THE POSITION OF PARLIAMENT.

No Change in Party Attitude Since the Session Commenced.

SLIM SIGNS OF WEAKENING.

The Crown Prince Attacked With Severe Coughing and Passes a Sleepless Night—Cheered With Congratulations.

A Week Wasted.

London, Feb. 15.—[New York Herald Cable—Special to the Bee.]—A week of session nearly gone and where do we all stand? Pretty much in the same position as before.

If any politician desires to find a model of cool, patient, dogged persistence, marching on to its end as inflexible as the dark fates, they cannot do better than to study Parnell.

But how goes the ball generally? I see no sign of wavering in the ministerial ranks. Look at the first division. Ninety-five majority in a house moderately filled.

JOHNSON PROBABLY A FABRICATOR.

There seems to be a fabrication somewhere in this connection. Johnson went to one of the houses to-day and he would not speak to the people or make him fit for an office of responsibility or trust.
