OUR THREE NOTED HEROINES

Miss Minnie Freeman Writes the "Bee" a Letter.

HERS A SIMPLE ACT OF DUTY.

That is the Way She Speaks of Her Brave Action-Miss Etta Shattuck's Sad Case-More Contributions.

Miss Minnie Freeman.

The case of Minnie Freeman is an excellent filustration that fame comes unlooked for if it comes at all. A teacher in a Nebraska district school, unknown save to a circle of friends who appreciated the characteristics which appeared in her every day life, and loved and admired her accordingly, her name has come to be a household word, not alone in the state of Nebraska, but throughout the entire union. The very complete account of this young girl's heroic conduct, which was published exclusively by the Brr., has been copied and commented upon by the leading journals of the country. Men women in other states have written to journals published at their home praising the brave girl for her action; sermons have been preached upon the subject by lead-ing divines, and the tale of Minnie Freeman and her thirteen pupils has been told in every town and hamlet of the land. It is no wonder that the young girl is embarrassed under the weight of attention forced upon her. This attention, however, is a privilege the American people are entitled to take with one who has proved worthy of every tribute accorded her.

If Miss Freeman bears up as bravely under the mass of compliments forced upon her, she will achieve an additional reputation to that already enjoyed. A few days ago the BEE addressed to Miss Freeman a note requesting a brief sketch of her life and the questing a brief sketch of her life and the corroboration of the report of her action during the storm. To this the Bee received yesterday the following answer:

MISS FREEMAN'S LETTER.

ORD, Neb., Jan. 21.—To the Editor of the Bee: Your communication received, and I am sure was kindly meant. The thread of the narration given in the BEE is true. The bare reality was unpleasant enough. However, I feel that too much has already been said of Thanking you so much for your kindly in-

Thanking you so much for your kindly interest I am Yours, very respectfully, MINNIE MAE FREEMAN.
THON. James E. Boyd has received by express a handsome gold watch and chain to be presented to Miss Freeman. The sender was Mr. A. Andrews, the leading jeweler of San Francisco. The gift is a beauty. On the inside of the case is the inscription:

A. Andrews, of San Francisco, to Miss Minnie Freeman, of Myra Valley district, for her heroism in saving the lives of thirteen children in the great storm of January 12,

The following letter was addressed to Mr.

San Francisco, Jan. 21, 1888.—Hon. J. E. Boyd, Omaha, Neb., My Dear Sir—At the suggestion of my friend, Hon. John P. Irish, I intrust to you the delivery of this watch and chain to Miss Minnie Freeman, whose act is described in the enclosed newspaper clipping.

Please apprise me of the receipt and delivery of this commission and greatly oblige, Yours respectfully, A. Andrews.

Accompanying the present was the follow-Ing letter:
San Francisco, Jan. 21.—Miss Minnie Freeman, Myra Valley, Neb.: I hand you this watch and chain as the expression of a distant stranger's appreciation of your courage and presence of mind, your unselfishness and readiness to risk yourself for others as shown in the recent great storm.

I have received only the telegraphic accounts of this good deed, by which I learn that you secured them by a rope and led them to safety against the embattled elements. The world should never cease to re-ward and applaud those characteristics which have made you the savior of thirteen children's lives, and to compliment you as well as to encourage others in the exercise of the qualities you have so usefully exhibited.

I send my recognition from the far Pacific. The chain is wrought in the semblance of a rope, to always remind your friends of the which you led precious lives from peril to safety. Upon the case are stars to testify that you are amongst the stars of your sex, and an example to men, whose greater strength should lead them oftener to risk themselves for others, for "greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friend." I am, your friend,

The beautiful token will be forwarded to Miss Freeman to Ord, Neb.

Who Miss Freman Is.

If there is such a thing as the martyrdom of fame, Miss Minnie Freeman is certainly enjoying it to the fullest extent. Though she has declined in a charming manner to give a sketch of her life the BEE has secured a few facts in connection therewith which will Miss Freeman was born in the year 1860, and with her parents came to Nebraska from St. Paul in 1881. For a time Miss Freeman resided in York and attended the York Methodist college, in the art class of which she distinguished herself as an artist in oil, crayon and water col-ors. In the spring of 1886 Miss Freeman graduated at the York college and in 1887 accepted a position as teacher in the Myra Valy district. Her parents are yet ving and her brother, Oscar freeman, is an attorney at law Miss Freeman is a little above the medium height, dark hair, grey eyes and a remarkably pretty girl. She is said to be an excellent musician and the possesser of a charming voice. Since the publication of her heroic conduct Miss Freeman has received a large number of letters, one of which offered the heart and hand of the writer to the fair heroine. The young lady is of a retiring dis-position, and the embarrassing position in which she is placed will be appreciated by the people. It would be useless, however, to stem the tide of complimentary remarks forced upon any of Nebraska's heroic teach-

Miss Etta Shattuck.

If the misfortune of human beings can incite the people of Nebraska to liberal contributions in the aid of those who are deserving and in need, certainly the cloud just now enveloping the happiness of Miss Etta Shattuck of Seward, will prompt the most liberal donations on the part of the citizens of the state. On the night of the storm Miss Shattuck took refuge in a hay stack and was exposed to the elements for a period of seventy eight hours. The exposure was productive of the most unfortunate results. Thursday afternoon the poor girl submitted to an operation at Seward, in which both of her limbs were amputated just below the knees. The poor girl bore up bravely and will probably live. Miss Shattuck was a teacher in the public schools of Holt county and is nineteen public schoels of Holt county and is nincteen years of age. Unlike the Misses Royce and Freeman she was not burdened with the care of little ones as all of her pupils were sent to their homes in time to avoid the effects of the storm. To the little ones in her care she discharged every obligation, and saw to it that each was promptly sent to their respective homes, after which she endeavored to reach her own abode, with the disastrous results stated. No less deserving is she than the stated. No less deserving is she than the others. Miss Shattuck's father is a veteran of the late war, and by reason of wounds re in the service he is incapaci-for labor. The family has dependent upon the earnings of brave daughter, and now that is met with this misfortune the aid of liberal Nebraskans will come in good use. At a time when strong men as well as frail chil-dren were meeting death in the biasts Etta Shattuck discharged her duty well, pro-vided for the little ones in her care, and in the endeavor to save herself met with the worst of misfortunes. Her sad condition calls for prompt relief. She is one of Nebraska's heroic teachers, and as such is en titled to a cordial recognition by the people of the state. Contributions should be sent

REMEMBERED BY LIVE STOCK MEN. George Burke, of the firm of M. Burke & ons, live stock commission men of South Omaha, picked up the BEE yesterday morning and the first thing that caught his eye was the telegram relating to Miss Shattuck, the unfortunate young lady who lost both limbs in the blizzard. George read the article, wiped the moisture from his eyes, and walked to the desk and, drawing forth a sheet of paper about a yard in length which the firm uses to strike their trial balance upon, wrote a brief introduction, stating that the object of the document was to collect money for the young lady's relief, and taking his broad stub pen subscribed $10 in the name of the firm as a starter, and announced his intention of not ceasing to labor in the good cause until that sheet was full and running over. Mr. Burke's action in this case is commendable, and the start he has given the movement will insure its success. All the parties engaged in business at the yards are generous people and the amount of money received cannot fail to be a large one.

with pleasure your worthy effort to reward
the meritorious conduct and courage of Miss Minnie Freeman. May I suggest you make Minnie Freeman. May I suggest you make this contribution in cash in place of a medal. Do you not think that would be a more sub-stantial present! Here is $1 toward the medal. I will give $5 to raise for her a $500 donation in cash to be invested in state or government bonds for her. ROBERT W. FURNAS.

Make the Heroines Independent. Chicago Tribune: Miss Freeman and Miss Royce, the two Nebraska teachers who so heroically saved the lives of their pupils in the late blizzard, are receiving not only the plaudits of the people, but also a more substantial reward. The Omaha Bee has started a fund for them, and daily contributions are acknowledged. The fund should be made large enough to place the two brave girls beyond the necessity of encountering duplicate of their late terrible experience.

The Heroine Fund.

It will be a lasting credit to the people of Nebraska if the funds now started in recognition of the courage displayed by the Misses Freeman, Royce and Shattuck amounts to a handsome sum. The bravery of each, the sufferings of all three, demand prompt and appropriate recognition. It is expected now that this matter will be no longer neglected, and that contributions will come in in proportion to the financial ability of the donor, YESTERDAY'S CONTRIBUTIONS. M. V. Gannon contributes $1 for the Free-

Enclosed herewith please find check for the Nebraska heroines, $10 of the amount to be given to Miss Freeman $5 to Miss Royce. JOHN GRANT. The teachers and pupils of the Lake school, Omaha, are entitled to the greatest credit for their contribution. The following letter explains itself:

THE TRAVELING MEN. The commercial traveler who enclosed the $2 above mentioned, in a communication to the Ber, for the benefit of Miss Royce and Miss Freeman, suggests that the Ber invite commercial travelers to subscribe to a special fund, to be used for this purpose.

The suggestion is a good one, and all moneys so received will be noticed in the "Com-mercial Travelers" column, as well as these.

THE ROLL OF HONOR.

Those Who Have Recognized Courage and Devotion.

The contributions to the funds for Nebraska's heroic teachers will receive prompt acknowledgement in these columns. It is hoped that the people of Omaha especially, will not be delinquent in according a proper recognition to these brave girls. The roll of honor should have added to it the name of every resident of Nebruska who feels able to contribute a mite in this direction.

The BEE has opened two funds, one for Miss Freeman, another for Miss Royce, and hopes to open a third for Etta Shattuck, of Holt county. William M. Croan, superintendent of the Western normal college of Shenandoah, Ia., has sent to the BEE for Miss Royce a life membership in that school, and for Miss Freeman a life membership and a receipt for one year's tuition, including rent of room, board, light and fuel.

Mr. F. M. Woods, the live stock dealer of Lincoln, Neb., has offered to donate for the benefit of the funds a fine yearling heafer.

Total to date.....$58 00 He Is Still Rustling.

The following item is clipped from the Western Fireman, and will be of interest to the friends and acquaintances of Fred R. Giles, formerly city editor of the BRE, showing that he still retains his genius for rustling and keeping things lively:

Fred R. Giles, one of the crowd of Chicago reporters whom the editor of the San Francisco Chronicle recently imported to liven up the columns of his paper, has gotten into trouble by charging that the San Francisco firemen, while fighting a biaze in a private residence not long ago, broke into the wine of the state. Contributions should be sent promptly. The Ber will receive and promptly acknowledge in these columns donations to the Shattuck fund.

MISS SHATTUCK'S FUND.

The deplorable case of Miss Shattuck had hardly become known through yesterday's MAYOR BROATCH ARRAIGNED.

If the Fire Department is Reduced, Insurance Rates Will Increase.

TALKS WITH BUSINESS MEN.

The Letter Received by B. F. Baker-The Coasters' Work-A New and Trust Company-Other News.

The interview with Mayor Broatch, pub lished in yesterday's BEE, showing inadequacy of the money available for the support of the fire department for the next year attracted, universal attention. It was discussed on the street cars as citizens left for their homes last night; on the streets, in the hotels, and this morning monopolized attention in hundreds of the business houses

Yesterday BEE reporters were assigned in town.

Reducing the Fire Department.

to the duty of gleaning some of the opinion dvanced, with the following result: Max Meyer-I don't believe in the reduction of the fire department. The police and fire departments should never be decreased. If a cutting is needed, let it be done in some other places. The cut should be made with some of our superfluous officers. If there is not money enough available to retain the fire department as it is at present, the city ought to issue bonds enough to tide over the difficuulty. These bonds could be sold abroad, or in town. I prefer to have them kept in or in town. I prefer to have them kept in the city. They might be held by some rich man. City bonds are good and sure.

John A. Wakefield—To reduce the fire department would be suicidal to the interests of the city. Let there be an overlap. It is not the first time there has been one. We can afford to have an overlap in the matter of fire protection better than we could and did have in grading. Of course the officials responsi-ble for the overlap could be sued on their bond, but nobody ever heard of their being sued for the excess grading, and it is not likely they will be sued in the matter of affording fire-protection.

W. A. Paxton—Yes, I've read about the overlap in the expenditures for the support of the fire department, but I'd like to know which is worst, an overlap or to have half the city burn down. C. A. Canan—I would favor a special taxa-tion of the city to provide for the emergency of this overlap. It would be a bad policy to cut down the fire force and leave the property of the city at the mercy of a poor fire department. The force ought to be kept as it is at present. Architect Mendelssonn-It would be su premely foolish to think of reducing the fire department. It is not large enough as it is, and ought to be maintained at all hazards St. A. D. Balcombe-I understand there is an overlap not alone in the fire de-partment but in almost every fund in the city. I am informed by our financial men though I don't know anything about it mysel -that there is an overlap in the police fund, and one in the sewer fund. Sewer contractors who did work last season and even in the spring have not yet been paid. Even if all the bonds for sewer construction had been sold there would still, I understand $20,000 worth of work which could not be paid for. Now, another bond election has been called for some time next month. That is to authorize the issue of $200,000 in bonds. Well, by the time the bonds are printed, re-corded, signed, sold and delivered, it will be fall. Contractors will have to wait till that time for money which they should have re-ceived long ago. During all this time the contractors are paying interest on the money advanced by the banks. Now, what will be the result of this. It will give the city abroad a hard name and make our public improvements cost so much more. When contractors find there is no money to pay them they will add probably 25 per cent to their bids, to provide against the uncertainty of payment, long interest and other losses. We ought to try to got what we can afford to pay for, and there ought, consequently, be no overlaps. My idea of remedying the defect is that we should have a separate assessment for the city. Then we could tax ourselves just as much as we wanted without being compelled to pay a $16,000,000. Her public debt then was over two millions and ours now is something be-yond a million. If this separate plan of city assessment were created we would have all the money we wanted and then there would be no necessity for an overlap.

Edward Howell—If the fire department is reduced, the insurance premiums will rise. Look at this Mr. Howell then showed the Bee reporter the following note which he > as follows: OMAHA, Jau, 27, 1888.—Please notify your patrons to use all their influence to preven a reduction of the fire department. If re duced, an immediate advance in rates of 50 per cent will be made. Yours truly, > A. M. Weir,

had but a short time before received. It read

"Mr. Weir," continued Mr. Howell, "is secretary of the local board of Underwriters. This organization consists of twenty-nine agencies, including all the men in the business except two parties. They are bound by the agreement to respect Mr. Weir's orders. He represents the national board of Under-writers, and I am satisfied that he has not issued this note without having first consulted the commission, the headquarters of which is in Chicago."

Mr. Weir was sought in his office on Doug-las street, but not found. He had just gone out, and the time of his return was uncertain. A young gentleman who represented him said that Mr. Weir had read the Ber's interview about the overlap in the fire de-partment fund, and had said that if the fire department should be reduced 50 per cent, the insurance rates would be raised 50 per cent.

J. C. Cowin—The fire department should be increased instead of being reduced. We haven't got a fire department equal to the needs of the city. We ought to have two or three engines which would be able to force the water over our highest buildings. I am satisfied now that Chief Galligan cannot within two stories of some of our highest buildings.
Mr. Gilmore of Gilmore & Ruhl—It would be poor economy to cut down the fire depart-ment force. I am in favor of raising the levy Mr. Kirkendall of Kirkendall, Jones & Co.

The department should be increased rather than diminished. At least four new engine houses are needed. We want as perfect pretection as is possible without the extravagant expenditure of money. The city is growing rapidly and the fire department should be inrapidly and the fire department should be increased as rapidly as any other department. If more money is needed, increase the levy.

Mr. Lindsey of Z. T. Lindsey & Co. — Ample protection is what is needed, and if the levy is is insufficient to pay the expenses of the department increase it by all means. If the department is weakened then insurance companies will demand a higher rate, so I would panies will demand a higher rate, so I would favor spending more money on the depart-Lee, Fried & Co.-We want all the protection possible, and if the sum estimated for the fire department is insufficient, raise the levy.

Allen Brothers—The department is small Allen Brothers—The department is small enough now, and ought not to be cut down.

C. W. Hamilton, president United States National bank—If a levy of 4½ mills on $16,000,000, or $72,000, is not sufficient to support the department then I say cut down the force. It is time the tax-payers called a hait, and before increasing the levy for fire department purposes a thorough investigation should be made into the expenditure of the control of the state of the control of th vestigation should be made into the expenditures throughout the year. There must be terrible leakage somewhere. I would not favor an increase in the levy.

Henry W. Yates, president of the Nebraska National Bank—It seems to me that $72,000 is amply sufficient to run the department. I would not decrease the force, but believe that an additional levy would be unjust to that an additional levy would be unjust to the taxpayers.

A. P. Hopkins, President Commercial National Bank—Mr. Hopkins had not read the article in yesterday's Bras but was shown a copy of it. He declined to express an opinion, as the statements made by Mayor Broatch and Chief Galligan did not agree. Mayor Broatch said that the levy is inadequate for the purpose and Chief Galligan stated that the expenses of the department for nise months were $50,000. At this rate it would only cost $62,500 for a full year and yet the levy amounted to $72,000.

"The recent disclosures made by the Ber." said a prominent banker to a reporter yesterday, "concerning the lamentable looseness with which the finances are managed, ness with which the finances are managed, are not only opportune, but are what I believe to be the first-chapters in an expose of negligence and criminal carelessness that will, at least, force several of the city officers to resign. Mayor Broatch is largely responsible for this state of jaffairs. According to his own statement he has allowed the fire department to run along without much attention ment to run along without much attention. His approving appropriation ordinances passed by the city council, in which men have been paid for services never rendered, shows that Mr. Broatch has given too little attention to the affairs of the city."

"The city pays the mayor a salary of $2,500 per year and yet he can nearly always be found at his place of business, busy with his private letters and books. What would he think of his confidential clerk if he audited and paid bills without checking them over Do you suppose he would keep such a man it his employ a day! I think not. Do yo think that the directors of this bank would permit me to pay out depositsr's money without being positive the accounts were correct. Personally I am friendly to Mr. Broatch, but he and Mayor Broatch are two different persons. In own business he is a sharp, shrewd man, as mayor he is exceedingly careless, and I a business man and citizen cannot uph him in his negligence in conducting the affair of this municipality. I hope the BEE w push its investigation through and that th bottom facts will be given to the public.

FROM THE BOARD OF UNDERWRITERS.
To the editor of the BEE: In the BEE the 26th inst. it was stated that in consequence of a shortage in the fund for the support of the fire department, it was the in tention of the fire commissioners to reduce the force and apparatus. A city like Omaha cannot afford to go without protection, and the proper officers can certainly devise ways and means to pay and maintain a larger fore and apparatus than that of the present de partment. Please notify the tax payers of Omaha through your columns, that if the pr posed reduction is made, an immediate ad vance in insurance rates of 50 per cent wil be made.

The present condition of the fire department, the large area it has to cover, and the inadequate force and apparatus to do it with, was recently considered by the insurance companies, and it was decided to advance the insurance rates 25 per cent unless the city would within three months add to the fire department five standard steam fire engines, hose carts, one hook and ladder truck. all the necessary hose, appapatus, horses and men. Prompt action upon the part of the city will prevent both advances of rates.

Our patrons, who at the opening of past seasons, have examined our stock of men's and boy's clothing, will endorse when we state that we enter a second season with new goods only. Our spring goods are already on the way, and we must make room for them. We have not the space to carry over a heavy stock of winter goods as is done by most clothiers. Our largely increased business compels us to utilize every foot of room in our establishment for the transaction of our aily business and we are therefore compelled to close out, every heavy weight garment on our counters. To do this we make any necessary sacrifice in pricess. The reductions we have made on overcoats and suits, and the values we are offering, will surprise everybody. To bargain seekers this is the greatest opportunity, as the price of every garment is about one half what other houses ask for same qualities.

To make a clearance of a large lot of all wool scarlet shirts and drawers, we offer them at 35c. This is an immense bargain, as they are good, heavy goods and would, in the early season, be cheap at 75c.

What little there is left of Fur, Jersey and Knit Caps, is offered at one-half what they are worth. Closing out odds and ends of gloves, furs and mufflers, at greatly reduced prices.

All goods marked in plain figures and at strictly one price.
