THE OPERATION SUCCESSFUL

Miss Loie Royce Loses Both of Her Feet.

HER LEFT ARM WILL BE SAVED.

An Appeal in Her Behalf and That of Lena Woebbecke-The Contributions Still Keep Pouring In.

Both Feet Taken Off. PLAINVIEW, Neb., Feb. 7.-|Special Telegram to the BEE.]-Dr. Bear, of Norfolk, assisted by several other physicians, to-day operated on Miss Loie M. Boyce. It was necessary, as had been previously announced, to amputate both the unfortunate girl's feet shove the ankle. The left arm and hand, however, will be saved, although crippled and deformed. The operation was highly successful, and the opinion of the doctors is that the patient will recover rapidly.

Two Cases.

Yesterday Loie Royce lost both lower limbs. If Loie Royce had been a selfish girl she would on that terrible night of January 12 bave saved herself, and to-day would have been in the full enjoyment of perfect health. As it is, to-day Miss Royce is a cripple. Why? Because as a teacher of a Nebraska district school she subjected herself to the terrors of a blizzard in the endeavor to rescue three little children. There is no question as to the facts in the case of Loie Royce. For hours' she vainly sought for shelter from the storm, all the time having in her keeping the lives of three of her pupils. It is a fact that the lives of these same pupils went out long before their little bodies reached the homes of those who loved them, yet it is true that as one after the other of the little spirits took flight, Lole Royce was the gentle adminis-trator to the comfort of the little beings. Herself suffering most intensely from the cold, the brave teacher carefully guarded the interests of the little ones; the fact that the interests of the little ones; the fact that in this endeavor Loie Royce was unsuc-cessful deters not in the least from the great credit which is due her. She did the best her circumstances allowed. Now, in the midst of her trial, will those who love and admire heroism aid in the effort to provide for the future of this brave and self-sacrificing girl! Little Lena Woebbecke is an eleven-year-old orphan of Seward county. Lena Woeb-becke was severely frozen during the storm of January 12, from the effects of which her foot was amputated. She now lies at her home in Seward, sur-rounded by friends, bound not by ties of blood, needy and deserving. Will the peo-ple of Nebrasku aid Lena Woebbecke! The Baz has earnestly endeavored to arou se The Bas has earnestly endeavored to arou so an interest in the funds of Nebraska's heroic teachers. A Good Suggestion. To the Editor of the BEE: Since Miss Shattuck's misfortune has culminated in her death, I would suggest that the special con tributions originally intended to create a life fund for her support, be continued and devoted to the creation of a like fund for Miss Royce. Her tender love and devotion to her Hoyce. Her tender love and devotion to her little charges, which is to be revered of itse if, bids fair to result in her total disability to pursue her avocation, and to deprive her of any means of living. The response to Miss Shattuck's needs were noble; but while she is now free from care, Miss Royce is living to be pitted. By all means let the good work of the Bay as an and may the result be to of the BEE go on, and may the result be to, put Miss Royce beyond want. W. G. Albright.

The Billiard Exhibition.

Jacob Schaefer, the champion fourteeninch balk line billiardist of the world, and Eugene Carter, champion at finger billiards, arrived in the city yesterday, and gave an exhibition at Council Bluffs last night. To-night they appear at exposition hall, and will doubtless be greeted by an immense audience. The net receipts will be given to the BEE fund for the benefit of Misses Royce and Woebbecke.

Schaefer's beautiful championship cup and other trophles are now on exhibition at Foley & Darst's, where tickets can be had. The sale of seats has been large, and the Bers heroine fund will doubless be largely in-creased by the liberality of Foley & Darst and the billiardists themselves. Mr. J. C. Crawford will manage the affinite Crawford will manage the affair.

Prof. Fallon's Entertainment.

Under the management of that prince of sporting caterers, Prof. Patsey Fallon, the grand exposition to be given at the Grand opera house on Saturday evening next promises to be a grand success. The entire proceeds are to be devoted to the BEE fund for Misses Royce and Woebbecke. Prof. Fallon has for the last week been in receipt of a large number of communications from sporting men in all parts of the state volunteering their services for the great event. He therefore has been enabled to select from the large number of applicants tendering their services the very best talent in the state and his programme will be a most creditable as well as lengthy one. The exhibition Saturday night should call forth an audience that will fill the big thea-tre. Prof. Fallon and Mr. Suiliyan, (cousin of the "big" un") will spare three rounds for the "big 'un'') will spar three rounds for scientific points. Messrs, Prince and Mc-Curdy, who are matched for a $10,000 bicycle race, will give exhibitions on the house trainer. There will be club swinging, put-ling the ball and feats of endurance of all kinds. Do not fail to attend.

Peace on Earth

Awaits that countless army of martyrs, whose ranks are constantly recruited from the victims of nervousness and nervous diseases. The price of the boon is a systematic course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the finest and most genial of tonic nervines, pursued with reasonable persistence. Easier, pleasanter and safer this than to swash the victualling department with pseudo-tonics, alco-holic or the reverse, beef extracts, nerve foods, narcotics, sedatives and poisons in disguise. "Tired Nature's sweet restorer, balmy sleep," is the providential recuperant of weak nerves, and this glorious franchise being usually the conse-quences of sound digestion and increased vigor, the great stomachic which insures both, is productive also of repose at the required time. Not unrereshed awakens the individual who uses it, but vigorous, clear headed and franquil. Use the Bitters also in fever

Chicago Inter-Ocean: When the traiu due from St. Paul at 7 in the morning arrived vesterday, an hour and a half late, a tall, gentlemanly-looking man emerged from one of the sleeping cars. A reporter for the Inter-Ocean, happen-A reporter for the inter-ocean, happen-ing to be in the depot at the time, rec-ognized him as a notorious English no-bleman, well-known to the police au-thorities at Scotland Yard, having only recently been dischrrged from prison after serving a nine months' sentence for swindling tradesmen, Upon being accosted by his name,

Lord Hilton, his face betrayed him, though he at first attempted to deny his identity and gave the name of William Thomas, a most unfortunate admission on his part, as his Christirn names are known to be William Turnour Thomas. The reporter at this point was obliged to leave him to attena to the business that had cailed him to the station, and afterwards his efforts to trace him were unsuccessful. The account of this young nobleman's life forms quite an interesting history, even his birth creating a domestic scene unusual at such proceeding. The Earl of Poullett in the year 1849 was a lieutenant in the Twenty-second regi-ment, stationed at Portsmouth, and one wight, taking a little more than was good for him at mess, he made a bet of £1,000 that he would marry the first woman he met. Upon leaving the bar-racks the first woman he encountered was a well-known character about the streets known as Betty Newman, though Debritt gives the name as Miss Elizaceth Lavinia Newman, daughter of James Newman, pilot, Portsea. George Poulett (he had not then come into the title) could not afford to lose £1,000. So he married the lady on June 22. 1859, and the gentleman who honored Chicago with his presence yesterday was born December 15 of the same year. George Poulett by no means experi-enced those feelings that are supposed to animate the paternal heart on the birth of a son and heir, but, on the contrary, separated from his wife and refused to have anything whatever to do either with mother or son. At the death of his uncle, George Poulett became Earl Poulett, and this son of his wife was legally Viscount Hinton, and Subscriptions among Mr. Corey's men for upon arriving at an age of understand- I saw roax,

He was eventually brought to book and for securing some guns suffered nine months' imprisonment, from which he must have been released about six months ago. Bankers, merchants and others had better be on their guard against this nobleman, as he is an exceptionally smooth party and has had a large experience in the best way of liv-ing without much work. William Turnour Thomas, Viscount Hinton, is a man of thirty-nine years, but does not look more than thirty-two, dark complexioned with a light mustache, large dark eyes and long lashes; when last seen he had on a sealskih cap and long dark overcoat lined with the same material. He carried a gold-headed umbrella and a Russian leather dressing case. He has not registered at any of the leading hotels, nor has a long search succeeded in locating him in the cily at present.
