ETTA SHATTUCK AT REST.

Death Relieves the Suffering of the Herolc School Teacher.

THE BRAVE GIRL'S FORTITUDE.

Death of Etta Shattuck. SEWARD, Neb., Feb. 6-|Special Telegram to the BEE. ]-This morning Miss Etta Shattuck was suddenly taken worse and at 9 o'clock passed peacefully away. The death of the young lady was not wholly unexpected, as she has been decidedly feeble during the last four days. It was hoped, however, that Miss Shattuck would gain strength and live, but it was announced at 7 o'clock this morning that her death was a question of brief time, and at 9 o'clock the prediction was fulfilled. The attending physicians, Drs. Reynolds and Potter, did all in their power to alleviate her sufferings. Her long fasting while imprisoned in the haystack on the night and succeeding days of the terrible storm reduced her to an almost helpless condition, and her intestines having become thoroughly chilled rendered her insensible to her own needs. In addition her back was badly frozen, and the flesh sloughed away from the body, leaving a hole from one to two inches in depth. Had she lived it would have been necessary to perform another amputation of both legs. During all her sufferings Miss Shattuck has borne up bravely and the patience displayed at all times during her sufferings has been wonderful. She had an abiding faith in that Higher Power who doeth all things well. She died as she had lived-a christian. Her age was 19 years, 9 month and 28 days. Her father, mother, two sisters and brother were present to cheer her last hours on earth. The death of Miss Shattuck is a blow to the good peeple of Seward, who had learned to love and admire her for the many splendid traits of character she possessed. The funeral services will probably have the largest attendance of any which have occurred at Seward. The arrangements have not as yet been completed, but the services will probably be held some time to-morrow after-

The general sentiment here as to the disbursement of the fund from Seward is that it be turned over to her needy and deserving parents. Trustee William Redford has Drexel & Maul's Generosity. On learning of the death of Miss Shattuck, Drexel & Maul, the well-known undertaking firm, at once telegraphed to Seward tendering a handsome casket. The very kind offer will probably be accepted, and Messrs. Drexel & Maul will select the most expensive casket they have and forward the same to Seward free of all cost.

The Etta Shattuck Funds.

In the hope that the life of Miss Etta Shattuck would be spared, the BEE has made earnest efforts to increase the fund for her benefit to an amount which would comfortably support her. The fund for this brave and suffering girl has amounted to a considerable amount. Yesterday before the intelligence of Miss Shattuck's death was received, the BEE sent to the young teacher at Seward a check in the sum of $3,752.01 payable to her order.

The following is the condition of the Etta Shattuck fund: School Dist. 21, Culbertson, Neb.... P. J. Karboch and employes..... Pop Corn Stand, M. S. S....

girl's earnings for support.

The cash paid into the Shattuck special fund is held at the BER office subject to the order of the subscribers.

The Secret Orders. Mr. H. S.Smith, treasurer of Vesta Chapter order of the Eastern Star, sends $10, that chapter's contribution, to the Royce fund.

Minnie Freeman. A large photo of Miss Minnie Freeman with her sod school house and the pupils whom she saved from the great storm will be sent prepaid for $1.00 each, $8.00 per dozen, $50.00 per hundred. Address The Quiz, Ord,

A Benefit at the Grand. On next Wednesday afternoon the side splitting comedy "A Night Off," by Augustin Daly, will be played at the Grand opera house by the Bartram & Burbridge company and the entire proceeds will be contributed to the Royce fund. This is a liberality on the part of both the house and company which will surely be appreciated.

The Teachers' Checks. Yesterday morning the BEE Publishing company sent checks to Misses Minnie Freeman,

Loie Royce and Etta Shattuck for the following amounts: Etta Shattuck......$3,752 01 Total.....$5,017 97

Never Lets Up. Sherman Co. Times: The Omaha BEE is deserving of great credit for the vigorous manner in which it has taken up the cause of the three heroine teachers, Misses Shattuck, Royce and Freeman. When once started the BEE never "lets up," and in this case we trust their time-nonored tenacity will not be wanting. All praise for such good, kind efforts in such a noble cause. May great success be the result to all concerned. Wishes the Movement Well.

WYMORE, Neb., Feb. 3 .- To the Editor of the Bun: Enciosed find draft for $18. Please place the same to the credit of the "Heroine Fund" as follows: Miss Freeman $4, Miss Royce $4, and Miss Shattuck $10. This amount is the contribution of the resident members of "The Gold Dust Mining and Milling Co." We hope the good work started by the BER will continue until the smoont realized reaches a large sum. smount realized reaches a large sum. R. W. Laplin, Secretary.

A Recognition of Heroism.

Boston Advertiser: It is gratifying to the country at large and highly creditable to the people of Nebraska that they have taken such prompt action toward a substantial recognition of the bravery of the three heroines, the Misses Shattuck, Royce and Freeman. The funds which were opened by the Omaha Bus for the benefit of these three heroic sufferers are at last assuming considerable proportions. It is noticeable from the lists printed that the amount is not made up from large individual contributions, but rather a large number of small ones. It is in this light a cheerful testimonial from the people throughout the state. Arrangements are now being perfected for a systematic canvas in aid of the fund, and there is every reason to hope that a large amount of money will be thus obtained. The object is cer-tainly a worthy one and an honor to its pro-

DUNLAP, Ia., Feb. 4. To the Editor of the BEE: I read with feelings of sympathy the letter of George Burkett, of Seward, Neb. The case of Lena Woebbecke presents all the sad features of Miss Shattuck's. I feel sure it is not too late to do something for her, sure it is not too late to do something for her, as those who have responded so generously will not ignore the appeal of the orphan, even if it is a little late.

I enclose $2.00 for her fund.

Mining Stock.

OFFICE OF DEADWOOD DAILY PIONEER, DEADWOOD, Feb. 2. To the Editor of the BEE: The citizens of Deadwood wishing to subscribe to the Shattuck fund, and the idea suggested itself to some of them, that if your people felt an interest in the Black Hills, mining stock would be as good a donation as could be given, said mining stocks to be turned into money, to be given to Miss Shattuck. The stocks are all clear and should bring from one cent to ten cents per share, which would be a nice nest egg for a fund. The stocks can be auctioned or sold at private sale, as yournay see fiit. All that our people wish is that a good sum may be realized from their liberal donation to so derealized from their hoeral donation to so de-serving a cause as rewarding a heroine as Miss Shattuck, who can suffer and may-hap die that others might live! Enclosed you will find 47,506 shares of stock which is insured to me as being clear of all assess-ments at the present date. R. D. Kelly. The above stock can be obtained at the BEE counting room.

The Billiard Contest.

Next Wednesday evening, at Exposition hall, Jake Schaefer (the Wizard) and Eugene Carter, the fourteen-inch balk line champion of the world, will give an exhibition of fancy billiards. Mr. Carter is also the champion finger billiardist of the world and will show his skill in that line. The Wizard is well known in Omaha, although he has not been here for a number of years, and while Mr. Carter is known by reputation there are few people in the city that have ever seen him. The two billiardists are en route to the Pacific coast and will offer handicaps for any sum to the players of California. Hundreds of ladies always attend the exhibitions given by these gentlemen, and there is no doubt they will receive a royal welcome in Omaha. The net receipts of the performance will be turned over to the Bee's heroine fund and it is expected that a large sum will be realized.

no one should miss the entertainment.

The affair is under the management of Messrs. Foley & Darst and Mr. J. C. Crawford and all of these gentlemen are working incessantly to make it a grand financial success. The hall will be elaborately decorated and the seats will be so arranged that every one present will have an unobstructed view of the table. Tickets are now on sale and can be had either at Foley & Darst, the Turf Exchange or Max Meyer & Co's.

A Sale at Lincoln.

On Saturday, February 25, at 1 o'clock p. m., F. M. Woods, the well-known breeder of thoroughbred cattle at Lincoln, will offer a fine heifer at public action. The sale will take place at the corner of Eleventh and O streets, Lincoln. The heifer is one year old, sired by the imported King Charles (651). and will be a valuable acquisition to any herd. Parties from a distance can forward their bids by mail to Mr. Woods. This is the animal Mr. Woods had generously do-nated to the heroine fund, and the entire re-ceipts of the sale will go to the teacher Mr. Woods shall designate. The people of Lin-coln should see that the sale brings in a large

The very carnest appeal made by Mr. John Monell in Sunday's BEE to the Knights of Pythias cannot fail to meet with a hearty re-sponse from the members of that order. Miss Emma Welshan, a young lady employed at S. P. Morse's circulated a list among her Omaha friends last week and succeeded in raising over $40. Miss Welshan's energy and kind interest are worthy of emulations.

Laura and Hannah McNair, two little Change and Hannan Sickair, two little Comaha girls became deeply interested in the plan to erect a monument over the graves of the Westphalen sisters. The carnest work of these little girls resulted in the addition of $1 to the monument fund.

The generous contribution of Hon. John A. McShane is a very plain hint to the many moneyed men of Omaha that contributions of $1 from men who could as readily give $100 is not the proper thing in a great and growing city. The liberality of Congressman Mc-Shane should be imitated by at least fifty citizens of this city.

DRAGGED DOWN BY SHARKS. The Terrible Experience of a Shipwrecked Crew. New York World: The loss of the Alfred Watts has been briefly alluded to, but the particulars of the wreck and of the awful struggle for life of the seamen who escaped immediate drowning men who escaped immediate drowning were brought to this city yesterday by Captain Young. The Alfred Watts, of this port, a ship of 1,955 tons, sailed from Philadelphia for Hogo, Japan, October It last. The crew and passengers num-bered twenty-eight. Everything went smoothly until the vessel reached the vicinity of the Bahamas. There a hurricane overtook the ill-fated ship. vessel was thrown on her beam ends. and an overwhelming wave broke over the half-wrecked ship, and swept every man over the side into the boiling

From the floating wreckage they gathered in a few pieces of woodwork, and with these rude oars toiled towards the hulk, where food and water at least might be found. But their progress was slow; the hot sun beat down upon their unprotected heads, and they knew too well that an enemy more cruel than the storm was beneath the surface of the ocean. The waters swarmed with sharks. Without water or food the hardy sailors bent their energies to pro-pelling their unwieldy raft. For thirty-six hours they toiled. Then the mind of one of them, a fine young fellow, the son of the owner of the vessel, gave way under the hardships of the situation. He thought in his delirium that he saw land and, turning to his comrades, he cried out, in glad tones, that he meant to walk to shore, He plunged into the water, For some distance he swam, probably in the direction of the mirage which his distraught fancy conjured up. Then, with a shrick, he suddenly sunk, evidentls dragged down by a shark.

The remaining men horror-stricken by the scene, toiled on with the energy of desperation. When within about two hundred yards of the ship one of the men took the end of a line between his teeth and leaped into the sea. He had almost reached the vessel when his comrades, who were anxiously watching him, heard a piercing cry of horror and despair, and the swimmer threw up his arms and disappeared, another victim to the wolves of the ocean. The fear-ful fate of his two companions did not deter another sailor from attempting to get a line aboard the wreck. He, too, attempted to reach the ship by swimming and was dragged down by sharks when he had gone but a few yards. Then a wave, swelling over the raft, swept away another man whom despair and privation had rendered too weak to maintain his hold.

But two now remained. They were named Linn and Magnus. Night again overtook them, with only a few boards between them and the shark-in-fested waters. Their little craft, relieved from the weight of the four lost men, was easier to handle, and they toiled on under the starlight in the direction of the vessel. Another sunrise found them on board the water-log-ged ship. The decks were sub-merged, only a few feet of the bow being above water. Having reached this point the two surving sunk utterly exhausted, into a deep sleep. When they awoke they found that the rigging had parted during their unconsciousness; that most of the spars had gone overboard, and the ship was again on a level keel. The two wooden tanks under the head of the forecastle were full of fresh water, with which they refreshed themselves. They also found a box of cod-fish, and for eighteen days they lived on cod-fish and water. About this time the cargo, broken up by the working of the sea in the water-logged hull, began to float out of the hold, and the men were able to secure a diversity of food. On November 20, the British bark Lizzie Perry, Captain Young, rescued the two seamen from the hulk, and on December 10 the Lizzie Perry was wrecked at the Barbados, but all got safely ashore. The two rescued men sailed from Berbados in the brig Mary Bartlett, for Cienfuegos, and are now

Cienfuegos January 9.

A noteworthy incident in this connection is that two sailors, who had learned the story of Linn and Mangus, went to England by the mail steamship and represented themselves as the survivors of the Alfred Watts. Before being detected in the deception they aroused much profitable sympathy.

Romantic Family History.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: Winthrop Colbath, a brother of the late Vice President Henry Wilson, was buried at Vassar, Mich., last week. Mr. Colbath emoved to this county in 1869, and died in East Saginaw, leaving four children. The Colbaths had a remarkable history. The mother was a daughter of an English nobleman, who fell in love with a married Colbath, a servant in her father's family. They came to America and settled in Niagara county. A Massachusetts gentleman met them several years after and took the eldest child, Jeremiah Colbath, to his eastern home, legally adopting him and giving him the name of Henry Wilson, who became vice president under Grant.

Fascinating People and People Fond of Dress-Elegant Costumes as Worn by the Ladies of Omaha.

Ever since Columbus discovered America there has been a steady westward movement until to-day the western states are becoming thickly populated with thrifty people of all avocations. In every city, village and hamiet can be found the workshop. Employed therein are people of every nationality, as well as both sexes. What department of trade mostly interests the ladies? Is it the fashion delineator of some mechanical institute where labor saving machinery is manufactured, or what is it? What is more beautiful to behold than the sight of a lady clad in a nicely fitted suit made in the latest, most perfect and highest style that art can design? The cities of the west have many beautiful women, and to clothe them properly with nice fitting garments is no easy task. To become a first-class mantua maker one must have patience and skill. Council Bluffs is not devoid of such people, especially if one is to judge from the magnificent and splendid fitting costumes worn upon the streets by the wives and daughters of the citizens. That a dressmaker does not always have easy salling on the stormy seas of life is fully demonstrated by the following conversation, which recently took place between Miss Millie Boggs and one of the fliuffs most reliable and best artists in that line. During the interview with Miss Boggs that young lady said: "I have been afflicted with catarrh ever since I was a child playing in the sumny climate of West Virginia. I left there three years ago to join my sister, who resides in Council Bluffs. My symptoms were a stopped up nose, a ringing ana buzzing noise in my head, a continued hawking a spitting with an almost incessant cough and raising of mucus. I would blow hard scabs out of my nose, which would blow hard scabs out of my nose, which would be dry, and my breath was so offensive that my friends would speak of it, and I often accidentally hefard them make the remark about it and I would have the room. Of course, it would wound my feelings, but I could not help it, and I would worry and fret about it. I got spells of despondency and often wished the good Lord would take me to join my parents, who were dead, and I have no doubt are in heaven. I was scarcely ever without a cold, even in the summer, and would take cold every time a draft of air would pass over me while I was in doors. That is not the case now, and I don't gag or vomit in the mornings as I used to while trying to clear my throat. Neither do I have those dizzy spells after stooping down to pick something up. Why I used to get so giddy that when I would have to stoop down and rise up quick that I would have to have support or I would fall down. I never knew what it was to be without a headache until within the last few weeks, and my appetite was so poor that I scarcely ate enough to subsist on, and that I forced myself to eat. I lost in weight until scarcely ate enough to subsist on, and that I forced myself to eat. I lost in weight until I was reduced to a mere skelleton.

I have an excellent appetite now, I sleep sound and awake in the morning greatly refreshed, something I do not ever remember of doing before taking treatment with Drs. McCoy & Henry. My eyes were sore and inflamed and would go blind from the pains over my eyes and head? I had a sharp shooting pain in my breast and through my shoulders. My feet and hands were always cold and clammy. Last summer, after an abscence of several years, I visited the scenes of my childhood, thinking a change of climate would do me good, but I returned feeling as bad as ever, and was as miscrable as I could be. So, after reading Drs. McCoy & Henry's successful treatment of cases similar to mine, I visited their office at 707 First avenue, Council Bluffs, and began treatment; and do you know that today, after five weeks, I am almost entirely cured of my catarrh, and cannot thank them enough for what they have done for me. I heartily, and without reserve whatever, recommend them to any one suffering from colds in the head or bronchial affections."

MISS MILLIE BOGGS.

The above portrait fairly represents Miss Boggs, who now resides with her sister, Mrs. S. M. Shephard, at 866 Fifth avenue, Council Bluffs, where she will corroborate the above statement.

A Few Symptoms of a Disease That May Prove Serious to You.

Do you have frequent fits or mental depre slon?

Do you experience ringing or buzzing noises in your ears?

Do you feel as though you must suffocate when lying down?

Are you troubled with a hacking cough ahd general debility? Are you troubled with a hacking cough and general debility?

Are your eyes generally weak and watery, and frequently inflamed?

Does your voice have a husky, thick sound, and a nasal sort of twang?

Is your breath frequently offensive from some unaccountable cause?

Have you a dull oppressive headache generall located over the eyes?

Do you have to hawk and cough frequently in the effort to clear your throat?

Are you losing your sense of smell, and is your sense of taste becoming dulled.

Does your nose always feel stopped up, forcing you to breathe through your mouth?

Do you frequently feel dizzy, particularly when stooping to pick anything off the floor?

Does every little draught of air and every slight change of temperature give you a cold?

Are you always tired and indisposed to exertion, whether of business, work or amusement? Is great effort required to keep your thoughts fixed upon matters that formerly were easily performed.

Do you rise from bed as tired and weak as you ixed upon matters that formerly were easily performed.

Do you rise from bed as tired and weak as you were the night before, and feel as though you wanted to lie there forever?

Is your throat filled with phlegm in the morning, which can only be discharged after violent coughing, and hawking and spitting?

Do you occasionally wake from a troubled sleep with a start and feel as if you had just escaped a horrible death by choking?

Have you lost all interest in your calling or business or former pleasures, all ambition gone, and do you feel indifferent whether tomorrow fluds you alive or dead?

Are you troubled with a discharge from the head in the throat, sometimes watery and excessive, sometimes mucus, thick sticking to whatever it touches, sometimes bloody and nearly always putrid and offensive?

The above are some of the many symtoms of catarrh and the begining of lung troubles, Not one case in a hundred will have a few or many of them. The greater or more serious your symptoms, the more dangerous your condition. This class of diseases is treated very successfully by Dr. McCoy or his associates. The many cases reported through the columns of the daily papers prove this, and each statement published is substantially the same as given by the patient cured. Dr. McCoy and his associate, Dr. Henry, use no secret nostrums, but cure diseases by their skillful combination of the best known remedies, applied in the most approved manner, and by using the latest and most highly recomtheir skillful combination of the best known re-medies, applied in the most approved manner, and by using the latest and most highly recom-mended appliances known to the profession. They thus produce results that speak for them-selues in the many patients cured, and we as-sure our readers that these eminent physicians have achieved a success in curing disease which few or no other doctors can dublicate.
