CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.

Curcago, Jan. 19 .- | Special Telegram to the BEE. |-- The bears on 'change do not appear to be able to get up much activity when things go their way, unless by some concerted professional raid like that in mess pork on Tuesday evening. The opening prices to day for grain and provisions were either steady or slightly better than Wednesday's closings, but after an hour of hesitating, narrow markets, there was a slight downward movement all around. The surprise was that prices did not break instead of sagging a little, as there was little to encourage buyers. Cables were slow and the Liverpool demand was "poor" for wheat, corn and provisions. There were no export clearances to mention and outside orders to buy were the exception. May wheat sold down before noon %c from the opening and touched 83%c, which was I point lower than the lowest on Wednesday. Before the close of the session it was generally believed that the principal cause for the early depression was a rumor that a great quantity of pork was to be thrown on the market by two large houses. It did not come, and then it was said it had been margined. As proof of this it was pointed out that provisions rallied after the first decline and sold visions rallied after the first decline and sold at the opening price of the session. The bears in wheat and other grains took advantage of the little dropon the start and the lifeless condition of trade and kept prices near the bottom. A bold front and a few large orders to buy, either by local houses or the country, and things would have been different. The bulls made no efforts to control, much less sustain, the market. The extreme range in the price of wheat for the session was Ce.* February opened at 765%. treme range in the price of wheat for the session was %c. February opened at 76%c and sold down to 76%c. March sold between 77%c and 47%c. May opened at 83% a 33%c and after several little rests dragged down to 82% as 82%c. There was little sold at the bottom, the principal transactions being at 82% a 83%c for January, 76%c for February, 77%c for March, 82%c for May and 83%c for June. Corn sold at one time—about noon to-day-

5c under the closing price Wednesday There was quite liberal selling during the forenoon by the country, aided by local op-erators. When provisions reacted to the opening price there was a slight reaction in corn. Local houses took advantage of this and helped it along by covering considerable, and during the last half hour the price adand during the last half hour the price advanced \(^3\epsilon_6\). Except the selling orders referred to, the deal was entirely local and the market was decidedly heavy. May sold for two hours at \(^{523}\epsilon_6\) (6535\(^3\epsilon_6\) and then went to raight off to \(^{523}\epsilon_6\). After a slight reaction a second decline took that future to \(^{523}\epsilon_6\), the bottom for the session. The closing prices were 48c for January and February, \(^{483}\epsilon_6\) for May. Provisions, on the whole, were steadier and prices averaged a fraction higher. Hogs were higher at the yards and there appeared to be less disposition on the part of the bears to force trading and more of a desire to even to force trading and more of a desire to even up and secure profits before making another raid on the countrymen. The latter class still believe in ultimately higher prices, but for the present are going slow. Some of the hog traders hammered pork, while others ought in their shorts, several houses taking $10,000 barrels each. The opening was steady at $14.40 for May, sold at $14.45, down to $14.25, rallied and closed at 1 o'clock at $14.40. The first trades of March this season were made to-day at $13.95@14.10 and closed at $14.00@14.02%. Lard fluctuated 5c and short

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 .- [Special Telegram to the BEE.] - STOCKS -- London was a seller this morning and the market on the other side was reported sagging. The result of the selling was to cause a general dumping of long stocks by big holders. Missouri Pacific was the special feature and dropped 13¢ per cent. Although it is a 7 per cent stock and selling at about $5, speculators are suspicious of it being manipulated by the Gould party in the same manner the Wabash was, and are afraid to touch it. The pool in Reading was reported to have liquidated as a result of the strike. This left the securities of that property without adequate support and prices declined 134 per cent. The weakness and declining tendency in these stocks dragged down others, and general slumps extending to 2 per cent were recorded, the largest being in Peoria, Decatur & Evansville, an mactive stock. Grangers dropped 1/61 point and Lackawanna 1/ point. The only stock showing decided stub-bornness was Delaware & Hudson, a 6 per cent stock, which is higher now than for a year. About December 1, 1886, it sold at 10714, and pointers were given out that it was to be put to 120 or over. The bait was taken by a good many operators, who, instead of getting an advance, say that it dropped to par. For a year it has fluctuated between 101 and 105, and not until yesterday did it get above 107. About mid-day the selling began to subside and a fair rally followed. Long stocks came out freely during the latter part of the session and caused a further sharp decline, last sales being at almost the inside figures and recorded declines ranging to 214 per cent, the largest being on Missouri Pacific. Reading was off 1%, Union Pacific 114, St. Paul 116, Northwestern 34, New England I, Louisville & Nahville 34, Northern Pacific 1, Oregon Transcontinental %, Oregon Navigation 16. Manhattan 2 and Western Union 1/4 per cent. The drop in the latter at this time, under severe drawbacks in the shape of heavy storms, was a surprise. The total sales were 750,410 shares, against
