief residents of the interior, and who the rainy season travel is practically impossible. Mr. Vincent had not visited San Francisco for eighteen years until Thursday night. He came here on the ship Golden Fleece in 1869. At that time one portion of Market street, now up, and many other thoroughfares, were entirely destitute of build-ings. The foundations of the Palace hotel were being put up, and on Nob hill no such residences as may now be seen were in existence. had changed to such an extent that he could hardly find his way about the streets. Yesterday he had occasion to visit Vallejo street wharf. When he was here last that landing place was "toward the Golden Gate," as he expressed it. He could not find it in its old location, and, on being directed by a policeman, found it to be almost half a mile from where it had formerly been. Mr. Vincent added that he observed more evidences of steadiness in the city now and less extravagance than was the case during his former visit, when men used to match each other in barrooms for $20 gold places, and champagne was spending his hard earnings on cigars and tobacco? Give it up? Well, when he finds he can do without tobacco and Salvation oil, the greatest pain-cure on earth, is compounded of purest drugs. It is guaranteed to contain nothing of a poisonous character. Only 25 cents a

A Touching Appeal.

The following touching appeal is clipped from a Missouri paper: "If the gentlemen who tarred and feathered us last Saturday night will kindly return our clothesthey will con-fer a lasting favor. We are still wear-ing the feathers, and while, owing to the thoroughness of our fellow citizens work they are quite comfortable for house wear, still the gentlemen who have come out with a fall feather suit are so few that our appearance on the street in the costume would be sure to cause remarks. Please return the pants and shirt at least, and our friends are welcome to the paper collars and spurs."

"It needs," as Hamlet says, "no ghost To come and tell" this truth. Pure SOZODONT preserves the teeth, In age, in manhood, youth If any substitute is offered For this, reject it when 'tis proffered.
