MORE STORIES OF HEROISM

He Saved His His Little Brother But Perished Himself.

He Dismisses His Schollars in the Storm, But a Twelve-Year-Old Preserves Them-News From the Capital.

FROM THE BEE'S LINCOLN BUREAU.] The reports which reach the state superintendent from the different counties in regard to storms and the schools, increase in numbers and interest. Superintendent Manville, of Holt county. writes as follows:

writes as follows:

1 was indeed pleased to receive the letter from you that I did regarding the great storm of January 12. I cheerfully answer the same. Teachers of schools in this county, with one exception, were wise in their management of their pupils and themselves. Nearly all remained all night in their school houses and avoided any suffering. In a few instances the fuel was out and the furniture was burned. In one instance a patren who lived near the school went and assisted the teacher in getting the pupils to his house. They barely made it. This was unwise, but the fuel was gone and the patron thought. They barely made it. This was unwise, but the fuel was gone and the patron thought sure with the teacher's help (a man), they could get the children to the house. One teacher foolishly let the children out to go home and one young man, about sixteen years old, was frozen to death and his little sister, who was with him and whom he little sister, who was with him and whom he wrapped up as well as he could and buried in a drift, came out alive, but will probably lose

One teacher Miss Ettie Shattuck, had just closed her term of school and was going from one officer to another to get her money order signed, and when the sterm struck her she was three-quarters of a mile from a house. She wandered to a hay stack, where she laid seventy-eight hours, and when found was frozen to the knees and unable to move. She has been removed to Seward, Neb., on a bed, and, in my opinion, will die. Miss Shattuck is a very fine young lady and a good teacher. She has parents, but I think they are far from wealthy. Yours truly, C. A. MANVILE. Superintendent A. Alleman, of Furnas, county, respect nas county, reports no loss of life or accidents there. Superintendent J. W. Henderson, of Washington county, reports a few cases in which children ware clickly. in which children were slightly frozen in his county. He tells of Mr. Milton Curtis, who, using the well rope tied around his body, conducted his school to a place of safety. He states that the teachers of Washington county have a meeting at Fort Calhoun on the 11th. when action will be taken in regard to aid for teachers who suffered from the storm in different parts of the state.

Mrs. A. S. Van Antwerp, superintendent of Loup county, writes a very interesting letter. She reports no deaths, and states that all the teachers but one either stayed with the children or saw them safely home. "However," she says, "one teacher, and a man, at that, sent all of his pupils home at 4 o'clock at night. Some were fortunate enough to get safely to a house near, but others would not have reached home had it not been for the bravery of a boy about twelve years old. He safely guided the others home going nearly two miles. All were saved but the boy was frozen about the knees and is hardly able to walk. His name is Charles Gurnsey, of Kent, Neb.

J. A. Douglas, Superintendent of teachers either took the children home or staved at the school house with them. Miss Nellie Cheny teaching near Ainsworth, had her fingers badly frozen. Will H. Rugg, teaching near Newport, stayed with his pupils until midnight at which time the fuel gave out when he took the school to a farm house a half mile distant. Superintendent Walker, of Butler county, reports the death of a twelve year old boy near Garrison who is entitled to be enrolled as a hero. He used his heavy coat as a wrap for a younger brother through the night in the drift perishing himself, while his little brother's life was saved. One patron came with a sleigh after his children and the teacher, J. J. Graham, refused to let him have them. The man barely reached home without

COURT MATTERS. Hillsdale college, of Michigan, has commenced suit in the district court to toreclose a $500 mortgage given in 1882 by John Clemens to secure a loan of that amount. As Clemens is dead the case is brought against his widow. County Attorney Stearns is in receipt of a brief filed in the supreme court yesterday by County Attorney Simeral, of Douglas county. In criminal prosecu-tions the law requires the names of state witnesses endorsed on the information or indictment. Prosecutors have ex-perienced trouble in this, for in cases where rebuttal testimony or testimony to impeach a witness is wanted they could not be called because their names were not endorsed on the information, although at that time the prosecutor would not know whom he might require. The county altorney of Douglas county has made a test case to get a decision from the higher court.

An appeal has been taken to the district court in the case of the rapid transit street railway against Aleck Halter. The rapid transit received a judgment against Halter in the county court for $412 as an assessment on stock subscribed.

A case was brought before the land office this week involving the title to a tract of land in Cass county that is claimed by the occupant as school land, and by the litigants against him as government land. The facts in the controversy have been forwarded to the general land office at Washington.

A MEW TIME CARD. Lincoln people are to have extra accommodations afforded them over the Union Pacific hereafter by a new passenger train each way daily over the Lincoln branch. This service was in vogue last year, but was discontinued and its revival will greatly accommodate the traveling public. The new train will reach this city from Omaha at 11 a. m. aud the new train toward Omaha will pass this point at 1:30 p. m. It is stated that connections are to be made under the new arrangements at Valley station for the new local Union Pacific train between Omaha and North Platte.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION of the McCook Co-operative Building and Savings association were filed yes-terday with the secretary of state. The authorized capital stock of the company s $500,000. Indebtedness is limited to $3,000. The incorporators are: J. B. Campbell, George M. Chenery, F. M. Kimmell, C. H. Meeker, John A. Budd, William M. Anderson, George B. Berry, Frank Harris, B. B. Davis and E. E.

DEATH AT THE HOSPITAL.
Superintendent Knapp, of the insane hospital, has filed with the board of lands and buildings the account of the death of a patient named Anna Vacek, who was sent to the asylum from Omaha in December 1884. The account of the patient was that she was afflicted with chronic mania, although physicially in excellent health until her final illness, and was very violent and a cause of con-stant anxiety. Her death was from oneumonia and her remains were sent o her friends in Omaha.

COMING SCHOOL LAND SALE. Letters are received by the dozen at the land commissioner's office from dif-ferent states inquiring regarding the coming sale of school lands in Cheyenne county. From present prospects an immense number from outside the state will be called to the sale for in-vestment. On the 2d of February 8.000 icres of school land in Knox county will be offered for sale. These are lands that have heretofore been embraced in A MALE TEACHER'S STUPIDITY the old Santee Indian reservation and the average appraised value for leasing is about $3.50 per acre. Yesterday the land commissioner sold two acres of saline land in this county for school house purposes.

> FAILED TO GET A WIFE. Two Lunaties Failed in Their Matrimonial Intentions. Some three or four weeks ago one W. A. Webster broke his arm, and having no money or friends was sent to the poor house until he should recover from his injury. While "on the county" he fell desperately in love with a crazy woman named Viola Richards, and the passion being returned, they exchanged mutual vows of eternal fidelity. This week Webster recovered sufficiently to be dismissed from the care of the county, and he missed from the care of the county, and he came up town and earned $3 shoveling coal. With this fortune in his pocket he returned to his Viola at the poor farm, and they planned a flight from that place. They succeeded in getting only a short distance away from the premises when they were stopped by the irate superintendent. Webster obserted by the irate superintendent. Webster objected to surrendering his charge and a spirited struggle took place before Viola was secured and taken back to her quarters. The superintendent sent for the patrol wagon and Webster was taken before Judge Berka. After hearing the story the judge, with a sly twinkle in his eye, said it was only a week or two ago that he had punished a couple for not being married when they should be, and that if he punished a person for wanting to get married the public would begin to wonget married the public would begin to won-der in what position a man was safe. He, therefore, dismissed the case.

The Domino Ball.

The domino ball given by the ladies of the German society at Germania hall last night was pronounced a grand success, as is true of all the entertainments in which the Turnverein is interested. The robes were all the same cut, but the conventionality was relieved by a difference in color. The unmask-ing took place at 11 o'clock, and resulted in a great many surprises. The occasion throughout was a delightful one. Irvin furnished the music, and about seventy-five couples

Remitted Ernest's Fine.

Yesterday the mayor remitted the fine of George Ernest who was muleted $100 for drawing beer at the Germania hall dance last Sunday evening. The mayor maintained that as the beer was dealt out, not for gain and speculation, but merely as a club affair in which all the members had an interest, it was no more right to fine Ernest than it was to punish a member of a family for perform-ing a similar office for the other members.

Hedstrom's Case Continued. John Hedstrom, who made such a deadly assault on Henry Walther in O'Berg's saloon Friday night, was arraigned for trial yester day, charged with stabbing with intent to wound. It was decided to postpone his trial until February 3, at 3 p. m. Although weak from loss of blood, Walther's wounds are not thought to be fatal.

Failed to Get Winter Lodgings. R. M. Mitchell, aged twenty, was tried vesterday afternoon for stealing a hand sled from a Douglas street store. As it was perfectly apparent that the theft was committed merely to get a good, long sentence until spring and thereby get good board and lodg-ing free, the judge thought the best way to punish him was to give him a brief-sentence, and he was therefore given only three days

He Stole the Present. Joseph Brown rewarded the labors of his wife yesterday by presenting her with a brand new clothes wringer for her wash tub. She was delighted with the present until the police came a few hours afterward to arrest Joseph for stealing the utensil. He will at-tempt to account for his seizure of the wringer before Judge Berka to-morrow.

The Home Fire.

The Home Fire insurance company of this city held its annual meeting last week, and re-elected S. H. H. Clark, president; Fred Krug, vice president; C. W. Hamilton, treasurer, and Charles J. Barber, secretary and general mana-

The financial statement of the "Home Fire" shows marked progress during the year, its premium receipts being over $85,000, and its losses $15,500. The company now has assets amounting to nearly $200,000. There is no reason why a carefully managed home company should not meet with success, and the record of this company show great care in the selection of its business, and with the same conservative management in the future as in the past, the "Home Fire" will continue to merit the large patronage it is now receiving. .

Dr. Fairchild, of East New Bruns wick, N. J., has a collection of 500 alligators, all young and from three to seven inches in length. They were captured during a recent hunting trip in Florida. He says he will sell them if he can, and if not will keep them to catch mosquitoes next summer.

Three-year-old Leo Bush, near Americus, Ga., wandered too near the loose end of a mule the other day, and was kicked in the right eye and knocked about a rod. He lay as though dead, but when several persons ran to pick him up he rolled over and said: "I's all right. Lem'me go to town with pa?"

The bridge which is to be built over the Straits of Messina, which separate Sielly from Italy, will, when consum-mated, form one of the most striking works in the line of modern engineering. The place selected for this great undertaking is where the channel is some two and one-half miles wide and 361 feet deep. Two piers will support the viaduct of steel rails at the height of 328 feet above the water.

NEBRASKA'S THREE HEROINES

The "Bee" Fund Rapidly Reaching the Thousands.

THOSE WHO HAVE CONTRIBUTED.

An Interview With Miss Freeman-Miss Shattuck's Suffering-Some Very Appreciative Suggestions-Notes. Miss Shattuck's Suffering. The very complete account of the sufferings of Miss Etta Shattuck as published in last night's Ber will certainly touch the heart of every reader. Miss Shattuck was teaching in a district school six miles from O'Nell, Neb., and on the day of the storm carefully provided for the safety of her pupils, and sent them safely to their re-spective homes. In the endeavor to reach shelter herself she became lost in the blasts, by reason of the delay in caring for her Wandering aimlessly about, the poor girl sought refuge in a haystack, where she was attacked by a host of rice who preyed upon her in her helpless condition. Miss Shattuck remained in the haystack for a period of seventy-eight bours when she was rescued by a farmer. Her sufferings were great, and on Thursday both of her limbs were amputated just below the knee. She is deserving and in need, and should be promptly provided for.

Fremont's Liberality. The citizens of Fremont started a fund for Miss Etta Shattuck yesterday and in a very short time $50 was raised. The amount will be largely increased, as the liberality of the A Good Suggestion.

A. Wakefield the well known lumber merchant of this city: To the Editor of the BEE: Enclosed my check for $17.00 which please make disposition of as follows: $10.00 to testimonial fund for Miss Shat-sck $5.00 to testimonial fund for Miss Royce. $2.00 to testimonial fund for Miss Freeun. I should like to see a Lumberman's fund opened by the BEE, and will ask that you do so, feeling sure that the responses will be many and prompt.

JOHN A. WAKEFIELD. Mr. Owens Liberal Offer. Mr. Henry L. Owens, proprietor of the Omaha stables 414 South Fourteenth street sends the following letter:

To the Editor of the BEE: I dislike to have Colonel Woods of Lincoln, who by the way is as generous a man as lives, outdo me in regard to the heroine teachers. I will donate a fine well-broken pony to be disposed of in any way you may designate for the swelling of the fund you have so kindly inter-ested yourself in. This is a handsome pony, kind and gentle and is at your disposal. HENRY L. OWENS.

The offer of Mr. Owens is a generous one. The BEE suggests that Mr. Owens name an early date upon which his poney shall be sold to the highest bidder for the benefit of Miss Etta Shattuck. Should it happen that the purchaser is a very liberal person it may be that he or she will donate the animal for the benefit of the fund. In this way a handsome amount could be raised. If Mr. Owen will set the day the BEE will publish free of charge the advertisement of the sale. An early day should be fixed and the bidders should and probably will be many.

To the Editor of the Bee: Inclosed find my check for $5 for Miss Etta Shattuck, whom I consider the most needy of the three whom I consider the most needy of the three young ladies. I also make the following offer which, if you think proper, I will gladly carry out, providing I can secure a good photograph of each of the three heromes and the latter have no objections to the plan: If I can obtain these photographs I will have same copied, on one card, and furnish 500 cabinet photographs gratis, which can be sold at 10 cents or 15 cents, the proceeds to be divided equally among Nebraska's heroines.

George Heen. GEORGE HEYN.

From Wymore. The following letter was received yester

Wymore, Neb., Jan. 28.—To the Editor of the Bre: I believe Miss Royce and Miss Freeman should be handsomely rewarded. I enclose postal note for $4, to be divided equally between them. I also think that steps should be taken at once to erect a suitable monument to the memory of the two Westphalen children. Such self-sacrificing love and devotion as shown in this case is rarely displayed. A penny collection from the school children of the state, I think, the proper way to raise this fund. proper way to raise this fund.

T. D. COBBEY.

All For Miss Shattuck. Colonel Toner, the South Tenth street jeweler and auctioneer, has four historical pictures in his place, and lectures by him to his customers and auditors as to the relative relations of the characters presented thereon at ten cents a head have been inaugurated, the receipts from which are to be devoted to Miss Shattuck. Already a good sum has been raised, and by Saturday next the colonel says he will turn into the BEE quite a nice sum for the unfortunate young lady. An Interview With Miss Freeman. Mr. John F. Kates, ex-county superinten dent of public instruction in Valley county has interviewed Miss Minnie Freeman and the pupils rescued by her from which he has written a complete account of the youn teacher's heroism. The article appeared in the Farmer's Advocate of North Loup and is as follows; ORD, Neb., Jan. 25.—Editor Advocate: A or promised you I would do, I have to-day vis ited Miss Minnie May Freeman at her schoo in Mira Valley, and have learned from the school the facts connected with their adven-ture in the late blizzard. While I find that ture in the late blizzard. While I find that the reports as given in papers distort the the facts in regard to particulars, I have learned nothing that detracts in the least from the credit that is due her. The storm in its violence at the very first burst the latch and one hinge off the door. The door was closed as quickly as possible, and fastened by means of a button improvised of a piece of wood and a nail. Through the crevices in the roof and openings around the windows the snow sifted in to such an extent windows the snow sifted in to such an exten that it was necessary for the teacher and children to cover their heads, and even made t impossible to keep the stove dry. It can be easily understood that under these con be easily understood that under these conditions to keep warm was an impossibility.

To assist in keeping warm Miss Freeman put the children to marching—singing as they marched. Snow had already accumulated on the floor beneath the windows to a depth of eight inches. In a violent gust a portion of the sod roof, at the comb, was removed, and between the loose boards the snow drifted in torrents. Any one who has taught school knows that that school was has taught school knows that that school was then in a panic. There was no telling at what moment the entire roof might go. To remain there would be at great risk, and with reasonable assurance of further severity of cold and storm with nightfall. Miss Freeman decided quickly to attempt to take her charge of sixteen, (not thirteen) precious children, the joy of almost as many homes to her boarding place just one-half mile distant, almost directly in the storm. Before leaving almost directly in the storm. Before leaving the house she took the precaution to securely nail the door that it might not be blown open and the roof lifted entirely off, or fire scattered from the stove and the house burned. Carefully wrapping the children and assuring them that they would get safely through she led them from the room through a south window. With classed hands they started on their way to clasped hands they started on their way to shelter, the teacher leading the way. Miss Freeman was soon obliged to trust the lead to her oldest pupils and give her attention to the smaller ones, who in the blinding storm and drifts were continually falling, and must have her closest attention lest some one blunder a step or two to one side and be lost, All agreed that they could see but three or four steps at any time in front of them. Who can teil the anguish suffered by that teacher as she thought of the responsibility resting upon her as she journeyed that half mile? Prayerfully, hopefully, resolutely, she tofled and struggled on, lifting and assisting one little fellow here and encouraging another there, until the haven was reached

-safely reached by all. Glorious victory!
Pity the man, who has not soul to appreciate such heroism! The teacher and five of the children we's somewhat frozen, but not seriously. In response to my inquiry 'Were you exhausted' Miss Freeman said, 'To tell you the truth, I could not have gone much further.' She deplores the fact that the incident has been given such extended publicity with unwarranted sensational coloring. Let ters of appreciation reach her by every mail as do also letters soliciting her biography. These she courteously acknowledges but modestly withholds all information that would likely be used for sensational purposes.

During the evening, one parent only, ventured to look after the welfare of his children. He, accompanied by two other men who were stopping with him at the time, attempting to make his way to the oblidren be-came bewildered, and was only successful with the assistance of a compass. Another started out several times but gave up the attempt.
