M. French, of Wilber, was on the market with cattle. John Lansing, of Fairview, marketed a oad of hogs. W. H. Morrow, of Gibben, marketed a load

T. B. Denman, of Valparaiso, marketed a The market to-day was about steady on all classes of stock, with liberal receipts and good demand. The tone of the market is improving. S. M. Hickman, of Marquette, marketed a load of cattle.

J. R. Layton, of Pilger, had cattle and hogs F. F. Brown, of Fremont, was in looking

The receipts to-day were 874 head, of which the bulk were corn-fed natives. The market was quite active, the local and shipping demand each being quite good. Prices were about steady. The market closed early with nearly everything taken. The banks of South Omaha will close to-day, it being a legal holiday. Mr. Guthrie, of Guthrie & Oskamp, o Clarks, marketed three loads of cattle. R. H. Heaton, of the firm of Clark, Heaton & Co., of Western, disposed of two loads of > Sackett & Hawks, of Cedar Rapids, mar-keted a load of 349-lb hogs, at $5.50, the top Mr. Emerson and Mr. Shoup, of Loup City, were at the yards today looking over the market.

The receipts were 3,800 head of fair quality. The market opened about steady and continued firm until the close, with everything taken. The local packers took the entire receipts. One load of choice heavy reached $5.50. Some salesmen called the market a shade higher but taking quality into consideration the situation was about the same as on yesterday. There are 15,000 head of cattle and 35,000 sheep being fed within a radius of eight miles

Mr. Taylor, of the firm of Taylor & Blair, of Broken Bow, had cattle and hogs on to-day's market. The receipts of sheep were 105 head of cood westerns, which sold at $3.75. Henry Shinstock, of West Point, was on the market with five loads of cattle. This is Shinstock's weekly trip.

Hoagland & Hawes, of De Witt, marketed three cars of stock. Six corn-fed cows among the number sold for $3.25.

among the number sold for $3.25.

Dr. J. N. Converse, of Malcolm, a well-known cattle breeder, says he had "the horns taken off of sixty head of grade Shorthorn and Hereford cows, and will save by the operation 200 bushels of corn this winter. The all go under the shed, are quiet, and the cows that gave milk did not so far as we could see decrease the flow a particle, in fact there is not a single bad feature connected with the operation, which took us just three hours."

hours."

The Valentine Blade says: "Probably ten car loads of pork will be shipped eastward this winter. For eight years the people have been buying of eastern people. The buyers are paying $4.00 to $4.40 per 100 lbs. With corn at 30 to 35 cents per bushel, farmers can make as much money selling fat hogs as in loaning money. Hogs are brought on the market weighing over 1,000 pounds.

OMAHA WHOLESALE MARKETS Produce, Fruits, Nuts, Etc.

Tuesday, Feb. 21. Tuesday, Feb. 21.

The following quotations are wholesale and not retait. Prices quoted on produce are the rates at which round lots are sold on this market. Fruits or other lines of goods reputring extra labor in packing cannot always be supplied on outside orders at the same prices quoted for the local trade. Rates on flour and feed are jobbers prices. Prices in grain are those paid by Omaha millers delivered. All quotations on merchandise are obtained from leading houses and are corrected daily. Prices on crackers, cakes, etc., are those given by leading manufacturers.

The market ruled quiet to-day. Butter of poor quality was in liberal supply and prices were inclined to weaken. Fewer eggs came to hand and prices were somewhat firmer, with 16c the ruling price, but we give quotations unchanged. The warm weather prevented dealers from holding over stock and sales were made as low as 6c, but this cannot be taken as a quotation, and we quote outside prices a cent lower. Home-grown potatoes were rather dull, but Utah and Colorado were firm. Onions went higher, and as stocks are light we mark them up to the figures at which transactions were made. In fruit there is nothing to note, except the arrival of a car of bananas, but among the expected receipts of this week are one car of bananas, one car of Messina oranges and one car of cocoanuts BUTTER—Creamery, solid packed. 21@23c; choice rolls, 17@19c; medium, 14@15c; low grades, 12@13c Edgs—Strictly fresh. 15@17c; limed, 10@

A Faith Pugilist.

Minneapolis Journal: "I am a pugilist," remarked a dapper young man as he entered the store of John Donaldson, the well-known Minneapolis sporting man, the other day.

"Ah, a prize fighter, eh?" replied Donaldson, with a suspicious air. "Pardon me, no. I said I was pugilist." Oh, you are, are you. Well, then, I

"Oh, you are, are you. Well, then, I don't want to talk with you. What we want in this country is fewer pugilists and more fighters. I don't think that I have time to talk to you."

"I suppose that I am the greatest pugilist in the world" announced the dapper young man easily, as if he were making the most common lace state-making the most commonplace state ments. "Even men who are much heavier than I am fall victims to me." "Ugh!" grunted the sporting man in a tone of intense disgust. "You notice that I do not talk like other pugilists? Well, my method of fighting is just as different. I have never lost a battle." "You don't look much like a pugilist. You ain't strong enough to whip a lamppost, But mebbe you've got some science?" "You have struck it exactly. I have more science than any man that was ever in the ring. I am invincible," an-nounced the dapper man in the same quiet tone that he had employed in the former remark.

"Who have you met?" asked the sport in a tone of greater respect.
"That is immaterial. If I told you, you would not believe me. But when you have seen me fight you will not "Let's see you strip," commanded the sport. The greatest fighter on earth did as he was bid, and the sport held up his hands in wonder.

"You are the greatest fake I've struck lately," Donaldson announced. "Why you have no more muscle than a clam. "But did I not tell you that my methods were not those of the ordinary prize fighter?"

"Yes, but you said that you had science, and a man who had sparred at all would have more muscle than you have.

"But, my dear sir, you do not understand. My science is not the vulgar science of the prize ring. I do not de-pend upon upper cuts, counters, and cross-counters to win my battles. I have something higher."
"Eh, what?" ejaculated the sport.
"My friend, I am a christian scientist and have adopted the ring as a profession. Therefore I am invincible. Let me explain. You know that we believe that there is no such thing as pain or illness. It is all imagination. Now do you catch the idea? Let me explain further. When I am in the ring and a man hits me, I know that it is all imag-ination if it hurts. It is all a trick of fancy. Now by bringing my strong will power to bear, I can overcome the feeling, and the blow will not hurt me in the least. When I am hit a knock-down blow, I will refuse to be knocked down, for I know that it is all imagination that makes me think that I should fall. After I have been in the ring a few times I will not be conscious of being hit at all. I can turn the feeling aside with a mere effort of will. So you will see that it will be utterly impossible for any one to knock me out. Now, do you not see how just

But the sport was too dazed to make "But my opponent would not have this advantage," continued the young man easily, without waiting for an answer. "He would not be a Christian scientist. It will be a long time before pugilists adopt it, although they will eventually and then prize fighting will come to an end, for then it will be impossible for one man to knock another out. But until they do I shall be the greatest fighter in the world, for although they cannot hurt me I can punish them all that I want to, and knock them out when I please. Well, good day, sir; I see that you are busy. I'll drop in to-morrow, and then we can arrange a match with Ike Weir, the Spider," and the young is my claim."
