Ignoring every rule set down in their charter, and they should be called off.

Mr. Her asked, if a meeting was to be held, should it not be under the auspices of the citizens and not the board of trade.

Mr. Rosewater replied that it mattered little who fathered or fostered it. The subject was one that interested every citizen and tax payer.

Mr. Nason again moved that a meeting be held next Saturday night at the same place held next Saturday night at the same place to discuss matters pertaining to public im-provements, etc., to which the citizens and tax-payers of the city be invited. The Stay Out All Night. William Kein, the hack driver charged with stealing a gold watch from the pockets of a man in the saloon of Charley Higgins, on Longlas street last December, toyed with the tresses of his little daughter and affectionately talked with his wife in the district court yesterday afternoon while his attorney pleaded with the jury not to find him guilty and County Attorney Simeral made as equally impressive appeals for his conviction. At five o'clock

Judge Groff charged the jury, and told them that he would wait for them an hour, as he thought that in that time they would be enabled to come to some understanding as to their verdict. They filed out, and after the lapse of fifty minutes returned, and the forelapse of fifty minutes returned, and the fore-man stated that they could not arrive at an agreement and that there was no possibility of their reaching one. The foreman asked that they be discharged. To this the judge demurred, and told them to go back to their deliberal tions and stay out all night. These instruc-tions were excepted to by one of the jurors, who spoke up and said: "I'll not stay out al-might," and operationed the authority of the who spoke up and said: "I'll not stay out al-night," and questioned the authority of the court to compel him.

Judge Groff was evidently taken aback with the juryman's bold assertion, but said nothing, and again put them under the care of a bailiff and sent them to their delibera-

Law and Order.

To the Editor of the Omaha BEE: A call is just issued for the sixth annual meeting of the National Law and Order League of the United States, to be held at Philadelphia, on the 21st and 22nd of February next. It is earnestly desired that this state may be well represented.

The National league embraces in its membership a large number of the best men of the country, prominent for patriotism, philanthropy, morality, hu-manity and christianity; who are united upon the broad principle of the enforce-ment of the laws; and maintaining the doctrine that the perpetuity of free government depends on the supremacy of the laws, and the safety of the people on their efficient enforcement.

They assemble upon the broad platform of the Law and Order league, askonly obedience to the laws; sinking all partisan and sectarian differences; agreeing to disagree about all questions as to what laws would best accomplish the suppression of the evils which it is their aim to remove, but firmly united in favor of upholding the laws now standing on the statute books of the nation, and of the several states, and of compelling obedience to their provisions, while they remain the laws of the

The specific object and work of the league is to secure obedience to the laws enacted, to restrict and suppressess the liquor traffic, to suppress gambling and licentiousness, to prevent Sabbath dese-cration, and all other offenses against the well-being of society, and for the prevention of pauperism, insanity and crime, produced by the sale of intoxicating liquors. It aims also to encourage d assist the authorities to enforce the

The league antagonizes the most powerful and malignant enemies of social order, of the state and of morality.

In furtherance of the work, request is made this year, as it has been in preceeding years, that all clergymen of all denominations will speak upon the subject to their congregations, on the Sab-bath immediately preceding this annual meeting; and I desire, through your columns, to repeat this request to the clergymen of Nebraska.

SUPERINTENDENT LANE'S FUND.

Contributions From Over the State-A Unique Legal Document on the "Age of Consent" Law-Lincoln News.

FROM THE BEE'S LINCOLN BUREAU. The fund that State Superintendent Lane is receiving from the schools in the state for the relief of the teachers who suffered in the storm is increasing. Yesterday Mr. Lane had some $300 on hand and the following new contributions were received: From the state normal school, $125; Pawnee City board of trade, $25; Edgar public schools, $11; pupils of the ninth grade, Omaha high school, $5; Herbert Myrick, editor of the Farm and Home, Springfield, Mass., $1 for Miss Royce. Prof. Farnham, of the state normal school, has offered to give Miss Freeman a full course of instruction in that school, board included. The North Nebraska normal college, of Madison, Neb., has forwarded to Superintendent Lane two life scholarships for Miss Royce and Lena Woebbecke. The certificates state that the parties named have paid tuition in heroism from Feb-10 to the end of their lives, and are entitled to full college instruction, art, music, commercial studies and short-hand. The state superintendent has received a letter from Valley county reciting the good work in the storm of two teachers, both of whom have their postoffice at Vinton, Valley county. One Mary Powell, whose age is sixteen and who was teaching her first term, staid with her children at the school house until the fuel gave out, when she safely took them home, a distance of a half mile. The other teacher, Mrs. Jane Powell, took her school a half mile facing the storm and in keeping the wraps around one child froze her hand severely. When she reached a place of safety she was so exhausted as to be unable to speak. THE GRANT-WRIGHT CASE.

The Grant-Wright case, which brought out Judge Morris' celebrated decision on the age of consent law passed at the last legislature, has been appealed to the supreme court. Yesterday Judge Mason, who appears for the court below, filed his brief in the supreme court which, to the court, will be an interesting document. The brief goes over all the points in this case and dwells especially on the criminal code as amended in regard to rage and the age of consent the point seeming to be whether the law arbitrarily stating that a female under fifteen is a child, or whether proof is necessary that the per son of such age is yet a child. The brief holds that proof is necessary, and in commenting upon this point the leg-islature is discussed in the following highly entertaining way. The brief says: "Some things the legislature of says: "Some things the legislature of Nebraska can do. There are some things it cannot. They cannot reverse the laws of nature or the decrees of divine providence. They cannot make a woman a female child, nor make the child a woman. If she has reached the period of life when nature puts on for her the bloom of womanhood, she is a woman whether the age betwelve, thirteen or fifteen. Any other construction than that insisted on in the court below. or that which is hereinafter contended for, makes the statute a rape on nature, an absurdity, and brands the legislature with the folly of attempting to instruct .God."

INCREASE IN CORPORATIONS. At the secretary of state's office the number of articles of incorporation filed during the past year have been compiled, and they show both in numbers and in the amount of capital stock over double the amount filed the year previous. Up to December 1887, the close of the year, on the record there had been filed 225 miscellaneous corporations, including banks, manufacturing companies, street railways, water works companies, building associations, etc. These miscellaneous corporations have in their combined capital stock $54,000,000, atthough in but few instances is the entire-stock of a corporation paid up in full. It is, however, a great showing for new business in Nebraska for a single year. During the same year thirty-two railroads, real and on paper, have filed articles of incorporation, the combined capital stock of these roads being fixed at $71,350,000. Some of these roads, which are branches of old roads previously contracted, represent a large cash outlay, but by far the greater portion of the $71,000,000 has been expended on paper only. Another evidence of the increase of both wealth and business in the state is shown by the returns of banks that are made annually to the auditor of state. These returns show for the year ending January 1, 1888, that there are over seven hundred banks in active business operation, against 420 reported for the year end-ing January 1, 1887. There is a great deal of practical worth in the showing of the increase of banks for, unlike many of the new corporations, they do not exist on paper and, almost without exception, their capital is largely paid in. A compilation of the capital invested in the banks would show figures representing a great deal of money.

The harmony of the Beemer prohibition convention last week was rudely broken by the clink of the beer glass. The meeting wrs held in a hall over a saloon, and the privilege cost $1 per hour. The deliberations, however, were spiritless. Ex-Police Judge Parsons, of Lincoln. who precipitated the capital mayor and aldermen into the Omaha "bastile" and worried them into national notoriety, has thrown his "shingle" to the breeze in Grant, Keith county. And "Grant feels proud of her acquisition."

A Witness Dismissed. Ed Martin, who has been detained at the county jail for several weeks as a witness to appear against Lottie Malcombe, convicted in the district court a few days ago of stealing a watch, was yesterday released, and from all appearances enjoyed his freedom.

"Years have not seen and time shall not see," the people sit down quietly to suffer pain, when enterprise can afford such a panacea as Salvation Oil.

The old saying "opposition is the life of business" has not been sustained in one instance at least. Since the introduction of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup all other cough remedies have been dead stock.

Brevities. A cripple named Del Perkins was arrested vesterday afternoon for stealing a couple of salt cellars from a Sixteenth street restaurant. The approaches to the Center street school are almost impassable, as the sidewalks have been torn up and the street recently graded. Parents are unable to send their children to the school, and complain that there must be great negligence somewhere. Charles Weingardner, who is said to be a member of the lawless Cuming street gang, was fined $5 and costs yesterday for viciously breaking a large pane of glass in a saloon. The police are determined to put a stop to the dep-redations of this gang who have been a terror to the people of that neighborhood for so long. Frank Rush and Joe Rich, both drunk, while showing off the speed of their horse on Capitol avenue, ran over and seriously hurt a little boy on the Twelfth street crossing. They were both arrested, and after spending sev-eral hours behind the bars, were each taken before the police judge and each fined $10 and costs. "Toot" Nugent was arrested yesterday for stealing a shoe from a Douglas street shoe store. Nugent plead guilty to the charge but said he was drunk at the time or he would never have committed such a crime. As he has here-tofore borne a good character the judge was disposed to be lenient and instead of sending him to jail let him off with $5 and costs.

STORY OF AN ENGINEER.

The Report Was Proven True Beyond a Doubt in Every Particular by Parties Principally Interested.

In search of information concerning an alleged remarkable event that happened in the Esmond Hotel, corner of Sixteenth and Webster sts, the reported was closely to that place and met the engineer, Mr. Eugene Mather, who, it had been reported, was closely connected with the event.

"I understand you were very near death's door, Mr. Mather," observed the writer, "That was true," was the reply, and, after a moment's thought, he concluded that he would be willing to give for publication all the facts connected with the event.

"To begin at the beginning—""Well, I can't say just when my trouble originated, but it was something over two years ago that I first noticed more or less impairment of the appetite; nasuna and vomiting a liquid containing bite and sour water. I would have an uneasiness or distress in my stomach, and my bowels were very much constipated. My tongue was coated and I had a bitter taste and my breath was very offensive. I would take cold easy and of recent years was subject to a pain in the frontal region of my head. My contenance would frequently have a sallow appearance, and I felt more or less billous all the time, with a burning sensation or a feeling of heat in the pit of my stomach, which was sensative to jars or shocks.

"Oh a good while, seven or eight years at least "Oh a good while, seven or eight years at least, and it was constant, sometimes worse that others. I became reduced in health and strength and at times would feel low-spirited and despondent, with no ambitton or energy. Then my mental facult os falled me, and it was with the greatest difficulty I could get my thoughts concentrated on one subject long enough to make any explanation I desired to impart to any other person. Take it altoge her, I was in a bad way, My stomach at times was in such a condition that it would scarcely retain any food whatever, Sieep didn't seem to do me much good, and in the morning I would feel as if I hadn't slept at all—more tired than I was when I went to bed the night before. What sleep I did have was attended by some of the most horrible dreams one could imagine." By the Ninth street Coach and Freight

ENGINEER MATHER.

"No, not exactly. My trouble seemed slight a first, and I think was caused by a cold, and I had no idea that it was going to threaten my life, because I paid no attention to the cold. By and by I found my nose would stop up, first on one side, then on the other, and finally both sides would be plugged up at the same time. I began to have sudden attacks of dizziness; especially would this be the case when I would stoop down and then rise up quickly. I found that the mucus would drop from the back part of my nose into my throat and that, I think, caused the trouble in my stomach. At times I would raise considable phlegm. I was sick anyway and was almost an invalid for a time, and I suppose that the fear that my lungs were affected made me still more despondent and gloomy than I otherwise would have been."

"And the remarkable event—"

"Is my recovery. That is what I am glad to tell you about, because I think it is of interest to the people to know that there is a cure for such a disease, About two months a co I visited and placed myself under Dr. McCoy's treatment. You can see the results, for yourself. I began to improve at once, and continued to improve right along until today I feel as much like a new man as the difference between daylight and darkness."

"I can," continued Mr. Mather, "say there is as the difference between daylight and darkness."

"I can." continued Mr. Mather, "say there is no doubt in my mind but that Dr. McCoystreatment is both practical and scientific, and that and that every promise he makes to his patients are fully and flaithfully carried out on his part."

Mr. Mather, as above stated, can be found at the Esmond hotel, corner Sixteenh and Webster sts., where he will corroborate the above. The doctor respectfully invites the public to investigate the truthfulness of the statements he publishes from week to week in the daily papers.

IT IS NOT "WE CAN"

But the Proposition is "We Have

. Done It."

One of the local dailies not long since had the following: That Dr.McCoy's offices are both day and evening thronged with patients has been a matter of surprise to some, who mark the fact that although he advertises, his advertisements are characterised by no alluring promises or guarantees. They had expected, doubtless that his course would be similar to that pursued by the advertising quack; that he would promise to cure everything right and left, and after making a few hundred dollars leave the town. On the contrary, he has not promised, but performed, From out of the hundreds that he is treating the statement of one patient has been given each week for the past eight months—a statement to the effect that a complete cure had been effected by Dr. McCoy's treatment.

Those who have made these statements have not been obscure or unknown. In many cases they have been well-known people, standing especially high in the community. Their statements have been voluntary and the inquiry they elicited shows that they became matters of general interest.

Some time since a lady said: "I would like very have been voluntary and the inquiry they elicited shows that they became matters of general interest.

Some time since a lady said: "I would like very much to use Dr. McCoy's treatment, but am afraid to consult for fear he would publish my name." Now, to all such persons let the writer here say that Dr. McCoy does not publish any person s name without first asking and obtaining the person's consent. Again, he does not publish one-tenth or one-hundreth part of his cases, nor the letters from his grateful patients whom he has treated. Dr. McCoy publishes a few statements of sases treated by him. He lets his work speak for itself. No one need be afraid of the doctor's publishing his name without first asking and obtaining his consequ.

That Dr. McCoy and his associates are permanently located in the Ramge Block, Omaha, is assured from the facts that their lease and contracts are made by the year. During this cold weather persons are more or less troubled with colds, which should be promptly attended to. Consultation at the office or an opinion by mail is only $i$. The doctor furnishes all medicines to his patients, thus avoiding the expense of having prescriptions filled at the drug stores, All letters should be addressed to Dr. J. Cresap McCoy, Kooms 310 and 311 Ramge Block, Omaha, Nebraska, and to insure an answer should be accompanied by four cents in stamps.

The Plain Truth.

When a person with a delicate constitution has a tendency to catarrh or consumption— whether this tendency is inherited or results from taking cold easily—it is noticeable that that person invariably loses flesh and loses strength, showing that the nutrition is inter-fered with. In such a case the sufferer should at once be placed under influences that will restore the de-fective nutrition and lead to invigorate the con-stitution.

It is to be remembered that in every case the It is to be remembered that in every case the presence of catarrh is an exidence of prediposition to consumption, and no matter how slight the attack may be, it should be treated with the greatest care, and the treatment should be continued until all traces of the catarrh have disappeared.

with the greatest care, and the treatment should be continued until all traces of the catarrh haye disappeared.

If the catarrh is allowed to reach the smallest tubes in the lungs—which condition is indicated by the spitting up of a yellow material—then immediate attention to the malady is demanded or serious lung trouble will result.

Catarrh is, nine times of ten, the cause that produces consumption, and hence no one can afford to neglect a case of catarrh, however slight. It is easily cured if taken in time and treated regularly and correctly by a specialist. If left to itself it is rarely cured without a change of climate, but with each new cold it gets more and more troublesome, extending always a little deeper into the lungs, until a cure becomes difficult and sometimes impossible.
