Jail Birds Escape.

FALLS CITY, Neb., Feb. 21.-[Special Tele-gram to the BEE]-A good deal of excitement is caused by the escape of three prisoners from the county jail, two of them by the name of Gandy, the other Elshire. The Gandy boys were up for burglarizing, the latter for forging a note to the amount of $100. The sheriff, before retiring, was asked if he would build them a fire. He sent his oldest son to do it, and after the work was done he left the outside jail door unlocked. The sheriff states that the key to the cells was hanging in his kitchen over the jail and he has no idea how it was conveyed to them. This morning all the doors were standing open and the birds had flown. A reward of $50 has been offered for their capture. The sheriff is severely consured for his neglect and will probably be suspended.

PREACHER AND PUBLICAN.

The War of the Prohibs and Saloons in Rhode Island.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 21.-[Special Telegram to the BEE.]-For a long period a war has been waged against the liquor sellers at East Greenwich, R. L. by the local law and order league, the head of which was the Rev. G. W. Still, of the Baptist church. Messrs. Still and Allen, acting as constables, have made several seizures of liquor lately and have been threatened with violence. Saturday night Mr. Allen found a large quantity of arsenic in his well, but in time to prevent serious results, and on Sunday a dynamite cartridge was exploded on Mr. Still's steps, cartridge was exploded on Mr. Still's steps, but owing to the ignorance of those who placed it there but little damage was dene. The Kov. Mr. Still was warned of the ennity of the liquor men against him, his friends in-sisting that his house was in danger of being blown up. Saturday afternoon officers accompanied by the elergyman, visited the saloon of Michael Convey and raided the place, carrying off all his liquors. This was accomplished with great difficulty and in the presence of an excited mob. Convey at once accompliance with great difficulty and in the presence of an excited mob. Convey at once stocked up again, but Mr. Still and the offi-cers raided the smoon a second time and carried off the entre new stock. This caused excitement among the crowd, which was fanned into a flame of fury when the raiding party went to John Quinn's place and cleaned that out. After storing away the liquors and marking each package for future identification, Mr. Allen and Rev. Mr. Still went home. About 11 o'clock at night Allen went to the well and drew a pail of water. At that time the well was all right. Sunday morning it was discevered that the bucket lowered nearly to the surface of the water and that in it was a quantity of white powder. There was nething about it which excited Mr. Allen's fine suspicion and on making investigation he dis covered that the well curbs and spout and face of the stones of the well were very liberally powdered. There were seven inhis own family who would use the water and several other families were acsustomed to get water from the well. Prof. J. C. Packard, of East Greenwich academy, inspected the substance and pronounced i arsenic, adding that there was enough to kil twenty people. Early Sunday morning Mr Still was awakened by a deep detonation, jarring the earth as though there had been an earthquake and then there was a sound of broken and falling glass. The noise of the explosion was so great that people living within a quarter of a mile were disturbed in their slumbers. Hastily arising he went to his front door, and was amazed that an attempt had been make to blow up his house and kill him at daybreak. Investigation showed that some persons had placed a dynamite cartridge close to his front door steps and exploded it. They could have wrecked the house had they known enough to confine the dynamite and put it under the steps. As it was, they shat tered the front windows and one side of the house, blew the front door steps out of posi-tion, and split them and tore some clapboards nearly off. These discoveries created the greatest excitement in the village.

Murderer Tascott Thought to Have Been Found at Mason City-Preparations For the Foster Trial At Bedford.

The Confession Credited.

DES MOINES, Ia., Feb. 21,-]Special Tele gram to the Beg]-This morning's dispatches reporting the confession of Mrs. Warner, of Wichita, that her husband had murdered Henry Scribner at Des Moines some years ago, hus recalled popular interest here today in that tragedy. Scribner was slugged right in the business heart of the city while on his way home from business about 9 o'clock in the evening. It was in September, 1882, on a Friday night of state fair week, and it was supposed the robbers saw him counting his money in his store before start ing home and then stugged him as he passed a dark alley. He was unconscious for hours after the blow had been given and died the following Sunday, unable to identify his assailants. The police made every effort at the time to find the murderer, but failed. Two men were arrested on suspicion, but were not convicted. In talking with Policeman Shafer to-day, who was captain of police at that time, he said that Warner and his wife were living in Des Moines when the murder occured, and he remembers them well, but they were not suspected to be involved in the crime, and were permitted to leave town. Other policemen who were on the force then say they think Mrs. Warner's story is straight, and the incidents she referred to, such as a gen-eral delivery here four years ago, did occur. No steps have yet been taken by the local authorities to recover Warner, but if an in-formation could be sworn out for his arrest extradition would possibly follow.

Twenty-Eighth Annual Gathering of British Chambers,

Chairman Samuelson Reads Statistics Showing a Gravifying Increase For the Past Year in Shipping Tonnage.

. English Boards of Trade.

[Copyright 1888 by James Gordon Bennett.] LONDON, Feb. 21.-[New York Herald Cable-Special to the BEE.]-The conference or congress of hundreds of chambers of commerce throughout the United Kingdom, which is annually held, assembled to-day for its twenty-eighth year at the Whitehall rooms at Northumberland avenue. Delegates came from every chamber and representing every branch of commerce and all types-Celtic, Scottish, Welsh and Saxon faces. Very eminent mercantile chiefs were present. Parliament itself might well be envious of such a gathering of brain, brawn, capital and dignity, and, indeed, twelve commercial M. P.'s were delegates. The con ference called to the chair Sir Bernard Samuelson, M. P. for Oxfordshire, an ironmaster at Brondsboro and also an agricultural implement maker at Banbury Cross. He is, too, an F. R. S. I give portions of his opening address. Referring to the unmistak able progressive improvement in trade and mandfactures, he urged that its best evidence laid in the development both of the internal transport and the mercantile marine. For instance, the receipts of railways had increased £500,000 in the last six months and the foreign tonnage of 1587 over 1885 had increased 2,190,000 of British shipping alone. with £42,000,000 cargoos of British ownership Solely as a result ships which had for some time been laid up in our ports found employ ment at increased freights, and in the latter months of the year ship-owners were encouraged to place contracts for new vessels so numerous that most of the ship-building yards in the northeast of England and also most of those on the Clyde were now fully engaged for months to come The returns of entrances and clearances for the month of January of the present year showed a proportionate gain over the corre-sponding month of 1887. The figures I quote did not include our coasting trade, which had amounted in round numbers to 27,000,000 tons, making a total cargo trade, domestic and foreign, of £83,000,000. President Samuelson then gave encouraging statistics of British trade with foreign countries and ob served thereon : "These encouraging features should not, however, shut our eyes to the great development of manufactures in those countries which compete with us, or to the exertions we are called upon to make in order not to be distanced by competitors. Although the enormous increase in the pro duction of iron and steel in the United States does not affect our trade in neutral markets. still it is worth while to mention that whereas in 1877 the production of pig iron in the States was only one-third that of the United Kingdom, it has increased from year to year till last year it amounted to seven eighths of our own production. It is more important to notice that the weekly consymption of cotton of our European custom ers and competitors in 1886 was still 2,700 bales per 5 week behind that of the United Kingdom, but in 1887 it was equal to purs in amount, a fact which may make us pause before we yield to those of our Lancashire friends who would throw an impediment in the way of starting England. joint stock weaving and spinning mills by the work of the people."

These statistics produced the buz and turn ing which English reporters characterize by the word "sensation." Then, returning to the United States,

CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.- [Special Telegram to he BEE.]-It was one of the dullest of dull days in all the grain markets, with apparently no outside business and local traders indisposed to do anything with a holiday coming to-morrow and its possibilities in the way of price-affecting news. Fluctuations were narrow all around and they were very infrequent. In the wheat pit the first impulse was downward, more because of selling by two leading traders than because of any news. May wheat opened at 80%c, declined to 80%c/@80%c, and fluctuated between those limits for some time, but about noon advanced to Stc. Later there was another decline to 80% c and an advance to Solice and the latter price was asked at the 1 o'clock close. June wheat opened at 81%c, sold at Sic and the nominal high point was Silke. The amount of property offered and actually sold by the party working for a decline was not particularly large, yet their alertness and determination rather gave them considerable control. The beef trade in the eastern market is rather slow, as it is usual at this time of the year. However, all the good to useful cattle went over the scales and the fat cattle part of the trade closed steady. Native butcher's stock was in good demand and steady. Some fine heifers and cows sold

The mayor has closed the dram shops for the remainder of the month. Several of those most severely injured are sinking, and there is but little hope for the sinking, and there is but little hope for the recovery of at least eight of them. The es-capes of many were miraculous and personal experiences are strange and almost incred-ible. Almost all the persons who were on the streets when the storm burst were killed. Many who were sheltered in houses one moment the next found themselves in the ruins, but uniquired. One man says: "There is where I lived, but there's nothing of my things left. Testimony in Mrs. Charlotte Smith's Intelligence Office Exposures.

Boston, Feb. 21.-[Special Telegram to the BEE. |- The house committee on labor to-day gave a hearing to Mrs. Charlotte Smith and others on the charges that several intelligence offices were sending girls seeking employment to houses of ill fame. Mrs. Smith charged Inspector Burleigh with being in league with the intelligence offices and knowing their abominable business. She submitted fifty written statements several of which were sworn to, of women who had een sent as charged. These girls were sent out as servants, seams tresses, etc., and some of them were sent to other cities. Mrs. Smith introduced Mrs. Anna W. O'Leary, who said that she had been driven out of her business by the exactions of Inspector Burleigh. She had kept an intelligence of-fice for twenty-six years. Henry Chase, fice for twenty-six years. Henry Chase, president of the Society for the Suppression of Vice, corroborated some of the statements of the women. Several of the accused intel ligence offices keepers appeared and donied the truth of these statements. Boulanger a Candidate.

PARIS, Feb. 21.-The prefects of the departments of Loire, Marne and Loyret, where elections for members of the deputies are pending, have informed the government that the radical committees have determined to nominate Boulanger for every vacancy.

DAYLIGHT THE PARTY IN If a gentleman by the name of Day volunteers to throw the light of his expetience into the darkened places of misery, so that - 65 others may go and do as he has done and enjoy life, may it not be reasonably called daylight? As for instance, take the case of Capitain. Sargent S. Day, Gloucester, Mass., who writes April 16, 1881: "Some time ago I was suffering with rheumatism. T used a small portion of St. Jacobs Oil and was cured at once. I have used it for sprains and never-once have known it to fail. I will never bro-without a bottle." Captain Day also re-ceived a circular letter, and in reply, under date the block 1 ways in used the without a bottle." Captain Day also re-ceived a circular letter, and in reply under date of July 1, 1887, he says: "I used the severe attack of rheumatism in shoulder and arm, so that she could not raise her hand to her head. A few applications of St. Jacobs Oil cured her permanently, and she has had no return of it." Another case is that of Mr. R. B. Kyle, it." Another case is that of Mr. R. B. Kyle, Tower Hill, Appomattox county, Va., who writes, November, 1886: "Was afflicted for several years with rheumatism and grew worse all the time. Eminent physicians gave no relief; had spasms, and was not ex-pected to live; was rubbed all over with St. Jacobs Oil. The first application relieved, the second removed the pain, continued use cured me; no relapse in five years, and do as much work as ever." These are proofs of the perfection of the remedy, and, taken in con-nection with the miracles performed in other cases, it has no equal. cases, it has no equal.

resumed: "Although an impulse has been given, it is impossible for us to foresee what ength of time will still clapse before our American friends adopt a more liberal com mercial policy. Whenever it comes no doub the advantage to both them and to us will be very great, but it will not be to us without its drawbacks, for we might be certain that whenever the time arrives when ships can be built in America of duty free materials or be imported for registration in that country, the time will also have gone by when nearly all the enormous trade between the two countries will, as now, be carried in British vessels, when for every ton of merchandise entering or leaving our ports in American ships eight are carried in British bottoms."

Resolutions were thea passed for supporting international arbitration, for watching commercial union between Canada and the United States, for including modern languages and commercial education in university programmes, and for better postal and telephonic facilities.

Sir John Lubbock and others took part in the discussions, and then the members adjourned until morning.

Oddly enough, in contrast with the president's rosente statistics on shipping, there comes to-night intelligence from Glasgow of the annual meeting of the local shipping owners, with Alexander Allan, of the Allan line, as chairman. In the course of his speech he said: "The slight spurt towards the end of last year has gone off, and the earnings have again become most remunerative. When the ships now building are ready the shipping trade will be further depressed. There is no inducement to go for further tonnages. Inquiries for ships are not numerous. I believe that before the end of the year there will be a collapse in ship building."

He Fires a Broadside at Sullivan

Through a Sporting Paper. [Copyright 1888 by: Jongs Gordon Bennett.] LONDON, Feb. 102-(New York Herald Cable-Special to the BEE. - The following letter, addressed to the Sporting Life, ap-peared in that paper occlusively: Sir: A letter has been published in America, purporting to be from John L. Sullivan, that I offerded $1,000 to a party to hire a gang of roughs to prevent him win-ning. These untruthing statements are cirulated with the view of injuring my reputation. There has mit been the slightest desire on my part to place any stumbling block in the way of our cagagement being fairly decided. On the couldry, more than once I have asserted that those who will accompany me to the trysting blace are well known and honorable griftemen and I have offered to name, those invited and have called upon Sullivan to act in a similar manner, but no response has been made. I am still ready to name ten gentlemen who will accompany me, and should Sullivan object to any of them I will cancel the name rather than allow him a loophole for not keeping his engagement. I shall expect him concede me a similar privilege. This plainly shows that I desire to extend and receive fair play. Sullivan is also reported as saying that I do not intend meeting him and that I shall organize some interference. He, however, knows differently. This statement s too mean and paitry to be taken notice of, but there are persons who lend willing cars to such assertions. My sole wish is to meet Sullivan, and I will try and prove to the world, if given a square deal, that Sullivan is not the terror his scribbling has endeavored to make out. Ac-paid him a visit last evening and found him oetter than he expected.

The ground under the Illinois Central railroad tracks along the lake shore commenced to sink. Load after load of einders was dumped off there and worked under the ties but every time a train passed, down would go the track for several inches. The raitroad people have been working incessantly all day and evening keeping the road bed straight. The water keeping the road bed straight. The water tunnel shaft is now about seventy feet deep and a dozen feet in diameter. Enough dirt has been already taken out to ill several such holes, but no progress is being made. The sinking progress has not yet extended west of the shaft, but should it go west any distance several large and costly buildings would probably suffer, including the auditorium.

Stanton in a suit against the Missouri Pacific, Fort Scott, Wichita & Western roads, cific, Fort Scott, Wichita & Western roads, the Union Truss company, Jay Gould, Rus-sch, George Gould and others. Plaintiff asks for an ac-counting of the Fort Scott company, that the Missouri Pacific be compelled to account for the carnings and these be turned over to the receiver. receiver.

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.- [Special Telegram to the BEE.1-STOCKS-Stocks kept up better to-day than seemed probable yesterday or early this morning. Of the thirty usually the most active on the list, half closed as high or higher than yesterday, the improvement being 1/201% per cent., and the balance are only 1/2 mer cent. lower. This shows that the fractional variations are not due to any general cause of either depression or buoyancy. The market opened nearly steady in tone, but at fractionally lower prices than yesterday's close. London offered some selling orders, but they were believed to be for speculators account The temper of the room still appeared to favor a reaction. At the same time brokers representing Chicago parties did some udicious buying, and when the noon hour had arrived no serious break had occured in prices. The only real feature of the day was in Richmond Terminal preferred, which was strong at 2 points advance on strictly inside buying. The unsettled condition of the London market yesterday and the downward tendency at the close proved to have been the prelude to the serious break in American railway shares which occurred to: day. The decline is chiefly within %@% per cent., but it extends in some cases to 1/0/11/2 per cent. The total sales were 122,000 shares.

GOVERNMENTS-Government bonds were dull but steady.
