Death of Rev. G. W. Frost After a Brief Illness.

A SKETCH OF HIS CAREER.

Auditor Points Discovery at the Court House-A Notorious Woman's Career Ended-Refuse Peddlers Permits Revoked.

Death of Rev. G. W. Frost. Rev. George Washington Frost died at his late residence, 2021 Chicago street, vesterday morning at 10:15 o'clock. He had been sick for about six weeks, two of which were spent in St. Louis. Since his arrival her about four weeks ago he has been confined to his chamber and been attended most assiduously by his wife and daughter. Abbie, his suffering during the time, occasioned, by a complication of diseases, being intense. It has not suffering during the time, occasioned, by a complication of diseases, being intense. It has not yet been determined when the funeral will take place. Mrs. Marshall of Medina, N. Y., a daughter of the deceased and George P. Bemis, a cousin of Mrs. Frost's who was in Cambridge, Mass., have been telegraphed for and both are now on their way here.

Mr. Frost was born in Barre, Vt. He was the son of a Methodist clergyman, who was then traveling in one of the circuits in that state, carrying the gospel to the very verge of civilization. The family moved shortly after the birth of the young Frost to Boston, and for many years made that place its home. The young man largely by his own efforts prepared himself for college, when his health broke down, and absolute rest was prescribed for him by his physicians, so that he was compelled to abandon the idea of entering college. He continued his studies however in a private manner, combining with them four years of professional study, at the close of years of professional study, at the close of which he commenced to preach in the Methodist Episcopal church, and successfully filled some of the best appointments in the New England conference, among them being New England conference, among them being Malden, Charleston, Watertown and Boston. While at Watertown he married the daughter of Rev. George Pickering, one of the most prominent Methodist ministers in the country. Mr. Frost combined his professional work with that of teaching, being for some for some years principal of large and flourishing schools, though determined to break his connection with these and go west as soon as compertunity offered. Owing to a severe as opportunity offered. Owing to a severe injury caused by his being thrown from a carto little business except that of working for the restoration of his health. Mr. Frost was then residing in Cambridge, Mass. He re-ceived a proposition from T. C. Durant, then manager of the Union Pacific railroad, to come to Omaha and take a prominent position

Mr. Frost was purchasing agent of the road, buying all the immense supplies demanded during its construction, amounting to $15,000,000. Mr. Frost was a member of several sessions of the legislature. He was also one of the government directors of the Union Pacific, and for some years served as Indian agent at the Crow agency. Of late years he has been in private life, the last effort of his pen being a series of reminiscenses of the building of the Union Pacific. He was sixty-five of age at the time of his death, leaving a wife and the two time of his death, leaving a wife and the two daughters mentioned above. Mr. Frost's was an active life. He made many friends yet was not without some who differed from him and who caused him most of his annoyance. Possessed at one time of a great deal of property, he suffered it in one way and other to get away from him, the last piece retained and fought for by him being his homestead on Chicago street, which he retained only after a long contest in the courts. His estate, including some property in Chicago, is valued at about $50,000.

MR. POINTS' DISCOVERY. He Declares that Mr. Needham has too Much Money.

Mr. J. J. Points, the gentleman who submitted a report to the county commissioners in reference to Ex-county Clerk Needham, and which was printed in all its completeness in the BEE, is at present employ of the board checking up the affairs of Mr. Needham's administration, and comparing it with that of his predecessors. Mr. Points is considered to be well fitted for this undertaking, owing to his familiarity with the details of the office, and his knowledge of the statutes. The subject in hand is based on an order issued by the old board of county commissioners authorizing Mr. Needham to have re-written and transferred old records in his office, at a cost not to exceed 5 cents a line. This Mr. Needham had done at an expense, as he represents, of $7,043.80, and vouchers drawn by himself indicate that he is in receipt of this sum. Mr. Points declares that this is greatly in excess of the actual cost of the work, which, in his opinion, did not actually amount to more than half of what Mr. Needham has issued youchers for, and that the excess should be returned to the county.

The commissioners have taken Mr. Points observations under consideration, and pro-pose holding a consultation with some of Mr. Needham's predecessors with a view o learning something concerning the receipts and expenditures of the office during their respective terms.

County Attorney Simeral and the commissioners were busy yesterday looking up the law relative to ex-County Clerk Needham's claim of $7,043.80 for copying the numerical indexes.

A Bre reporter called at Mr. Needham's office yesterday but not finding that gentleman in sought his former deputy, Mr. S. S. Auchmoedy, who stated that the work of compiling the new index books was extra labor, for which a number of extra clerks were employed. Under the statutes the county commissioners were empowered to pay as high as 15 cents per entry, but Mr. Needham accepted the work at the remarkably low figure of 5 cents per entry, and that the commissioners had entered into a written contract with Mr. Needham.

This contract is in the form of a resolution

This contract is in the form of a resolution adopted by the board December 1, 1886, and adopted by the board December 1, 1886, and the following is an exact copy:

Resolved, That the county clerk be and is hereby directed to rewrite and correct errors in numerical indexes required to be rewritten on account of said books being worn out and said clerk shall receive for said rewriting the sum of five (5) cents per entry for each and every entry, to be paid out of the fees of his office. Said correcting and rewriting not to exceed eighteen books account of being lowest bidder.

Chairman O'Keeffe was asked his opinion concerning the above and he stated that it concerning the above and he stated that it looked to him that Mr. Needham could collect for no more than the actual expense of extra clerks as per his vouchers. Mr. O'Keefe said that the commissioners in adopting the above resolution had probably made a mistake. County Attorney Simeral was next seen, but declined to express an opinion until he had made a thorough investigation of the

in Police Circles, Will Sin No More. The notorious Mrs. Davis, who for a number of years has been identified with the lowest classes of Omaha, and whose name appears more often than any other of the fallen women of this city on the police records, died on Sunday and was buried at Forest Lawn yesterday morning by County Agent Mahoney. The career of this woman has from early infancy been identified with crime. She came to Omaha along in the '70's and a few months after her arrival was arrested for larceny. She has during the past four years been arrested no less than fifty-two times charged with almost every petty offense known in criminal history. Thievery seemed to have been chronic with her, and many stolen articles of small value have been found in the shanty she occupied on the bottoms. It is said that she was the most blasphemous woman that ever lived, and that her ordinary conversation would cause the most hardened criminal to blush.

CONDITION OF THE STREETS.

Some Plain Talk About Cleaning Mayor Broatch called upon Chairman Balcombe of the board of public works yesterday to see what the ordinances and he contract with Fanning & Slaven, the contractors for street sweeping permitted in the matter of cleaning the streets of the present seas of slush and filth which make them a disgrace to the community. He said he did not have authority to use the prisoners without the concurrence of the mayor.
Both the mayor and Mr. Balcombe examined the contract with Fanning & Slaven but the only provision found relating to the subject was the following: "The contractors will be required to keep one snow plow and one large scraping machine or more of each if necessary, on hand and ready for use at all times during the winter. After for use at all times during the winter. After the occurrence of each snow storm the gut-ters and cross-walks of all paved streets or alleys will be cleaned of snow and the snow heaps leveled by aid of these machines or otherwise." There is nothing in this to em-power the mayor to order the streets cleaned, and Mr. Balcombe held that he could not or-der them cleaned. The street inspector, how-ever could order a cleaning to be made, if so inever, could order a cleaning to be made, if so in-structed by the council. But the council will not meet till next Tuesday night. In the will not meet till next Tuesday night. In the meantime, it seems as if the city must be subjected to the annoyance of muddy streets and crossings, which it has borne with since the commencement of the present moist weather. It was discovered in looking over the ordinances that nearly every party who had cleaned his walk has in a certain manner violated the ordinances in that, instead of throwing the snow into the street to a distance of eight feet from the curb had thrown tance of eight feet from the curb had thrown it into the gutter. As a consequence, the latter are now clogged and in the event of a warm spell the snow in them will melt and damage some of the property in cellars along some of the paved streets.

DARING BURGLARY. The House of W. H. Harrison Entered by an Unwelcome Visitor. Mr. George Du Bois, a well known ex-con ductor on the Union Pacific, and who boards with Mr. W. H. Harrison at 1205 Pierce street was awakened at a late hour Wednesday night and discovered a man creeping along the floor of his room. "Is that you, Harrison?" asked Mr. Du Bois. The burglar, for such he proved to be, immediately arose and started for the hall. Mr. Du Bois followed but the thief succeeded in unfastening the offer door and made good his escape.

Mr. Harrison and Mr. Du Bois then made an examination of the house and discovered that a pair of pantaloons belonging to the latter had disappeared, together with a valuable gold chain, a sum of money and a large pocket-book containing a promissory note for $200 and ten shares of New Jersey Central stock. Yesterday the pantaloons were found about three squares from the house. The olice were notified and are scouring the city police were notified and are scouring the city for the burglar. It is believed that the crime was committed by some person well ac-quainted with the habits of the Harrison household. It seems that Mr. Harrison has a large watch-dog, but on rainy or muddy nights has left the dog to watch his factory, instead of taking him home, fearing that he would soil the carpets.

NO MORE PERMITS. The Mayor Revokes the Permits Given to Refuse Peddlers.

Yesterday a BEE reporter met License Inspector Turnbull and asked him what he knew about permits to peddle having been issued free to men in this city by Mayor Broatch, as published in the BEE. He said that he had discovered six peddlers, with such permits, to whom they had been issued by the mayor on the representation of supposably creditable citizens, who stated that the applicants were in needy circum-stances and might be able to make a living it the permits were granted. The mayor, he said, had ordered him to investigate the con-dition of the peddlers, and he had done so, reporting that all of them owned their outfits comprising horses and wagons and some parcels of realty in the city. Upon the making of this report by Mr. Turnbull the mayor promptly ordered the revocation of the permits.

Entertaining the Press Club.

The members of the local Y. M. C. A., assisted by the ladies of the Christian church, are preparing to hold a reception this evening. It is the second in the series of entertainments of a similar nature which has been inaugurated by the society, and will be tendered especially to the members of the Omaha Press club. There will be a select musical and literary programme, in which representatives from the church will take part. An abundance of refreshments will be provided. Ex-Governor Alvin Saunders is chairman of the reception committee and will be ably assisted by both members of the church and of the association in his efforts to make the entertainment a success. Mr. George Southmayd has charge of the enter-tainment committee and Mrs. W. J. Mount, of the refreshment committee. The ladies are spring no pains in assisting the young men to make this one of the most pleasant events of the season. A large attendance is

Financial Difficulties.

Several mortgages amounting to $3,000 against the Farmers' Commercial company, of Hebron, Neb., are reported by Bradstreets to have been forcelosed. The concern had a paid up capital of $4,000.

The Boston company, of Wymore, also in Council Bluffs, where it is known under the firm name of Richmond & Fulton, has been attached in the former place for $1,600 and in Council Bluffs for $2,800. The liabilities are probably $25,000.

An Escaped Lunatic Recaptured. A crazy pauper named Jones escaped from the poor farm Tuesday night. County Agent Mahoney started after the fugitive and managed to catch him yesterday about twenty-five miles west of the farm. The iunatic was walking along at a rapid rate and when overhauled made no objections to returning Jones' hallucination is that he is the cham pion pedestrian of the world, and when at the farm is a ceaseless walker.

Taken to Chicago.

Charles Fiddler, the colored man who has been confined at the county jail for the past two months on the charge of insanity, was released yesterday by order of the commissioners on insanity and was given over into the charge of relatives. The unfortunate man will be taken to Chicago which is his home, and placed in an asyium in that yards yesterday, and now its waters are flushing the big packing house sewer. "Impassible" won't explain the condition of the streets. Any stranger trying to cross them is liable to become a permanent settler, especially if he has to visit the postoffice.

Marshal McCracken warned one or two teamsters to keep their heavily loaded wagons off N street. It was a case of cruelty to animals to try and pass along it. Annie Hayes left for Chicago yesterday in care of her uncle George, who had to produce her in court or go to jail for 200 days.

John Hand was run in for a plain drunk and, as the law directs, fined $10 and costs. Judge Reuther offered to remit $9 if he could raise the money, but not being able he be-came abusive and got twelve days—the first and last three on bread and water.

A change of venue was granted by Justice Levy in the case of Orton vs. Cody. The claim was for $52 wages drawn. A writ of forcible detainer was granted in the case of Sam Coupled against H. O. Woods. The plaintiff wants some back rent and the possession of his house.

Din the case of L. Kreibs, charged with trying to murder Adam Portz, the evidence all went to show that Portz himself was to blame. He had gone into Kreib's saloon set his dog upon that of another customer and then set it upon Kreibs for trying to sen arate them. In protecting himself from the dog and from Ports Kreibs used a billy with some effect, and was discharged yesterday by

The annual meeting of the South Omaha The annual meeting of the South Omaha Building association was held at the national bank and the following gentlemen elected as directors: For three years, David Anderson and Andrew Baylis; for two years, E. A. Howland, J. W. Edgerton and J. Levy and for one year, John Doe and C. M. Hunt. The latter gentleman was elected president and David Anderson vice president and C. C Van Kuren and H. C. Miller appointed secre tary and treasurer respectively. The asso-ciation was reported to be in a flourishing condition and a $1,000 loan was placed at a bonus of 15 per cent.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist Episcopal church had reason to be gratified with the success of their supper and the poor of South Omaha will be benefitted to the extent of some $18. The affair was in charge of the committee, headed by Mesdames Sloan and Boyd, who wish to thank the public for their patronage, and Messrs. Silver and Bayliss for the free use of the hall. A number of poor families are being relieved daily, and contributions of any kind will be received with thanks by any member of the committee.

Dangerous Embankments.

The authorities desire to warn all people against passing along on sidewalks directly beneath the steep embankments which are situated in many parts of the city. The city engineer has examined them carefully and finds them to be in a most dangerous condition. When the frost comes from the ground the earth crumbles and a slide may now be expected at any moment. Danger signals are posted and the engineer says that they should be carefully obeyed.

John Anderson, the switchman on the cable tramway on the corner of Twentysixth and Dodge, who was supposed to be fatally injured while attending to his duties last Friday night, is now thought by his physicians to out of danger. was a badly used up man at the time of the accident, suffering a broken leg and arm, besides having his lungs injured.

The committee from the board of trade on factories and manufactories met in the office of Secrecary Nattinger and discussed the propo-sitions of manufacturers contemplating ger and discussed the locating in Omaha. They adjourned without arriving at any definite understanding, and will submit a report to the full board at the next regular, monthly meeting. At a meeting of brickmakers and other manufacturers of building supplies the Omaha Brick Manufacturers association was formed. Henry Livesey was elected president; D. J. Collins, vice president; Arthur Johnson, secretary. The membership dues are $10. The object of the association, it is stated, is to advance and improve the method of making brick. A well-known business man desires the BEE to call the attention of the authorities to the fact that the postoffice is constantly filled with gangs of loafers who spend nearly all of their time there. These loafers smoke vile tobacco and expectorate upon the floor, making it unfit for a lady to walk over it. Several ladies have been grossly insulted there of late. The name of the boy struck by the dummy engine and knocked senseless a few nights ago, is Frank Sepk. He how lies at St. Joseph hospital devoid of clothes.
